PREFACE

We live in a time when people can spread their views around the globe at the touch of a button. Yet such views may come from people of little knowledge who can confuse and even misguide others. This is a concern that has become particularly acute with the widespread misrepresentation of Islam, both by those hostile towards it, and, unfortunately, even those who claim to profess it. Through their evil but eloquent schemes, such people can misrepresent the sacred teachings of this religion, and direct the ignorant and the ill-fated to perpetrate heinous crimes against both an innocent public and an innocent religion. Such deception and misinterpretation has sadly become all too common in our day, and among its causes is, undoubtedly, the relative inaccessibility of sound Islamic scholarship and literature in the English language. An additional cause is the suggestion that there is no difference between experts and non-experts. It is as though God never declared in His Book: 'How can those who know be equal to those who do not know?' (39: 9)

A plethora of problems can arise when non-experts begin to consider themselves experts on a subject matter. One can vividly illustrate with the example of a person who requires medical attention. A sensible individual would choose to be treated by a medical professional—an expert in the field—rather than risk their health by consenting to a medical procedure from someone who fancies themselves a doctor simply because they have read a medical textbook in their spare time. Indeed, there are serious legal consequences for those who claim to practice medicine without a recognized licence—one which is granted because they have been through rigorous training and examination. Such legal repercussions are entirely appropriate of course, for such frauds place people's worldly lives at risk. Yet why is it that when it comes to our health we seek an expert opinion, but when it comes to our everlasting Hereafter so many of us prefer to follow someone who considers himself an expert after reading just a couple of books? Simply put: why do we risk our eternity by following those who are not qualified? Why do we not seek out recognized experts? As God the Almighty says: 'ask the people of knowledge if you do not know.' (16: 43) It is precisely to address this gap between scholarly works and non-scholarly opinions that we have endeavoured to produce this invaluable resource.

After reading the entirety of al-Minhāj in Turkish, the Director of Organisational Management at Islamic Community Milli Gorus (ICMG) Youth Australia, Adem Temel, conducted a meeting with our small team in which we studied the book and recognized how blessed we were to have access to such a stupendous work. It was evident that the renowned scholar and author of al-Minhāj, Imam al-Nawawī, may God have mercy on him, had wisdom and knowledge many today are in desperate need of. Indeed, al-Minhāj is one of the greatest and most respected commentaries on Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim. While an English translation of a hadith can struggle to convey its apparent meaning, let alone the appropriate context and other subtleties, commentaries by experts like Imam al-Nawawī can shed light on hadiths more comprehensively and thus give us greater access to the intended meaning while guarding us against misunderstanding. During a subsequent meeting, our team compared the Turkish translation of Fī Zilāl al-Qur'an with the English translation by Dr Adil Salahi and were impressed by the remarkable consistency between the two translations. Immediately thereafter, the team made the decision to contact Dr Salahi with a view to proposing that he translate Imam al-Nawawī's al-Minhāj into English. We were overjoyed to hear his positive response.

A number of people and organizations have contributed to this project. Firstly, this work would not have been possible without Adil Salahi's mastery of both the Arabic and English languages. His love of Prophet Muhammad, peace and blessings be upon him, and his dedication to making knowledge accessible has led to the translation of significant works from the Islamic literary heritage. Second, the ICMG Youth Australia and Kube Publishing (UK) teams worked closely to meet all project timelines. Third, many individuals and groups volunteered to support this project both physically and financially. Lastly, and most importantly, God, the Almighty, guided us, brought ease, and opened closed doors to make everything possible.

Him I put my trust, and to Him I will return.'

BEFORE YOU READ

There are some important points that the reader, particularly a student of Hadith, needs to bear in mind when using this book. Although these have been explained in the Introduction to the first volume, it is considered worthwhile to remind readers of the editorial method followed in this work.

1. Numbering and references

It is surprising, but there has never been a full and serial numbering of hadiths in Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim, and hence references to hadiths vary. A hadith is often referenced by book and chapter: 'Related by Muslim, Book of Faith, Chapter so-and-so', and so forth. This is a difficult method of referencing, particularly because the headings of some chapters run into two or three lines, or even longer. The fullest numbering of the hadiths in Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim is that given in al-Muʿjam al-Mufahras li-Alfāz al-Ḥadīth, but many hadiths are left without numbers. These are versions of the previous hadith, differing only in their chains of transmission, and it was probably felt that they should count with the earlier and often more complete version.

Al-Muʿjam al-Mufahras is a concordance of the words of the Prophet's hadiths listed in the most important nine anthologies: al-Bukhārī, Muslim, Abū Dāwūd, al-Tirmidhī, al-Nasāʾī, Ibn Mājah, as well as Mālik's al-Muwaṭṭaʾ, Ahmad's al-Musnad and al-Dārimī's Sunan. It was prepared by a group of forty Western researchers of Islamic studies under the supervision of Arent Jan Wensinck (1882–1939) and edited by the Egyptian scholar Muhammad Fu'ād 'Abd al-Bāqī (1882–1967).<sup>1</sup>

However, al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras gives a serial number to each 'book' in Muslim's Ṣaḥīḥ. Thus, it lists the numbers of the hadiths in the Book of Faith from 1 to 380, and then begins the numbering in the Book of Cleansing from 1. As such, it does not give a complete serial numbering to the entire anthology. I have therefore decided to provide serial numbering, giving every hadith its own numbered identification. In doing so, I follow the method adopted by the late hadith scholar Mūsā Shāhīn Lāshīn (1920–2009) in his 10-volume commentary, Faṭḥ al-Mun'im fī Sharḥ Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim. This method does not assign a number for a hadith that differs from the one before it only in its chain of transmission, but that has exactly the same text.

Muslim's Ṣaḥīḥ has been translated into English by Abd al-Hamid Siddiqui. The translation is well circulated and its better known edition, published by Dār al-Salām, is available online. After looking carefully at this translation, I have decided to provide my own. However, the translation gives a full serial numbering of the hadiths listed by Muslim, bringing the total to 7,190 hadiths. This is different from Lāshīn's method of numbering, which brings the total to 6,571 hadiths. To make it easier for readers who wish to refer to Dār al-Salām's translation, I give the number in that translation in brackets before the chain of transmission.

Thus, three sets of numbers are included before the chain of transmission of each hadith. The first is a complete serial number following Lāshīn's method. The second is that of al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras and the third is that of Dār al-Salām's translation given in brackets. Where Lāshīn or al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras does not give a hadith a number, because it is the same as the hadith before it, I follow the convention of giving it the mark '000'. Thus, either of the first two numbers may be replaced by 000. Where Dār al-Salām's translation omits a hadith or does not give it a number, I give it the mark '0'. The pattern of numbering is simplified, as follows:

Lāshīn – Al-Mu'jam – (Dār al-Salām)

This applies to all the hadiths that are entered in the anthology itself, beginning with the Book of Faith. Imam Muslim wrote a long introduction to his work, explaining his method. In it, he includes ninety-two hadiths and statements by the early scholars of Hadith. These are given separate numbers, from 1 to 92. Only a few of these are entered in al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras, because the majority are attributed to scholars of Hadith. Whichever is entered in al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras its number is stated. Dār al-Salām's translation does not include this introduction.

When a hadith is entered in any of the other five anthologies considered to be the most authentic, I mention these in a footnote. Where no such information is given, it means that the hadith is entered only in Muslim's anthology. The Arabic original of each hadith is given immediately after the English translation, but this applies to the main body of the anthology, not to Muslim's introduction.

Imam Muslim divided his anthology into books, each covering an important area of the Islamic faith, such as the Book of Faith, the Book of Prayer, etc. He did not make further classification. It was left to Imam al-Nawawī to divide each book into chapters, and give headings to these. These chapters were later given numbers in al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras. The headings and their numbers are given in this translation. However, as many headings tend to be long, I have tried to reduce them while retaining the elements highlighted in the headings. It should be pointed out, however, that some of these chapters are not given numbers. Where no number is given to a chapter in al-Mu‘jam al-Mufahras, it appears without a number in this translation.

There are a few instances where the same number is given to two consecutive hadiths. In order to indicate that this is not an error, but merely following the Arabic original, the repetition is indicated by the symbol [R].

2. The chain of transmission

Hadith scholars were very specific in their terminology. Therefore, when they used synonymous words, they imparted clear distinction to them. Thus, the words ḥaddathanā, akhbaranā, anba’anā, and ‘an, have different meanings, although linguistically speaking they are very similar and denote receiving information from a named person. However, ḥaddathanā is used to refer to a process whereby the teacher reads out the hadith to his students, whether he is narrating from memory or reading out loud directly. Akhbaranā and anba’anā are practically identical in meaning. However, the first refers to a process whereby a student is reading aloud from his teacher’s books in the presence of the teacher. Anba’anā does not specify this process, but means that the information was passed on by the teacher or in his presence. ‘An, on the other hand, does not specify any process, nor does it specify that the reporter actually heard the teacher’s narration or his student’s reading out in his presence. Indeed, it could, thus, mean that the reporter heard the hadith from a colleague who was in the teacher’s circle at the time.

In order to reflect these differences, ‘narrated’ is the term used here for ḥaddathanā, ‘reported’ for akhbaranā, ‘mentioned’ for anba’anā, and ‘from’ for ‘an. However, any of the first three ways could involve a one-to-one situation in which the reporter is the only one present with his teacher. In Arabic, this is marked by changing the last letter in the three Arabic words, using ‘ī’ instead of ‘ā’. Thus the words become ḥaddathanī, akhbaranī, and anba’anī. To reflect the difference in the English translation the words ‘to me’ have been used after ‘narrated’, ‘reported’ and ‘mentioned’ to indicate the one-to-one situation, while the three words on their own indicate the presence of others when the narration took place.

Readers will also note that in some hadiths the chain of transmission includes the mark [H]. This is indicated in Arabic by the use of the letter [Ḥ], and it may occur once, twice, or even more in the chain of transmission of the same hadith. What this signifies is that the hadith is narrated by two or more chains of transmission, but these join up at some stage. Rather than give them separately, repeating the names of reporters from where they join up to the Prophet’s companion, Hadith scholars use this way to indicate that the different chains are joined at this point.

Another symbol used in the chain of transmission is [R], but this is much less frequent. It simply indicates that the number given to a particular hadith is repeated, which means that the number has been given to more than one hadith instead of giving each of them a separate number.

Sometimes Muslim narrates a hadith from three of his teachers and uses the word ‘narrated’, but their methods of learning from their teacher whom they quote differ. Muslim is too careful and meticulous to overlook this fact. He makes this clear by immediately adding something like: ‘The first said “narrated” and the other two said “reported”.’

3. Word usage

The usage of some Arabic words need to be explained. The word 'imam' is often used in reference to some scholars quoted in this work. It is also used in reference to both Muslim and al-Nawawī. There is, however, a very clear difference in the use of this word by Sunni Muslims and the Shia.

Linguistically speaking, imām means 'leader' and is often used, particularly in books of Islamic Jurisprudence, or fiqh, to refer to the ruler or the head of state, whether he has the title of caliph or some other title. It is also commonly used to refer to the person who leads congregational prayer. In this second usage, there is no difference between the one who leads the prayer and anyone in the congregation, except that the imam leads and the congregation follow.

A far more common usage of the word is as a title of respect added before the name of a scholar who is recognized for his high achievement and scholarship. This is how it is mostly used in this work. It may, however, also be used here in the sense of the 'leader of congregational prayer' when this topic is discussed, but as such will be clearly identified at that juncture. A scholar who is considered an imam has no special distinction, apart from what his scholarship gives him; he does not enjoy any special status. It will be noted in this work that the views of some such scholars are outlined, and discussed or rejected. This is clearly a matter of scholarly difference that does not detract from the high standing of the scholar or the one who differs with him.

The Shia have a totally different concept of 'imam'. They give this status to twelve people starting with 'Alī ibn Abī Tālib, the Prophet's cousin, followed by eleven of his descendants through Fāṭimah, his wife and the Prophet's daughter. To the Shia, those imams were infallible and enjoy a rank that is almost equal to that of the Prophet.

Indeed, the way some Shia speak of the third Imam, al-Husayn, the Prophet's grandson, gives at times the impression that they rank him above the Prophet himself. Moreover, the Shia believe that the twelfth Imam was taken away and did not die: he will return at some point when he will bring justice to the world. This Shia concept is absolutely unacceptable to Sunni Muslims who do not recognize any such status as belonging to anyone.

We speak of a hadith having a chain of transmission and we mention 'transmitters'. We also use the words 'reporter' and 'narrator'. These three words are used interchangeably and they refer to the people named in the chain of transmission. These have the same status with regard to how the Prophet's statement or action is taught and learnt. When we use the verb 'narrate' we are referring to the action of stating the hadith, whether by reading it out loud or otherwise. However, the word 'narrate' is often used in Islamic literature in reference to the works of the leading scholars of Hadith and what they include in their anthologies. Thus, we often see phrases like 'al-Tirmidhī narrated ...', 'al-Bukhārī narrated ...'. It is felt that it is better to distinguish the mere quoting of a hadith and its entry in an anthology. Therefore we use the word 'narrate' to indicate quoting a hadith and the word 'relate' to mean the 'entry in a Hadith anthology'. Thus, we say: 'al-Bukhārī relates in his Ṣaḥīḥ', or 'al-Bayhaqī relates in Shu'ab al-Īmān', or 'al-Nasā'ī relates in al-Sunan al-Kubrā'.

The words Abū and Abī are often used in the names of hadith reporters and scholars. These two are the same word, but the endings are case markers according to their position in the sentence. Invariably, Abū is used at the beginning of the sentence and when not preceded by a name, while Abī is used when preceded by the word 'ibn'. There are other situations that indicate which of the two should be used. Both words mean 'father of' and their use indicates an appellation of respect.

The word mawlā is used to describe some reporters and other persons mentioned in the commentary. This word is one of the few Arabic words that denote opposite meanings. Linguistically, it means both 'master' and 'slave', and it is used in the Qur'an to refer to God as the mawlā of the believers. When someone is referred to as the mawlā of another or of a tribe, it most frequently refers to a slave who was set free. He then allied himself with his former master or with his tribe, as this was a recognized practice in Arabia both under Islam and prior to it.

It will be noted that the phrase 'but God knows best' is used very frequently in al-Nawawī's commentary and by the scholars he quotes: this is a mark of humility. They express their views but shy away from presenting these as the true and correct view, to the exclusion of anything different. It is akin to saying that 'this is what I know, but ultimate knowledge rests with God'.

The word hadith is used with a capital or small 'h' and this usage indicates a difference. When it is used with the lower case first letter it refers to a single statement by the Prophet. Hence, the reference to one or more statements by the Prophet is always with the lower case. When it is used with a capital first letter, it refers to the Hadith discipline, which is a specialized branch of study, concerned with the Prophet's statements, actions and approvals.

4. Arrangement

Imam al-Nawawī discusses three areas in relation to every hadith included in Muslim's anthology: 1) The general meaning of the hadith and its message. He also outlines the important points it includes and highlights any rulings that it stipulates or may be based on it. 2) The chain of transmission: he identifies the different reporters, giving some information about them and their full names if they are mentioned by first name or by appellation. He also highlights any useful point that the chain provides, and explains any subtle point that reflects Muslim's careful and meticulous scholarship. 3) He explains the language of the hadith, stating the meanings of individual words, particularly those that may be unfamiliar to readers or became rarely used. Where a word, phrase or sentence may have more than one meaning, he discusses these and shows which, if any, is unacceptable. However, he does not follow a single pattern in the arrangement of his commentary. Sometimes, he begins by discussing the chain of transmission, but often he discusses the general meaning first. He may also start by explaining the language and the meaning of individual words.

In this English version, liberty has been taken to follow a consistent pattern. The meaning of the hadith is given first and then its explanation, under the subheading 'text explanation', is provided. This is followed with any discussion al-Nawawī gives concerning the chain of transmission, using the subheading 'transmission'. The information al-Nawawī provides about the meaning of individual words and the pronunciation of unfamiliar words and names has been ignored, because these are already reflected in the translation. However, when he discusses alternative meanings, what is considered useful to English readers is included. If it is a matter of pronunciation or a grammatical aspect that does not affect the meaning or the message of the hadith, this has been disregarded.

5. Quotations and references

In his monumental work, al-Nawawī cites numerous quotations from various scholars. At times, he mentions the work from which the quotation is made, but in most cases this is not done. Although his work has been checked and verified several times, and published many times in different countries, none of these undertook the task of checking the original works in order to provide detailed references. There are several reasons for this omission. Many of the original works have not been published, but remain in manuscript form held in different libraries in various countries. Moreover, many of these works are voluminous. For example, al-Nawawī often quotes from Imam al-Ḥaramayn, who wrote a large number of books. As mentioned in the biographical note on Imam al-Ḥaramayn, one of his books is published in twenty-one volumes. Although a discerning scholar may have a good guess as to the book from which a particular quote is taken, finding it may require several hours, if not days of hard work. Imam al-Nawawī died 750 years ago and we cannot blame him for not citing his references according to modern methods of citation. It should be remembered that all the books he read were written in long hand and manuscripts of the same book differed in size, number of pages and style of writing. Readers and students must simply trust to his scholarship and piety with all that he quotes from other scholars. May God bless them all for their meticulous and faithful scholarship.

6. Notes and editorial liberty

In certain cases, it is felt that a note should be added within the text to explain certain points or add a particular perspective. This is not surprising considering that the book was written nearly eight centuries ago. In order to make the addition very clear, it is preceded by the word 'Note' and given an independent paragraph.

In a few cases, a sentence is started by mentioning the author's name before mentioning what he says, such as 'al-Nawawī considers these hadiths self-explanatory, adding only ...', and in a very few cases, a short comment by the author is not included in the translation, because time has made it irrelevant and including it would be either confusing or require a long explanatory footnote. Since it is unlikely to concern the reader, it is felt that omission is better. Such liberty is taken only in cases where it is felt that had the author lived in our time, he would have approved of such omission.

Shaykh Muhammad Rashīd Riḍā gave an English copy of A Manual of the Early Muhammadan Traditions by Arent Jan Wensinck, Professor of Arabic and Islam at the University of Leiden in Holland, to one of his regular students, Muhammad Fu'ād 'Abd al-Bāqī, and asked him to translate it into Arabic. 'Abd al-Bāqī, who was working as a translator at the Agricultural Bank in Cairo at the time, complied and translated the book, but first he wrote to Wensinck for his permission. Wensinck expressed delight at the idea and also sent ‘Abd al-Bāqī a copy of the first part of a concordance of the Prophet’s hadiths that he and other researchers were working on. ‘Abd al-Bāqī reviewed the work and found many mistakes. He made a list of these and sent it to Wensinck, who was delighted with the input and recruited ‘Abd al-Bāqī as editor of the entire al-Mu‘jam al-Mufahras concordance.

Al-Mu‘jam al-Mufahras is published in Arabic in eight volumes and is indispensable for any researcher in Islamic Studies. Words are listed alphabetically, and a short sentence or phrase in which the word occurs is given. Then the hadith which includes the sentence or phrase is referenced to any of the nine anthologies. ‘Abd al-Bāqī’s role is acknowledged by Wensinck in the Introduction, and working on this concordance enabled Muhammad Fu’ād ‘Abd al-Bāqī to subsequently undertake his own highly acclaimed concordance of the Qur’an.

Text Explanation

Linguistically speaking, i'tikāf means 'to stay and commit oneself', and in Islam it means 'for a particular person to stay in the mosque in a particular way'. The word was given this special meaning to indicate all these elements. It is mentioned in several authentic hadiths, including the one narrated by 'Ā'ishah and entered in the beginning of the Book of I'tikāf in al-Bukhari's Ṣaḥīḥ, where she says: 'The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to put his head to me when he was in i'tikāf in the mosque, and I would comb his hair, even though I was having my period'. Muslim also enters the hadiths confirming that the Prophet used to do i'tikāf during the last ten days of Ramadan and the first ten days of Shawwāl. These hadiths make clear that i'tikāf is desirable, and even more so during the last ten days of Ramadan. All Muslims agree that it is desirable and that it is not a duty but a confirmed sunnah during the last third of Ramadan.

The view of al-Shāfi'ī and his school, as well as many scholars, is that fasting is not a condition for the validity of i'tikāf. It is valid if done by one who is not fasting, and it is valid for an hour or a very short period. According to our Shāfi'ī School, it is valid for a stay in the mosque for any time that is longer than a proper bow [i.e., rukū'] in prayer. This is the correct view, although there is a different odd view in our school. In my view, i'tikāf is valid for a person who is passing through the mosque, without intending to stay, but the first view is the better known one.

Therefore, everyone who is in a mosque, awaiting prayer, or needing to do anything that relates to any type of prayer or any normal business, is advised to intend his stay as i'tikāf. It will thus be recorded for him or her and they will be rewarded for it until they leave the mosque. If a person leaves then comes back again, that person should renew the intention to be in i'tikāf. The i'tikāf does not have any formal prayer or glorification of God or any type of worship. Nor does it require any action other than a stay in the mosque with the intention of i'tikāf. If a person is doing this and says anything of a worldly nature, or does anything, such as sewing or repairing something, etc. the i'tikāf remains valid.

Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah and the majority of scholars say that fasting is a condition for the validity of i'tikāf. This means that a person who is not fasting cannot perform a valid i'tikāf. They cite these hadiths as evidence. In response and in support of his view, al-Shāfi'ī cites the hadith that mentions that the Prophet did i'tikāf during the first ten days of Shawwāl. This is mentioned in a hadith related by al-Bukhari and Muslim. Al-Shāfi'ī also cites a hadith in which 'Umar said to the Prophet: 'Messenger of God, prior to becoming a Muslim, I had pledged to stay one night in i'tikāf'. The Prophet said to him: 'Fulfil your pledge'. (Related by al-Bukhari and Muslim.) The night is not a time of fasting. Therefore, fasting is not a condition for the validity of i'tikāf.

These hadiths make it clear that i'tikāf is valid only in a mosque, as the Prophet, his wives and Companions did so in the mosque, despite the difficulty of staying there all the time. Had it been valid at home, they would have done it, at least on one occasion. This is particularly true of women who are in greater need of doing so. That i'tikāf is valid only in a mosque, for both men and women, is the view of Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī, Ahmad, Dāwūd and the majority of scholars. Abu Ḥanīfah said that the woman's i'tikāf is valid in her usual place of prayer at home, but it is not valid for a man in such a usual place at home. This view of Abu Ḥanīfah is shared by al-Shāfi'ī in an old view, but it is considered by scholars of his school to be unsound. A few Mālikī and Shāfi'ī scholars agree that it is valid for both men and women in their usual places of prayer at home.

As the majority of scholars insist that i'tikāf may only be done in a mosque, they differ as to which mosque. Al-Shāfi'ī, Mālik and the majority of their scholars argued that i'tikāf is valid in all mosques. Ahmad said that it is valid only in a mosque where regular congregational prayers are held. Abu Ḥanīfah said it must be a mosque where all prayers are held. Al-Zuhrī and other scholars said that it must be a mosque where the Friday Prayer is regularly offered. Scholars mention that Ḥudhayfah ibn al-Yamān, the Prophet's companion, said that it may be done only in one of the three mosques to which people may take a special journey: the Grand Mosque in Makkah, the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah and the Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem. All scholars agree that there is no limit for the length of i'tikāf, but God knows best.

CHAPTER 2

WHEN TO START I'TIKĀF

[2414-6]. (Dar al-Salam 2641) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>i</sup> Abu Mu'āwiyah reported; from Yaḥyā ibn Sa'īd; from 'Amrah; from 'Ā'ishah. She said: 'When God's Messenger (peace be upon him) wanted to do i'tikāf, he would offer the Fajr Prayer and then enter his place of i'tikāf. He once gave instructions for his tent to be set up, intending to stay in i'tikāf for the last ten nights of Ramadan. Zaynab gave instructions to have her tent set up, and other wives of the Prophet gave instructions, and their tents were set up. When God's Messenger (peace be upon him) finished the Fajr Prayer, he saw these tents. He said: "Is it piety that you wish?" He then ordered that his tent be dismantled. He did not do i'tikāf in [that month of] Ramadan but did it during the first ten days of Shawwāl'.

Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2414 mentions that 'When God's Messenger (peace be upon him) wanted to do i'tikāf, he would offer the Fajr Prayer and then enter his place of i'tikāf. Scholars who say that i'tikāf starts from the beginning of the day cite this statement as the basis of their view. They include al-Awzā'ī and al-Thawrī. Also, al-Layth expresses this as one of his two views on the subject. Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfi'ī and Ahmad say that a person who intends to do i'tikāf for a month or ten days should start shortly before sunset. They explain this hadith as meaning that the Prophet entered his special place of i'tikāf after the Fajr Prayer because he wanted to be alone. It was not the time he started his i'tikāf, but he started it before Maghrib of the previous night and remained in the mosque throughout the night. After Fajr Prayer, he wanted to have some privacy.

The hadith mentions that the Prophet gave instructions for his tent to be set up. Scholars said that this makes it clear that it is permissible for a person in i'tikāf to keep some space in the mosque for himself where he can be alone for that period, provided that he does not inconvenience other people. A person who wants to have such a space should choose a place at the back of the mosque, so as not to disturb other people. Moreover, it will give more privacy.

The hadith then mentions that the Prophet 'saw these tents. He said: "Is it piety that you wish?" He then ordered that his tent be dismantled'. Qadi 'Iyād said:

The Prophet's words mean that he disliked his wives' actions, although he had permitted some of them to do i'tikāf, as related by al-Bukhari. The reason for his disapproval is that he feared that they might not have been sincere in their desire to do i'tikāf, but rather wanted to be close to him, as they were jealous of each other. He disliked them staying in the mosque which was a public place where there were all kinds of people, including Bedouins and hypocrites. They would need to come in and out and this might expose them to what was undesirable. Alternatively, his dislike was due to the fact that he saw his wives close to him and in the mosque, which meant that the mosque was akin to his home environment. Thus, the main purpose of i'tikāf, which is to abandon all that is related to this world and family, would have been lost. Or, probably, the Prophet disliked the sight of those tents because he felt that they limited the space in the mosque.

This hadith makes it clear that it is proper for women to do i'tikāf because the Prophet first permitted his wives to do it. He then stopped them for a reason. The hadith further shows that a man may stop his wife from doing i'tikāf without his permission. This is agreed upon by all scholars. The question arises: if a husband gives his wife permission to do i'tikāf, may he stop her after she has started it? Scholars hold different views on this point. Al-Shāfi'ī, Ahmad and Dāwūd say that he may stop his wife or his slave and take them out of a voluntary i'tikāf. Mālik says that he may not. Abu Ḥanīfah said that it is permissible for a man to take his slave out of i'tikāf, but not his wife.

GREATER DILIGENCE IN WORSHIP DURING THE LAST TEN DAYS OF RAMADAN

[2416-7]. (Dar al-Salam 2643) Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm al-Ḥanzalī and Ibn Abi ‘Umar narrated:<sup>i</sup> both from Ibn ‘Uyaynah; Ishāq said: Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah reported; from Abu Ya‘fūr; from Muslim ibn Ṣubayḥ; from Masrūq; from ‘Āishah. She said: ‘When the [last] ten [nights] started, God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) spent the night in worship, awakened his family, became more diligent [in worship] and tightened his belt’.

[2417-8]. (Dar al-Salam 2644) Qutaybah ibn Sa‘īd and Abu Kāmil al-Jahḍarī narrated:<sup>ii</sup> both from ‘Abd al-Wāḥid ibn Ziyād; Qutaybah said: ‘Abd al-Wāḥid narrated; from al-Ḥasan ibn ‘Ubaydullāh; he said: I heard Ibrāhīm say; I heard al-Aswad ibn Yazīd say; ‘Ā’ishah said: “God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) used to be more diligent in his worship during the last ten nights [of Ramadan] than at any other time”.’ الْعَشْرِ الْآخِرِ مَا لَا يَجْتَهِدُ فِي غَيْرِهِ.

Text Explanation

Scholars differ in their understanding of the phrase ‘tightened his belt’. It is said that it meant exerting oneself more than usual in worship and getting eager to do what is best. In this hadith, ‘Ā’ishah uses a metaphor that means ‘dedicate oneself more fully’. Another suggestion is that in this instance, the metaphor means staying away from his wives in order to concentrate on his worship.

‘Spent the night in worship’ means that he stayed in prayer and other forms of worship almost throughout the night. ‘Awakened his family’ means that he wanted them to offer some night prayer and worship. Thus, this hadith makes it clear that it is desirable that one increases one’s worship during the last third of Ramadan, so as to spend the night in prayer and worship. Our scholars say that spending the entire night in worship is discouraged, i.e., makrūh, but this refers to doing it all the time. They do not say that it is discouraged if done for one or two nights, or the last ten nights of Ramadan. Hence, they say that it is desirable to do it on the two nights of the Eids and other occasions.

Text Explanation

Scholars have said that this hadith, in its two versions, may suggest that fasting during these ten days is reprehensible, or makrūh. The ten days in this instance mean the first nine days of the month of Dhul-Hijjah. They add that this is something that has been explained, because there is no discouragement whatsoever for fasting these nine days. On the contrary, fasting in these days is highly desirable, particularly on the ninth of Dhul-Hijjah, which is the day of attendance at Arafat by pilgrims.<sup>ii</sup> We have discussed hadiths highlighting the importance of this day. It is also confirmed in al-Bukhari's Ṣaḥīḥ that God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: 'Good action is never better than on these days', referring to the first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah.

Therefore, 'Ā'ishah's statement that the Prophet did not fast on these days suggests he had some reason to prevent him from doing so, such as illness, travel, etc. Or perhaps she did not see him fasting on these days, although he might have been fasting. This understanding of the hadith is endorsed by the hadith narrated by Hunaydah ibn Khālīd; from his wife; from one of the Prophet's wives. She said: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) used to fast the first nine days of Dhul-Hijjah, the 'Āshūrā' and three days of each month on the Monday of the month and Thursday'. This hadith is related by Abu Dāwūd, with this wording. In Ahmad's and al-Nasā'ī's versions: 'and two Thursdays', but God knows best.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2419 begins as follows: ‘Abu Bakr ibn Nāfi’ al-‘Abdī narrated to me: ‘Abd al-Raḥmān narrated; Sufyān narrated; from al-A‘mash’. Sufyān mentioned here is Sufyān al-Thawrī. In some original copies, Shu‘bah is mentioned in place of Sufyān. This is how Qadi ‘Iyāḍ mentions the hadith as Muslim’s Ṣaḥīḥ is reported by al-Fārisī. The first chain of transmission, as given above, is the one mentioned by the majority of reporters of Muslim’s Ṣaḥīḥ, but God knows best.

- i. Related by Abu Dāwūd, 2439; al-Tirmidhī, 756.
  - ii. Fasting on the day when pilgrims are at Arafat is not recommended for those doing the hajj, but it is strongly recommended for all other Muslims.

THE HAJJ

Al-Hajj in Arabic means 'to go to a particular place intending to reach it'. This is the main linguistic meaning, but it was also used to refer to action and to doing something time after time. [In Islam, it means to go to Makkah to perform certain religious acts of worship, in a particular manner, on particular days and at particular places.] 'Umrah, which is often translated as 'mini-hajj', linguistically means 'a visit'.

The hajj is obligatory on every adult Muslim who is able to undertake the journey, physically and financially. Scholars hold different views with regard to whether the 'umrah is also obligatory. Some say that it is a duty and others say it is desirable. Al-Shāfi'ī expresses two views, and the more correct of these is that it is obligatory. Scholars unanimously agree that the hajj and the 'umrah are incumbent duties only once in a person's lifetime, unless one makes a pledge [i.e., nadhr] to do either one more than once, then he must fulfil the pledge when its conditions are met. If a person enters Makkah or its surrounding Ḥaram area for something that is not regularly done, such as attending to one's business or paying a visit, must such entry be combined with a hajj or 'umrah? Scholars hold different opinions. Al-Shāfi'ī has two views, the more correct one is that it is desirable to do either duty in combination with his business or visit. The second view is that it is a duty to do so, provided that such a person is not entering the area to join a battle and is not in fear of being seen.<sup>1</sup>

Scholars also differ on the time when the duty of the hajj should be fulfilled. Al-Shāfi'ī, Abu Yūsuf and other scholars say that it is a duty to be fulfilled when convenient, unless a person thinks that he might miss the opportunity to do so if he delays it any longer. Abu Ḥanīfah, Mālik and other scholars maintain that it is a duty to be done as soon as possible, once a person meets the condition of being able to do it, but God knows best.

- i. A battle in the Ḥaram area is only permissible if Makkah or any part of the Ḥaram area is occupied by unbelievers or rebels.

THE STATE OF CONSECRATION, OR IHRĀM, AND ITS RESTRICTIONS

[2420-1]. (Dar al-Salam 2647) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>1</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar; that 'A man asked God's Messenger (peace be upon him) what clothes a person in iḥrām [i.e., the state of consecration] may wear? God's Messenger said: "Do not wear shirts, turbans, trousers, caps or shoes. If the person cannot find slippers to wear, he may wear shoes, provided he removes the end part below his ankles. Do not wear any garment perfumed with saffron or warce".'

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، قَالَ قَرَأْتُ عَلَى مَالِكٍ، عَنْ نَافِعٍ،
عَنْ ابْنِ عُثْمَرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، أَنَّ رَجُلًا سَأَلَ رَسُولَ
اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا يَلْبَسُ الْمُحْرِمُ مِنَ
الْثِيَابِ؟ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «لَا
تَلْبَسُوا الْقُمَصَ وَلَا الْعَمَائِمَ، وَلَا السَّرَاوِيلَ وَلَا
الْبُرَانِسَ، وَلَا الْخِفَافَ إِلَّا أَحَدٌ لَا يَجِدُ التَّغْلِينَ فَلْيَلْبَسِ

الْخُفَّيْنِ وَلَيَقْطَعُهُمَا اسْفَلَ مِنَ الْكَعْبَيْنِ. وَلَا تَلَبَسُوا مِنَ
الْتِيَابِ شَيْئًا مَسَّهُ الزَّعْفَرَانُ وَلَا الْوَرُسُ».

[2421-2]. (Dar al-Salam 2648) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā, ‘Amr al-Nāqid and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated:<sup>ii</sup> all from Ibn ‘Uyaynah. Yaḥyā said: Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah reported; from al-Zuhri; from Sālim; from his father; that ‘The Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked what clothes a person in iḥrām may wear? He said: “A person in iḥrām may not wear a shirt, turban, cloak, trousers, a garment perfumed with warce or saffron, or shoes. If he cannot find slippers to wear, he must cut off [the back] of his shoes below his ankles”.

عَنْهُ، قَالَ سُئِلَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا يَلْبَسُ
الْمُحْرِمُ؟ قَالَ: «لَا يَلْبَسُ الْمُحْرِمُ الْقَمِيصَ وَلَا
الْعِمَامَةَ، وَلَا الْبُرُتُسَ وَلَا السَّرَاوِيلَ، وَلَا ثَوْبًا مَسَّهُ

[2422-3]. (Dar al-Salam 2649) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>iii</sup> I read out to Mālik; from ‘Abdullāh ibn Dīnār; from Ibn ‘Umar that he said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) prohibited a person in iḥrām from wearing a garment

coloured with saffron or warce, and he said: "Whoever cannot find slippers may wear shoes but must cut them off below the ankles".'

[2427-6]. (Dar al-Salam 2654) Shaybān ibn Farrūkh narrated:<sup>v</sup> Hammām narrated; ‘Aṭā’ ibn Abi Rabāḥ narrated; from Ṣafwān ibn Ya‘lā ibn Umayyah; from his father. He said: ‘A man came to the Prophet (peace be upon him) at al-Ji‘rānah, wearing a wide cloak showing saffron-based perfume (or traces of yellowness). He said: "What do you command me to do in my 'umrah?" [At that moment] the Prophet received revelations, and he was covered with a garment. Ya'lā used to say: "I wish I could see the Prophet (peace be upon him) as revelations were given to him". ['Umar] said: "Would you like to see the Prophet (peace be upon him) as revelations are given to him?" 'Umar lifted the corner of the garment and I looked at him as he breathed with sound, (and I think he said) similar to that of a young camel. When it was over, he said: "Where is the man asking about the 'umrah? Wash off these traces of yellowness (or he said the traces of perfume) and take off your cloak and do in your 'umrah the same as you do in your hajj".'

[2428-7]. (Dar al-Salam 2655) Ibn Abi 'Umar narrated: Sufyān narrated; from 'Amr; from 'Aṭā'; from Ṣafwān ibn Ya'lā; from his father. He said: 'I was with the Prophet (peace be upon him) at al-Ji'rānah when a man came to him wearing a tailored garment (meaning a cloak), having used much of a saffron-based perfume. He said: "I have started the 'umrah and I am wearing this garment, having used much of this perfume". The Prophet said to him: "What would you have done if you were on hajj?" The man said: "I would take off these clothes and wash off this perfume". The Prophet said to him: "Whatever you would do in your hajj, then do the same for your 'umrah".'

[2429-8]. (Dar al-Salam 2656) Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated to me: Ismā'il ibn Ibrāhīm narrated [H]. Also, Muhammad ibn Bakr reported; both said: Ibn Jurayj reported [H]. And 'Alī ibn Khashram narrated (his text); 'Īsā reported; from Ibn Jurayj; 'Aṭā' reported to me; that Ṣafwān ibn Ya'lā ibn Umayyah reported to him; that 'Ya'lā used to say to 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb: "I wish I could see the Prophet of God when he is receiving revelations". The Prophet was at al-Ji'rānah using a robe to provide some shade, and some of his Companions, including 'Umar, were with him, when a man came over, wearing a woollen wide cloak and having used much perfume. He said: "Messenger of God, what would you say to a man who has entered into iḥrām for 'umrah wearing a wide cloak and having used perfume?" The Prophet looked at him for a while but remained silent. He then received revelations. 'Umar signalled with his hand to Ya'lā to come forward. Ya'lā came and looked in. He saw the Prophet (peace be upon him) with his face red, breathing soundly for a while, then it was all over. He said: "Where is the man who earlier asked me about the 'umrah?" They looked for the man and brought him over. The Prophet said: "As for the perfume you are wearing, wash it off three times, and take off your cloak. Then do in your ‘umrah the same as you do in your hajj”.’

Text Explanation

When the Prophet was asked about what a man in a state of consecration, i.e., iḥrām, may wear, he said: 'Do not wear shirts, turbans, trousers, caps or shoes. If the person cannot find slippers to wear, he may wear shoes, provided he removes the end part below his ankles. Do not wear any garment perfumed with saffron or warce'.<sup>vi</sup> Scholars have said that the Prophet's answer equates with fine, eloquent speech. The Prophet's reply was to identify what such a person may not wear, meaning that he may wear anything else. What is restricted and may not be worn by a person in iḥrām is limited, while what may be worn is everything else. This is the best way of giving a full answer in clear and concise speech.

All scholars agree that a man in iḥrām, or consecration, may not wear any of the types of clothing the Prophet mentioned. Shirts and trousers indicate everything that is close to them, which means any article of clothing that is sewn or tailored to fit a person or any part of his body, such as a vest, jacket, jumper, shorts or gloves, etc. Turbans and caps refer to everything that covers one's head, whether sewn or not, including a headband. If a man needs a headband to cover a head injury or relieve a headache, he may wear it, but he must give the required redemption. Shoes refer to all that covers one's feet, including boots and socks. All these apply to men only.

During iḥrām a woman covers all her body with any type of clothing, except her face. She is forbidden from covering her face with anything. Scholars hold different opinions about the prohibition of wearing gloves to cover her hands. Al-Shāfi'ī gives two views, but the view which is more correct is that covering her hands is also forbidden.

The Prophet mentions that a person in iḥrām may not use saffron or warce, and this includes all types of perfume. It is forbidden for both men and women to wear any type of perfume while they are in a state of consecration. What is meant here is anything that is used to impart a good smell, but what has a pleasant smell such as citrus fruit, apples, wildflowers, etc. are not forbidden because they are not used as a perfume.

Scholars argue that the purpose of prohibiting the wearing of such clothing during iḥrām is to stay away from all aspects of finery and luxury. Hence, a man may only wear two untailored pieces of cloth, using them as an upper and a lower garment. He is undertaking a journey that requires him to show humility before God, and he should remember, at all times, that he is in consecration. This should always make him mindful of the need to glorify and praise God and to attend fully to his worship, refraining from doing whatever is prohibited. His appearance reminds him of death when he has nothing but a shroud. He will have thoughts of resurrection on the Day of Judgement, when people will rise naked and barefoot, responding to the summoner. The purpose of prohibiting perfumes and sex is to keep all the desires and pleasures of this life away from the pilgrim so that they focus only on the life to come.

In the same hadith, No. 2420 the Prophet adds a concession: 'If the person cannot find slippers to wear, he may wear shoes, provided he removes the end part below his ankles'. And in hadith No. 2423 and No. 2426 narrated by Ibn 'Abbās and Jābir respectively, the Prophet says that a person who cannot find slippers may wear shoes, but does not mention that they should be cut in the back below the ankles. Scholars differ in their understanding of these hadiths. Ahmad said that in this case, shoes may be worn as they are, and they need not be cut. He cites the hadiths narrated by Ibn 'Abbās and Jābir in support of his view. His disciples claim that these hadiths abrogated the hadith narrated by Ibn 'Umar stating the need to cut the shoes. They add that to cut them is to waste money. On the other hand, Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfi'ī and the great majority of scholars rely on the hadith narrated by Ibn 'Umar and maintain that shoes may not be worn by a person in iḥrām unless they are cut below the ankles, as stated in the hadith narrated by Ibn 'Umar. They add that Ibn 'Abbās' and Jābir's hadiths speak generally and, therefore, they must be understood in the same terms as the hadith that is more restricting. Addition by a reliable narrator is acceptable. To claim that cutting the shoes in this way means wasting money is incorrect. Money is wasted when spent on something that is forbidden. When it is spent on doing what is a duty, it must be willingly given, but God knows best.

Scholars also differ about whether the person who wears shoes during iḥrām because he cannot find slippers is required to pay redemption or not. Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī and others say that no redemption is due because the Prophet would have stated it clearly if such was the case. Abu Ḥanīfah and his disciples argued that a redemption is required in the same way as it is required from one who has to shave his head during iḥrām because of some disease or harm affecting his head, but God knows best.

In explaining the restrictions during iḥrām, the Prophet says: 'Do not wear any garment perfumed with saffron or warce'. All Muslims agree that wearing such garments is forbidden because of the perfume. In this, they include all types of perfume. The reason for this prohibition is that the fine smell of perfume stirs sexual desire, and it is contrary to the attitude of humility required of pilgrims. A pilgrim should appear in a rough condition. The prohibition of perfumes is the same for men and women. Indeed, all the restrictions of iḥrām apply equally to men and women, except for dress, which has been explained. There are seven things that are forbidden during iḥrām: clothes as detailed above, perfumes, removal of hair, clipping nails, dressing one's beard or head, making a marriage contract, sexual intercourse with one's spouse and all sexual enjoyment including masturbation. The seventh is killing game animals, but God knows best.

If a person who is in a state of consecration, or iḥrām, deliberately uses perfume or wears what is not allowed, he must pay a redemption. This is unanimously agreed upon. If he does this forgetting that he is in iḥrām, no redemption is required according to al-Thawrī, al-Shāfi'ī, Ahmad and Ishāq, but Mālik and Abu Ḥanīfah say that a redemption is required. Garments dyed with safflower are not prohibited according to Mālik and al-Shāfi'ī, but al-Thawrī and Abu Ḥanīfah consider such dye as perfume and make such garments forbidden, requiring redemption by anyone wearing them. It is further discouraged, not forbidden, for a man in iḥrām to wear a dyed garment if the dye does not give a smell, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2423 the Prophet says: 'Trousers [are permitted only] for one who cannot find a lower garment, and shoes for one who cannot find slippers'. This is clear evidence in support of the view of al-Shāfi'ī and the majority of scholars that it is permissible to wear trousers if a person who is in iḥrām cannot find a lower garment that meets the applicable restrictions. Mālik disapproves of it because it is not mentioned in hadith No. 2420 narrated by Ibn ‘Umar. The correct view is that it is permissible on the basis of the hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Abbās and hadith No. 2426 narrated by Jābir. Ibn ‘Umar’s hadith does not provide any evidence because it mentions a scenario when a suitable lower garment is available, while the two hadiths narrated by Ibn ‘Abbās and Jābir mention the case of unavailability, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2427 the Prophet says to the man asking about the ‘umrah: ‘Wash off these traces of yellowness (or he said the traces of perfume) and take off your cloak and do in your ‘umrah the same as you do in your hajj’. His instruction, ‘wash off these traces of yellowness’, means that perfume is forbidden during iḥrām, to apply or to keep. If it is forbidden to keep, then to apply it while in iḥrām is even more so. The hadith also means that all the above-detailed seven prohibitions apply to the ‘umrah in the same way as they do to the hajj. The hadith further shows that if a person in iḥrām touches perfume, either forgetting or being unaware of the ruling, then comes to realise it, he must remove it straightaway. Moreover, in such case of forgetting or unawareness, no redemption is due according to al-Shāfi‘ī, ‘Aṭā’, al-Thawrī, Ishāq and Dāwūd. On the other hand, Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Muzanī and Ahmad in the more correct of his two reported views say that a redemption is due. However, the correct view in the Mālikī School is that redemption is due from the one wearing perfume as a result of forgetting or unawareness only if its effect is lasting, but God knows best.

The Prophet also tells the man: ‘take off your cloak’. This is the basis of the view of Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars saying that if a man in iḥrām happens to wear some tailored garment, he must take it off and does not have to tear it off. Al-Sha‘bī and al-Nakha‘ī say that taking it off over one’s head is not permissible because it may thus cover his head. Therefore, he must tear it off. This view does not have sound basis.

The Prophet adds: 'Do in your 'umrah the same as you do in your hajj'. This refers to avoiding whatever is forbidden. However, the Prophet might also have meant performing the duties of the 'umrah, i.e., the ṭawāf, sa'ī and shaving one's head or cutting one's hair, as they should be done, as well as repeating aloud the recommended phrases. These are all actions done in both the hajj and the 'umrah. The Prophet's statement does not apply to actions that are included in the hajj but which are not part of the 'umrah, such as attendance at Arafat, stoning, staying in Mina or Muzdalifah, etc. This hadith clearly implies that the Prophet's questioner was aware of how to conduct the hajj but not the 'umrah. This is the reason the Prophet said to him: 'Do in your 'umrah the same as you do in your hajj'.

This hadith, No. 2427 provides the basis of the well-known rule that if a judge or a scholar is unaware of the ruling applicable to a particular case or question, he must not give an answer until he has established the ruling according to the relevant conditions. The hadith also shows that some rulings that are not mentioned in the Qur'an are given by revelations that are not recited as the Qur'an. The hadith may also be taken as evidence in support of the view of some scholars of legal theory [i.e., Uṣūl al-Fiqh] that the Prophet could not give a ruling through his own discretion. He gave rulings only on the basis of revelations. But the hadith does not provide such evidence because it is probable that the Prophet could not decide the answer through discretion in this particular case. Alternatively, the revelations might have been given immediately, before he could look into the matter to give an answer, but God knows best.

The same hadith includes: 'Ya'lā used to say: "I wish I could see the Prophet (peace be upon him) as revelations were given to him". He said: "Would you like to see the Prophet (peace be upon him) as revelations are given to him?" This is how the hadith occurs in all original copies, saying: 'He said: "would you like..."', without mentioning the name of the person saying it. It was 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, as explained in the next hadith.

In hadith No. 2429 Ya'lā mentions that when he saw the Prophet as he was receiving revelations, his face was red and he was breathing soundly for a while. This is due to the fact that the process of receiving revelations was hard for the Prophet, as stated in the Qur'an: 'We shall bestow on you a weighty message'. (73: 5)

In the same hadith, the Prophet tells the man to wash off the perfume three times. He wanted him to do it three times to ensure the removal of its colour as well as its smell. What is required as a duty is to remove it. If it is achieved by one wash, that is sufficient. It may be that the man had used much perfume and therefore, the Prophet instructed him to wash it off three times. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said that it may be that the Prophet said his instruction three times, but the correct thing is what we have said, but God knows best.

That Ya'lā put his head forward and looked at the Prophet as he was receiving revelations, and that 'Umar permitted him to do so, are all understood to indicate that they were aware that the Prophet did not dislike being seen in such a condition. Indeed, it strengthened their faith as they saw the process of revelation, but God knows best.

Transmission

In several chains of transmission of the hadiths in this chapter one of the narrators is mentioned as Ṣafwān ibn Ya'lā ibn Umayyah. In some versions, his name is stated as Ibn Munyah, instead of Umayyah. Both versions are correct. Umayyah was Ya'lā's father while Munyah was his mother. He is thus mentioned at times as his father's son and, at others, his mother's name is mentioned instead.

He said: "They are for them, and for whoever passes through them other than their own people, who is aiming for the hajj or the 'umrah. ### Text Explanation

In this chapter, Muslim mentions three hadiths in various versions, and the most complete of these is the hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Abbās as it clearly states all the four points of mīqāt, i.e., the starting place of iḥrām. Therefore, Muslim begins the chapter with this hadith. This is followed by the hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Umar because he did not learn the mīqāt of the people of Yemen, but he was informed of it by others. The third hadith is Jābir’s because Abu al-Zubayr says that he thought that Jābir attributed it to the Prophet. This does not confirm its being attributed to the Prophet.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) appointed Dhul-Hulalyfah as the starting point for the people of Madinah and this is where they must start their ihrām. This is the furthest mīqāt from Makkah. It is about ten kilometres from Madinah and around 400 kilometres from Makkah. The people of Syria start at al-Juhfah, which is also called Mahya'ah as mentioned in hadith No. 3436. It is around 160 kilometres from Makkah. The people of Yemen's mīqāt is Yalamlam, which is one of the mountains in Tihama, around 85 kilometres from Makkah. The people of Najd start at Qarn al-Manāzil, which is about 80 kilometres from Makkah. It is mentioned that Qarn is the closest mīqāt to Makkah. The people of Iraq start at Dhāt 'Irq. Scholars differ as whether this mīqāt was appointed for the people of Iraq by the Prophet or by scholarly discretion exercised by 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb. Scholars of the Shāfi'ī School express two views, but the more correct of the two is the one stated by al-Shāfi'ī himself in his work al-Umm, saying that it was 'Umar who appointed this mīqāt. This is clearly mentioned in al-Bukhari's Ṣaḥīḥ.

Those who say that the Prophet appointed it cite the hadith narrated by Jābir, but this hadith is not confirmed because the narrator has not categorically stated its attribution to the Prophet. Imam al-Dāraquṭnī says that this hadith lacks authenticity because Iraq was not taken over by Muslims during the Prophet's lifetime. His grading it as lacking authenticity is correct, but the evidence for that is what I have stated. Citing the fact that Iraq was not taken over by the Muslim state as the reason for his verdict on the hadith is unacceptable because it does not preclude that the Prophet would appoint this mīqāt, knowing as he did that Iraq would become a part of the Muslim state. That would be one of the Prophet's miracles alongside the many instances of information he gave about future events. Moreover, the Prophet appointed al-Juhfah as the mīqāt of the people of Syria while Syria had not, as of then, been taken over. There are several authentic hadiths in which the Prophet mentions that Syria, Yemen and Iraq would be parts of the Muslim state. Indeed, the Prophet said that the eastern and western parts of the earth were shown to him and added: 'My community's rule will extend over what was shown to me of the earth'. He also mentioned that the Muslims would take over Egypt, a land in which the qīrāṭ is mentioned. He also told us that Jesus (peace be upon him) would descend on the white minaret to the east of Damascus. All these hadiths are in the Ṣaḥīḥ anthologies. Indeed, similar hadiths in the Ṣaḥīḥ are very numerous, but God knows best.

All scholars agree that these points of mīqāt are valid. Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfi'ī, Ahmad and the majority of scholars add that they are incumbent on all pilgrims. If anyone leaves them and starts the iḥrām after some distance, that person commits a sin and must give redemption in the form of sacrificing a sheep, but his hajj is valid. 'Aṭā' and al-Nakha'ī considered that no redemption is due, while Sa'īd ibn Jubayr said that the hajj of such a person becomes invalid. The use of appointing these mīqāts is to serve as points to start the hajj and 'umrah. Whoever intends to do either must not go beyond these points without entering into a state of consecration, i.e., iḥrām. If one goes beyond the point of mīqāt but returns to it before actually starting either duty, no redemption is due from that person.

A person who does not intend to do either the hajj or the 'umrah need not enter into iḥrām to go into Makkah. This is the correct view of our Shāfi'ī School. This applies to a person who has some business requiring him to go repeatedly into Makkah, such as the case of people selling firewood, animal feed or what they have hunted. It similarly applies to one who is paying the odd visit to Makkah. Al-Shāfi'ī has a weaker view requiring the one who visits Makkah repeatedly to start the iḥrām for a hajj or 'umrah, stating a condition that has been mentioned at the beginning of the Book of Hajj.

If a person passes through the point of mīqāt having no intention to reach the Ḥaram area around Makkah because he has business at a place before it, but who then decides to perform the hajj or the 'umrah, he starts his iḥrām from the place where he made his decision. If he leaves that place without starting his iḥrām, but starts it later, he is at fault and redemption becomes due in the form of sacrificing a sheep. By contrast, if he starts his iḥrām where he made his decision, he does well and he is required neither to go back to the point of mīqāt nor to sacrifice a sheep. This is the view of our school and the majority of scholars. However, Ahmad and Ishāq consider that he must go back to the mīqāt point.

After defining the points of mīqāt in hadith No. 2432 the Prophet says: 'They are for them, and for whoever passes through them other than their own people, who is aiming for the hajj or the 'umrah'. This means that if someone coming from Syria passes through the mīqāt of the people of Madinah on his way to Makkah, he must start his iḥrām at the mīqāt of Madinah. It is not permissible for such a person to delay his iḥrām to al-Juhfah, which is the mīqāt point for the people of Syria. The same applies to the other points. This is unanimously agreed upon.

The Prophet adds that these points of mīqāt are also for people crossing them 'aiming for the hajj or the 'umrah'. This serves as evidence in support of the correct view that a person who passes through the mīqāt without any intention to perform either the hajj or the 'umrah need not enter into a state of consecration, i.e., iḥrām, for visiting Makkah. We have already discussed this point fully. Some scholars say that the hadith also provides evidence that the hajj is a duty that should be attended to at a person's convenience, not necessarily immediately. We have also discussed this.

In the same hadith, No. 2432 the Prophet says: 'Whoever is closer than these starts from their own quarters'. This is a clear statement that anyone whose home is nearer to Makkah than the point of mīqāt begins his iḥrām at home. Such people need not go to the mīqāt but may not go beyond their homes [for the hajj or 'umrah] without being in consecration. This is the view of our school and all scholars, except Mujāhid who says that such people have Makkah itself as their own mīqāt. The Prophet adds: 'Whoever is closer than these [starts] from their own quarters, even closer and closer, and even the people of Makkah start from Makkah'. This means what we have already said, including the people of Makkah whose iḥrām, or consecration, begins in Makkah itself.

Scholars unanimously agree to all this. Any person in Makkah, whether local inhabitant or visitor, who decides to perform the hajj, their mīqāt, where they start their consecration, is Makkah itself. They may not leave Makkah to start their iḥrām outside it, whether they go to a point in the Ḥaram or the Ḥil area.<sup>v</sup> This is the correct view according to our scholars. Some of our scholars say that such people may start their iḥrām for the hajj from any point in the Ḥaram area because the same rules apply to both Makkah and the Ḥaram area, but the first view is the correct one, in the light of this hadith. Our scholars have said that people starting their iḥrām from Makkah may start at any point in the city, provided that they do not go beyond the city itself or outside its limits. So, which is the best place to start? There are two answers and the more correct of these is 'at one's doorstep', and the other is 'at the Grand Mosque, under the Mīzāb', but God knows best. All this relates to those of the people of Makkah starting the iḥrām for the hajj. The hadith speaks specifically of iḥrām to perform the hajj. If a dweller of Makkah wants to perform the 'umrah, his point of mīqāt is the nearest point of the Ḥil area. This is based on the hadith concerning 'Ā'ishah, when she wanted to do the 'umrah and the Prophet ordered her to go to al-Tan'īm where she started her iḥrām for the 'umrah. Al-Tan'īm borders the Ḥil area, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2438 we have the following: 'Abu al-Zubayr reported to me: that he heard Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh being asked about the place for starting the iḥrām. He said: "I heard..." then finished and he said: "I think he meant the Prophet (peace be upon him)"". This means that Abu al-Zubayr said that he heard Jābir then stopped, unwilling to attribute the hadith to the Prophet. He only said that he thought that Jābir was actually quoting the Prophet, but he was unsure. In the next hadith, he clearly states his uncertainty. Therefore, we cannot cite this hadith as the Prophet's own words because the narrator, Abu al-Zubayr, only thought it so, but was uncertain.

In hadith No. 2439 Dhāt 'Irq is stated to be the point where the people from Iraq start their consecration. This is clearly the point of mīqāt for people coming from Iraq, but as we have mentioned, this hadith is not certain to be the Prophet's own words. However, we also mentioned earlier the unanimous agreement that this is the mīqāt for the people of Iraq and anyone coming from that direction. Al-Shāfi'ī said that it is better if they start their iḥrām at al-'Aqīq, which is slightly further from Makkah than Dhāt 'Irq. Al-Shāfi'ī prefers al-'Aqīq because of a report mentioning it in this context. It is also said that Dhāt 'Irq was originally at al-‘Aqīq, but the name was attached to a place a little closer to Makkah, but God knows best.

The hajj has two starting points: one refers to a place, which we have been discussing so far, and the other refers to a point in time. This second starting point is the two months of Shawwāl and Dhul-Qa‘dah and also the first ten nights of Dhul-Ḥijjah. It is invalid to start the iḥrām for the hajj at any time other than this period of two months and ten nights. This is the view of al-Shāfi‘ī School. If a person enters into iḥrām at another time, intending the hajj, this is unacceptable as a hajj, but it would count as iḥrām for the ‘umrah.

Starting the iḥrām for the ‘umrah and performing it are valid throughout the year, and there is no time when it is discouraged. The only condition is that the person doing it must not be doing the hajj, attending to any of its duties. There is no discouragement of repeating the ‘umrah in the same year. Indeed, it is desirable according to our school and the majority of scholars, but Ibn Sīrīn and Mālik say that it is discouraged to do it more than once in the same year.

It is permissible to start the iḥrām for the hajj from a point which is farther than the mīqāt, whether it is one’s own home or some other point. Which is better? Al-Shāfi‘ī gives two views, the more correct of which is that it is better to start the iḥrām at the point of mīqāt so as to follow the Prophet’s practice, but God knows best.

[2442-000]. (Dar al-Salam 2669) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā narrated: Yahyā (meaning Ibn Saʿīd) narrated; from ‘Ubaydullāh; Nāfi’ reported to me; from Ibn ‘Umar. He said: ‘I learnt the talbiyah directly from God’s Messenger’s mouth...’. He added the same as their narration.

Text Explanation

Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said:

Imam al-Māzarī said: ‘The talbiyah is mentioned in the dual form to indicate emphasis and plenty. It means one response after another, and commitment to obedience to God. Thus, the dual form is meant for assertion and emphasis, and it is not literal. This is the same as in the Qur’an: ‘[God’s] two hands are outstretched’, meaning His two graces, interpreting ‘hand’ in this instance as meaning ‘His grace’, while God’s grace is boundless’.

Scholars differ in their understanding of the meaning of labbayk, which is translated as ‘I respond to You’, and its derivation. Different scholars give different meanings, such as:

- My aim is towards You.
- My love is all Yours, I am sincerely devoted to You.
- I am committed to obey You and respond to You. This meaning is mentioned by al-Khalīl.
- This is the response to God’s command to Prophet Abraham: ‘Proclaim to all people the duty of hajj.’ (22: 27)
- I draw close to You in total obedience, I humbly obey You.

‘With Your continuous help.’ This is stated in the same dual form as labbayk, which means ‘I respond’. This is to indicate that He gives help time after time. ‘All goodness is in Your hand’ means that all goodness comes from God and by His grace. ‘All my hope is addressed to You, and all my action is dedicated to You’. This means that all one’s requests and supplications are put to God, and all worship is dedicated to Him alone.

Hadith No. 2441 mentions that the Prophet used to say the talbiyah aloud as his camel rose up to start his journey from the point of mīqāt at Dhul-Hulalyfah. This is desirable. Similarly, it is recommended to ensure that one's hair is fixed just before starting iḥrām. This used to be done with any material that joined hair so as to stick it together, preventing it from becoming dishevelled. Tidying it thus is more comfortable for the pilgrim.

Hadith No. 2444 mentions what the unbelievers used to say when they started their hajj: 'I respond to You. You have no partners'. At this point, God's Messenger (peace be upon him) would say: 'Woe to you! Stop here, stop here'. This is right and they should have stopped here, but they did not. They added: 'except a partner who is Yours. You have him, but he has none'. The Prophet gave them sound advice to stop at the point when they stated God's Oneness, but they paid no heed and continued their falsehood, but God knows best.

What status is attached to talbiyah? All Muslims agree that it is valid, but they differ with regard to its being a duty or not. Al-Shāfi'ī and others say that it is a sunnah, neither a duty nor a condition for the validity of the hajj. If one omits it, his hajj is valid and he need not make any redemption, but he misses out on what is better. Some of our Shāfi'ī scholars hold that it is a condition for the validity of one's iḥrām and add that both the iḥrām and the hajj remain invalid without it. The correct view of our Shāfi'ī School is what we have mentioned as said by al-Shāfi'ī himself. Mālik said that it is not a duty, but a pilgrim who omits it must pay a redemption in the form of sacrificing a sheep. His hajj, however, remains valid.

Both Mālik and al-Shāfi'ī say that the hajj is formally started by the pilgrim's mental intention, without need for a verbal statement of such intention, exactly as fasting is started with a similar mental intention. Abu Ḥanīfah said that it is not formally started unless the talbiyah or assigning the sacrificial animal are joined to the intention. Abu Ḥanīfah added that the talbiyah may be replaced by similar phrases of glorification of God and asserting His Oneness. This is in line with his other view that any acceptable glorification of God is good enough to start prayers, instead of the takbir, but God knows best.

Our scholars say that it is preferable to say the talbiyah aloud, without exerting oneself. However, women should not raise their voices when they say the talbiyah, so as not to attract attention. It is desirable to repeat the talbiyah often, particularly when one's situation changes, such as the beginning of the night or the day, going uphill or downhill, meeting friends, standing up or sitting down, walking or riding, after obligatory prayers and in all mosques. The more correct view is that the talbiyah is not said when one is performing the ṭawāf or sa'i because these duties have their own glorifications and supplications.

It is desirable to repeat the talbiyah three times or more, and to say its phrases together, without interruption. If anyone greets a pilgrim, the latter should return the greeting, but it is preferable not to greet a pilgrim engaged in talbiyah. When a pilgrim finishes the talbiyah, he should pray to God to grant His peace and blessings to His Messenger, and he may supplicate for himself and others as he pleases. The best supplication is to pray for God's pleasure, admission into Heaven and protection from Hell. If the pilgrim sees something that appeals to him, he should say: 'I respond to You, my Lord. True life is the life to come'.

Repeating the talbiyah is recommended for the pilgrim at all times until he starts the duty of stoning at Jamrat al-ʿAqabah on the Day of the Eid, or until he starts the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah if he does it before the stoning duty, or until he shaves his head according to those who consider such shaving a duty of the hajj, which is the correct view. In ‘umrah, the talbiyah is recommended until one starts one’s ṭawāf. The talbiyah is desirable for a person in consecration, or iḥrām, at all times, for both men and women, including a man in a state of ceremonial impurity and a woman during her period. This is clear as the Prophet said to ‘Ā’ishah when she was having her period: ‘Do all that a pilgrim does except the ṭawāf around the Ka‘bah.

Text Explanation

The 'desert' in these two hadiths refers to a high plain a short distance ahead of Dhul-Hulayfah, on the way to Makkah. It is called 'desert' because there are no buildings or any indication of life there. In classical Arabic, every stretch of barren land is called desert, but in this particular context it refers to the high plain we identified. Ibn 'Umar tells them that they lie to God's Messenger because they said that he started his ihrām there. The fact is that he did not. But rather, he started his ihrām before reaching it, at the mosque of Dhul-Hulayfah, next to the tree which was near the mosque.

Ibn 'Umar describes them as liars because they described something in a way that is different from its reality. It was mentioned at the beginning of this book, in Muslim's Introduction, that Hadith scholars consider reporting something differently from its reality as lying, whether it is done deliberately, unwittingly or by mistake. The Mu'tazilah said that it must be deliberate. According to us, being deliberate is a condition that makes it sinful, but it remains a lie. Therefore, we say that Ibn ‘Umar’s description is in line with our rule. The hadith shows that the use of this description is acceptable.

The hadith further makes it clear that the point of mīqāt for the people of Madinah is at the mosque of Dhul-Ḥulayfah. They must not delay it until they reach the desert. This is agreed upon by all scholars. The hadith also shows that to start one’s iḥrām at the mīqāt is preferable to starting it at home. The Prophet did not start his iḥrām at his own mosque, even though it is a most honoured place. Yet it may be suggested that he started at the mīqāt to show that it is permissible. This is wrong from two points of view: 1) The Prophet explained this and mentioned the points of mīqāt in several authentic hadiths; and 2) Showing permissibility applies to something that is done frequently. In such cases, the Prophet does it once or a few times in the lesser but acceptable way to show that it is acceptable, but he will then continue to do it in the most perfect way. In the case of wudu, he performed it washing the relative parts once or twice each on some occasions, but in most cases, he washed every part three times. This is authentically reported. The Prophet performed the hajj only once, and he did so only in the most perfect way.

Another hadith says: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) prayed two rak‘ahs at Dhul-Ḥulayfah, then when he rode his she-camel and she rose up fully at Dhul-Ḥulayfah mosque, he said the talbiyah aloud’. This hadith shows the desirability of offering two rak‘ahs when one wants to be in a state of consecration, i.e., iḥrām, and that these two rak‘ahs are offered before the iḥrām and are considered a sunnah. This is the view of our school and all scholars, except what Qadi ‘Iyād and others have reported whereby al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī expressed the desirability that these two rak‘ahs should be offered after an obligatory prayer. He said that this is so because it is reported that the Prophet offered these two rak'ahs after Fajr Prayer. The correct view is the first, which is the view of the majority, and it is consistent with the apparent meaning of the hadith.

Shāfi'ī scholars and others say that this prayer is a sunnah. If one omits it, one loses its benefit and reward, but it incurs no sin, and one pays no redemption. Our Shāfi'ī scholars say that if a person starts his iḥrām at a time when prayer is discouraged, he should not offer these two rak'ahs. This is the best-known view, but some of our scholars say that one should still offer them because there is a special reason for them, which is the intention of starting the iḥrām. We shall mention the time of iḥrām in the next chapter, God willing.

THE STARTING POINT

[2447-25]. (Dar al-Salam 2674) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>i</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Saʿīd ibn Abi Saʿīd al-Maqburī; from ʿUbayd ibn Jurayj; that ʿHe said to ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUmar: “Abu ʿAbd al-Raḥmān, I have seen you do four things, but I saw no other of your companions doing them”. He said: “What are these, Ibn Jurayj?” He said: “I saw that of all the corners [of the Kaʿbah] you touch only the two Yemeni corners; and I saw that you wear Sibṭī sandals; and I saw that you use the yellow dye; and I saw that if you are in Makkah, you do not start the iḥrām [for the hajj] until the Day of al-Tarwiyah while people start when they have sighted the new moon”. ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿUmar answered: “As for the corners, I did not see God’s Messenger touching any corner except the two Yemeni ones, and as for the Sebtī sandals, I saw God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) wear sandals that have no hair and he performed his ablution and wore them. Therefore, I like to wear them. As for the yellow dye, I saw God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) using it and I like to use it, and as for starting the ihrām, I never saw God's Messenger start his ihrām until his she-camel started to move”.'

أَرِ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَمَسُّ إِلَّا
الْيَمَانِيَيْنِ، وَأَمَّا النَّعَالُ السَّبْتِيَّةُ فَإِنِّي رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ

[2448-26]. (Dar al-Salam 2675) Hārūn ibn Sa‘īd al-Aylī narrated: Ibn Wahb narrated; Abu Ṣakhr narrated to me; from Ibn Qusayṭ; from ‘Ubayd ibn Jurayj. He said: ‘I have performed the hajj with ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb twelve times doing either the hajj or the ‘umrah’. I said: ‘Abu ‘Abd al-Rahmān, I saw you do four things...’. He narrated the hadith in the same meaning, except for the starting point of the ihrām, which he narrated differently from al-Maqburī’s narration. He mentioned it with a different meaning.

حَدَّثَنِي هَارُونُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ الْأَيْلِيُّ، حَدَّثَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ، حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو صَخْرٍ، عَنِ ابْنِ قُسَيْطٍ، عَنْ عُبَيْدِ بْنِ جُرَيْجٍ، قَالَ: حَجَّجْتُ مَعَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، بَيْنَ حَجٍّ وَعُمْرَةٍ تَنْتَهِ عَشْرَةَ مَرَّةً، فَقُلْتُ: يَا أَبَا عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ لَقَدْ رَأَيْتُ مِنْكَ أَرْبَعَ خِصَالٍ. وَسَاقَ الْحَدِيثَ بِهَذَا الْمَعْنَى، إِلَّا فِي قِصَّةِ الْإِهْلَالِ فَإِنَّهُ خَالَفَ رِوَايَةَ الْمَقْبُرِيِّ فَذَكَرَهُ بِمَعْنَى سِوَى ذِكْرِهِ إِيَّاهُ.

[2449-27]. (Dar al-Salam 2676) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah nar-rated: ‘Alī ibn Mushir narrated; from ‘Ubaydullāh; from Nāfi’; from Ibn ‘Umar. He said: ‘When God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) put his feet in the stirrup and his she-camel rose up, he started his ihrām at Dhul-Hulayfah’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، حَدَّثَنَا عَلِيُّ بْنُ مُسْهِرٍ، عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ، عَنْ نَافِعٍ، عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، قَالَ: كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا وَضَعَ رِجْلَهُ فِي الْغَرَزِ، وَانْبَعَثَتْ بِهِ رَاحِلَتُهُ قَائِمَةً، أَهَلَ مِنْ ذِي الْحُلَيْفَةِ.

[2450-28]. (Dar al-Salam 2677) Ḥārūn ibn ‘Abdullāh narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> Ḥajjāj ibn Muhammad narrated; he said: Ibn Jurayj said; Ṣāliḥ ibn Kaysān reported to me; from Nāfi‘; from Ibn ‘Umar; that he used to say: ‘The Prophet started his iḥrām when his she-camel rose up fully’.

وَحَدَّثَنِي هَارُونُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، حَدَّثَنَا حَجَّاجُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ، قَالَ قَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي صَالِحُ بْنُ كَيْسَانَ، عَنْ نَافِعٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، أَنَّهُ كَانَ يُخْبِرُ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَهَلَ حِينَ اسْتَوَتْ بِهِ نَاقَتُهُ قَائِمَةً

[2451-29]. (Dar al-Salam 2678) Ḥarmalah ibn Yaḥyā narrated to me:<sup>iii</sup> Ibn Wahb reported; Yūnus reported to me; from Ibn Shihāb; that Sālim ibn ‘Abdullāh reported to him; that ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar said: ‘I saw God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) mounting his she-camel at Dhul-Ḥulayfah, then he started his iḥrām when it rose up fully’.

وَحَدَّثَنِي حَزْمَلَةُ بْنُ يَحْيَى، أَخْبَرَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي يُونُسُ، عَنْ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ، أَنَّ سَالِمَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، قَالَ: رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَكِبَ رَاحِلَتَهُ بِذِي الْحُلَيْفَةِ ثُمَّ يَهَلُّ حِينَ تَسْتَوِي بِهِ قَائِمَةً.

All these hadiths give the same meaning and provide evidence in support of the view of Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars that the most preferable way is to start the ihrām [which begins the hajj] when one begins the journey. This is expressed in the hadiths as ‘when his she-camel rose up fully’. [This was the mode of travel at the time. Today, in the case of people travelling from Madinah by cars or coaches, the equivalent is when their vehicle is about to move.] Abu Ḥanīfah said that the starting point of ihrām is when one finishes one’s prayer and is still sitting down, before standing up to ride one’s mount. This is also a view reported from al-Shāfi‘ī, relying on a hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Abbās, but this hadith is poor in authenticity. The hadiths in this chapter also confirm that the talbiyah does not start before ihrām.

In the first hadith, No. 2447 Ibn Jurayj said to ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar: ‘I have seen you do four things, but I saw no other of your companions doing them’. Al-Māzarī said: ‘It may be meant that he did not see anyone else doing all these four, but they might have done one or the other’. When he was asked to name these four, the first that he mentioned was: ‘I saw that of all the corners [of the Ka‘bah] you touch only the two Yemeni corners’. Ibn ‘Umar told him that these were the only ones he saw the Prophet touch during the ṭawāf around the Ka‘bah. The two Yemeni corners are the Yemeni corner and the one in which the Black Stone is situated. This latter one is sometimes called the ‘Irāqī corner’ because it faces the direction of Iraq, while the other faces the direction of Yemen. That both are sometimes called Yemeni is an acceptable way of expression in Arabic, using one description to apply to two things that have something in common. Other examples are ‘the two fathers’ referring to both father and mother, ‘the two moons’ referring to the sun and moon, ‘the two ‘Umars’ referring to Abu Bakr and ‘Umar, etc.

Scholars said that the other two corners are called the Shāmī, or Syrian, corners because they face that direction. The two Yemeni corners are in the same positions as they were when Prophet Abraham built the Ka'bah, while the other two are not. This is why they are not touched during the ṭawāf. Moreover, the Iraqi corner has another merit because the Black Stone is situated in it. Hence, it is the only place that pilgrims kiss and place their foreheads on, but God knows best. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'Leading scholars from all regions agree that the two Syrian corners are not touched during ṭawāf, and the difference on this point only took place in the very early generations with some Companions doing it, as well as some of the tābi'īn generation. This difference of views no longer exists'.

The second point Ibn Jurayj raised with Ibn 'Umar was wearing Sibṭī sandals. Ibn 'Umar explained its meaning, saying that they had no hair. This means that they are leather sandals, but the animal hair has been removed during tanning. The Arabs used to wear their sandals made of untanned leather with the animal hair remaining. The ones made of tanned leather were made in Taif and they were worn by the wealthy. Ibn 'Umar mentions that he saw the Prophet wearing such sandals and that he performed wudu and wore them when his feet were still wet.

Ibn Jurayj then mentions the use of yellow dye. Ibn 'Umar said that he saw the Prophet using it and he liked to follow his example. Al-Māzarī said: 'Some suggested that it means dying hair, but others said dying one's garment. The latter is more likely because Ibn 'Umar mentions that the Prophet used the yellow dye but did not mention that he dyed his hair'. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'This is the more likely meaning because there are reports that Ibn 'Umar used a yellow dye on his beard and stated that the Prophet used warce and saffron to give his beard a yellow colour. This is related by Abu Dāwūd. In another hadith, he mentions that the Prophet used it to dye his garments, including his turban’.

Ibn Jurayj then states his fourth point of inquiry: ‘I saw that if you are in Makkah, you do not start the iḥrām [for the hajj] until the Day of al-Tarwiyah while people start when they have sighted the new moon’. The Tarwiyah Day is the eighth of Dhul-Ḥijjah, i.e., the day preceding Arafat Day. It is given this name, which means watering and drinking, because people used to get their water supply for the Day of Arafat, so as to have what they needed for drinking and other purposes.

Explaining Ibn ‘Umar’s answer, al-Māzarī said: ‘Ibn ‘Umar gave Ibn Jurayj an answer based on analogy. He could not cite an action by the Prophet confirming what he did but cited something similar. The point of analogy is that the Prophet did not start his iḥrām until the moment he began his journey, starting the duties of the hajj. Hence, Ibn ‘Umar delayed his iḥrām until the time he could begin his hajj and start on his way. That begins on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, when pilgrims leave Makkah and go to Mina’. Ibn ‘Umar’s practice is endorsed by al-Shāfi‘ī and his school, as well as a number of Mālikī scholars and others. However, other scholars say that the better option is to start one’s iḥrām on the first day of the month of Dhul-Ḥijjah. Qadī ‘Iyād reports that this is the view of the majority of the Prophet’s Companions and scholars. However, the difference is merely over which of the two options, agreed by all to be valid, is better, but God knows best.

Text Explanation

This hadith mentions what the Prophet did as he began his journey to perform the hajj. Right at the beginning, he spent the night at Dhul-Hulayfah. This is not one of the required or recommended practices of the hajj. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘If one does so to follow the example of the Prophet (peace be upon him), one does well’, and God knows best.

Text Explanation

In the first few hadiths in this chapter, No. 2453-2457 'Ā'ishah mentions that she applied perfume to the Prophet when he was about to start his consecration, or ihrām, for hajj. This provides evidence that it is desirable to wear perfume when one is getting ready to start one's consecration, and that it is permissible that one is still smelling of it when one is in consecration. What is not permissible, indeed forbidden, is to use it when one is already in a state of consecration. This is the view of our Shāfi'ī school, and it is the view of a large number of the Prophet's Companions and the tābi'in, as well as the majority of Hadith and Fiqh scholars, including Sa'd ibn Abi Waqqāṣ, Ibn 'Abbās, Ibn al-Zubayr, Mu'āwiyah, 'Āishah, Umm Ḥabībah, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Thawrī, Abu Yūsuf, Ahmad, Dāwūd and others. Others take the view that perfume may not be used when one is about to start the iḥrām. These include al-Zuhrī, Mālik, Muhammad ibn al-Ḥasan and a number of the Prophet's Companions and the tābi'in. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

These scholars understand the hadith narrated by 'Āishah as meaning that the Prophet used the perfume first and then took a bath which removed the smell of perfume before he started his consecration. This is confirmed by her other hadith, No. 2469 which says: 'I perfumed God's Messenger (peace be upon him) when he wanted to start his iḥrām, then he went around to his women, and was in the morning in iḥrām'. It appears from this hadith that he used the perfume before he went to see his wives and its effect was removed when he later took a bath. Needless to say, no smell of perfume is left after that. Thus, her words in No. 2470 'he was in iḥrām in the morning, smelling of perfume', would mean that this was before he took a bath. In the earlier hadith, No. 2457 the perfume she used was dharīrah, which goes off when it is washed.

This is the view of Qadi 'Iyāḍ, but it is not agreed upon by other scholars. The correct view is the one expressed by the majority of scholars which makes wearing perfume desirable before one starts one's iḥrām. This is based on 'Āishah's statement in the first hadith, No. 2453 'I applied perfume to God's Messenger for his iḥrām'. This is further confirmed by her subsequent statements that she could see the shining of the perfume on his head. Qadi 'Iyād's understanding is disagreed with because it is contrary to the apparent meaning, with no supporting evidence that requires us to accept it.

In the same hadith, she says that she also applied perfume to the Prophet 'for his release before his ṭawāf'. This means the ṭawāf al-ifādah, and it makes it clear that it is desirable to apply perfume after one has done the stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah and shaved one's head or cut one's hair, but before doing the obligatory ṭawāf. This is the view of al-Shāfi'ī and all scholars, but Mālik disapproves of using perfume before the ṭawāf al-ifādah, and his argument is contrary to this hadith.

'Āishah says in this hadith that she applied the perfume to the Prophet 'for his release' from consecration. This is a clear statement that a release has taken place. In hajj, there are two releases which occur when the pilgrim has completed three duties: stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah, shaving one's head and the ṭawāf al-ifādah together with the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah if one has not done the sa'ī after the ṭawāf of arrival. When a pilgrim has completed all these three duties, he obtains both releases, but only one release is achieved with any two of the three. The first release removes all the restrictions of iḥrām except foreplay and sex with one's wife. This is only removed when the second release has occurred. Some scholars of our school say that foreplay is permissible after the first release, but not intercourse. Another view of al-Shāfi'ī suggests that the first release removes the restrictions on dress, shaving one's head and clipping one's nails, but the correct view is what we said earlier, but God knows best. In the second version of this hadith, No. 2454 ‘Ā’ishah says that she applied the perfume to the Prophet ‘for his release when he finished [his consecration] before he performed the ṭawāf around the House’. It is clear that the first release occurs after the stoning at the ‘Aqabah Jamrah and shaving one’s head, before performing the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah. This is agreed upon by scholars.

In hadith No. 2469-2471 the Prophet ‘went around to his wives’. It may be said that scholars say that the smallest portion of time to spend with one’s wife, if one has more than one, is one night. So how come the Prophet went to all of them on the same night? The answer is in two ways: the first is that this was with their consent. All scholars agree that it is permissible in any form to which they consent. The other wonders whether equality was required of the Prophet at all times.<sup>xiv</sup> Our scholars hold different views on this point. Abu Sa’īd al-Iṣṭakhrī said it was not a duty of the Prophet, but he used to treat them equally and draw lots on occasions, as a gesture of good will, not as a duty. The majority say that fair treatment was a duty of the Prophet. According to al-Iṣṭakhrī’s view, there is no problem with what the Prophet did, but God knows best.

- xiv. It is clear that the Prophet stayed with each of them for a short while, enquiring how each one was and whether she needed anything. It was the Prophet's habit to do this every day after 'Aṣr prayer when he was in Madinah. It is clearly understood that he did the same on this occasion.

I rode, but I dropped my whip. I said to my companions who were in consecration: “Hand me my whip”. They said:

“By God, we shall not give you any help [against the zebra]”. I dismounted, picked it up and rode again. I caught up with the zebra from the rear as it was beyond a knoll. We feared to be left behind, so I moved forward trying to catch up with God's Messenger (peace be upon him), driving my horse hard at times and keeping a steady pace at others. I met a man from Ghifār during the night. I asked him: "Where did you meet God's Messenger (peace be upon him)?" He said: "I left him at Ti'hin, and he was to have a nap at al-Suqyā". ### Text Explanation

The hadiths speak about a zebra that was hunted. In al-Bukhari's Ṣaḥīḥ, a chapter is entitled, 'A person in consecration may not accept a live zebra as a gift'. In the hadith mentioned in this chapter, the reference is to a full animal. The same understanding is attributed to Mālik, but it is wrong. All the hadiths related by Muslim in this chapter clearly mention that the hunted zebra was killed, and that the gift was some of its meat, not the whole carcass. All scholars agree that hunting is forbidden for a person who is in a state of iḥrām, or consecration. Al-Shāfi'ī and others also say that it is forbidden for such a person to own something that has been hunted, whether by buying it or receiving it as a gift or by any similar way. Scholars hold different views on whether it is permissible to own such hunted meat through inheritance.

As for the meat of a hunted animal, it is forbidden for a person in iḥrām, whether he is the hunter, or someone else hunted it for him, with or without his permission or consent. If the hunter is not in consecration and undertook the hunting for himself, with no intention of giving it to a person in consecration, but who then gives him some of its meat as a gift or sells it to him, then this is not forbidden for the person in consecration to have and eat it. This is the view of our Shāfi'ī School, and it is the view of Mālik, Ahmad and Dāwūd. Abu Ḥanīfah said: 'It is not forbidden for a muḥrim, i.e., a person in iḥrām, to have what is hunted for him, provided that he does not help in the hunting'. A number of scholars hold that all meat of hunted animals is forbidden for a muḥrim, whether the hunting is done by him or someone else, for him or for others. The prohibition is total. This view is mentioned by Qadi 'Iyāḍ and attributed to 'Alī, Ibn 'Umar and Ibn 'Abbās. Their view is based on their understanding of the Qur'anic statement: 'You are forbidden land-game as long as you are in the state of consecration [i.e. iḥrām].' (5: 96) They argue that 'land-game' means what is hunted. They further cite the hadith mentioning the gift given by al-Ṣa'b ibn Jaththāmah and the fact that the Prophet returned his gift because he was in consecration. He did not say to al-Ṣa'b: 'because you undertook the hunting for us'.

In support, al-Shāfi'ī and those who share his view cite the hadith mentioning Abu Qatādah. Abu Qatādah was not in consecration when he did his hunting. The Prophet said to his Companions who were in consecration that it was lawful for them to eat. In another version of this hadith, the Prophet asked whether they had any meat of the hunted animal left. The Prophet then took its leg and ate of it. A hadith related by Abu Dāwūd, al-Tirmidhī and al-Nasā'ī on Jābir's authority, mentions that the Prophet said: 'Land-game is permissible for you if you are not the hunters, and it is not hunted for you'. This hadith, narrated by Jābir, clearly states the difference and provides obvious evidence in support of al-Shāfi'ī's view and against the other two views. Thus, the hadith mentioning Abu Qatādah's case is understood to mean that Abu Qatādah did not intend his hunting for his companions who were in consecration, while in al-Ṣa'b's case, the hunting is understood to be intended for them. The Qur'anic verse quoted above is understood to prohibit hunting land-game and eating the meat of what is hunted for someone in consecration, as the hadiths explain it. The argument that the Prophet only said to al-Ṣaʿb when he returned his gift that he was in iḥrām does not preclude that the hunting was intended for him. The meat of hunted animals is forbidden if it is hunted for one because one is in consecration. The condition is thus made clear. This hadith shows that the Prophet may take gifts but not charity, or ṣadaqah. It also shows that if a person refuses a gift for a valid reason, he should make his reason clear so as not to offend the giver.

In hadith No. 2478 the Prophet's companion Abu Qatādah says: 'We were travelling with God's Messenger (peace be upon him), and we reached al-Qāḥah. Some of us were in consecration while others were not...'. Al-Qāḥah is a valley which is around three stages from Madinah and about one Arabian mile from al-Suqyā, which is mentioned in hadith No. 2481. Al-Suqyā is a large village between Makkah and Madinah, close to al-Fur'. Ta'ihin is also mentioned in this hadith, and it is a water spring about three miles from al-Suqyā. Ghayqah, which is also mentioned in hadith No. 2481 is a place in the Ghifār area between Makkah and Madinah, but according to Qadi 'Iyād, it is also said to be a well belonging to the Tha'labah tribe.

In the same hadith, No. 2478 the narrator says that some were in consecration and others were not. It may be asked, how is it that Abu Qatādah and others were not in consecration when they were already beyond the mīqāt, the point where anyone going to Makkah for the hajj or the 'umrah must start their consecration? Qadi 'Iyād gives the following answer:

It is suggested that the points of mīqāt were not then defined. It is also said that the Prophet had sent Abu Qatādah and his group to find out about an enemy close to the coast, as mentioned in another hadith related by Muslim. Another suggestion is that Abu Qatādah had not started the journey with the Prophet but was later sent to inform the Prophet that some Bedouins were preparing to attack Madinah. Alternatively, it is said that he set out with the Prophet but did not intend his journey as one to perform the hajj or the 'umrah, but this last suggestion is improbable, and God knows best.

Abu Qatādah then says in the same hadith: 'I dropped my whip. I said to my companions who were in consecration: "Hand me my whip". They said: "By God, we shall not give you any help [against the zebra]".' And in hadith No. 2486 the Prophet asks Abu Qatādah's fellow travellers: 'Did any of you indicate to him or tell him anything?' They said: 'No, Messenger of God'. He said: 'Then eat'. These two hadiths make clear that it is forbidden for a person in iḥrām to give indications or other forms of help, including verbal information of the animal's place, to a hunter. It also provides evidence in support of the view of the majority of scholars against Abu Ḥanīfah, who says that 'help by a person in consecration is only permissible if it is not possible to catch the animal without it'.

In the same hadith, No. 2478, some of the Prophet's Companions thought that what Abu Qatādah (who was not in iḥrām) hunted was permissible to eat, and some thought it was not. The Prophet then confirmed that it was permissible. This makes it clear that it is permissible to use ijtihād, or scholarly reasoning, in matters of detail where there may be different opinions, but God knows best. The Prophet's answer, 'It is lawful to eat', clearly confirms that if a person who is not in consecration hunts an animal without any help, physical indication or verbal information by a muḥrim, it is permissible for those in iḥrām to eat of it. As stated earlier, this is the view of al-Shāfi'ī and the majority of scholars.

In hadith No. 2481 Abu Qatādah says: 'As I was with his [i.e., the Prophet's] Companions and some of them were laughing with the others'. Imam al-Nawawī mentions that

‘in all manuscripts in our areas the word ba‘d, which means “the others” is missing’. This gives the word before it a different inflection and changes its meaning so as to render it: ‘some of them were laughing, facing me’. Qadi ‘Iyād said: ‘This is a clear mistake, and it occurs in the way the hadith is narrated from Muslim. The correct text is that “some of them were laughing with the others”, as it is correctly stated in other versions. Besides, had they been laughing towards him, it would have been an indication, while they said that they did not give him any indication’. Imam al-Nawawī says: ‘It is not possible to dismiss this version as it is authentic like the other. Neither is there any indication or information given about the place of the animal to be hunted. Laughter does not constitute any indication. Scholars have said that they simply laughed as such game animals were readily available to them and yet they could not take any of them because they were in iḥrām, but God knows best’.

In hadith No. 2485 the Prophet asked his Companions whether they still had any meat of the hunted zebra left. He then took its leg and ate of it. The Prophet’s action was to reassure his Companions that it was lawful for them to eat and to remove any lingering doubt they might still have had, particularly because initially their views differed.

In hadith No. 2481 Abu Qatādah says to the Prophet when he caught up with him that his companions ‘sent him their greetings together with God’s mercy’. This suggests the desirability to send one’s greetings to the one who is absent, whether that person is superior to the sender or not. Needless to say, if it is appropriate to send a greeting to a superior, it is even more so to an inferior. Our scholars say that it is the duty of the person asked to give such greetings to deliver them, and it is equally a duty of the recipient to return such greetings immediately.

[2498-76]. (Dar al-Salam 2728) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>viii</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar; that 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "Five animals a muḥrim may kill without incurring any sin are: the crow, the kite, the scorpion, the mouse and the biting dog".'

وَحَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، قَالَ قَرَأْتُ عَلَى مَالِكٍ، عَنْ تَافِعٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ: «خَمْسٌ مِنَ الدَّوَابِّ لَيْسَ عَلَى الْمُحْرِمِ فِي قَتْلِهِنَّ جُنَاحٌ: الْغَرَابُ وَالْحِدَاةُ، وَالْعَقْرَبُ وَالْفَارَةُ وَالْكَلْبُ الْعَقُورُ».

[2499-77]. (Dar al-Salam 2729) Ḥārūn ibn ‘Abdullāh narrated:<sup>ix</sup> Muhammad ibn Bakr narrated; Ibn Jurayj narrated; he said: I said to Nāfi‘: What did you hear Ibn ‘Umar say concerning which animals a person in iḥrām may kill? Nāfi‘ said to me: ‘Abdullāh said: ‘I heard the Prophet (peace be upon him) say: “Five animals, no sin is incurred by the one who kills them: the crow, the kite, the scorpion, the mouse and the biting dog”.’

وَحَدَّثَنَا هَارُونُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ بَكْرٍ، حَدَّثَنَا

يُحِلُّ لِلْحَرَامِ قَتْلَهُ مِنَ الدَّوَابِّ؟ فَقَالَ لِي نَافِعٌ: قَالَ
عَبْدُ اللَّهِ: سَمِعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ:

The same hadith is narrated by Qutaybah and Ibn Rumḥ; from al-Layth ibn Sa‘d [H]. Also, Shaybān ibn Farrūkh narrated; Jarīr (meaning Ibn Ḥāzim) narrated; both from Nāfi‘ [H]. And Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated; ‘Alī ibn Mushir narrated [H]. Further, Ibn Numayr narrated; my father narrated; all from ‘Ubaydullāh [H]. Also, Abu Kāmil narrated to me; Ḥammād narrated; Ayyūb narrated [H]. And Ibn al-Muthannā narrated; Yazīd ibn Ḥārūn narrated; Yaḥyā ibn Sa‘īd reported; all of these from Nāfi‘; from Ibn ‘Umar; from the Prophet (peace be upon him): the same text.

None of them except Ibn Jurayj alone said: ‘from Nāfi’, from Ibn ‘Umar, I heard the Prophet (peace be upon him)’.

Ibn Ishāq followed Ibn Jurayj in this respect.

[2500-78]. (Dar al-Salam 2730) Faḍl ibn Sahl narrated the same hadith to me: Yazīd ibn Hārūn narrated; Muhammad ibn Ishāq reported; from Nāfi‘ and ‘Ubaydullāh ibn ‘Abdullāh; from Ibn ‘Umar. He said: ‘I heard the Prophet say: “Five, the killing of any of them in the Ḥaram incurs no sin...” adding the same.

[2501-79]. (Dar al-Salam 2731) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā, Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb, Qutaybah and Ibn Ḥujr narrated: Ismā'il ibn Ja'far (Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā said: 'reported' and the others said: 'narrated'); from 'Abdullāh ibn Dīnār; that he heard 'Abdullāh ibn 'Umar say: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "Five ones, whoever kills them when in a state of consecration incurs no sin for so doing: the scorpion, the mouse, the biting dog, the crow and the kite'. (This is Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā's text.)

وَحَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، وَيَحْيَى بْنُ أَيُّوبَ، وَقُتَيْبَةُ، وَابْنُ حُجْرٍ. (قَالَ يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى أَخْبَرَنَا وَقَالَ الْآخَرُونَ حَدَّثَنَا) إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ، عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ دِينَارٍ، أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، يَقُولُ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «خَمْسٌ مَنْ قَتَلَهُنَّ وَهُوَ حَرَامٌ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ فِيهِنَّ: الْعَقْرَبُ وَالْفَارَةُ، وَالْكَلْبُ الْعَقُورُ، وَالْغُرَابُ وَالْحَدْيَا». (وَاللَّفْظُ لِيَحْيَى بْنِ يَحْيَى).

In the second hadith, No. 2489, the Prophet says: 'Five vicious ones may be killed in the Ḥil and the Ḥaram: the snake, the crow with white patches, the mouse, the biting dog and the kite'. In other versions, the scorpion replaces the snake, and in the first one, only four are mentioned which include neither the snake nor the scorpion. Thus, in total, the hadiths mention six animals which are agreed by the great majority of scholars to be lawful to kill whether they happen to be in the Ḥaram area, which is Makkah with a well-defined area around it, or elsewhere, and even by a person in a state of consecration, or iḥrām. Scholars also agree that it is permissible for a person in consecration to kill what is of the same nature.

However, scholars hold different views on the reason for permitting their killing and what else may be considered in the same way. Al-Shāfi'ī said: 'The reason for permitting their killing is that they are not eaten. Therefore, whatever is not eaten and is not born to an animal that is used as food may be killed by anyone, including a person in a state of consecration, without having to make any reparations'. Mālik considers that they are lawful to kill because they are harmful. Hence, it is permissible for a person in a state of consecration to kill whatever is harmful, but not what is harmless. Scholars also differ as to the meaning of the 'biting dog'. Some say that it refers to real dogs. Others say that it refers to all animals of prey, as this was a well-known usage of the term in Arabic.

These animals are described in the hadiths as 'vicious', but the Arabic description uses the word fāsiq, which refers to people who are 'transgressors'. The usage is correct because, linguistically speaking, fāsiq means the one who moves away from the right course. In its religious sense, the word refers to a person who departs from the path of obeying God. The same term is used to refer to these animals because, being harmful, they depart from the way of most animals. It is also said that they are removed from the ruling that prohibits killing animals in the Ḥaram and by people in consecration. There are other views, but these have no solid foundation.

The crow in the hadiths refers to the type which has white patches on its front and back. Al-Sājī reports that al-Nakha‘ī said that it is not permissible for a person in consecration to kill a mouse. Others attribute to ‘Alī and Mujāhid the view that a crow should only be scared away, not killed, but its attribution to ‘Alī is incorrect.

Killing a ‘biting dog’ is permissible for everyone, including a person in consecration, in the Ḥaram area or elsewhere. This is agreed upon by all scholars, but they differ as to what the description refers to. Some hold that it refers in particular to the ordinary dog. Qadi ‘Iyād attributes this to al-Awzā‘ī, Abu Ḥanīfah and al-Ḥasan ibn Ṣāliḥ. They also include the wolf under the same heading. Zufar, a leading Ḥanafī scholar, considers that the term as used in the hadith refers only to wolves. The majority of scholars, however, say that the ‘biting dog’ does not refer to dogs in particular but to all types of predator, such as a lion, tiger, wolf, leopard, etc. This is the view of Zayd ibn Aslam, Sufyān al-Thawrī, Ibn ‘Uyaynah, al-Shāfi‘ī, Ahmad and others. Qadi ‘Iyād attributes it to these and the majority of scholars.

These hadiths provide evidence in support of the view of al-Shāfi‘ī and other scholars that in the Ḥaram it is permissible to execute anyone who has incurred the death penalty, whether for murder or another offence that carries such weight. They say that it is permissible to carry out in the Ḥaram area any mandatory punishment, whether this is the death penalty or some other punishment, and whether the crime that has incurred it took place in the Ḥaram, or somewhere else and the offender then sought protection in the Ḥaram area. This is the view of al-Shāfi‘ī, Mālik and others. Abu Ḥanīfah and other scholars hold that if the offence had been committed in the Ḥaram, its punishment may be enforced in the Ḥaram, but if it was committed outside the Ḥaram area and the offender subsequently sought refuge in the Ḥaram, the punishment may be enforced in the Ḥaram if it is less than the death penalty. If it is the death penalty, it must be enforced outside the Ḥaram area. In this case, the offender is restricted. No one may speak to him, sit with him or sell him anything so that he finds it necessary to leave the Ḥaram area. A similar view is also reported to be expressed by Ibn ‘Abbās, ‘Aṭā’, al-Sha‘bī, al-Ḥakam, but they did not differentiate between the death penalty and other punishments. The basis of their view is the apparent meaning of the Qur’anic statement: ‘Whoever enters it finds peace’. (3: 97) Our counter argument is based on these hadiths because such an offender is a fāsiq like these animals. Indeed, he is more of a fāsiq because he is under obligation to abide by the Divine law. Moreover, the restriction they suggest works against the security he is supposed to have. Hence, they contradict the apparent meaning of the verse which they suggest. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘To us, and the majority of Qur’anic commentators, the verse tells of the condition that prevailed prior to Islam’. It is also said that the verse means that ‘he is in peace from the Fire’. Other scholars hold that such an offender is taken out of the Ḥaram so that the punishment can be enforced. This is the view of Ibn al-Zubayr, al-Ḥasan, Mujāhid and Ḥammād, but God knows best.

WHEN MAY A MUḤRIM SHAVE HIS HEAD AND WHAT DOES IT ENTAIL?

[2502-80]. (Dar al-Salam 2732) ‘Ubaydullāh ibn ‘Umar al-Qawārīrī narrated to me:<sup>1</sup> Ḥammād (meaning Ibn Zayd) narrated; from Ayyūb [H]. Also, Abu al-Rabī‘ narrated to me; Ḥammād narrated; Ayyūb narrated; he said: I heard Mujāhid narrating from ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abi Laylā; from Ka‘b ibn ‘Ujrah. He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) passed by me during the al-Ḥudaybiyah Expedition when I was lighting a fire under a saucepan, and lice was over my face. He asked: “Are these insects at your head harming you?” I said: “Yes”. He said: “Then shave [your head] and fast three days, or feed six poor people, or sacrifice a sheep”.’

Ayyūb said: ‘I am not sure which of these he said first’.

[2507-85]. (Dar al-Salam 2738) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā and Ibn Bashshār narrated:<sup>ii</sup> Ibn al-Muthannā said: Muhammad ibn Ja'far narrated; Shu'bah narrated; from 'Abd al-Rahmān ibn al-Aṣbahānī; from 'Abdullāh ibn Ma'qil. He said: 'I sat with Ka'b as he was in the mosque, and I asked him about this Qur'anic verse that says: "He shall redeem himself by fasting, or alms, or sacrifice". He said: "It was concerning me that it was revealed. I had an ailment on my head. I was taken to God's Messenger and the lice were all over my face. He said: "I never thought that your problem was so severe. Do you have a sheep [to sacrifice]?" I said: "No". Then this verse was revealed saying a redemption in the form of fasting, or charity, or sacrifice. He said: "Fasting three days or feeding six poor people half a ṣā' in food for each". It was revealed about my case in particular but it is applicable to you all'.

Text Explanation

In the first hadith, No. 2502 the Prophet said to Ka'b: 'Shave your head and fast three days or feed six poor people or slaughter a sacrifice'. In the third, No. 2503 Ka'b said that the Prophet ordered him 'to give an expiation in the form of fasting, or charity or sacrifice, whatever is available'. In the other hadiths, the Prophet mentions certain measures of food to give to six poor people, and these measures are one faraq or three ṣā's. These are the same because a faraq is equal to three ṣā's, and a ṣā' is a measure of volume equal to four times the fill of the cupped hands of an average person.

All the hadiths in this chapter give the same meaning, which shows that if a person in a state of consecration needs to shave his head because of some ailment or hurt affecting his head, he may shave but must atone for the violation of the restrictions of ihrām. God says: 'If any of you is ill or suffers from an ailment of the head, he shall redeem himself by fasting, or alms, or sacrifice'. (2: 196) The Prophet made clear that the fasting is for three days, and the charity goes to six poor people, each having half a ṣā' of food, and the sacrifice is a sheep that meets the normal conditions of sacrifice. The Qur'anic verse and the hadiths confirm that such a person may choose any of the three types of expiation. This is agreed upon by scholars.

In hadith No. 2508 the Prophet asks Ka'b: 'Can you afford a sacrifice? He said: "I cannot". He told him to fast three days or feed six poor people'. This does not mean that fasting may not be offered as expiation except by one who cannot afford a sacrifice. It is rather understood to mean that the Prophet asked about the sacrifice. If Ka'b told him that he had the means to give a sacrifice, the Prophet would have told him that his choice was between offering the sacrifice, fasting or feeding six poor people. If he could not afford it, the choice would be between fasting and feeding.

Scholars also agree that this hadith is taken as it apparently means. However, it is mentioned that Abu Ḥanīfah and al-Thawrī said that a half of one ṣā' for each of the six poor people applies to wheat, while if the food is dates or barley or something else, the amount is one ṣā' for each of the six needy people. This is contrary to what the Prophet said in hadith No. 2506: 'three *ṣā'*s of dates to feed six poor people'. This means that the three *ṣā'*s are given to the six people equally, equating to half a ṣā' each.

The Prophet mentions the sacrifice, and that it should be a sheep. The condition that must be fulfilled is that it is of an age that makes it appropriate to offer as a sacrifice on Eid al-Adḥā.

CUPPING DURING CONSECRATION

[2509–87]. (Dar al-Salam 2740) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb and Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm narrated:<sup>i</sup> Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah (Ishāq said: ‘reported’ and the other two said: ‘narrated’); from ‘Amr; from Ṭāwūs and ‘Aṭā’; from Ibn ‘Abbās; that ‘The Prophet (peace be upon him) used cupping when he was in ihrām’.

Text Explanation

This hadith makes it clear that a person in the state of ihrām, or consecration, may use cupping as a form of medication. Scholars are unanimous that it is permissible whether used on one’s head or elsewhere, if there is a reason for such use, even if it results in the person cutting some of his hair. However, he needs to atone for such cutting. If no hair is cut as a result of cupping, then no atonement is due. The evidence in support of this view is the Qur’anic verse that says: ‘If any of you is ill or suffers from an ailment of the head, he shall redeem himself by fasting, or alms, or sacrifice’. (2: 196) These two hadiths are understood to indicate that the Prophet had a valid reason for using cupping to the middle of his head because it necessarily resulted in cutting some of his hair.

If a person in ihrām wants to use cupping but has no need for it, then it is forbidden if it causes cutting some of his hair because cutting hair during consecration is forbidden. If it does not involve cutting hair, as is the case when it is done on a hairless part of the body, it is permissible according to our Shāfi‘ī School and the majority of scholars. No compensation or atonement is due in this case. Ibn ‘Umar and Mālik say that it is discouraged, while al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī said that it incurs compensation. In support of our view, we say that bleeding is not forbidden during iḥrām.

This hadith confirms a rule of iḥrām which says that shaving one’s head, wearing ordinary clothes, hunting and killing game and other restrictions become permissible in a case of necessity but an atonement becomes due. This applies to any person who needs to shave or wear ordinary clothing because of illness, or is suffering from heat or cold, or needs to kill a game animal etc., but God knows best.

TREATING ONE'S EYES DURING CONSECRATION

[2511-89]. (Dar al-Salam 2742) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, 'Amr al-Nāqid and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated:<sup>i</sup> all from Ibn 'Uyaynah; Abu Bakr said: Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah narrated; Ayyūb ibn Mūsā narrated; from Nubayh ibn Wahb. He said: 'We set out with Abān ibn 'Uthmān. When we were at Malal, 'Umar ibn 'Ubaydullāh complained about his eyes. When we reached al-Rawḥā', his pain increased in severity. He sent a message to Abān ibn 'Uthmān asking [what to do]. Abān responded that he should apply aloe and cover them, adding that 'Uthmān quoted God's Messenger (peace be upon him) referring to the case of a person feeling his eyes hurting when in consecration: "he should cover them using aloe".'

حَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، وَعَمَرُ بْنُ النَّاقِدِ، وَزُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ ابْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ. قَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ: حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ، حَدَّثَنَا أَيُّوبُ بْنُ مُوسَى، عَنْ نُبَيْهِ بْنِ وَهْبٍ، قَالَ خَرَجْنَا مَعَ أَبَانِ بْنِ عُثْمَانَ، حَتَّى إِذَا كُنَّا

 ضَمَدَهُمَا بِالصَّبْرِ.

[2512-90]. (Dar al-Salam 2743) Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm al-Hanzalī narrated: ‘Abd al-Ṣamad ibn ‘Abd al-Wārith; my father narrated to me; Ayyūb ibn Mūsā narrated; Nubayh ibn Wahb narrated to me; that “Umar ibn ‘Ubaydullāh ibn Ma‘mar complained of eye inflammation, and he wanted to apply kohl, but Abān ibn ‘Uthmān told him not to do so, telling him to apply aloe and cover it. He narrated from ‘Uthmān ibn ‘Affān, from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he did this’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ الْحَنْظَلِيُّ، حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ
 الصَّمَدِ بْنُ عَبْدِ الْوَارِثِ، حَدَّثَنِي أَبِي، حَدَّثَنَا أَيُّوبُ بْنُ
 مُوسَى، حَدَّثَنِي نُبَيْهِ بْنُ وَهْبٍ، أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ
 مَعْمَرٍ رَمِدَتْ عَيْنُهُ، فَأَرَادَ أَنْ يَكْخُلَهَا، فَتَهَاهُ أَبَانُ بْنُ
 عُثْمَانَ، وَأَمَرَهُ أَنْ يُضَمِّدَهَا بِالصَّبْرِ وَحَدَّثَ عَنْ عُثْمَانَ
 بْنِ عَفَّانَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ فَعَلَ
 ذَلِكَ.

Scholars agree in light of this hadith that it is permissible to apply medication to one's eyes, such as aloe [or eye drops], provided that it is not something that is otherwise used as perfume. No compensation is required. If a person in consecration needs to use some perfume containing medication, this requires compensation. Scholars also agree that a person in iḥrām may use kohl that contains no perfume. There is no compensation required if there is need for such use. Using kohl as makeup during consecration is reprehensible according to al-Shāfi'ī and other scholars, but a number of scholars including Ahmad and Ishāq say it is prohibited. In the Mālikī School, both views are expressed. Their scholars also differ as to whether compensation is required, but God knows best.

WASHING ONE'S BODY AND HEAD DURING CONSECRATION

[2513-91]. (Dar al-Salam 2744) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, 'Amr al-Nāqid, Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb and Qutaybah ibn Sa'īd narrated:<sup>i</sup> they said: Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah narrated; from Zayd ibn Aslam [H]. Also, Qutaybah ibn Sa'īd narrated, and this is his text from Mālik ibn Anas as it was read out to him; from Zayd ibn Aslam; from Ibrāhīm ibn 'Abdullāh ibn Ḥunayn; from his father; from 'Abdullāh ibn 'Abbās and al-Miswar ibn Makhramah; that 'The two differed at al-Abwā'. 'Abdullāh ibn 'Abbās said that a person in iḥrām may wash his head while al-Miswar said that a person in iḥrām may not wash his head. Ibn 'Abbās sent me to Abu Ayyūb al-Anṣārī to ask him about the matter. I found him bathing between the two posts, shielding himself by a robe. I greeted him and he asked: "Who is this?" I said: "I am 'Abdullāh ibn Ḥunayn, sent by 'Abdullāh ibn 'Abbās to ask you how God's Messenger (peace be upon him) washed his head when he was in iḥrām?" Abu Ayyūb placed his hand on his robe and lowered it so that I could see his head. He then said to someone who was pouring the water for him: "Pour it". He poured the water over his head, and he moved his head with his two hands moving them forward and backward. He then said: "This is how I saw him doing it".'

Text Explanation

The hadith mentions that when Ibn Hunayn arrived at Abu Ayyūb’s he found him ‘bathing between the two posts’. This is a reference to the two posts that are erected at a well, with a crossbar in between them, on which a pulley is fixed to draw water from the well.

This hadith gives several interesting points including the permissibility of taking a bath by a person in the state of ihrām. It is also permissible for such a person to wash his head and to pass his hands over his hair, provided that he does not pluck any hair out. Another important point is the acceptance of information given by one person. This was widely acted upon among the Prophet’s Companions. Further, when there is a difference of views, reference should be made to a religious text, and when there is such a text, there can be no ijtihad and drawing conclusions through analogy. Yet another point of interest is that it is perfectly permissible to offer the greeting of ‘salam’ to someone doing his ablutions, but not one who is answering the call of nature. The hadith further shows that it is permissible to have someone to help when performing one’s ablutions, but it is better not to do so, unless needed. Scholars also agree that a person in iḥrām must take a full bath washing his head and body to remove a state of ceremonial impurity, i.e., janābah. To wash himself to cool down in hot weather is permissible according to our school and the majority of scholars. According to our school, it is also permissible to wash one’s head during iḥrām using sidr<sup>ii</sup> [or similar cleaning material such as soap], provided that one does not remove any hair. No compensation is due if no hair is removed. Abu Ḥanīfah and Mālik say that this is forbidden and requires compensation if done.

He said: “Wash him with water mixed with Lote leaves, and wrap him in his two garments, but do not cover his head. ### Text Explanation

The hadiths in this chapter provide ample evidence in support of the view of al-Shāfi‘ī, Ahmad, Ishāq and other scholars that if a person in iḥrām dies, it is not permissible to wrap his body in what is tailored, nor to cover his head or apply perfume to his body. Mālik, al-Awzā‘ī, Abu Ḥanīfah and others said that the same restrictions applicable to a living person in iḥrām apply to the deceased. However, these hadiths reject this view. The Prophet’s instructions are to give the deceased a full ghusl using water mixed with leaves of the Lote tree. This shows that using such leaves in giving a deceased his final wash is desirable, and it applies to a person who dies in consecration as it applies to others. This is the view of our Shāfi‘ī School, and it is endorsed by Ṭāwūs, ‘Aṭā’, Mujāhid, Ibn al-Mundhir and others, while Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah and others disapprove of it.

In hadith No. 2520 the Prophet’s instructions say: ‘Do not cover his head or face’. It is well-known that a living person who is in iḥrām may not cover his head. To cover it is unanimously agreed upon as forbidden. As for covering his face, Mālik and Abu Ḥanīfah say that the same ruling applies as covering his head. Al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars say that iḥrām rulings do not apply to a man’s face, and it is permissible for a man to cover his face. Uncovering one’s face in iḥrām is required of women. These rulings apply to a living person when in a state of consecration, or iḥrām. If such a person dies, al-Shāfi‘ī and those sharing his view say that covering his head is forbidden, as earlier explained, but covering his face is not forbidden. The same ruling applies as during his life. Therefore, this hadith is understood not to add a new restriction to cover the face as such, but it is mentioned to ensure that the head remains uncovered. If the deceased's face is covered, the covering may extend to cover his head. It is necessary to give such understanding to this hadith because Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah and other scholars say that it is permissible to cover the deceased's head and face, but al-Shāfi'ī and others say that only covering the face is permissible.

In most hadiths in this chapter, the Prophet tells his Companions to wrap the deceased's body in his two garments, but in one he only says 'in two garments'. This provides some interesting points including an endorsement of al-Shāfi'ī's view that the deceased remains in a state of consecration. Another point is that it is permissible to wrap the deceased in two garments, although three is preferable.<sup>vi</sup> A further point is that the wrapping of the deceased's body is given precedence, ahead of settling any debt owed by the deceased. The Prophet did not ask whether the deceased person had any outstanding debt. Moreover, wrapping the deceased's body is a duty, unanimously agreed upon. The same ruling applies to giving the deceased a final ghusl, offering the funeral prayer and burying him.

In these hadiths the Prophet mentions that a person who dies during consecration will be resurrected saying the talbiyah, and in some versions 'with fixed hair'. This means that he will be resurrected in the same condition he was in at the time of his death. This is the same as stated about a martyr, who is resurrected with his wounds bleeding. These hadiths show that it is desirable to continue to repeat the talbiyah phrases during consecration and to apply something to one's head so as to keep one's hair fixed in place. The talbiyah phrases confirm that one believes in God's Oneness and that one is undertaking the hajj in response to His order.

In hadith No. 2516 the Prophet's instructions include that the deceased must not be embalmed. This refers to some mixture of perfumery seeds that are used particularly when preparing the body of a deceased person for burial. They are not used for any other purpose.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2521 includes: 'Muhammad ibn al-Ṣabbāḥ narrated: Hushaym narrated; Abu Bishr reported; Sa'īd ibn Jubayr narrated'. Abu Bishr mentioned here is Abu Bishr al-Ghabrī. His name is al-Walīd ibn Muslim ibn Shihāb, who was from Basrah. He belonged to the tābi'īn generation and reported from Jundab ibn 'Abdullāh, a companion of the Prophet. Muslim is the only Hadith scholar who relates hadiths narrated by Abu Bishr who is graded as 'reliable' by all Hadith scholars.

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2525 is as follows: "Abd ibn Ḥumayd narrated: 'Ubaydullāh ibn Mūsā reported; Isrā'īl narrated; from Manṣūr; from Sa'īd ibn Jubayr; from Ibn 'Abbās'. This is one of the hadiths related by Muslim and questioned by al-Dāraquṭnī, who says that Manṣūr heard this hadith from al-Ḥakam. This is how al-Bukhari enters it, 'from Manṣūr, from al-Ḥakam, from Sa'īd', and this is the correct way. It is also said: 'from Manṣūr, from Salamah', but this is incorrect, and God knows best.

He said: “Then go for hajj and make a condition. You say: ‘My Lord, my place of release [from consecration] is wherever You detain me’.” She was married to al-Miqdād’.

Text Explanation

These hadiths speak about the Prophet's cousin, Ḍubā'ah bint al-Zubayr. They provide evidence endorsing the view that someone who intends to offer the hajj or the 'umrah may state a condition at the time they enter into consecration that should they fall ill, they will release themselves from iḥrām. This is the view of 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, 'Alī, Ibn Mas'ūd, a number of the Prophet's Companions and the tābi'īn, Ahmad, Ishāq, and Abu Thawr. This is the correct view of the Shāfi'ī School of Fiqh. Their argument is based on this authentic and clear hadith. Abu Ḥanīfah, Mālik and some of the tābi'īn say that making a condition is invalid. They interpret the hadith as referring to an individual case and that it applied to Ḍubā'ah in particular.

Qadi 'Iyāḍ refers to a grading of the hadith as lacking in authenticity, quoting al-Aṣīlī who said: 'No authentic chain of transmission clearly states the permissibility of making a condition. Al-Nasā'ī said: "I do not know anyone reporting it from al-Zuhrī other than Ma'mar".' What Qadi 'Iyāḍ refers to and what al-Aṣīlī said, claiming that the hadith lacks authenticity, is very wrong. I am mentioning it so that people do not take it for granted. This hadith is well known in al-Bukhari's Ṣaḥīḥ, Muslim's Ṣaḥīḥ, the Sunan anthologies of Abu Dāwūd, al-Tirmidhī and al-Nasā'ī, as well as other reliable Hadith anthologies. It is reported through several routes and with many chains of transmission, quoting a number of the Prophet's Companions. The fact that Muslim relates it in several chains of transmission provides a final argument.

The hadith provides evidence that illness during iḥrām does not permit a person to release himself from iḥrām if no such condition is made at the time he entered into consecration, but God knows best.

The hadiths mention ʔubā‘ah, who was the Prophet’s cousin, as her father, al-Zubayr ibn ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib, was the Prophet’s uncle. The author of al-Wasīṭ mentions that she was ʔubā‘ah al-Aslamiyyah, but this is grossly mistaken. The correct thing is that she was ʔubā‘ah al-Hāshimiyyah.

Text Explanation

The hadith makes it clear that entering into a state of consecration by a woman who has given birth or one having her period is perfectly valid. It is also desirable for them to take a bath before starting their ihrām. Its advisability is agreed upon, but our Shāfi‘ī School, Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah and the majority of scholars consider it desirable, while al-Ḥasan and the Zāhirī scholars say that it is a duty.

A woman in postnatal discharge or in menstruation may do all the actions of the hajj except the ṭawāf and the two rak‘ahs after it. The Prophet said to ‘Āishah: ‘Do all that a pilgrim does, but do not do the ṭawāf. The hadith also makes it clear that the two rak‘ahs offered at the time of entering into consecration are not a condition for the validity of iḥrām. Asmā' did not offer these two rak'ahs.

The first hadith in this chapter says that Asmā' gave birth at al-Shajarah, while the second says that it was at Dhul-Ḥulayfah, and in another narration at al-Baydā'. All these three places are close together: al-Shajarah is at Dhul-Ḥulayfah, while al-Baydā' is at its edge. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'It may be that she took her place at al-Baydā' so that she would be a little further away from people'. The Prophet's place was at Dhul-Ḥulayfah itself. He stayed the night there and started his iḥrām there. All people called their place by the name of their leader's [i.e., the Prophet's] place.

CHAPTER 17<sup>i</sup>

METHODS OF IḤRĀM

[2533-111]. (Dar al-Salam 2764) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā al-Tamīmī narrated:<sup>ii</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Ibn Shihāb; from ‘Urwah; from ‘Ā’ishah; that she said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage, and we declared our intention to perform the ‘umrah. Later, God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Those who have brought their sacrifice with them should declare their intention to perform the hajj with the ‘umrah. They must not release themselves from iḥrām until they can release themselves from both together”.’

She said: ‘I was having my period when I arrived in Makkah. I did not do the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah or between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. I complained of this to God’s Messenger (peace be upon him), and he said: “Undo your hair and comb it. Then abandon your ‘umrah and restart your iḥrām for the hajj”. I did as he said. When we finished the hajj, God’s Messenger sent me with ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abu Bakr to al-Tan‘īm and I performed the ‘umrah. The Prophet said

[to me]: “This one is in place of your [earlier] ‘umrah”.

Those who started with the ‘umrah performed the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah then released themselves from ihrām. They later performed another ṭawāf, after they returned from Mina, [which ṭawāf was] for their hajj. The ones who combined the hajj with the ‘umrah performed the ṭawāf once only’.

Text Explanation

This hajj is called the ‘Farewell Pilgrimage’ because the Prophet bid farewell to people when he addressed them during it. It took place in the tenth year after the Prophet’s migration to Madinah, and he did not perform another hajj thereafter.

The hadiths in this chapter confirm that it is perfectly permissible to do the hajj on its own, separate from the ‘umrah, and this method is called the ifrād, and it is also permissible to perform the hajj and the ‘umrah in the tamattu’ and the qirān methods. Scholars are unanimously agreed that all three methods are acceptable. As for the orders issued by ‘Umar and ‘Uthmān, we shall explain this later, at its appropriate place, God willing.

The ifrād method means to start one’s iḥrām declaring one’s intention to do the hajj on its own. When the hajj is completed, the pilgrim may do the ‘umrah. The tamattu’ method means to start the iḥrām for the ‘umrah in the hajj months and complete it, then to offer the hajj in the same year. The qirān method means that both duties are done at the same time. Likewise, if one declares one’s intention to do the ‘umrah, then adds a further iḥrām for the hajj before starting one’s ṭawāf for the ‘umrah, it is valid and one’s hajj becomes in the qirān method. On the other hand, if one starts consecration intending to do the hajj and then adds the ‘umrah, this case is given two views by al-Shāfi‘ī, and the more correct of these is that his iḥrām for ‘umrah is invalid. The other view is that it is valid, and the person’s hajj becomes a qirān hajj, provided that the addition is done before the beginning of releasing oneself from the hajj iḥrām. Other statements are mentioned for the timing, which include before attendance at Arafat, before doing any obligatory duty and before doing the ṭawāf of arrival, etc.

The Preferable Method

Scholars differ as to which of the three methods is most preferable. Al-Shāfi'ī, Mālik and many others say that their preferability is in this order: ifrād, then tamattu', then qirān. Ahmad and others held that tamattu' is most preferable, while Abu Ḥanīfah and others said that the qirān is best. These last two views are also additional verdicts by al-Shāfi'ī. The correct view is that the ifrād is most preferable, then the tamattu', then the qirān. As for the Prophet's hajj, scholars differ as to whether he followed the ifrād, or the tamattu' or the qirān method. Scholars express three views according to their already listed preferences. Every group of scholars preferred a certain method and claimed that the Prophet's hajj was in the manner of their preference. The fact is that the Prophet started in the ifrād method, then added the 'umrah incorporating it with the hajj. He thus made his hajj one of qirān. The reports of his Companions give different views as to whether he followed the ifrād, tamattu' or qirān method. Both al-Bukhari and Muslim mention all in their reports. These reports can be reconciled as I have already mentioned: he started in the ifrād and then changed to the qirān. Therefore, whoever of his Companions reported that he followed the ifrād relied on how he started, and whoever reported the qirān relied on the ultimate condition. Those who mentioned the tamattu' meant it in its linguistic sense, which is using what is most beneficial and easiest. He thus benefited by the qirān method, in the same way as the benefit of the tamattu' but more, as he did certain duties once for both the hajj and the 'umrah. With this view, all the hadiths are reconciled.

Abu Muhammad 'Alī ibn Ḥazm, of the Zāhirī School, reconciled the hadiths in a book he devoted to the Farewell Pilgrimage, claiming that the Prophet offered his hajj in the qirān method. He gave certain explanations of the other hadiths. The correct thing is as we stated earlier. Furthermore, I explained this, citing all evidence and all transmissions of the hadiths, as well as what scholars said about them, in my book, Sharḥ al-Muhadhdhab.

Al-Shāfi‘ī and other scholars who prefer the ifrād method cite in support of their view the fact that this was reported by Jābir, Ibn ‘Umar, Ibn ‘Abbās and ‘Ā‘ishah. These have an advantage over others of the Prophet’s Companions in the context of the Farewell Pilgrimage. Jābir, for example, gave us the best account of the Farewell Pilgrimage, describing it from the moment the Prophet left Madinah to the end. As such, he is more accurate in his reporting than all others. Ibn ‘Umar authentically reported that he held the rein of the Prophet’s she-camel during the Farewell Pilgrimage. He criticised those who preferred Anas’ report to his own, saying: ‘Anas used to enter women’s rooms when they had no head dress. I was under the Prophet’s she-camel, feeling its saliva, as he said his talbiyah’. ‘Ā‘ishah’s closeness to God’s Messenger is well-known. She was fully aware of his public and private affairs, and she was well versed in Islam and highly intelligent. Ibn ‘Abbās’ considerable scholarship in matters of religion and his profound insight are well-known. In addition, he was diligent in his research, pursuing whatever he could learn of the Prophet’s affairs from his senior Companions.

Another pointer to the preferability of the ifrād method is that the Rightly-Guided Caliphs continued to opt for this method. It was performed by Abu Bakr, ‘Umar and ‘Uthmān. ‘Alī varied his action. Had it not been that the ifrād is better, and had they not known that the Prophet offered his hajj in the ifrād, they would not have done so regularly. Needless to say, they were the great imams who were to be followed in their own time and later generations. How could they, then, regularly do what was contrary to the Prophet's action? As for the difference reported from 'Alī and others, we say that they only did so to show that it is permissible, and this is authentically clarified in the Ṣaḥīḥ anthologies.

A further evidence that the ifrād is preferable is seen in the fact that this method does not require a sacrifice, while both the tamattu' and qirān methods require a sacrifice, which is one of compensation for not starting the iḥrām for [one of the two duties] at the point of mīqāt and other things. What requires no compensation is preferable to what needs one. Another evidence is that the Muslim community is unanimous that the ifrād method is permissible and that it is not discouraged. 'Umar and 'Uthmān, however, discouraged the tamattu' method, while some of the Prophet's Companions discouraged both the tamattu' and the qirān. Hence, the ifrād is preferable, but God knows best.

It may be asked, how is it that the Prophet's Companions differ in describing his hajj when he performed only a single hajj, and each reported what he saw in this same context? Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

People have spoken in great detail about these hadiths. Some comments are fair and to the point while others fall short of what is required; some go into great lengths and others are very brief. The one who was most elaborate was Abu Ja'far Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Ṭaḥāwī of the Ḥanafī School. He wrote more than one thousand pages on the subject. Others who spoke at length included Abu Ja'far Muhammad ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī, Abu 'Abdullāh ibn Abi Ṣufrah, al-Muhallab, Qadi Abu 'Abdullāh ibn al-Murābiṭ, Qadi Abu al-Ḥasan ibn al-Qaṣṣār of Baghdad and Abu 'Umar ibn 'Abd al-Barr.

The best that may be said on this matter, in light of what we examined of their discourse and chose of their choices, is the need to combine reports and conform to the import of the hadiths. This shows that the Prophet (peace be upon him) permitted people to follow all these three methods, indicating that they are all correct. Had he mentioned only one method, it would have been thought that the others are not valid. Therefore, all three were attributed to him. Every one of his Companions who spoke about the matter only informed what the Prophet told him or permitted him to do, attributing it to the Prophet either because of the Prophet's order or his own understanding. As for the Prophet's own method of iḥrām, he adopted the most preferable one, starting his iḥrām in the ifrād, to do the hajj. This is confirmed in several authentic hadiths. The reports stating that he preferred the tamattu' method would mean that he ordered his Companions to do this. The other reports that he did the qirān speak about his later condition, not about how he started his iḥrām. These reports inform us of his own situation when he ordered his Companions to release themselves from their iḥrām for the hajj and turn it into a 'umrah, to break away from the pre-Islamic practice. This applied to all except those who had brought their sacrifice with them. He and those who had their sacrifice were ultimately doing the qirān method, which means that they incorporated the 'umrah into their hajj. He did this to comfort his Companions and show them that it was right to do so during the hajj months. Previously, the Arabs disapproved of the 'umrah in the hajj months. However, the Prophet could not release himself from consecration with his Companions and he expressed his regret that he could not do it as they did. Thus, in the later stages, the Prophet was doing the hajj in the qirān method.

The general consensus among scholars is that it is permissible to add the hajj to the ‘umrah, but a few say it may not be added, saying that no iḥrām may be added to a preceding iḥrām, in the same way as no prayer may be added to one in progress. Scholars differ about adding the ‘umrah to the hajj. Scholars who operate reasoning say it is permissible. Al-Shāfi‘ī also said that it is permissible in the light of these hadiths. Others say that it is not permissible. They consider the Prophet’s action to apply to him only because of the need to do the ‘umrah during the hajj months. This is how the view that the Prophet did the tamattu’ is understood. It means that he had the benefit of doing the ‘umrah in the hajj months and with the hajj. The word tamattu’ may be used in different senses. Thus, the hadiths are seen to be consistent.

What is reported of the Prophet’s Companions doing the same, along with the authentic reports that they entered into iḥrām for the hajj alone, the ifrād, thus refers to their initial action, while the qirān speaks of the iḥrām of those of them who had brought their sacrifice with them, and the tamattu’ refers to their cancellation of the hajj, opting for the ‘umrah, then starting the iḥrām later for the hajj, as done by those who did not have their sacrifice with them.

Some of our scholars said that the Prophet started his iḥrām as a general, unspecified one, awaiting whatever order he would be given: ifrād, tamattu’ or qirān. He was then ordered to do the hajj and was later given the order to add the ‘umrah when he arrived at al-‘Aqīq Valley. He was told: ‘Offer a prayer in this blessed valley and say: “an ‘umrah together with a hajj”.’ What we said earlier is clearer and gives a better understanding.

Qadi ‘Iyād said elsewhere: ‘It is wrong to say, as some did, that the Prophet started his iḥrām in a general unspecified way because the reports given by Jābir and other Companions of the Prophet, stated in authentic hadiths, are clear that this was not the case’.

Imam Ḥamad ibn Muhammad al-Khaṭṭābī said:

In his book Ikhtilāf al-Hadith, al-Shāfi‘ī excels in explaining this, stating it in fine style. To quote his statement in full would be very long, but here is the central essence of what he said:

It is normal Arabic speech to attribute an action to the one giving an order in the same way as it is attributed to the one who actually does it. Thus, we say this person has built a house if he gives instructions to have it built. We say that the governor beat this person if he merely orders him to be beaten up. In the same way we say: ‘the Prophet stoned Mā‘iz’, and ‘so-and-so cut Ṣafwān’s garment’. In all these examples, the person concerned only gave an order for the action to be done. This formula is frequently used in Arabic speech. Some of the Prophet’s Companions opted for the ifrād, while others used the tamattu’ method and others still the qirān. Everyone learnt their different ways from the Prophet and acted on his instructions. As such, all of these methods were correctly applied to God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the sense that he ordered and permitted them.

It is possible that some of them heard him say: ‘labbayka bi ḥajjah’, i.e., ‘I am responding, doing the hajj’, and they reported that he did the ifrād, having not heard him adding ‘and ‘umrah’. They only reported what they heard. On the other hand, Anas and others heard him say ‘labbayka bi ḥajjah wa ‘umrah’. An addition is normally accepted, but contradiction occurs when the addition negates what one has said. If the addition confirms it and adds to it, no contradiction occurs. It is also probable that the narrator heard the Prophet say to someone else: ‘labbayka bi ḥajjah wa ‘umrah’ by way of instruction. These different narrations which appear varied do not impart any contradiction. Reconciling them is easy as we have said, but God knows best.

[2534-112]. (Dar al-Salam 2765) ‘Abd al-Malik ibn Shu‘ayb ibn al-Layth narrated:<sup>i</sup> my father narrated to me; from my grandfather; ‘Uqayl ibn Khālīd narrated to me; from Ibn Shihāb; from ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr; from ‘Ā’ishah, the Prophet’s wife. She said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage. Some of us declared the ‘umrah and some declared the hajj. When we arrived in Makkah, God’s Messenger said: “Whoever started the ihrām for ‘umrah and brought no sacrifice should release themselves from ihrām. Those who started the ihrām for ‘umrah and brought their sacrifice must not release themselves until they have slaughtered their sacrifice. Those who started their ihrām for the hajj should continue their hajj”.’

‘Ā’ishah added: ‘I had started my period and my period continued until the Day of Arafat. I had only started my ihrām for ‘umrah. God’s Messenger ordered me to undo and comb my hair, restart the ihrām for the hajj and leave my ‘umrah. I did as he said. When I finished my hajj, God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) sent ‘Abd al-Rahmān ibn Abu Bakr with me, instructing me to start ihrām at al-Tan‘īm. This was in place of my [original] ‘umrah from which I had not released myself when the hajj was due’.

[2535-113]. (Dar al-Salam (2766) ‘Abd ibn Humayd narrated: ‘Abd al-Razzāq reported; Ma‘mar reported; from al-Zuhrī; from ‘Urwah; from ‘Āishah. She said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage, and I started my ihrām for ‘umrah, but I did not bring any sacrifice with me. The Prophet said: “Those who brought their sacrifice with them should declare the hajj with their ‘umrah. They must not release themselves from ihrām until they can release themselves from both together”.’ She said: ‘I started my period. On the night [before] Arafat, I said: “Messenger of God, I had started with ‘umrah. What shall I do about my hajj?” He said: “Undo your hair and comb it. Stop your ‘umrah and start the ihrām for the hajj”. When I finished my hajj, he instructed ‘Abd al-Rahmān ibn Abu Bakr and he took me behind him [on his she-camel] to start my ‘umrah from al-Tan‘īm. This was in place of my ‘umrah which I had abandoned’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ بْنُ حُمَيْدٍ، أَخْبَرَنَا عَبْدُ الرَّزَّاقِ، أَخْبَرَنَا مَعْمَرٌ،
عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ، عَنْ عُرْوَةَ، عَنِ عَائِشَةَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا،
قَالَتْ: خَرَجْنَا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَامَ
حَجَّةِ الْوَدَاعِ، فَأَهْلَلْتُ بِعُمْرَةٍ، وَلَمْ أَكُنْ سَفْتُ الْهَدْيِ،
فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «مَنْ كَانَ مَعَهُ
هَدْيٌ فَلْيُهْلِلْ بِالْحَجِّ مَعَ عُمْرَتِهِ، ثُمَّ لَا يَحِلُّ حَتَّى يَحِلَّ
مِنْهُمَا جَمِيعًا». قَالَتْ: فَحِضْتُ، فَلَمَّا دَخَلْتُ لَيْلَةَ عَرَفَةَ

قُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنِّي كُنْتُ أَهْلَيْتُ بِعُمْرَةٍ، فَكَيْفَ أَصْنَعُ بِحَجَّتِي. قَالَ: «انْقُضِي رَأْسَكَ وَأَمْتَشِطِي، وَأَمْسِكِي عَنِ الْعُمْرَةِ، وَأَهْلِي بِالْحَجِّ». قَالَتْ: فَلَمَّا قَضَيْتُ حَجَّتِي أَمَرَ عَبْدَ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ أَبِي بَكْرٍ، فَأَرَدَفَنِي، فَأَعْمَرَنِي مِنَ التَّعِيمِ، مَكَانَ عُمْرَتِي الَّتِي أَمْسَكْتُ عَنْهَا.

[2536-114]. (Dar al-Salam 2767) Ibn Abi 'Umar narrated: Sufyān narrated; from al-Zuhri; from 'Urwah; from 'Ā'ishah. She said: 'We set out with God's Messenger (peace be upon him), and he said: "Whoever of you wishes to declare his ihrām for the hajj and 'umrah may do so, and whoever wishes to declare for the hajj may do so, and whoever wishes to declare for the 'umrah may do so".' 'Ā'ishah said: 'God's Messenger declared for the hajj and some people did the same as he did, while others declared for the 'umrah and hajj and others still declared for the 'umrah. I was one of those declaring for the 'umrah'.

حَدَّثَنَا ابْنُ أَبِي عُمَرَ، حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ، عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ، عَنْ عُرْوَةَ، عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا، قَالَتْ: خَرَجْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ: «مَنْ أَرَادَ مِنْكُمْ أَنْ يُهَلَّ بِحَجٍّ وَعُمْرَةٍ فَلْيَفْعَلْ، وَمَنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يُهَلَّ بِحَجٍّ فَلْيُهَلَّ، وَمَنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يُهَلَّ بِعُمْرَةٍ فَلْيُهَلَّ». قَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا: فَأَهَّلَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِحَجٍّ، وَاهْلًا بِهِ نَاسٌ مَعَهُ، وَاهْلًا نَاسٌ
بِالْعُمْرَةِ وَالْحَجِّ، وَاهْلًا نَاسٌ بِعُمْرَةٍ، وَكُنْتُ فِيْمَنْ أَهْلًا
بِالْعُمْرَةِ.

[2537-115]. (Dar al-Salam 2768) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated:<sup>ii</sup> ‘Abdah ibn Sulaymān narrated; from Hishām; from his father; from ‘Ā’ishah. She said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) for the Farewell Pilgrimage, shortly before the new moon of Dhul-Ḥijjah. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Whoever of you wishes to declare for the ‘umrah may do so. Had I not brought my sacrifice, I would have declared for the ‘umrah”. Some of the people declared for the ‘umrah and some declared for the hajj. I was among the ones who declared for the ‘umrah. We proceeded until we arrived in Makkah. The Day of Arafat arrived when I was still having my period, and I had not released myself from my ‘umrah. I complained of this to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and he said: “Leave your ‘umrah, undo and comb your hair and declare for the hajj”. I did so. When it was the night of al-Ḥaṣbah and God had helped us complete our hajj, the Prophet sent ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abu Bakr with me and he took me behind him on his she-camel to al-Tan‘īm, where I started the iḥrām for ‘umrah. Thus, God completed our hajj and ‘umrah.

That did not involve sacrifice, charity or fasting [in compensation].'

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُهُ بْنُ سُلَيْمَانَ، عَنْ هِشَامٍ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا، قَالَتْ: خَرَجْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي حَجَّةِ الْوَدَاعِ، مُوَافِينَ لِهَلَالِ ذِي الْحِجَّةِ. قَالَتْ: فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «مَنْ أَرَادَ مِنْكُمْ أَنْ يَهْلَ بِعُمْرَةٍ فَلْيَهْلُ، فَلَوْلَا أَنِّي أَهْدَيْتُ لَأَهْلَلْتُ بِعُمْرَةٍ». قَالَتْ: فَكَانَ مِنَ الْقَوْمِ مَنْ أَهَلَ بِعُمْرَةٍ، وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ أَهَلَ بِالْحَجِّ. قَالَتْ: فَكُنْتُ أَنَا مِنْ أَهْلِ بِعُمْرَةٍ. فَخَرَجْنَا حَتَّى قَدِمْنَا مَكَّةَ، فَأَذْرَكَنِي يَوْمَ عَرَفَةَ وَأَنَا حَائِضٌ، لَمْ أَجِلْ مِنْ عُمْرَتِي. فَشَكُوْتُ ذَلِكَ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، فَقَالَ: «دَعِي عُمْرَتِكَ، وَانْقِضِي رَأْسَكَ وَامْتَشِطِي، وَأَهْلِي بِالْحَجِّ». قَالَتْ: فَفَعَلْتُ، فَلَمَّا كَانَتْ لَيْلَةُ الْحَصِيَّةِ، وَقَدْ قَصَى اللَّهُ حَجَّنَا، أَرْسَلَ مَعِيَ عَبْدَ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ أَبِي بَكْرٍ، فَأَرَدَفَنِي وَخَرَجَ بِي إِلَى التَّنْعِيمِ، فَأَهْلَلْتُ بِعُمْرَةٍ.

[2538-116]. (Dar al-Salam 2769) Abu Kurayb narrated: Ibn Numayr narrated; Hishām narrated; from his father; from ‘Āishah. She said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) shortly before the new moon of Dhul-Ḥijjah. We

Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2533 ‘Ā’ishah reports: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage, and we declared our intention to perform the ‘umrah. Later, God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Those who have brought their sacrifice with them should declare their intention to perform the hajj with the ‘umrah”.’ And in hadith No. 2534 she said: ‘Some of us declared the ‘umrah and some declared the hajj... I had started my ihrām only for ‘umrah’. Qadi ‘Iyād said:

Reports of how ‘Ā’ishah started her ihrām vary a great deal. Muslim mentions these we have just quoted, but he also relates hadith No. 2541 in which she says: ‘We thought of nothing other than the hajj’. Al-Qāsim reports from her in No. 2545: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger declaring for the hajj’. And in No. 2542: ‘We mentioned nothing other than the hajj’. All these narrations clearly state that she started her ihrām declaring for the hajj. Yet al-Aswad quotes her in hadith No. 2551: ‘We were saying the talbiyah, mentioning neither the hajj nor the ‘umrah’.

Scholars differ in their views of the hadith quoting ‘Āishah. Mālik said: “‘Urwah’s narration from ‘Āishah has not been upheld in our view, neither recently nor earlier’. Some scholars said that it appears more likely that she was in iḥrām for the hajj, as stated in the narrations by ‘Amrah, al-Aswad and al-Qāsim. They consider that ‘Urwah was mistaken in his report. Among the scholars taking this view was Qadi Ismā‘īl. They give preference to the reports by other narrators because ‘Urwah said in the narration by Ḥammād ibn Zayd, from Hishām, from ‘Urwah: ‘More than one narrated to me that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to her: Leave your ‘umrah’. They consider that this makes it clear that ‘Urwah did not hear the hadith from her. However, this is not clear because it is probable that she was among those who narrated the hadith to him. Such scholars add another argument, saying that in their narrations ‘Amrah and al-Qāsim give a full account of what ‘Āishah did in her hajj, from start to finish. Therefore, al-Qāsim said about ‘Amrah’s narration: ‘She gave you the hadith accurately’. Moreover, ‘Urwah’s narration only tells us of how ‘Āishah started her iḥrām.

Reconciling these hadiths is possible. She started her iḥrām declaring for the hajj, as authentically reported in the narrations of the majority. This is also the more authentic way that the Prophet and most of his Companions did. When the Prophet ordered his Companions to change their intention and do the ‘umrah first, she declared her iḥrām for ‘umrah. This is how al-Qāsim explained it in his narration. Thus, ‘Urwah mentioned her later condition, declaring for the ‘umrah, but not how she started.

This differs with what is authentically reported from her as she told of what the Prophet's Companions did and how they differed in their iḥrām, and that she declared her iḥrām for 'umrah. To sum up: she started with the hajj, then she stopped that and took up the 'umrah, when the people were ordered to do so. When she started her period and could not complete her 'umrah to release herself from consecration before the hajj, the Prophet ordered her to declare her iḥrām for the hajj, which she did. As such, she added the hajj to the 'umrah and her method of iḥrām became that of qirān.

The Prophet ordered 'Ā'ishah to 'cancel' her 'umrah. This does not mean to invalidate and abandon it. When a person enters into consecration, or iḥrām, to perform the 'umrah or the hajj, such a person cannot abandon them by an intention to stop. One is released when one has completed the relevant duties. What the Prophet meant is to stop doing the duties of the 'umrah, which are the ṭawāf, the sa'ī and cutting one's hair. The Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered 'Ā'ishah to leave these duties of the 'umrah and to declare her iḥrām for the hajj, thus making her hajj in the qirān method. She would then attend at Arafat and fulfil all her duties except the ṭawāf, which should be delayed until she was free from menstruation. She did all this.

Scholars said that what confirms this understanding is that the Prophet said to her, in hadith No. 2535 'Stop your 'umrah'. This understanding is clearly stated in the last of the hadiths quoting 'Ā'ishah, No. 2554. This hadith states that she declared her iḥrām for 'umrah, but when she arrived in Makkah, she started her period before she could do the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah. She then started her hajj and did all its duties. The Prophet said to her on the last day that her ṭawāf was sufficient for both her hajj and 'umrah, but she refused. Therefore, he sent her with her brother, ‘Abd al-Raḥmān, to al-Tan‘īm where she started her ‘umrah after completing her hajj. The fact that the Prophet said to her that her ṭawāf ‘was sufficient for both her hajj and ‘umrah’ makes it clear that her ‘umrah remained valid and acceptable. It was not cancelled or abandoned. Therefore, the Prophet’s instructions to her to ‘leave your ‘umrah’ must be understood as we have mentioned: that it means to stop doing its duties or not to complete it, but God knows best.

Hadith No. 2533 mentions that when ‘Āishah went with her brother ‘Abd al-Raḥmān to start her ‘umrah at al-Tan‘īm, the Prophet said to her: ‘This one is in place of your [earlier] ‘umrah’. This means that she wanted to undertake an ‘umrah that was separate from the hajj, like the other wives of the Prophet and his other Companions who changed their iḥrām from that of the hajj to make it one for ‘umrah, and then completed their ‘umrah, released themselves from consecration before the Tarwiyah Day, which falls on 8 Dhul-Ḥijjah, then re-started their iḥrām in Makkah on that day. Thus, they had the ‘umrah separate from their hajj. In ‘Āishah’s case, her ‘umrah was incorporated with her hajj, in the qirān method. This is the meaning of the Prophet’s advice to her: ‘Your ṭawāf is sufficient for your hajj and ‘umrah’. He meant that both were complete and credited to her. She, however, was not happy and wished to have a separate ‘umrah like the rest of the people. When she performed her ‘umrah after the hajj, the Prophet said to her: ‘This one is in place of your earlier ‘umrah’. He meant in place of the one you wished to have separately from the hajj but could not do because of her menstruation. The same may be said about her own objection: ‘All people go back having done a hajj and an ‘umrah while I go back with a hajj only!’ She meant that the people had their two duties separate, while she would not have a separate ‘umrah. She was keen to perform the ‘umrah so that her actions would increase. This counters the view of those who claim that the qirān method is better, but God knows best.

The Prophet told ‘Ā’ishah to ‘undo and comb your hair’. This does not necessarily mean invalidating the ‘umrah. Indeed, undoing one’s hair and combing it are permissible during iḥrām, provided that they do not pluck any hair out. However, combing one’s hair is discouraged unless there is a valid reason for it. Some scholars understand her action as required for a specific reason, which means that her head was hurting and the Prophet allowed her to comb her hair in the same way as he allowed Ka‘b ibn ‘Ujrah to shave his head when he was troubled by insects. On the other hand, it is suggested that in this instance, ‘combing’ does not refer to actual usage of a comb but to go through her hair with her fingers as she took a bath before starting her iḥrām for the hajj. This was particularly necessary if she had fixed her hair in accordance with the sunnah and as the Prophet did. In this case, her bath would not be valid unless the water reached all her hair, and this required undoing it, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2533 ‘Ā’ishah mentions: ‘The ones who combined the hajj with the ‘umrah performed the ṭawāf once only’. This is clear evidence that a pilgrim who does the qirān method need perform only one ṭawāf for both his hajj and ‘umrah. He only does the duties of the hajj while all the duties of the ‘umrah become incorporated into the duties of the hajj. This is the view of al-Shāfi‘ī, and it is reported from Ibn ‘Umar, Jābir, ‘Ā’ishah, Mālik, Ahmad, Ishāq and Dāwūd. Abu Ḥanīfah, on the other hand, said that two ṭawāfs and two sa‘īs are required. This is reported from ‘Alī ibn Abi Ṭālib, Ibn Mas‘ūd, al-Sha‘bī and al-Nakha‘ī, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2535 ‘Ā’ishah reports: ‘We set out with God’s Mes-senger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage, and I started my iḥrām for ‘umrah... The Prophet said: “Whoever brought their sacrifice with them should declare the hajj with their ‘umrah. They must not release themselves from iḥrām until they can release themselves from both together”.’ Qadi ‘Iyād said:

What is clear from the hadiths related in the two Ṣaḥīḥ anthologies of al-Bukhari and Muslim, as well as other anthologies, and narrated by ‘Ā’ishah, Jābir and others, is that the Prophet said this to them after they had declared their iḥrām for the hajj. According to ‘Ā’ishah, this was towards the end of their journey as they reached Sarif, near Makkah, but according to Jābir, it was after he performed his ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. It is also possible that he repeated his order at both places, and that the emphasis came last as he ordered them to change their iḥrām for the hajj and make it for the ‘umrah.

In hadith No. 2534 ‘Ā’ishah reports: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage. Some of us declared the ‘umrah and some declared the hajj. When we arrived in Makkah, God’s Messenger said: “Those who started the iḥrām for ‘umrah and brought no sacrifice should release themselves from iḥrām. Those who started the iḥrām for ‘umrah and brought their sacrifice must not release themselves until they have slaughtered their sacrifice. Those who started their iḥrām for the hajj should continue their hajj”.’

This hadith clearly provides evidence in support of the view of Abu Ḥanīfah, Ahmad and others that a person who opts for the tamattu’ method of iḥrām and brings his sacrifice with him may not release himself from iḥrām after his ‘umrah until he has slaughtered his sacrifice on the Day of Sacrifice. By contrast, Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī and others say that such a person releases himself from iḥrām once he completes his ṭawāf and sa'ī and cuts his hair, whether he has brought his sacrifice with him or not. Their argument is based on analogy with the one who has not brought any sacrifice. Such a person has completed the required duties, which means that all restrictions are removed, just like the one who declares the iḥrām for the hajj is released from all restrictions once the duties of hajj have been completed. They respond that this particular hadith gives a shortened version of the other narrations that Muslim mentions before and after it, attributed also to 'Ā'ishah. In hadith No. 2533 she says: 'We set out with God's Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage, and we declared our intention to perform the 'umrah. Later, God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "Those who have brought their sacrifice with them should declare their intention to perform the hajj with the 'umrah. They must not release themselves from iḥrām until they can release themselves from both together".' This narration explains what is omitted from the one Abu Ḥanīfah adopts as his evidence. It implies that the one who declares the iḥrām for 'umrah, having brought the sacrifice, should add the hajj but cannot be released from iḥrām until slaughtering the sacrifice. This understanding is necessary because the hadiths speak of the same case and they are narrated by the same person. Hence, the two reports must be taken together as we have mentioned, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2535 the Prophet tells 'Ā'ishah: 'Stop your 'umrah'. This gives clear evidence that she did not invalidate her 'umrah, but only stopped its duties and started the iḥrām for the hajj. Thus, she incorporated the duties of the 'umrah with the hajj, as we have explained. This confirms the explanation we mentioned of his order to her: 'leave your 'umrah'. What this means is to leave doing these duties, not to invalidate the 'umrah altogether.

In hadith No. 2537 ‘Ā’ishah mentions that, on the Prophet’s instructions, her brother, ‘Abd al-Raḥmān, ‘took me behind him on his she-camel’. This serves as clear evidence that it is permissible that two people ride a single mount, if the mount is able to comfortably carry them. A number of authentic hadiths confirm this. It also shows that it is permissible for a man to take behind him on his mount a woman relative who is unlawful for him to marry and to be alone with her. This is unanimously agreed upon.

In hadith No. 2536 the Prophet said to his Companions: ‘Whoever of you wishes to declare his iḥrām for the hajj and ‘umrah may do so, and whoever wishes to declare for the hajj may do so, and whoever wishes to declare for the ‘umrah may do so’. This confirms that all three methods are acceptable. Muslims are all in agreement on this, but they differ as to which of the three is preferable, as we explained earlier.

In hadith No. 2537 ‘Ā’ishah mentions ‘the night of al-Ḥaṣḣab’. This is the night that follows the days of Mina. It is given this name because the Prophet and his Companions left Mina, heading for Makkah, but stopped at a place called al-Muḥaṣṣab and stayed the night there. In this hadith, she says: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) for the Farewell Pilgrimage, shortly before the new moon of Dhul-Ḥijjah’. This means that they were expecting to sight it soon. They actually left Madinah five days before the start of Dhul-Ḥijjah, as clearly stated in a later hadith. Then ‘Ā’ishah mentions that the Prophet said: ‘Whoever of you wishes to declare for the ‘umrah may do so. Had I not brought my sacrifice, I would have declared for the ‘umrah’. This statement is one piece of the evidence cited by those who argue that the tamattu’ method is preferable to the other two. This is the same as his other statement: ‘Were I to start again, I would not have brought my sacrifice with me’. The point in both statements is that the Prophet would not express a wish except for what is best.

Scholars who consider the ifrād method more preferable respond saying that the Prophet only said this because of stopping their iḥrām for the hajj and making it one for ‘umrah. This was a course open to them only in that particular year, so that their action would be contrary to that of the unbelievers. He was not speaking about the tamattu’ method which is subject to controversy. He further wished to comfort his Companions who were not particularly pleased about changing their declaration for the hajj, as stated in later hadiths. He said this to them assuring them that he would have done the same, but because he had brought his sacrifice, that course of action was not open to him. Had he known of this right at the beginning, he would not have brought his sacrifice with him. Moreover, this hadith confirms that the Prophet did not do his hajj in the tamattu’ method.

In the same hadith, ‘Ā’ishah says: ‘Thus God completed our hajj and ‘umrah. That did not involve sacrifice, charity or fasting [in compensation]’. This is understood to mean that she was speaking of herself and that she did not have to make any compensation in any of these forms. However, this remains problematic because her hajj was of the qirān type, and anyone who does the qirān or the tamattu’ is required to slaughter a sheep. It is also possible to understand it as meaning that she did not commit any violation of the restrictions of iḥrām, such as using perfumes, covering her face, removing hair etc., which would have incurred some compensation of one type or another. This is the preferred understanding of this statement. Qadi ‘Iyād said: ‘This statement shows that she did the hajj in the ifrād method, because all scholars except Dāwūd al-Zāhirī agree that both the tamattu’ and the qirān require a sacrifice, but Dāwūd says only the tamattu requires it’.

In the hadith, the statement, ‘That did not involve sacrifice, charity or fasting [in compensation],’ appears to be ‘Ā’ishah’s statement, but hadith No. 2539 states that it is the narrator Hishām ibn ‘Urwah’s statement. Therefore, the first occurrence should be understood in light of the second, which means that in the first occurrence, it is added to the hadith and is not part of it.

[2541-119]. (Dar al-Salam 2772) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, ‘Amr al-Nāqid and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated:<sup>1</sup> all from Ibn ‘Uyaynah. ‘Amr said: Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah narrated; from ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Qāsim; from his father; from ‘Ā’ishah. She said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him), and we thought of nothing other than the hajj. When we were at Sarif, or near it, I started my period. The Prophet came in and found me crying. He asked: “Are you in menstruation?” I said: “Yes”. He said: “This is something God has ordained for all women. Do everything a pilgrim should do, except that you may not do the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah until you have taken a bath [when your period is over]”. God’s Messenger sacrificed cows on behalf of his wives’.

حَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، وَعَمْرُو النَّاقِدُ، وَزُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ ابْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ. قَالَ عَمْرُو حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ، عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ الْقَاسِمِ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا، قَالَتْ: خَرَجْنَا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى

اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، وَلَا تُرَى إِلَّا الْحَجَّ، حَتَّى إِذَا كُنَّا بِسَرِفٍ
 أَوْ قَرِيبًا مِنْهَا حِصْتُ. فَدَخَلَ عَلَيَّ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
 وَسَلَّمَ وَأَنَا أَبْكِي. فَقَالَ: «أَتَفِيسَتْ؟» يَغْنِي الْحَيْضَةَ.
 قَالَتْ: قُلْتُ نَعَمْ. قَالَ: «إِنَّ هَذَا شَيْءٌ كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَى
 بَنَاتِ آدَمَ، فَأَقْضِي مَا يَقْضِي الْحَاجُّ غَيْرَ أَنْ لَا تَطُوفِي
 بِالْبَيْتِ، حَتَّى تَغْتَسِلِي». قَالَتْ: وَصَحَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ
 صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ نِسَائِهِ بِالْبَقَرِ.

[2542-120]. (Dar al-Salam 2773) Sulaymān ibn ‘Ubaydullāh Abu Ayyūb al-Ghaylānī narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> Abu ‘Āmir ‘Abd al-Malik ibn ‘Amr narrated; ‘Abd al-‘Azīz ibn Abi Salamah al-Mājishūn narrated; from ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Qāsim; from his father; from ‘Āishah. She said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him), and we thought of nothing other than the hajj. When we were at Sarif, I started my period. The Prophet came in and found me crying. He asked: “Why are you crying?” I said: “By God, I wish I had not travelled this year”. He said: “What is the matter? Perhaps you have started your period?” I said: “Yes”. He said: “This is something God has ordained for all women. Do everything a pilgrim should do, except that you may not do the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah until you have cleansed yourself”. When we arrived in Makkah, God’s Messenger said to his Companions: “Make it an ‘umrah”. People released themselves from consecration, except those who had brought their sacrifice with them. The sacrifice was with the Prophet, Abu Bakr, 'Umar and the ones who were well off. The people then restarted ihrām when they left [for Mina]. On the Day of Sacrifice, I finished my period. God's Messenger commanded me, and I performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah. Some cow meat was brought to us, and I asked: "What is this?" They said: "God's Messenger sacrificed cows on behalf of his wives". On the night of al-Ḥaṣbah, I said: "Messenger of God, will people go back having done a hajj and an 'umrah, and I go back [only] with a hajj?" He instructed 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abu Bakr, and he took me behind him on his camel. I remember, and I was still young, that I might be drowsy and my face would hit the back of the saddle. We arrived at al-Tan'im where I entered into a state of consecration, declaring for 'umrah, in compensation for the 'umrah other people performed'.

الْعَامَ. قَالَ: «مَا لَكَ، لَعَلَّكَ تَفِسَتْ؟» قُلْتُ نَعَمْ. قَالَ: «هَذَا شَيْءٌ كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَى بَنَاتِ آدَمَ. افْعَلِي مَا يَفْعَلُ الْحَاجُّ، غَيْرَ أَنْ لَا تَطُوفِي بِالْبَيْتِ حَتَّى تَطْهُرِي». قَالَتْ: فَلَمَّا قَدِمْتُ مَكَّةَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِأَصْحَابِهِ: «اجْعَلُوهَا عُمْرَةً». فَأَحَلَّ النَّاسُ إِلَّا مَنْ كَانَ مَعَهُ الْهَدْيُ. قَالَتْ فَكَانَ الْهَدْيُ مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأَبِي بَكْرٍ وَعُمَرُ، وَدَوِي الْيَسَارَةِ. ثُمَّ أَهْلُوا حِينَ رَاحُوا. قَالَتْ فَلَمَّا كَانَ يَوْمُ النَّحْرِ طَهَّرْتُ، فَأَمَرَنِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَقِضْتُ. قَالَتْ: فَأَتَيْنَا بِلَحْمِ بَقَرٍ. فَقُلْتُ: مَا هَذَا؟ فَقَالُوا: أَهْدَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ نِسَائِهِ الْبَقَرَ. فَلَمَّا كَانَتْ لَيْلَةُ الْحَصْبَةِ قُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ يَرْجِعُ النَّاسُ بِحَجَّةٍ وَعُمْرَةٍ، وَأَرْجِعُ بِحَجَّةٍ؟ قَالَتْ: فَأَمَرَ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنُ أَبِي بَكْرٍ فَأَرَدَفَنِي عَلَى جَمَلِهِ. قَالَتْ: فَأَتَيْتُ لِأَذْكُرُ، وَأَنَا جَارِيَةٌ حَدِيثَةُ السِّنِّ، أَنْعَسُ فَنُصِيبُ وَجْهِي مُؤَخَّرَةً الرَّحْلِ، حَتَّى جِئْنَا إِلَى النَّعِيمِ، فَأَهْلَلْتُ مِنْهَا بِعُمْرَةٍ جَزَاءً بِعُمْرَةِ النَّاسِ الَّتِي اعْتَمَرُوا.

[2543-121]. (Dar al-Salam 2774) Abu Ayyūb al-Ghaylānī nar-rated to me:<sup>iii</sup> Bahz narrated; Hammād narrated; from ‘Abd al-Rahmān; from his father; from ‘Ā’ishah. She said: ‘We said the talbiyah, declaring for the hajj. When we arrived at Sarif, I started my period. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) came in and I was crying...’. He narrated the hadith in similar terms to al-Mā’ishūn’s narration.

Hammād's narration does not include: 'The sacrifice was with the Prophet, Abu Bakr, 'Umar and the ones who were well off. The people then restarted ihrām when they left [Makkah]'. Nor does it include her words: 'I was still young, that I might be drowsy and my face would hit the back of the saddle'.

[2544-122]. (Dar al-Salam 2775) Ismā'īl ibn Abi Uways nar-rated:<sup>iv</sup> My maternal uncle, Mālik ibn Anas narrated to me [H]. Also, Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated; he said: I read out to Mālik; from 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Qāsim; from his father; from 'Ā'ishah; that 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) did the ifrād hajj'.

حَدَّثَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ أَبِي أُوَيْسٍ، حَدَّثَنِي خَالِي مَالِكُ بْنُ أَنَسٍ ح. وَحَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى قَالَ: قَرَأْتُ عَلَى مَالِكٍ،

أَفْرَدَ الْحَجَّ.

[2545-123]. (Dar al-Salam 2776) Muhammad ibn ‘Abdullāh ibn Numayr narrated:<sup>v</sup> Ishāq ibn Sulaymān narrated; from Aflah ibn Humayd; from al-Qāsim; from ‘Āishah; she said: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring our intention to do the hajj and this was in the hajj months, when the sanctities of the hajj apply and during the hajj nights. When we stopped at Sarif, the Prophet addressed his Companions saying: “Whoever of you who has not brought a sacrifice and wishes to make it an ‘umrah may do so. The ones who have brought their sacrifice may not”. Some of those who did not have the sacrifice did so and some did not. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) had his sacrifice with him, and so did some of his Companions who had the ability. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) came in when I was crying. He asked: “Why are you crying?” I said: “I heard what you said to your Companions, and I heard about the ‘umrah (and I was prevented from offering the ‘umrah)”. He said: “Why is that?” I said: “I cannot pray”. He said: “There is no harm. Continue with your hajj. God may yet give it to you. You are one of Adam’s daughters and what God has ordained to them applies to you”. I continued with my hajj until we stopped at Mina where I cleansed myself. We then performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah. The Prophet then stopped at al-Muḥaṣṣab. He called 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abu Bakr and said to him: "Take your sister out of the Ḥaram [area] so that she starts the 'umrah. Then she should perform the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah. I shall wait here for the two of you". We went away, and I started my iḥrām, then did the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. We joined God's Messenger at his place in the middle of the night. He asked [me]: "Have you finished?" I said: "Yes". He then made the announcement to his Companions to depart. He left, passing by the Ka'bah where he did the ṭawāf before the Fajr Prayer, then left for Madinah'.

[2558-136]. (Dar al-Salam 2791) Qutaybah ibn Sa'id and Muhammad ibn Rumh narrated:<sup>xii</sup> both from al-Layth ibn Sa'd; Qutaybah said: Layth narrated to me; from Abu al-Zubayr; from Jābir; that he said: 'We came with God's Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring our consecration for the hajj alone. 'Ā'ishah (may God be pleased with her) came declaring for 'umrah. When we were at Sarif, she started her period. When we arrived [at Makkah] we performed the tawāf at the Ka'bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. God's Messenger (peace be upon him) ordered that those of us who did not bring their sacrifice with them should release themselves from consecration. We said: "What release?" He said: "The full release". We were intimate with our wives, wore perfume and put on our ordinary clothes. Yet only four nights separated us for the Day of Arafat. Then we re-entered into consecration on the Day of al-Tarwiyah. God's Messenger went to 'Ā'ishah's place and found her crying. He asked: "What is the matter with you?" She said: "The matter with me is that I started my period, and the people released themselves from ihrām, but I did not. Nor did I do the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, and now they are going for the hajj". He said: "This is something that God has created all Adam's daughters with. Take a bath and declare your ihrām for the hajj". She did so and fulfilled all the duties. When she finished her period, she performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. He then said [to her]: "You have released yourself from both your hajj and your 'umrah together". She said: "Messenger of God, I feel sad that I did not do the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah until I performed the hajj". He said: "Take her, 'Abd al-Raḥmān, to al-Tan'im and let her do her 'umrah". That was on the night of al-Ḥaṣbah'.

They had started their consecration declaring for the hajj on its own. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said to them: ‘Release yourselves from consecration when you have done the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah and cut your hair. Stay in Makkah in the normal state, then on the Day of al-Tarwiyah enter into consecration, declaring for the hajj. Make the one in which you arrived a mit‘ah ‘umrah’<sup>xvii</sup>. We said: ‘How can we make it a mit‘ah when we have declared it for hajj?’ He said: ‘Do as I bid you. ### Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2541 ‘Ā’ishah mentions that they set out thinking of nothing other than the hajj because they believed that the ‘umrah may not be offered during the hajj months. She then mentions arriving at Sarif, which is a few miles from Makkah, where she started her period. The Prophet tells her that ‘this is something God has given all Adam’s daughters’. This was to comfort her and to assure her that she was not the only one to be in that condition. In his Ṣaḥīḥ, al-Bukhari cites this hadith as evidence that all women, ever since the creation of mankind had their monthly cycles. He thus refuted the claim that it started with the Children of Israel.

In the same hadith, the Prophet tells ‘Ā’ishah to do all the duties of the hajj except for the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, which she could only do after she finished her period and had taken her cleansing bath. This serves as evidence that a woman in her period or in postnatal discharge, a man in a state of ceremonial impurity and anyone who has not performed the wudu ablution may do all the rituals of the hajj, whether verbal or practical, except for the ṭawāf and the prayer after it. This means that attendance at Arafat is valid for all these people. It is also permissible to take all the types of bath needed during the hajj.

This hadith also makes it clear that a woman in menstruation may not perform the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah. This is unanimously agreed upon, but scholars differ as to the reason for it, and their views on this point relate to their differences as to whether ablution is a condition for the validity of ṭawāf. Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī and Ahmad say that it is a condition. Abu Ḥanīfah and Dāwūd say it is not. Those who make ablution a condition for valid ṭawāf say that since a woman having her period is uncleansed, she cannot perform the ṭawāf. The others who do not require ablution for valid ṭawāf say the reason why a woman cannot do it when she is menstruating is because she is not allowed to stay in a mosque during this cycle.<sup>xviii</sup>

The hadith adds that 'the Prophet sacrificed cows on behalf of his wives'. This is understood to mean that it was with their permission because offering a sacrifice on behalf of someone else must be by permission. Mālik considers this hadith as evidence that sacrificing a cow is preferable to sacrificing a camel. But the hadith indicates no such preference as it does not mention such preferability specifically or generally. This is a specific question that permits different possibilities and does not support his argument. Al-Shāfi'ī and the majority of scholars are of the view that sacrificing a camel is preferable to sacrificing a cow because in a different hadith the Prophet says: 'The one who arrives [at the mosque for Friday Prayer] in the first period is like one who sacrifices a camel, and the one who arrives in the second period is like one who sacrifices a cow...'.<sup>xix</sup>

These hadiths make it clear that it is permissible for a man to take his wife to perform the hajj with him. This is unanimously agreed upon by all scholars. They are also agreed that the hajj is required as a duty of a woman if she is able to do it. Scholars of the earlier generations differed as to whether the availability of a maḥram (an unmarriageable relative) to accompany her is one of the conditions of a woman's ability. They agree that a woman's husband may stop her from doing a voluntary hajj [i.e., one she wishes to do after having done her obligatory hajj]. As for the obligatory hajj, the majority of scholars say that a husband may not stop his wife from doing it. Al-Shāfi'ī gives two views on this point: the first is the same as the majority, but the one more correctly attributed to al-Shāfi'ī is that a husband may stop his wife from doing the obligatory hajj because her duties towards him are immediate, while her duty of hajj is to be done as and when she can. Our Shāfi'ī scholars say that it is desirable for a husband to take his wife on hajj, as authentic hadiths confirm.

In hadith No. 2542 'Ā'ishah mentions that many of the Prophet's Companions changed their consecration into one for 'umrah and then says: 'The people then restarted iḥrām when they left'. This means that they started their consecration anew when they left Makkah, going to Mina. This was on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, which is 8th Dhul-Hijjah. This provides evidence in support of al-Shāfi'ī's view that the better course for people who are in Makkah is to start their iḥrām for the hajj on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, not before it. We mentioned this earlier.

This hadith concludes with 'Ā'ishah saying: 'We arrived at al-Tan'im where I entered into a state of consecration, declaring for 'umrah, in compensation for the 'umrah other people performed'. This means that her 'umrah was equal to the ‘umrah other people performed before the hajj. It was sufficient for her.

In hadith No. 2545 ‘Ā’ishah says: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring our intention to do the hajj and this was in the hajj months’. Scholars differ as to the meaning of ‘the hajj months’, as the phrase occurs in the Qur’an: ‘The hajj takes place in the months appointed for it’. (2: 197) Al-Shāfi‘ī and the great majority of scholars from the generation of the Prophet’s Companions onwards say that these months are Shawwāl, Dhul-Qa’dah and the first ten nights of Dhul-Hijjah up until dawn on the Day of Sacrifice. This is also reported from Mālik, but the better-known view of Mālik is that they are Shawwāl, Dhul-Qa’dah and the full month of Dhul-Hijjah. This is also reported to have been expressed by Ibn ‘Abbās and Ibn ‘Umar, but their better-known view is the same as that of the majority.

In the same hadith: ‘The Prophet addressed his Companions, saying: “Whoever of you who has not brought a sacrifice and wishes to make it an ‘umrah may do so. The ones who have brought their sacrifice may not”. Some of those who did not have the sacrifice did so and some did not’. And in hadith No. 2564 Jābir says that the Prophet ‘ordered us to release ourselves from consecration’, meaning to end it as an ‘umrah. And towards the end of this hadith: ‘We listened, obeyed and released ourselves from consecration’. And in hadith No. 2566 Jābir says that the Prophet said to them: ““Release yourselves from consecration when you have done the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and between al-Şafa and al-Marwah and cut your hair. Stay in Makkah in the normal state, then on the Day of al-Tarwiyah enter into consecration, declaring for the hajj. Make the one in which you arrived a mit‘ah ‘umrah”. We said: “How can we make it a mit‘ah when we have declared it for hajj?” He said: “Do as I bid you”.’ These narrations are authentic, making it clear that the Prophet was giving a clear order that must be obeyed. Earlier, in the hadith, No. 2545 he said to his Companions: 'Whoever of you who has not brought a sacrifice and wishes to make it an 'umrah may do so'. Scholars said that at first, the Prophet gave his Companions a choice to make it an 'umrah if they wished to do so. This was to make it easier for them and to show them the possibility of starting with the 'umrah because they used to consider it a very grave sin to do the 'umrah in the hajj months. Later, he made it a binding order that they had to do so. He disliked their reluctance to accept it. They then did it, all of them, except those who had brought their sacrifice with them, but God knows best.

In the same hadith, No. 2545 'Ā'ishah mentions to the Prophet the cause of her crying saying: 'I heard what you said to your Companions, and I heard about the 'umrah'. This is how it occurs in most manuscripts, 'I heard about the 'umrah'. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'This is how the majority of the narrators from Muslim state the hadith, but some give it as: "and I was prevented from offering the 'umrah", which is the correct way'.<sup>xix</sup> The Prophet asks 'Ā'ishah the reason: 'Why is that?' Her reply is: 'I cannot pray'. This suggests the preferability of giving an implicit reply when there is something that a shy person may feel reluctant to express, unless there is clear need to give an explicit reply to remove any misunderstanding.

In the same hadith, the Prophet instructs 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Abu Bakr: 'Take your sister out of the Ḥaram [area] so that she starts the 'umrah'. On the basis of this statement, scholars say that whoever is in Makkah and wants to perform the 'umrah, his starting point, i.e., the mīqāt, is the nearest point of the Ḥil area. He may not start it from within the Ḥaram area. If such a person disregards this, starts consecration within the Ḥaram and then goes to the Ḥil area before performing the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, this is fine and no compensatory sacrifice becomes necessary. If such a person does not go to the Ḥil area, but goes ahead with the ‘umrah, performing the ṭawāf, sa‘ī and the hair cutting, two views are given by scholars: the first is that the ‘umrah remains invalid unless that person goes out of the Ḥaram, into the Ḥil, then performs the ṭawāf, sa‘ī and hair cutting. The other and more correct view is that the ‘umrah is valid, but a compensatory sacrifice is due because of ignoring the mīqāt. Scholars add that going out of the Ḥaram is necessary so that the worshipper combines both areas in this act of worship. The same is necessary in hajj, as the pilgrim attends at Arafat, which is in the Hil area, then goes into Makkah to do the ṭawāf al-ifādah and other duties. Such are the details of al-Shāfi‘ī’s view. The same is endorsed by the majority of scholars, stating that one should go out to the nearest point in the Ḥil area and enter into consecration there. This is the reason why a compensatory sacrifice becomes due if a person enters into consecration within the Ḥaram and performs the ‘umrah. However, ‘Aṭā’ says that in the latter case, no compensation is due. Mālik, on the other hand, says that the ‘umrah remains invalid unless one goes outside of the Ḥaram.

Qadi ‘Iyād claims that Mālik said that such a person must enter into consecration at al-Tan‘im in particular, and that it is the mīqāt of those who are in Makkah and want to do the ‘umrah. This is odd and should be rejected. The great majority of scholars agree that all points in the Ḥil area are equally valid, and there is no special status for al-Tan‘im in particular.

In hadith No. 2548 the Prophet says to ‘Ā’ishah: ‘It will be according to your effort (or he said: your spending)’. It is clear that reward for any act of worship is increased when it requires more effort or more spending. It should be borne in mind, however, that what is meant here is the type of effort or spending acceptable to Islam.

In hadith No. 2550 ‘Şafiyyah said: “I shall be detaining you”. He said: “Barren and shaved! Did you not do the ṭawāf on the Day of Sacrifice?” She said: “I did”. He said: “No harm. You may leave”.’ This means that another Mother of the Believers started her period before performing the ṭawāf of farewell. When the Prophet wanted to proceed to Madinah, she told him that she thought she would be detaining them until she had finished her period when she could do that ṭawāf. She thought that the ṭawāf of farewell could not be waived for a woman in menstruation. However, the Prophet asked her if she did the ṭawāf al-ifādah, which is a condition for the validity of the hajj, and every pilgrim must perform it. She confirmed that she did it. The Prophet told her that there was no harm and that she might leave because the ṭawāf of farewell is waived for a menstruating woman.<sup>xx</sup>

When Şafiyyah told the Prophet that she might detain them, he said: ‘Barren and shaved!’ This is a phrase in the form of a supplication, but it lost its linguistic meaning and is never used in its literal sense. It is merely an expression of displeasure.

This hadith gives evidence confirming that the farewell ṭawāf is not obligatory for a woman pilgrim who is menstruating. She need not wait until she finishes her period, and no compensatory sacrifice is due of her. This is the view of our school and all scholars, except for what Qadi ‘Iyāḍ reports of some early scholars, but this is peculiar and unacceptable.

In hadith No. 2552 ‘Ā’ishah says that the Prophet ‘entered my place, and he was angry. I said: “Who has angered you, Messenger of God? May God put him in the Fire”. He said: “Have you not realised that I ordered people to do something, and they are reluctant [to do it]?”’ The cause of the Prophet’s anger was that his Companions were reluctant to accept the Islamic ruling. Their reluctance was tantamount to violating the sanctity of Islamic law. God says in the Qur'an: 'But no, by your Lord! They do not really believe unless they make you judge in all disputes between them, and then find in their hearts no bar to an acceptance of your decisions and give themselves up in total submission. (4: 65) His anger was mixed with sorrow because their reluctance to do what he bid them meant deficiency of faith. The hadith shows that anger is desirable when sanctity of faith is violated, and that it is permissible to say a supplication against a person who deliberately violates Islamic law, but God knows best.

The Prophet explains the reason for his anger: 'Have you not realised that I ordered people to do something, and they are reluctant [to do it]? (Al-Ḥakam said: seemingly reluctant, I think)'. This means that al-Ḥakam was in doubt as to the exact word the Prophet used, although he was sure of its meaning. Hence, he said: 'seemingly reluctant' and added 'I think', which means that he thought the Prophet actually said the Arabic word yataraddadūn, which means 'they are reluctant'. This is confirmed by Muslim as he enters the next hadith which states: 'He did not mention al-Ḥakam's doubt concerning their reluctance'.

In the same hadith, No. 2552 the Prophet says: 'Were I to start afresh, I would not bring my sacrifice with me'. This confirms the permissibility of regretting missing out on what is better in matters related to faith, religion and worship. A different authentic hadith quotes the Prophet as saying that such an expression of regret opens the door for Satan to do his evil work. This hadith is understood to apply to this world's life matters. There are several hadiths that use the expression 'were I to...' in matters that do not belong to this life. Thus, the hadiths are reconciled, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2555 the Prophet tells 'Ā'ishah: 'Your ṭawāf at al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah is sufficient for your hajj and ‘umrah’. This is evidence that she offered her hajj in the qirān method. This means that she did not invalidate her initial ‘umrah, but simply stopped doing its duties separately. We already explained this earlier in this chapter.

In hadith No. 2556 ‘Āishah says: ‘I lifted my head covering off my neck, and he struck my leg as though striking the camel. I said to him: “Do you see anyone around?” I started my consecration for ‘umrah’. She said that she removed her head covering a little as her brother was taking her to al-Tan‘īm at night. Her brother struck her leg with the edge of the end of the sheath of his sword. This is Qadi ‘Iyād’s explanation. However, it may mean that her brother pretended to be aiming to hit the camel when he hit her on her leg. Thus, the meaning would be that he hit her with a whip or a stick or something else when she partly removed her head covering. She said to him: ‘Do you see anyone around?’ There was no one around for her to put on her head covering. This explanation is necessary because it is consistent with the wording, meaning and context. Hence, it must be taken, but God knows best.

In this hadith, she says that after her ‘umrah, she met God’s Messenger when he was at al-Ḥaṣbah, which refers to al-Muḥaṣṣab. However, in hadith No. 2550 she says: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) met me when he was going up to Makkah and I was going down to it; or when I was going up and he was going down to it’. Earlier in the hadith, No. 2545 she says: ‘We joined God’s Messenger at his place in the middle of the night. He asked [me]: “Have you finished?” I said: “Yes”. He then made the announcement to his Companions to depart. He left, passing by the Ka‘bah where he did the ṭawāf’.

These hadiths are reconciled as follows: the Prophet sent ‘Āishah with her brother to al-Tan‘īm after he stopped at al-Muḥaṣṣab and told her to meet him there after she had finished her ‘umrah. After she left, he went to the Ka'bah where he did his farewell ṭawāf and returned after he completed it. All this was during the night that followed the Tashrīq days [i.e., 11, 12 and 13 Dhul-Hijjah]. He met her as he was leaving Makkah after doing the farewell ṭawāf, while she was going to do her ṭawāf for the 'umrah. When she completed her 'umrah, she joined him at al-Muḥaṣṣab. However, she says in the last of these statements, i.e., hadith No. 2545: 'He then made the announcement to his Companions to depart. He left, passing by the Ka'bah where he did the ṭawāf. This must be understood as relating things in the wrong order, putting last what was actually earlier. The Prophet's ṭawāf was in fact after she left for her 'umrah and before she came back. He finished his ṭawāf before she started hers for her 'umrah.

In hadith No. 2558 Jābir mentions: 'Then we re-entered into consecration on the Day of al-Tarwiyah', which is 8 Dhul-Hijjah. This confirms al-Shāfi'ī's and other scholars' view that whoever is in Makkah and wishes to do the hajj, should start consecration on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, not earlier. We explained this point and the different views on it in the early part of the Book of Hajj.

In the same hadith, the Prophet tells 'Ā'ishah when she informed him that she did not do her 'umrah because of menstruating: 'This is something that God has created all Adam's daughters with. Take a bath and declare your iḥrām for the hajj'. This bath is for entering into consecration. It shows that it is desirable for anyone who wishes to start consecration for the hajj or the 'umrah to take a bath, even a menstruating woman.

The same hadith adds: 'When she finished her period, she performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. He then said [to her]: "You have released yourself from both your hajj and your 'umrah together".' It is clear that her 'umrah was not invalidated, as we have earlier explained the meaning of the Prophet's words when he said to her: 'Stop your 'umrah'. Three points are clear from this statement: the first is that 'Ā'ishah did her hajj in the qirān method, and that stopping her 'umrah was as we earlier explained. Secondly, that one ṭawāf and one sa'ī are sufficient for anyone doing the qirān method, for both the hajj and the 'umrah. This is the view of the majority of scholars and al-Shāfi'ī, but Abu Ḥanīfah and a group of scholars say that such a person needs to do two ṭawāfs and two sa'īs. Thirdly, the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah must be done after a proper ṭawāf. This is clear from the fact that the Prophet ordered 'Ā'ishah to do all that a pilgrim does, except the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah. She did neither the ṭawāf nor the sa'ī. It is well-known that the sa'ī must be preceded by a ṭawāf, and since the Prophet told her that she could not do the ṭawāf while menstruating, she could not do the sa'ī either. Had it been possible for her to do it, she would not have delayed it.

We can verify that 'Ā'ishah started her period on Saturday, the third of Dhul-Hijjah and finished it the following Saturday, 10 Dhul-Hijjah, which is the Day of Sacrifice, and all this was in the tenth year of the Prophet's migration. This is mentioned by Abu Muhammad 'Alī ibn Ḥazm in his book on the Prophet's Farewell Pilgrimage.

In hadith No. 2560 Jābir, the Prophet's companion who narrates the hadith says: 'God's Messenger was an easy man. When she wished for something, he would gratify her'. This means that if she wished for something that is approved by Islam, as was her request to do the 'umrah, he would gratify her. His description of the Prophet as 'an easy man' means that he was of an easy nature, with fine qualities, gentle, making things easy for others. Indeed, God says of him: 'Most certainly, yours is a sublime character'. (68: 4) The hadith also shows the importance of good treatment of one's wife, as God says: 'Consort with them in a goodly manner'. (4: 19) This particularly applies to matters of religion and worship.

In hadith No. 2561 Jābir says: 'We set out with God's Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring for the hajj, and we had our women and children with us'. This makes it clear that a child's hajj is valid and that it is proper to take a child on pilgrimage. The view of Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī, Ahmad and all scholars from the Prophet's Companions, the tābi'in and the following generations is that a child's hajj is valid and earns the child a reward. All the normal rulings of the hajj apply to the child's hajj, but it does not count as the obligatory hajj that Islam requires of all adult Muslims. When the child grows up and meets the condition of ability to do the hajj, this obligatory hajj becomes applicable. Abu Ḥanīfah takes a view that is contrary to that of the majority, saying that neither the consecration nor the hajj of a child is valid. No reward is given for it, and none of the rules of the hajj apply to the child. Yet, a child may be taken on hajj so as to learn what is permissible and what is not during the hajj. Abu Ḥanīfah also says: 'The same applies to prayer. A child's prayer is invalid, but the child is ordered to pray in order to learn how to pray. The same applies to all acts of worship'. However, the view of the majority of scholars is the correct one, as clearly expressed in a hadith narrated by Ibn 'Abbās stating that 'a woman held up a child and said: "Messenger of God, may this one do the hajj?" He said: "Yes".' But God knows best.

In the same hadith, Jābir says: 'The first ṭawāf between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah was sufficient for us'. This means that the first sa'ī was sufficient for those of us who did their hajj in the qirān method. The ones who did the tamattu' method need to do the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah again during the hajj, when they return from Arafat and after performing the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah.

Jābir then adds: ‘God’s Messenger ordered us to join together in sacrificing camels and cows, one for every seven of us’. Scholars say that one camel or one cow may be shared by seven pilgrims for their sacrifice. This hadith makes it clear that each of these is sufficient in place of seven sheep. The hadith makes it clear that it is appropriate to be partners in the same sacrifice, whether it is a duty or a sunnah. This is the view of al-Shāfi‘ī and scholars who agree with him. Any seven may share together, whether they are dispersed or present together, and whether they are doing obligatory or voluntary sacrifices. Even if some are doing a religious sacrifice and some only want a share of the meat. This is reported from Ibn ‘Umar and Anas, and it is Ahmad’s view. Mālik said that it applies if all of them are making a voluntary sacrifice, but not if it is an obligatory sacrifice. Abu Ḥanīfah said that they may share in the sacrifice of a camel or a cow if they are performing a religious sacrifice, whether of the same purpose or different purposes. If some are making a religious sacrifice and some want the meat, then the sharing is not permissible.

In hadith No. 2562 Jābir says: ‘When we released ourselves from consecration, the Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered us to restart consecration when we set out for Mina. Therefore, we started our iḥrām at al-Abṭaḥ’. Al-Abṭaḥ is the desert area close to Makkah, and it is adjacent to al-Muḥaṣṣab. ‘When we set out for Mina’, means on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, as clearly stated in the previous hadith. This confirms what we mentioned earlier about waiting until this day before entering into consecration for the hajj. Mālik and others said that entry into consecration starts on the first day of Dhul-Ḥijjah, but we discussed this point earlier and mentioned its evidence. Jābir’s statement, ‘we started our iḥrām at al-Abṭaḥ’, may be taken as evidence that residents in Makkah may start the iḥrām for the hajj at any place in the Ḥaram area. Two views are expressed on this point by our Shāfi'ī scholars, and the more correct of the two is that the start of iḥrām must be from within Makkah, and the most preferable point is at one's own doorstep, although some say that it is from the Grand Mosque at the Ka'bah. The other view is that it is valid from anywhere in Makkah and the Ḥaram area. This question is discussed in detail in the second chapter of this book, which speaks about the mīqāts. Scholars who adopt the second view cite this hadith narrated by Jābir, as they started at al-Abṭaḥ, which is outside Makkah but within the Ḥaram area. Those who adopt the first view, which is more correct, argue that they started at al-Abṭaḥ because they were staying there. Everyone who is within the points of mīqāt start at their own homes, as explained in the chapter devoted to the mīqāts.

In hadith No. 2563 Jābir says: 'The Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Companions did not do the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah except once, which was his first sa'ī'. This refers to the Prophet and whoever of his Companions opted for the qirān method; they performed the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah once only. The others who did the tamattu' performed the sa'ī twice, once for the 'umrah and the other on the Day of Sacrifice, for the hajj. This hadith gives clear evidence in support of al-Shāfi'ī's view that the qirān method requires only one ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, which is the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah, and one sa'ī. Scholars who share this view include Ibn 'Umar, Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh, 'Āishah, Ṭāwūs, 'Aṭā', al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Mujāhid, Mālik, Ibn al-Majishūn, Ahmad, Ishāq, Dāwūd and Ibn al-Mundhir. A group of scholars say that even in the qirān method, two ṭawāfs and two sa'īs are required. This view is shared by al-Sha'bī, al-Nakha'ī, Jābir ibn Zayd, 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Aswad, al-Thawrī, al-Ḥasan ibn Ṣāliḥ and Abu Ḥanīfah. It is also reported from 'Alī and Ibn Mas'ūd, but Ibn al-Mundhir said that it cannot be confirmed to have been stated by 'Alī.

In hadith No. 2564 the Prophet 'ordered us to release ourselves from consecration'. 'Aṭā' said that he said: 'Release yourselves and be intimate with your wives'. 'Aṭā' said: 'He did not urge them but said that it was lawful for them'. This means that he did not urge them to have intercourse with their wives, but simply said that it was permissible for them. As for releasing themselves from consecration, he urged the ones who did not bring their sacrifice with them to do it. These same people, however, were concerned about arriving at Arafat 'with our organs dripping with semen!' This means that they considered it strange that they could have intercourse at a time that was so close to the main hajj duty, which is attendance at Arafat.

The hadith continues: "Alī came from his mission. The Prophet asked him: "How did you start your consecration?" He said: "The same as the Prophet". God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said to him: "Then keep your sacrifice and stay in consecration". 'Alī gifted him some sacrificial animals'. The Arabic word used for 'mission' is si'āyah. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

This means his mission of collecting zakat. However, some of our scholars said that in other hadiths, it is clear that 'Alī was sent as a governor, not a zakat collector. It is not permissible for members of the Hāshimite clan to be employed as zakat collectors. The Prophet said to al-Faḍl ibn 'Abbās and 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib ibn Rabī'ah when they requested the Prophet to give them some assignment to collect zakat: 'Zakat is not permissible for Muhammad and his household', and he refused to appoint them. Therefore, it may be that 'Alī accepted the assignment to collect zakat as something he would do without pay, or that he was paid from some other source. This is closer to the meaning of his si'āyah, which applies to appointments dealing with zakat.

What Qadi 'Iyād said is fine except the last point of this word applying only to missions concerned with zakat. Indeed, it may be used to refer to any type of appointment, although it is mostly used in connection with zakat. This is confirmed by hadith No. 244 in the Book of Faith, which mentions the removal of trust. In this hadith, Hudhayfah ibn al-Yamān, a companion of the Prophet, says: 'There was a time when I did not care with whom I made a transaction. If he was a Muslim, his faith would ensure that I get my right, and if he was a Christian or a Jew, his warden would ensure that I get it'. The Arabic word used for 'warden' is sā'ih, which is derived from the same root as si'āyah, but means warden, while si'āyah is primarily used for 'zakat collection', but God knows best.

The hadith says: "Alī came from his mission. The Prophet asked him: "How did you start your consecration?" He said: "The same as the Prophet". God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said to him: "Then keep your sacrifice and stay in consecration". 'Alī gifted him some sacrificial animals'. Yet in hadith No. 2578 narrated by Abu Mūsā al-Ash'arī, he says: 'I joined God's Messenger (peace be upon him) when he was staying at al-Baṭḥā'. He said to me: "Are you doing the hajj?" I said: "Yes". He asked: "How did you start your iḥrām?" I told him that I said: "I respond to You [my Lord] and start in the same way as the Prophet has started". He said: "You did well. Perform the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, then release yourself from consecration". And in the following hadith, No. 2579 also narrated by Abu Mūsā: 'the Prophet asks him: "How did you start your iḥrām?" He said: "I started the same way as the Prophet". He asked: "Have you brought your sacrifice with you?" I said: "No". He said:

“Perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, then release yourself from consecration”.’

These two hadiths, narrated by ‘Alī and Abu Mūsā, make clear that starting with a conditional iḥrām is valid. This means that someone says that he starts his iḥrām in the same way as so-and-so has started. He thus enters into a state of consecration and follows the person he named in the method he chose. Yet the endings of the two hadiths differ; the Prophet orders ‘Alī to remain in consecration and orders Abu Mūsā to release himself from consecration. This difference is due to the fact that although they started consecration like the Prophet, their situation was different. ‘Alī brought his sacrifice with him, just as the Prophet did. Hence, the Prophet ordered him to stay in iḥrām, as the Prophet himself remained in iḥrām. Thus, both were doing the qirān method. Abu Mūsā did not bring any sacrifice with him. Therefore, he was in the same situation as the Prophet would have been in if he had not brought his sacrifice. The Prophet said that had it not been for the fact that he had brought his sacrifice with him, he would have made it an ‘umrah and released himself from consecration. Therefore, he ordered Abu Mūsā to do just this and his orders to his two Companions were different. This is the right explanation. Al-Khaṭṭābī and Qadi ‘Iyād give two different explanations of these two hadiths, but their explanations are unsatisfactory, and God knows best.

Hadith No. 2564 mentions that “‘Alī gifted the Prophet some sacrificial animals’. This means that ‘Alī bought these animals and gave them as a gift to the Prophet. They were not given to him as zakat, which he collected.

As mentioned earlier, these two hadiths confirm that a conditional start of consecration is valid, as al-Shāfi‘ī and many scholars say. This means that a man intends his iḥrām to be the same as the iḥrām of so-and-so. Thus, if so-and-so started with the hajj or the ‘umrah, or both together, the same applies to this man. If so-and-so started with an unspecified iḥrām, the man's iḥrām is also unspecified. He may then decide what to make it, without necessarily doing the same as so-and-so. This question is discussed with numerous details in books of Fiqh, and I summarised these in my work, Sharḥ al-Muhadhdhab.

In the same hadith, Surāqah ibn Ju'shum asks the Prophet: 'Is this for this year of ours or forever?' The Prophet confirms that it is forever. And in hadith No. 2571: 'Surāqah ibn Mālik ibn Ju'shum stood up and said: "Messenger of God, is it for this year of ours or forever?" The Prophet crossed his fingers, one in the other and said: "The 'umrah has joined the hajj (twice). No, it is forever and ever".' Scholars differed in their understanding of the meaning of the Prophet's words, giving different explanations, but the most correct of these is the one endorsed by the majority which means that the 'umrah may be done in the hajj months for the rest of time. This contradicts what people claimed in pre-Islamic days, that the 'umrah may not be performed during the hajj months. The second explanation is the permissibility of the qirān. Thus, the Prophet's words would mean that the duties of the 'umrah are incorporated into the duties of the hajj for the rest of time. A third explanation suggested by some means that the 'umrah is no longer a duty, and that its being part of the hajj means it is discarded as such a duty. This explanation has no solid foundation, or indeed is wrong. In fact, the general meaning of the hadith suggests its being wrong. A fourth explanation is suggested by some Zāhirī scholars who claim that an intention to do the hajj may be changed and replaced by doing the 'umrah. Again, this has no strong foundation.

In hadith No. 2566 'Aṭā' narrates: 'Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh al-Anṣārī narrated to me that he offered the hajj with God's Messenger (peace be upon him) in the year when he brought his sacrifice with him. They had started their consecration declaring for the hajj on its own. God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said to them: "Release yourselves from consecration when you have done the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and between al-Şafa and al-Marwah and cut your hair. Stay in Makkah in the normal state, then on the Day of al-Tarwiyah enter into consecration, declaring for the hajj. Make the one in which you arrived a mit'ah 'umrah".'

There is a change of order in the way this hadith is narrated. It should be understood as follows: the Prophet's Companions started their consecration intending to do the hajj on its own. The Prophet told them to change their consecration to a 'umrah and when they have completed its duties, they release themselves from consecration. This is the meaning of switching from the hajj to the 'umrah. Scholars differ as to whether this switch was only allowed to the Prophet's Companions for that year only or it remains open to them and everyone else until the Day of Judgement. Ahmad and a number of scholars belonging to the Zāhirī School said that it is not theirs only but remains valid for the rest of time. This means that anyone who declares his intention to do the hajj at the start of consecration, and does not take his sacrifice with him, may switch his consecration, making it an 'umrah and release himself when he has completed it. On the other hand, Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī, Abu Ḥanīfah and the majority of scholars of earlier and later generations said that the switch was applicable to the Prophet's Companions only, for that year, and it is not open to anyone after that year. They were ordered to do so in order to contradict the practice of pre-Islamic days that disallowed the 'umrah in the hajj months.

The majority view is confirmed by Hadith No. 2584 narrated by Abu Dharr: 'The change of hajj to the tamattu' was especially allowed for Muhammad's Companions'. This means the discontinuity of the consecration for hajj and doing the 'umrah instead. A hadith is related in al-Nasā'ī's Sunan, narrated by al-Ḥārith ibn Bilāl from his father who says: 'I said: "Messenger of God, is the switch of the hajj for us only or for people generally?" He said: "For us only".' Surāqah's question which he put to the Prophet was different. He asked: 'Is it for this year of ours or forever?' The Prophet answered: 'Forever and ever'. This applies to performing the 'umrah in the hajj months, as we have already explained.

The sum of all these hadiths is that performing the 'umrah in the hajj months is valid for the rest of time, and so is the qirān method. Switching one's iḥrām from the hajj to the 'umrah was a special concession for that year alone, but God knows best.

- xx. This is an aspect of Islamic practicality. In former times, when pilgrims travelled in caravans, waiting for a woman to finish her period would have delayed a large number of people for several days. Today, travel arrangements are made well in advance, and flights are booked several days, or even weeks, before the journey. A delay may cause much inconvenience. Hence, Islam waives the duty of the farewell ṭawāf in this condition. In other words, such a woman's hajj is complete without it.

THE HAJJ AND THE 'UMRAH TOGETHER

[2568-145]. (Dar al-Salam 2801) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā and Ibn Bashshār narrated: Ibn al-Muthannā said: Muhammad ibn Ja'far narrated; Shu'bah narrated; he said: I heard Qatādah narrating from Abu Naḍrah. He said: 'Ibn 'Abbās used to advise people to choose the tamattu' method, but Ibn al-Zubayr used to speak against it. I mentioned this to Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh and he said: "I have witnessed the matter. We performed the tamattu' when we were with God's Messenger (peace be upon him)". When 'Umar was in full authority, he said: "God permitted His Messenger whatever He willed in whatever way He wished. And the Qur'an is complete. Therefore, perform both the hajj and the 'umrah to their completion, as God has commanded you. End the [temporary] marital relations with these women. Should I be brought a man who has married a woman for an agreed period, I shall put him to punishment by stoning".'

Text Explanation

In the first hadith in this chapter, ‘Umar urges people to ensure that both their hajj and ‘umrah are complete. In the second hadith, No. 2569 he says to them: ‘Separate your hajj from your ‘umrah. [To separate them] makes your hajj more complete and your ‘umrah more perfect’. In hadith No. 2578 which comes later, Abu Mūsā al-Ash‘arī used to tell people that the tamattu’ method is fine, citing the fact that the Prophet ordered him to do it. In the same hadith, ‘Umar says that the Qur’an mentions God’s commandment to perform both the hajj and the ‘umrah to their completion. It is also mentioned that ‘Uthmān used to order people not to do the tamattu’ or the ‘umrah,<sup>iii</sup> and that ‘Alī took the contrary view and performed them both together. In hadith No. 2584 Abu Dharr says: ‘The tamattu’ in hajj was special for Muhammad’s Companions alone’. And in hadith No. 2585 it is described as a ‘concession’. And in hadith No. 2590 ‘Imrān ibn Ḥuṣayn mentions that ‘the Prophet ordered some members of his household to perform the ‘umrah in the first ten days [of the Dhul-Hijjah] and no verse was later revealed to abrogate that’. Then in hadith No. 2594 ‘Imrān ibn Ḥuṣayn says: ‘The Prophet combined the hajj and the ‘umrah, and no Qur’an was revealed about it, and he never forbade that’.

Al-Māzarī said: ‘Different opinions have been expressed about the mit‘ah ‘Umar disapproved of. Some said that he meant changing one’s iḥrām from the hajj to the ‘umrah, while others said that he meant performing the ‘umrah in the hajj months and then performing the hajj in the same year. This means that ‘Umar disapproved of it because he wanted to encourage people to do their hajj in the ifrād method, which is preferable. He did not mean that such ‘umrah was invalid or forbidden’. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said:

The apparent meaning of the hadiths narrated by Jābir, ‘Imrān and Abu Mūsā indicates that the mit‘ah they differed about was the change of the iḥrām from the hajj to the ‘umrah. It was for this action that ‘Umar beat people. He did not beat them for merely doing the ‘umrah in the hajj months. He beat them for doing what he and the rest of the Prophet’s Companions believed, namely, that changing the iḥrām from the hajj to the ‘umrah was special for that particular year and for the purpose we have mentioned. Ibn ‘Abd al-Barr said: ‘There is no disagreement among scholars that the advantage of performing the ‘umrah in the hajj months, before performing the hajj, is the one referred to in the Qur’anic verse that says: ‘he who takes advantage of performing the ‘umrah before the hajj shall make whatever offering he can easily afford’ (2: 196) The qirān method is another form of taking advantage because whoever does this method has the comfort of having no need to make a special trip from his home town to Makkah to perform the other duty. Yet another form of taking advantage is to switch one's iḥrām from the hajj to the 'umrah.

The proper understanding is that 'Umar, 'Uthmān and others only disapproved of performing 'umrah in the hajj months and then offering the hajj in the same year. They meant their disapproval to be one of encouraging what is more preferable, which is the ifrād. Later, however, unanimity was achieved making it clear that all three methods of ifrād, tamattu' and qirān are valid, and none is discouraged. Scholars only differ as to which of the three is more preferable. We have already discussed this point in detail, but God knows best.

As for the other type of mit'ah, which means marriage for a stipulated period, it was permissible in the early days of Islam, but was subsequently prohibited at the time of the Battle of Khaybar. It was also permitted on the day Makkah fell to Islam, and this permissibility was abrogated a few days later. Its prohibition remains valid, and it will remain so to the end of time. There was some disagreement about it in the early days, but all such disagreement has been removed, and all scholars are unanimous that such marriage is absolutely forbidden. We shall, God willing, discuss this in detail at the appropriate place in the Book of Marriage.

  - ii. Related by al-Bukhari, 1570.
  - iii. This is how it occurs in the original text, but it seems to be a mistake and that the correct word should be the qirān, as 'Uthmān advised people to do their hajj in the ifrād method.

CHAPTER 19

THE PROPHET'S HAJJ

[2571-147]. (Dar al-Salam 2803) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm narrated:<sup>i</sup> both from Ḥātim; Abu Bakr said: Ḥātim ibn Ismā'īl al-Madanī narrated; from Ja'far ibn Muhammad; from his father. He said: 'We visited Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh, and he asked about his visitors until he reached me. I said: "I am Muhammad ibn 'Alī ibn Ḥusayn".<sup>ii</sup> He stretched his hand and put it on my head, then untied my upper button, then my lower button,<sup>iii</sup> then placed his palm [on my chest] in between my breasts. I was then a youth. He said: "Welcome to you, my nephew! Ask whatever you wish". I asked him. He was blind. It was time for prayer. He stood up and he was wearing a sewn sheet, and whenever he placed it on his shoulders, its edges spread apart, because it was small. His upper garment was on the hanger, close to him. He led us in prayer.

I said [to him]: "Tell me about God's Messenger's hajj". He pointed with his hand indicating nine and said: "God's Messenger (peace be upon him) stayed nine years without offering the hajj. In the tenth year, he announced to people that God's Messenger would be performing the hajj. Large numbers of people arrived in Madinah, all of them eager to join God's Messenger (peace be upon him) and follow his practice. We set out with him. When we were at Dhul-Hulayfah, Asmā' bint 'Umays gave birth to Muhammad ibn Abu Bakr. She sent a message to God's Messenger, asking: 'What shall I do?' He said: 'Take a bath, then tie up a cloth on you and enter into consecration'. God's Messenger (peace be upon him) prayed in the mosque then rode al-Qaṣwā' [his she-camel]. When his mount was moving ahead in the desert, I looked up and, as far as I could see,<sup>i</sup> people were in front of him, riding or walking, and the same was to his right, left and back. God's Messenger was living with us, receiving the Qur'an as it was revealed to him, and he knew its meanings. We emulated him in whatever he did.

The Prophet declared God's oneness, saying: 'Labbayk allāhumma labbayk; labbayk lā sharīka laka labbayk; inna-lḥamda wal-ni'mata laka wal-mulk; lā sharīka lak [This means I respond to You, my Lord. I respond to You, and You have no partner. I respond. All praise is due to You, and all favours are bestowed by You. All dominion belongs to You. You have no partner]. People declared similar and different phrases as they pleased. The Prophet did not object to anything they said, but he continued to repeat his own declaration”.

Jābir said: “We had no intention other than doing the hajj; we did not know the ‘umrah. When we reached the House [i.e., the Ka‘bah] with him, he touched the Black Stone, then [performed the ṭawāf] jogging for three rounds and walking the other four. He then moved to Maqām Ibrāhīm and recited: ‘Make the place where Abraham stood as a place of prayer’ (2: 125), keeping the Maqām between himself and the Ka‘bah, (my father used to say: I am sure that he only mentioned this as done by the Prophet), he recited in the two rak‘ahs [after the ṭawāf]: ‘Say: He is God, the One and only God’ [Surah 112] and ‘Say: Unbelievers’ [Surah 109]. He then returned to the Black Stone and touched it, then exited through the gate towards al-Şafa.

When he was close to al-Şafa, he recited the verse saying: ‘Al-Şafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God’. (2: 158) [He said]: ‘I start at the one God mentioned first’, and he started at al-Şafa, climbing up. When he saw the Ka‘bah, he faced the qiblah, declaring God’s oneness and glorifying Him. He said: ‘There is no deity other than God, alone, Who has no partners. To Him belong all dominion and to Him is due all praise. He is able to do everything. There is no deity other than God, alone. He fulfilled His promise, gave victory to

His servant, and alone defeated the Confederates'. He also supplicated along with that. He said the same three times. He then went down, going to al-Marwah. When he was at the bottom of the valley, he jogged, and when he started to climb, he walked until he reached al-Marwah. He did on al-Marwah the same as he did on al-Şafa.

When he finished his sa'ī on al-Marwah, he said: 'Were I to start again, I would not bring my sacrifice with me, and I would have made it an 'umrah. Those of you who have not brought their sacrifice with them should release themselves from consecration and make this an 'umrah'. Surāqah ibn Mālik ibn Ju'shum stood up and said: 'Messenger of God, is this for this year of ours or forever?' The Prophet crossed his fingers, putting one next to the other, and said: 'The 'umrah is incorporated with the hajj (twice). No, it is forever and ever'.

'Alī came from Yemen with the Prophet's camels, and he found that Fāṭimah had released herself from consecration. She wore a coloured dress and applied kohl. He censured her for that. She said: 'My father ordered me to do it'. 'Alī used to say later in Iraq: 'I went to God's Messenger (peace be upon him) complaining about Fāṭimah and what she did, seeking his ruling on what she did. I told him that I censured her. He said: "She told the truth. She told the truth. What did you say when you declared your intention for the hajj?” ‘Alī mentioned that he said: ‘My Lord, I declare the same as Your Messenger has declared’. The Prophet said: ‘I have my sacrifice with me. Do not release yourself from consecration’. The total of the sacrifice that ‘Alī brought from Yemen and the ones the Prophet brought with him was one hundred.

All people cut their hair and released themselves from consecration, except the Prophet and the ones who brought their sacrifice with them. On the Day of al-Tarwiyah they took the way to Mina, declaring for the hajj. God’s Messenger rode [to Mina] praying zuhr, ‘Aṣr, Maghrib, ‘Ishā and Fajr there. He stayed on for a while until the sun had risen. He gave instructions that a small tent made of hair should be set up for him at Namirah.

God’s Messenger moved on. The people of Quraysh were certain that he would stop at al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām [i.e., at Muzdalifah], as they used to do in pre-Islamic days. However, the Prophet moved on until he reached Arafat. He found that a small tent had been set for him at Namirah, and he stopped there. When the sun began to decline, he gave instructions and al-Qaṣwā’ [his she-camel] was saddled for him. He moved to the centre of the valley and addressed the people there. He said:

Your blood and your property are forbidden to you to violate in the same way as the sanctity of this day of yours, in this month of yours, in this city of yours. All claims pertaining to the Days of Ignorance [i.e., pre-Islamic] are under my two feet and invalid. Vengeance killings of pre-Islamic days are written off. The first killing I write off is that of Ibn Rabī'ah ibn al-Ḥārith: he was being nursed in the clan of Banī Sa'd, but the Hudhayl tribe killed him. The usury of pre-Islamic days is hereby written off, and the first usury I thus write off is the one belonging to us [i.e., his clan], the usury of 'Abbās ibn 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib. It is all written off.

Fear God in your treatment of women. You take them in trust granted by God, and they become lawful to you by God's word. They have a duty towards you that they do not admit into your homes anyone you dislike. If they do this, you may discipline them without severity. Your duty towards them is to feed and clothe them according to what is reasonable.

I am leaving with you what you shall never go astray if you hold on to it: God's Book. You shall be asked about me, so what will you say? They said: 'We testify that you have delivered your message and given sound counsel'. He pointed with his forefinger to the sky and to the people, and said: 'My Lord, bear witness. My Lord, bear witness' three times.

The adhān was then called. The iqāmah was announced and the Prophet prayed zuhr, then another iqāmah was announced and he prayed 'Aṣr. He did not offer any voluntary prayer between them. God's Messenger then mounted and went on until he reached the place. He sat his she-camel, al-Qaṣwā', with her belly towards the rocks, and the place where people gathered in front of him, and he faced the qiblah. He remained there until sunset, when the yellowness of the sun faded and the sun had completely disappeared.

He took Usāmah ibn Zayd behind him [on his camel] and moved on, pulling back al-Qaṣwā''s rein, so that her head almost hit its saddle. He pointed with his right hand and said: 'People, be calm! Be calm!' Whenever he reached a hump, he would let off the rein a little so that she could go up. He continued until he reached Muzdalifah where he prayed Maghrib and 'Isha, calling one adhān and two iqāmahs. He did not pray any sunnah in between these two obligatory prayers. God's Messenger then slept until the break of dawn. He prayed Fajr when he ascertained it was time for the prayer, calling the adhān and the iqāmah. He then mounted al-Qaṣwā', up to al-Mash'ar al-Ḥarām. He faced the qiblah, supplicated, glorified God and declared His oneness. He remained there until it was very clear light but moved on before sunrise.

He took behind him al-Faḍl ibn 'Abbās who was a white, smart young man with fine hair. When God's Messenger moved on, some women passed by him, moving fast. Al-Faḍl looked at them, and God's Messenger put his hand on al-

Faḍl's face, but al-Faḍl turned the other way to look at them. The Prophet also moved his hand the other side and put it on al-Faḍl's face, to stop him looking. When the Prophet reached the middle of Muḥassir, he sped a little, then he took the middle road which leads directly to the Grand Jamrah. When he reached the Jamrah near the tree, he threw at it seven small pebbles from the middle of the valley, glorifying God with each pebble. He then left, heading to the slaughter place.

The Prophet sacrificed sixty-three [animals] with his own hand and gave the rest to 'Alī who slaughtered them. The Prophet included 'Alī in what he had sacrificed. He then ordered that a piece of meat from every slaughtered animal be put in a saucepan and cooked. Both of them ate of the meat and drank of the sauce. The Prophet then rode on and went to the Ka'bah [where he performed the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah] and prayed zuhr in Makkah. He then stopped by Zamzam where men from the 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib clan were giving people water to drink. He said to them: 'Draw up the water, Banī 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib. Were it not for fear that other people would compete with and overwhelm you for your water, I would come to help you draw the water'. They handed him a bucket and he drank of it".'

بِهِ عَلَيَّ مِنَ الْيَمَنِ وَالَّذِي آتَى بِهِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِائَةً.

وَاسْتَخَلَلْتُمْ فُرُوجَهُنَّ بِكَلِمَةِ اللَّهِ. وَلَكُمْ عَلَيْهِنَّ أَنْ لَا
يُوطِئْنَ فُرُشَكُمْ أَحَدًا تَكَرُّهُنَّ. فَإِنْ فَعَلْنَ ذَلِكَ
فَاضْرِبُوهُنَّ ضَرْبًا غَيْرَ مُبْرِحٍ. وَلَهُنَّ عَلَيْكُمْ رِزْقُهُنَّ
وَكِسْوَتُهُنَّ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ.

«وَقَدْ تَرَكْتُ فِيكُمْ مَا لَنْ تَضِلُّوا بَعْدَهُ، إِنْ اعْتَصَمْتُمْ بِهِ:
كِتَابَ اللَّهِ. وَأَنْتُمْ تُسْأَلُونَ عَنِّي، فَمَا أَنْتُمْ قَائِلُونَ؟»
قَالُوا: نَشْهَدُ أَنَّكَ قَدْ بَلَغْتَ وَادَّيْتَ وَنَصَحْتَ. فَقَالَ
بِأُصْبَعِهِ السِّبَابَةِ يَرْفَعُهَا إِلَى السَّمَاءِ، وَيُنْكِئُهَا إِلَى
النَّاسِ: «اللَّهُمَّ اشْهَدْ، اللَّهُمَّ اشْهَدْ». ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ.

ثُمَّ أَدْنَى ثُمَّ أَقَامَ، فَصَلَّى الظُّهَرَ، ثُمَّ أَقَامَ فَصَلَّى الْعَصْرَ،
وَلَمْ يُصَلِّ بَيْنَهُمَا شَيْئًا. ثُمَّ رَكِبَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ
عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَتَّى أَتَى الْمَوْقِفَ، فَجَعَلَ بَطْنَ ثَوْبِهِ
الْقَصْوَاءِ إِلَى الصَّخَرَاتِ، وَجَعَلَ حَبْلَ الْمُشَاةِ بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ
وَاسْتَقْبَلَ الْقِبْلَةَ، فَلَمْ يَزَلْ وَاقِفًا حَتَّى غَرَبَتِ الشَّمْسُ وَذَهَبَتِ الصُّفْرَةُ قَلِيلًا، حَتَّى غَابَ الْقُرْصُ.

وَأَرَدَفَ أَسَامَةَ خَلْفَهُ، وَدَفَعَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ وَقَدْ شَتَّقَ لِلْقَصْوَاءِ الزَّمَامَ، حَتَّى إِنْ رَأَسَهَا
لَيُصِيبُ مَوْرِكَ رَحْلِهِ، وَيَقُولُ بِيَدِهِ الْيُمْنَى: «أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ،
السَّكِينَةُ السَّكِينَةُ». كُلَّمَا أَتَى حَبْلًا مِنَ الْحِبَالِ، أَرَحَى
لَهَا قَلِيلًا حَتَّى تَصْعَدَ، حَتَّى أَتَى الْمُرْدَلِفَةَ، فَصَلَّى بِهَا
الْمَغْرِبَ وَالْعِشَاءَ بِأَذَانٍ وَاحِدٍ وَإِقَامَتَيْنِ، وَلَمْ يُسَبِّحْ

Note: As this hadith is very long and describes the entire journey of the Prophet's hajj, we shall quote the text in bold, part by part, as the commentary moves along, explaining the Prophet's hajj and the rulings deduced from it.

This hadith includes Jābir's narration describing the Prophet's hajj. It is a fascinating hadith that includes a large number of very interesting points and explains some very important rules. It is one of the hadiths that Muslim entered in his Ṣaḥīḥ, but al-Bukhari did not. Abu Dāwūd relates it in the same language as Muslim. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'Scholars have discussed in detail what the hadith includes of points of Fiqh. Abu Bakr ibn al-Mundhir wrote a volume about it, highlighting more than 150 such points. A more comprehensive study would probably add a similar number'. We identified some of its aspects when we commented on previous hadiths, and we will now highlight other elements as we discuss the hadith narrative point by point.

The hadith begins with the visit paid by a group of people to Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh, a companion of the Prophet, who became blind in his old age. The narrator, Muhammad ibn 'Alī, who at the time of the visit was perhaps not much above adolescence, was the great grandson of Fāṭimah, the Prophet's daughter. The beginning of the hadith, which speaks about Jābir's reception of his visitors, provides us with several interesting points. It shows that it is desirable for a host to enquire about his visitors so that he places them in their rightful positions. 'Ā'ishah reports: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) commanded us to place people in their rightful positions'. Those who belong to the Prophet's family should always be honoured, as we see Jābir treating Muhammad ibn 'Alī. A host should receive his visitors well and make them feel that they are welcome.

Hence, why Jābir gave Muhammad ibn ‘Alī special treatment, unfastened the two buttons of his shirts and placed his hand on his chest. Muhammad says: ‘I was still a youth’. This confirms that Jābir’s gesture was to express a special welcome to a young visitor. Had he been an adult, this action would not have been fitting.

Another point of interest is that it is permissible for a blind man to lead the prayer when no one in the congregation is similarly blind. However, scholars hold three different views on which is better. The first view gives preference to the blind man being the imam because he is normally more attentive to his worship, as he is not distracted by what is in front of him. The second view prefers the imam to be the one with normal eyesight because he is more careful in steering away from impurities. The third view, which our scholars consider the most correct, is that the two are equal. This is what al-Shāfi‘ī states. The opening of the hadith also shows that the homeowner has the right to be the imam. It also shows that it is permissible to pray wearing one garment, even though one can have more.

Jābir invites his young visitor to ask any question, and Muhammad ibn ‘Alī wanted to learn about the Prophet’s hajj. Jābir mentions that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) had gone for nine years without offering the hajj’. The Prophet stayed for nine years in Madinah after his migration there and, ‘in the tenth year, he announced to people that God’s Messenger would be performing the hajj.’ He gave this information early enough so that people could make their arrangements to join him, see his actions, listen to what he said, and learn all the duties and practices of the hajj. His early announcement also ensured that the information would circulate, and those who were away, or lived far from Madinah, would hear of it. Thus, we learn that it is desirable for a leader to give early notice of important matters so that people may ready themselves.

The announcement brought large numbers of people to Madinah, ‘all of them eager to join God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) and follow his practice’. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘This indicates that they all started their consecration declaring for the hajj because the Prophet did so, and they would not do anything different. Hence, Jābir said that they emulated him in whatever he did. Similarly, they were reluctant to release themselves from iḥrām after their ‘umrah because he did not release himself. Hence, he stated the reason for this. Likewise, ‘Alī and Abu Mūsā, who were away, did not specify their consecration but attached it to that of the Prophet’s’.

When Asmā’ gave birth, shortly after the start of the journey, the Prophet instructed her: ‘Take a bath, then tie up a cloth on you and enter into consecration’. It is clear from the Prophet’s instructions that taking a bath for iḥrām is desirable for a woman who has recently given birth, we discussed this in Chapter 16. The Prophet also ordered her to tie a cloth around herself. This applies to a woman who has a discharge, whether it is postnatal, menstruation or other bleeding. She should place a piece of cloth [or a disposable pad, if this is available to her] to cover the place of discharge, firmly securing it. The Prophet’s instructions make clear that the iḥrām of a woman during her postnatal period is perfectly valid. This is unanimously agreed upon, but God knows best.

‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) prayed in the mosque then rode al-Qaṣwā’’. This shows that it is desirable to pray two rak‘ahs as one enters into the state of consecration, as we discussed earlier. Al-Qaṣwā’ is the name of the Prophet’s she-camel. Different reports give different names and descriptions of the Prophet’s she-camel, which led to people saying that he had a choice of several camels to ride. The fact that there are many names and descriptions actually suggests that it was just the one camel and that these were descriptions of what she was or what she looked like.

‘I looked up and, as far as I could see, people were in front of him, riding or walking.’ This shows that it is perfectly permissible to perform the hajj riding or walking. This is unanimously agreed upon, as it is clearly indicated in many hadiths and mentioned in the Qur’an. God says: ‘Proclaim to all people the duty of hajj. They will come to you on foot and on every kind of fast mount’. (22: 27) Scholars differ as to which is better. Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars say that having a means of transport is better because it emulates the Prophet’s action, makes the pilgrim less tired and better able to attend to his hajj duties and increases his cost.<sup>1</sup> Dāwūd said walking is preferable because it is harder. This is wrong because making things hard is neither desirable nor encouraged.

‘God’s Messenger was living with us, receiving the Qur’an as it was revealed to him, and he knew its meanings’. Thus, Jābir urges his visitors to do what he told them with regard to what the Prophet did during his hajj.

The Prophet declared God’s oneness, saying: “Labbayk allāhum-ma labbayk; labbayk lā sharīka laka labbayk; inna-lḥamda wal-ni‘mata laka wal-mulk; lā sharīka lak [This means I respond to You, my Lord. I respond to You, and You have no partner. I respond. All praise is due to You, and all favours are bestowed by You. All dominion belongs to You. You have no partner]”. People declared similar and different phrases as they pleased. The Prophet did not object to anything they said, but he continued to repeat his own declaration’. The Prophet’s declaration of God’s oneness was also meant to emphasise the departure from what the idolaters used to add in their own declarations, stressing their belief in the partners they alleged that God had. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said:

This refers to what people might add to the talbiyah, praising God and stressing His attributes. It is reported that ‘Umar used to add: “I respond to You, the One who grants fine bounties and bestows grace. I respond to You, fearing You and hoping from You”. Ibn ‘Umar is also reported to have added: “I unhesitatingly respond to You. All goodness is in Your hand, and all hope is with You and all action is dedicated to You”. Anas used to say: “I respond to You in truth, worship and servitude”. However, most scholars agree that it is preferable to stick to what the Prophet (peace be upon him) said. This is agreed upon by both Mālik and al-Shāfi‘ī, and God knows best.

Jābir said: “We had no intention other than doing the hajj; we did not know the ‘umrah. When we reached the House [i.e., the Ka‘bah] with him, he touched the Black Stone, then [performed the ṭawāf] jogging for three rounds and walking the other four”.’ Jābir’s words about the intention serve as evidence in support of the view that the ifrād method is preferable. We discussed this question in detail early in the previous chapter. The Prophet and his Companions went first to the Ka‘bah. It is a sunnah that a pilgrim goes to Makkah before going to Arafat. In Makkah, a pilgrim performs the ṭawāf of arrival, which is a strongly recommended sunnah, as agreed by all scholars. It is clear from the hadith that the ṭawāf is to go around the Ka‘bah seven times. The hadith shows that it is a sunnah to jog the first three rounds and walk the other four. Scholars say that the jogging mentioned here means the fastest walk with short steps. Our scholars maintain that jogging is recommended in one ṭawāf only in either the hajj or the ‘umrah. If one performs the ṭawāf voluntarily, not as a part of the hajj or ‘umrah duties, no jogging is recommended.

Again, we say that speed is not recommended in all ṭawāfs of the hajj. It is recommended in one ṭawāf only. Two well-known opinions are expressed by al-Shāfi‘ī, and the more correct of the two is that it is recommended in a ṭawāf followed by sa‘ī. This may take place in the ṭawāf of arrival or the ṭawāf of ifādah, but not in the ṭawāf of farewell. The second opinion is that speed may be exercised only in the ṭawāf of arrival, whether the pilgrim wants to do the sa‘ī after it or not. One may be speedy in the ṭawāf of the ‘umrah, as it includes only one ṭawāf, but God knows best.

Idṭibā’ is recommended for men in ṭawāf. This entails keeping one’s right shoulder bare. This is done by placing the middle of one’s upper garment, which is only a large piece of cloth, under one’s right shoulder and bringing its two ends over one’s left shoulder. An authentic hadith entered in the Sunan anthologies of Abu Dāwūd, al-Tirmidhī and others mentions it. Scholars say that the idṭibā’ is recommended only in a ṭawāf in which jogging is recommended, as we mentioned in detail, but God knows best.

‘He touched the Black Stone’ means that he wiped it with his hand. This is a sunnah in every ṭawāf, and we will explain it further when Muslim mentions it later.

He then moved to Maqām Ibrāhīm and recited: “Make the place where Abraham stood as a place of prayer”. (2: 125), keeping the Maqām between himself and the Ka‘bah’. This is evidence in support of what scholars are agreed upon, that whoever performs the ṭawāf should offer a prayer of two rak‘ahs behind Maqām Ibrāhīm after finishing his ṭawāf. Scholars differ as to whether these two rak'ahs are a duty or a sunnah. Their difference gives us three views, the most correct of which is that they are a sunnah, i.e., strongly recommended. The second view is that they are a duty. The third view says that they are a duty if the ṭawāf itself is a duty, but if it is a sunnah ṭawāf, the two rak'ahs are also a sunnah. Whether we take the view that they are a duty or a sunnah, if one omits them, one's ṭawāf remains valid.

The recommended practice is to offer these two rak'ahs behind Maqām Ibrāhīm, and if not there, then at al-Hijr. If not in either of these two places, then in the mosque, or else in Makkah or anywhere in the Ḥaram area. If one offers these two rak'ahs in his own hometown, thousands of miles away, this is permissible, but one misses on what is preferable. This prayer remains due for the rest of one's life. If one wants to do several ṭawāfs, it is preferable that one should offer two rak'ahs after each ṭawāf of seven rounds. If one prefers to do several ṭawāfs without offering a prayer in between each two, then at the end prays two rak'ahs for each ṭawāf, this is permissible according to our scholars, but it is contrary to what is preferable. This does not mean that it is discouraged or makrūh. Scholars who share this view include al-Miswar ibn Makhramah, 'Āishah, Ṭāwūs, 'Aṭā', Sa'īd ibn Jubayr; Ahmad, Ishāq and Abu Yūsuf. Other scholars expressed discouragement including Ibn 'Umar, al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, al-Zuhrī, Mālik, al-Thawrī, Abu Ḥanīfah, Abu Thawr, Muhammad ibn al-Ḥasan and Ibn al-Mundhir. Qadi 'Iyād says that this view is agreed upon by the majority of scholars.

(my father used to say: I am sure that he only mentioned this as done by the Prophet) he recited in the two rak'ahs [after the ṭawāf] “Say: He is God, the One and only God” [Surah 112] and “Say: Unbelievers” [Surah 109]’. This means that Ja'far ibn

Muhammad narrated this hadith from his father, from Jābir. Ja'far said that his father, Muhammad, said that he recited these two surahs, but I do not know that he meant that Jābir recited them when he led the prayer, but it was the Prophet who recited them in the two rak'ahs after the ṭawāf. Although the two surahs are mentioned with the later one first, the meaning is that in the first rak'ah the Prophet recited Surah 109 and in the second rak'ah recited Surah 112. Al-Bayhaqi narrated with a sound chain of transmission, meeting Muslim's conditions of authenticity, from Ja'far ibn Muhammad, from his father, from Jābir that 'the Prophet performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, jogging in three rounds and beginning at the Black Stone. When he finished, he prayed two rak'ahs, reciting "Say: Unbelievers" [Surah 109] and "Say: He is God, the One and only God". [Surah 112]'.

He then returned to the Black Stone and touched it, then exited through the gate towards al-Ṣafa'. This confirms what al-Shāfi'ī and other scholars said that it is desirable that when a person has finished the ṭawāf of arrival and prayed two rak'ahs behind Maqām Ibrāhīm, it is desirable to return to the Black Stone and touch it before exiting through the gate towards al-Ṣafa. They are agreed that this is not a duty but a sunnah, which means that if omitted, it requires no compensation.

When he was close to al-Ṣafa, he recited the verse saying: "Al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God". (2: 158) [He said]: "I start at the one God mentioned first", and he started at al-Ṣafa, climbing up. When he saw the Ka'bah, he faced the qiblah, declaring God's oneness and glorifying Him. He said: "There is no deity other than God, alone, Who has no partners. To Him belong all dominion and to Him is due all praise. He is able to do everything. There is no deity other than God, alone. He fulfilled His promise, gave victory to His servant, and alone defeated the Confederates". He also supplicated along with that. He said the same three times. He then went down, going to al-Marwah'.

This part of the hadith mentions several aspects of the hajj worship. The first point is that the sa'ī must start at al-Şafa. This is the view of al-Shāfi'ī, Mālik and the majority of scholars. It is confirmed in al-Nasā'ī's narration, with a sound chain of transmission, that the Prophet said in the plural form: 'Start with the one God has started with'. Another aspect is that one should go up both al-Şafa and al-Marwah hills. This is a point on which scholars have differed. The majority of our scholars say that it is a sunnah, neither a duty nor a condition. This means that if one does not go up these two hills, one's sa'ī remains valid, although his action is contrary to what is best. However, Abu Ḥafş ibn al-Wakīl, a Shāfi'ī scholar, says that the sa'ī is not valid unless one goes up a part of al-Şafa. The correct view is the first one. Our scholars say that it is a condition that one does not leave any distance between al-Şafa and al-Marwah uncovered. Therefore, one should make one's heels touch al-Şafa and when reaching al-Marwah one should make one's toes touch it. This applies in all seven rounds. Our scholars add that it is desirable that one should go up al-Şafa and al-Marwah high enough to be able to see the Ka'bah, if possible. Further, it is a sunnah to stand on al-Şafa, facing the Ka'bah, glorifying God and supplicating, repeating one's glorification and supplication three times. This is what is well known among our scholars. Some scholars say that the glorification is repeated three times and the supplication twice, but the first is the correct view.

The Prophet said that God 'alone defeated the Confederates'. This means that He defeated them without any help or fighting by Muslims. The Confederates were the Arabian and Jewish tribes that forged an alliance to exterminate the Prophet and all Muslims, in what is known as the Day or the Encounter of the Moat. This took place in the month of Shawwāl in the fourth year of the Prophet's migration to Madinah, but it is also said that it took place in the fifth year.

When he was at the bottom of the valley, he jogged, and when he started to climb, he walked until he reached al-Marwah. He did on al-Marwah the same as he did on al-Şafa'. This is how the first sentence occurs in some manuscripts of Muslim's Şahīḥ, and it is so in Mālik's al-Muwatta' and other works. However, in most copies of the original Şahīḥ, one word is dropped, which means 'he jogged'. Qadi 'Iyād said: 'This word must be added, as it is confirmed in other anthologies and mentioned by al-Ḥumaydī in his work al-Jam' Bayn al-Şahīḥayn', but God knows best.

It is shown in this hadith that when reaching the bottom of the valley between al-Şafa and al-Marwah, one should jog until one reaches the point where one starts to climb. Then one walks normally for the rest of the distance till one reaches al-Marwah. This jogging is desirable in all seven rounds at this particular place, while walking is desirable for the rest of the distance, before and after it. If a pilgrim walks or jogs the entire distance, the sa'ī is valid, but one misses on what is more preferable. This is al-Shāfi'ī's view and scholars who agree with him. Two opinions are reported to be stated by Mālik concerning the one who does not do the jogging at its place. The first is the same as we mentioned, and the other is that one must repeat the entire duty.

The hadith mentions that the Prophet 'did on al-Marwah the same as he did on al-Şafa'. This means that it is also a sunnah to go some way up al-Marwah and to say similar glorifications and supplications as one does at al-Şafa. This is agreed upon.

When he finished his sa'ī on al-Marwah'. This confirms the view of the Shāfi'ī School and the majority of scholars that to go from al-Şafa to al-Marwah counts as one round, and the return to al-Şafa counts as a second round. Thus, the seven rounds start at al-Şafa and finish at al-Marwah. Imam Ahmad ibn Muhammad, who is better known as al-Shāfi'ī's daughter's son, and Abu Bakr al-Şayrafī, both Shāfi'ī scholars, said that to go to al-Marwah and return to al-Şafa count as one round, and therefore, the sa'ī ends as it starts, at al-Şafa. This hadith and the practice of the Muslim community over many generations refute their argument, but God knows best.

Surāqah ibn Mālik ibn Ju'shum stood up and said: "Messenger of God, is this for this year of ours or forever?" The Prophet crossed his fingers, putting one next to the other, and said: "The 'umrah is incorporated with the hajj (twice). No, it is forever and ever".' This part has been fully explained in the previous chapter.

'Alī came from Yemen with the Prophet's camels, and he found that Fāṭimah had released herself from consecration. She wore a coloured dress and applied kohl. He censured her for that'. This confirms that a man may censure his wife if he sees that she is not properly attending to what is required of her by her faith. 'Alī must have thought that it was wrong of Fāṭimah to release herself from consecration and to abandon all the restrictions that apply during such consecration.'<sup>i</sup> 'Alī said: 'I went to God's Messenger (peace be upon him) complaining about Fāṭimah'. What he meant was that he wanted to tell the Prophet of her censurable action.

In reply to the Prophet's question about how he started consecration, 'Alī mentioned that he said: 'My Lord, I declare the same as Your Messenger has declared’. This was also explained in the previous chapter where we mentioned that it is acceptable to say: ‘I declare my consecration as so-and-so had declared’.

All people cut their hair and released themselves from conse-cration, except the Prophet and the ones who brought their sacrifice with them’. Again, this was fully explained in the previous chapter. We may add that this is a case where a general statement is made, but it applies to a specific group. ‘Ā’ishah did not release herself from ihrām although she had not brought her sacrifice with her. Hence, the statement, ‘all people released themselves from consecration’, means ‘most people’. The people ‘cut their hair’, which means they did not shave their heads although shaving is preferable. They wanted that some of their hair remained so that they could shave their heads during the hajj. Were they to shave at the end of the ‘umrah, they would have nothing on their heads to shave. Therefore, cutting their hair after the ‘umrah is better, so that they would have hair to remove in each of the two duties, but God knows best.

On the Day of al-Tarwiyah they took the way to Mina, declaring for the hajj’. Al-Tarwiyah is the eighth of Dhul-Ḥijjah. As mentioned earlier, this is the time to start consecration for the hajj. We discussed all this in detail. Moreover, it is clear that the sunnah is not to proceed to Mina before the Day of al-Tarwiyah. Mālik expressed that this is discouraged, while some early scholars said that it is permissible. The view of our school is that it is contrary to the sunnah.

God’s Messenger rode [to Mina] praying zuhr, ‘Aṣr, Maghrib, ‘Ishā and Fajr there’. This gives us more than one sunnah. The first is that to ride to these places is more preferable than walking, as it is for the rest of one’s route to Makkah. This is the correct view in both situations. A different view, which is weak, is attributed to al-Shāfi‘ī, suggesting that walking is preferable. Some of our Shāfi‘ī scholars say that using a means of transport on the road to the hajj and its areas is preferable, except within the area where the hajj rites are performed, which includes Makkah, Mina, Muzdalifah and Arafat, as well as moving between these places. The second sunnah we learn from the above sentence is to offer these five prayers in Mina. The third is to stay that night which precedes 9 Dhul-Ḥijjah in Mina. To stay that night in Mina is a sunnah, which means that it is neither a duty nor a condition. This means that if omitted, no compensation is due. This is unanimously agreed upon.

He stayed on for a while until the sun had risen. He gave instructions that a small tent made of hair should be set up for him at Namirah’. This makes it clear that the sunnah is not to leave Mina until the sun has risen. This is also agreed upon. It is also desirable to stop at Namirah, which is close to Arafat but not part of it, because the sunnah is to enter Arafat after midday, when the sun starts on its decline. Anyone who has a small tent may put it up there and wash himself before midday, in readiness for attendance at Arafat.<sup>1</sup> After midday, the imam leads them to the Ibrāhīm Mosque where he gives a short khutbah in two parts, making the second very short. When he finishes, he leads the pilgrims in prayer, offering Ṣuḥr and ‘Aṣr prayers together. When the prayer is finished, he proceeds to Arafat where all pilgrims must attend.

God’s Messenger moved on. The people of Quraysh were certain that he would stop at al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām [i.e., at Muzdalifah], as they used to do in pre-Islamic days’. This means that before Islam, the people of the Quraysh used to stop at al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām when they performed the hajj, without proceeding to Arafat. Al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām is a mount at Muzdalifah called Quḏah, but it is also said that al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām refers to all of Muzdalifah. The rest of the Arabs moved through Muzdalifah and went right up to Arafat. Therefore, the people of the Quraysh thought the Prophet would maintain their own practice and stop at al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām, but he crossed it all and proceeded to Arafat because God commanded him to do so, as He said: ‘Surge onward from the place where all other pilgrims surge’, (2: 199) meaning all Arabs other than the Quraysh because the Quraysh stopped at al-Muzdalifah, which is within the Ḥaram area. They said: ‘We are the people of al-Ḥaram, the area God has sanctified, and we shall not leave it to go elsewhere’.

However, the Prophet moved on until he reached Arafat. He found that a small tent had been set for him at Namirah, and he stopped there. When the sun began to decline, he gave instructions and al-Qaṣwā’ [his she-camel] was saddled for him. He moved to the centre of the valley and addressed the people there. ‘The Prophet moved on’ means that he did not stop at Muzdalifah but passed through it aiming towards Arafat. ‘Until he reached Arafat’ means that he was close to Arafat. This is explained by what comes next, ‘he found that a small tent had been set for him at Namirah’, because Namirah is before Arafat. As stated earlier, to enter Arafat before offering the Ṣuhr and ‘Aṣr Prayers is contrary to the sunnah. The Prophet then ‘moved to the centre of the valley’. This is the ‘Uranah Valley, which is outside Arafat, according to al-Shāfi‘ī and all scholars except Mālik who says it is part of Arafat. There, the Prophet ‘addressed the people’. It is desirable that the ruler, or the hajj leader, should address the pilgrims at this place on the Day of Arafat. This is a sunnah, according to the great majority of scholars, but the Mālikī School takes a different view. According to the Shāfi‘ī School, there are four khutbahs during the hajj, and all of them are sunnah. The first is on the seventh day of Dhul-Ḥijjah, when the imam should give a speech after the Zuḥr Prayer, near the Ka‘bah. The second is this one at the ‘Uranah Valley on the Day of Arafat. The third is on the following day, which is the Day of Sacrifice, and the fourth is on the second of the three Tashrīq days when many people leave Mina. Our scholars have said that all these speeches are single speeches made after the Zuḥr Prayer, except the one on the Day of Arafat, which consists of two parts and is delivered before Zuḥr. In each of these speeches, the imam teaches the pilgrims what they need to know until the time of the next speech, but God knows best.

Your blood and your property are forbidden to you to violate in the same way as the sanctity of this day of yours, in this month of yours, in this city of yours’. This is a very emphatic way of prohibition. The Prophet’s style shows that it is very useful to set examples and draw a point of comparison.

All claims pertaining to the Days of Ignorance [i.e., pre-Islamic] are under my two feet and invalid. Vengeance killings of pre-Islamic days are written off. The first killing I write off is that of Ibn Rabī‘ah ibn al-Ḥārith: he was being nursed in the clan of Banī Sa‘d, but the Hudhayl tribe killed him. The usury of pre-Islamic days is hereby written off, and the first usury I thus write off is the one belonging to us [i.e., his clan], the usury of ‘Abbās ibn ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib. It is all written off’. The Prophet’s words invalidate all actions that were done under the pre-Islamic system of ignorance, including sales that had not been concluded by exchange of goods and price. The killings that took place during those days would not be subject to the retaliatory punishment. The Prophet further shows that the ruler and whoever enjoins right and forbids wrong should start with himself and his own family and relatives. This makes his words easier to accept and act upon, particularly by those who are new converts to Islam.

The Prophet said that all such claims 'are under my two feet', which means that they were no longer valid. He added: 'The first killing I write off is that of Ibn Rabī'ah ibn al-Hārith'. Scrupulous scholars and the majority of scholars said that his name was Iyās ibn Rabī'ah ibn al-Hārith ibn 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib. Other suggestions as to his name are Hārithah, Adam or Tammām, but al-Dāraquṭnī said that this is mistaken. Al-Zubayr ibn Bakkār was one of the scholars saying his name was Adam. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said that some narrators from Muslim mentioned that the Prophet wrote off the killing of Rabī'ah ibn al-Hārith. And this is how Abu Dāwūd mentions him. It is said, however, that this is a mistake and that the one who was killed was Rabī'ah's son because Rabī'ah lived until 'Umar's reign. Abu 'Ubayd said that as Rabī'ah was the deceased's next of kin, the blood of the victim was attributed to him. The victim was a very young child, crawling between homes when he was hit by a stone during a battle between the clans of Sa'd and Layth ibn Bakr. This is stated by al-Zubayr ibn Bakkār.

On usury, the Prophet said that it is all written off. This means that whatever is in excess of the principal amount is invalid and written off. What I am saying is merely an extra explanation because the very words mean it. The Arabic word for usury is ribā, and it means 'excess'. To say that usury is written off means everything in excess of the principal is invalid and unacceptable.

Continuing his speech, the Prophet said: 'Fear God in your treatment of women. You take them in trust granted by God'. He thus urges Muslims to observe women's rights and to be kind to them and to treat them with fairness and kindness. There are numerous authentic hadiths that urge kind treatment of women, explain their rights and warn against failing to do what is due to them. I have included these, or most of them, in my book of Hadith, Riyāḍ al-Ṣāliḥīn.

And they become lawful to you by God's word'. Some scholars said that 'God's word' means what God says [in the Qur'an]: 'Retain them in fairness or release them with kindness'. (2: 229) It is also said that 'God's word' here means the declaration of God's oneness: 'There is no deity other than God, and Muhammad is God's Messenger'. The fact is that Muslim women are unlawful to any non-Muslim. A third view says that it means God's permission, as He says: 'You may marry of other women as may be agreeable to you'. (4: 3) This last view is the correct one. The first view is agreed by al-Khaṭṭābī, al-Harawī and other scholars. A different view suggests that 'God's word' in this instance means the words of 'commitment and acceptance' stated at the time when the marriage contract is solemnised. Thus, the phrase means 'by the word God has ordered', but God knows best.

They have a duty towards you that they do not admit into your homes anyone you dislike. If they do this, you may discipline them without severity'. Imam al-Māzarī said: 'What is meant here is that a woman may not admit a man into her home and be alone with him. It does not mean committing adultery. Adultery incurs the punishment of flogging, and it is forbidden whether it is with a man her husband likes or dislikes'. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'It was customary for the Arabs that men and women would talk together, and they felt nothing wrong with this, and it gave them no suspicion. When the Qur'anic verse requiring women to observe the Islamic dress code was revealed, they were ordered not to admit men into their homes'. However, what this means is that a woman may not admit into her husband's home anyone whom he dislikes being admitted, whether such a person is a non-relative man, a woman or someone she cannot marry. The prohibition applies to all. This is the ruling scholars are agreed upon. A woman may not admit into her husband's home anyone unless she knows or feels that her husband does not object. The principle that applies here is that a person may not enter someone else's home without permission of the owner or someone else who is authorised to give such permission, or the permission is known as a matter of observed tradition. When there is doubt about such permission and no direction appears clearly, then no admittance may be authorised, but God knows best. The Prophet said: 'If they do that, you may discipline them without severity'. If this involves physical punishment, it must not be severe. This means that a man may discipline his wife, within certain limits. If such punishment results in her death, he must pay an atonement and his close relatives are required to pay her blood money.

Your duty towards them is to feed and clothe them according to what is reasonable'. This makes clear that a man must support his wife, providing her with what she needs of food and clothing according to his means. This is confirmed by all scholars.

He pointed with his forefinger to the sky and to the people, and said: "My Lord, bear witness. My Lord, bear witness" three times'. This means that he moved his forefinger, pointing first to the sky then to his audience, repeating his word three times, seeking that God be his witness.

The adhān was then called. The iqāmah was announced and the Prophet prayed zuhr, then another iqāmah was announced and he prayed 'Aṣr. He did not offer any voluntary prayer between them'. This shows that it is right to pray the Zuhr and 'Aṣr prayers together on that day. This is agreed upon by all the Muslim community, but scholars differ as to the reason behind it. The Ḥanafī School and some Shāfi'ī scholars say that it is due to the hajj worship. The majority of Shāfi‘ī scholars say that the reason is travel. Therefore, local people and those whose travel is less than two stages, such as the people of Makkah, may not combine or shorten these prayers. The hadith shows that when these two prayers are combined, the adhān is called before the first prayer is offered, and that the Ṣuḥr Prayer is offered first, and an iqāmah is announced for each of the two prayers, and that they are prayed together, not apart. All this is agreed upon in our Shāfi‘ī School.

God’s Messenger then mounted and went on until he reached the place. He sat his she-camel, al-Qaṣwā’, with her belly towards the rocks, and the place where people gathered in front of him, and he faced the qiblah. He remained there until sunset, when the yellowness of the sun faded and the sun had completely disappeared’. This paragraph includes some interesting points regarding the manners that should be observed when attending Arafat. Firstly, when the two prayers have been offered, pilgrims should proceed immediately to the place of attendance. Secondly, to remain mounted when attending Arafat is preferable. Scholars hold different views on this point. In our Shāfi‘ī School, there are three views, the most correct of which is that remaining mounted is preferable. The second is the opposite and the third makes both conditions equal. Thirdly, to attend at the mentioned rocks, which are flat at the bottom of Mount al-Raḥmah in the middle of the Arafat plain, is desirable. This is indeed the place that is preferable on the Day of Arafat. The commonly held idea that requires going up this mountain and that it is the only place to be at on that day is grossly mistaken. It is, indeed, valid to attend at any point within the limits of Arafat. What is preferable is to stop where the Prophet stopped. If it is too crowded, then one draws as near to it as possible. We will presently explain the boundaries of Arafat, God willing, when we will comment on the hadith that mentions that all Arafat is equally good to attend. Fourthly, it is desirable to face the qiblah when one is attending Arafat. Fifthly, one should stay at Arafat until the sun has set and one ascertains that it has completely disappeared.

After that, pilgrims proceed on the way back to Muzdalifah. If a pilgrim leaves Arafat before sunset, his attendance at Arafat is correct and his hajj is valid, but the fault should be compensated for with a sacrifice of one sheep. Is this sacrifice a duty or only desirable? Al-Shāfi'ī gives two views, and the more correct of the two is that it is a sunnah. The other view makes the sacrifice a duty. These two views are based on the answer to the question: is attending Arafat at both day and night a duty or a sunnah? Two answers are given to this question, and the more correct of these is that it is a sunnah. The other view makes it a duty.

Attendance at Arafat extends from midday on the Day of Arafat to the break of dawn on the next day, which is the Day of Sacrifice. Whoever is present at Arafat for some time during this period is deemed to have been in attendance. Whoever misses the entire period misses the hajj altogether. This is the view of al-Shāfi'ī and the great majority of scholars. Mālik said that attendance during the day only, does not meet the requirement. To be present during the night is necessary. This means that if one attends only during the night, one's attendance is valid, but if one attends only during the day, it is invalid. Ahmad ibn Ḥanbal says that the time of attendance at Arafat begins at dawn on the Day of Arafat. Scholars are unanimous that attendance at Arafat is a condition for the validity of the hajj, but God knows best.

He took Usāmah ibn Zayd behind him [on his camel] and moved on, pulling back al-Qaṣwā's rein, so that her head almost hit its saddle. He pointed with his right hand and said: “People, be calm! Be calm!” Whenever he reached a hump, he would let off the rein a little so that she could go up’. The description of how the Prophet proceeded on his she-camel when he left Arafat shows that he moved slowly, caring for those who were walking and the ones who used weaker mounts. He urged people to remain calm as they moved on from Arafat. This is clearly a sunnah. Whenever the Prophet found some space, he would move a little faster, as mentioned in a different hadith.

He continued until he reached Muzdalifah where he prayed Maghrib and ‘Isha, calling one adhān and two iqāmahs. He did not pray any sunnah in between these two obligatory prayers’. Muzdalifah is called by this name because when the pilgrims leave Arafat, they izdalafū, i.e., drew near to it. It is also said that it is because people arrive there at some zulaf, i.e., hours of the night. It is also called Jam‘, which means ‘gathering’ because people gather there. All of Muzdalifah is within the Ḥaram area. In his book Tārīkh Makkah, al-Azraqī agrees with our Shāfi‘ī and other scholars who say, in their books, that the limits of Muzdalifah are between the two narrow points of Arafat and the Muḥassir Valley, but these two limits are not included in it. All the passages and places within these two limits are aspects of it.

At Muzdalifah, the Prophet prayed Maghrib and ‘Ishā with one adhān and two iqāmahs, and with no sunnah prayer in between. There are several interesting points here. The first is that the sunnah for whoever is proceeding from Arafat to Muzdalifah is to delay offering Maghrib until ‘Ishā time, with the intention of combining the two prayers at Muzdalifah during the ‘Ishā time. This is agreed upon by all scholars. However, according to the Ḥanafī School and other scholars, the combination is due to the hajj worship, and that it is permissible for whoever is performing the hajj, including the people of Makkah, Muzdalifah, Mina and others. According to our Shāfi'ī scholars, the correct view is that combining these prayers is because of the travel involved. As such, it is only permissible for those who travel the distance that allows shortening prayers, which is equal to two complete stages, or 85 kilometres. Al-Shāfi'ī expresses a different view, which is of weak support, that it is permissible to combine prayers in every travel, even if it is short. Some of our scholars agree with Abu Ḥanīfah that the combination of prayers at Arafat and Muzdalifah is because of the hajj worship, but God knows best.

Our Shāfi'ī scholars said that if one offers these two prayers together during Maghrib time at Arafat, or on the way to Muzdalifah, or at any other place, or offers them separately during their respective times, they are valid, but contrary to the better option. This is the view of our Shāfi'ī School, and it is expressed by many of the Prophet's Companions, the tābi'īn, as well as al-Awzā'ī, Abu Yūsuf, Ashhab and Hadith scholars that are also conversant in Fiqh. Abu Ḥanīfah and other Kūfī scholars say that it is a condition that these two prayers, Maghrib and 'Ishā, must be offered at Muzdalifah. They are invalid before it. Mālik said that it is not permissible to offer these before Muzdalifah, except for a person who has a valid reason affecting him or his mount. In this case, it is permissible for such a person to offer the two prayers before Muzdalifah, provided that they are offered after the twilight has set, i.e., during 'Ishā time.

Another point is that these two prayers should be offered during the time of the second prayer, with one adhān for the two before the first, and one iqāmah for each one. This is the correct order according to our scholars. It is also the view of Ahmad ibn Ḥanbal, Abu Thawr, 'Abd al-Malik al-Mājishūn of the Mālikī School and al-Ṭahāwī, who is a Ḥanafī scholar. Mālik said that they are offered with an adhān and an iqāmah before each one. This is reported from ‘Umar and Ibn Mas‘ūd. Abu Ḥanīfah and Abu Yūsuf say that one adhān and one iqāmah are needed for both prayers. Another view attributed to al-Shāfi‘ī and Ahmad is that no adhān is needed, but one iqāmah for each prayer is announced. This view is also reported from al-Qāsim ibn Muhammad and Sālim ibn ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar. Al-Thawrī said: ‘Both prayers are offered with just one iqāmah’. This last view is also mentioned to have been expressed by Ibn ‘Umar, but God knows best.

The fact that the Prophet did not offer any sunnah prayer between the two obligatory ones makes it clear that they should be offered one after the other. There is no difference of views on this point, but scholars differ as to whether offering the two obligatory prayers consecutively is a condition or not. The correct view of our Shāfi‘ī School is that it is a desirable sunnah, not a condition, but some of our scholars say that it is a condition. However, if they are offered during the time range of the first prayer, offering them consecutively becomes a condition according to all scholars.

God’s Messenger then slept until the break of dawn. He prayed Fajr when he ascertained it was time for the prayer, calling the adhān and the iqāmah’. This includes several points. One of these is that spending the night at Muzdalifah on the night preceding the Day of Sacrifice, after leaving Arafat, is an act of worship. This is unanimously agreed upon, but scholars differ as to whether it is a duty, an essential obligation or a sunnah. The correct view mentioned by al-Shāfi‘ī is that it is a duty. If omitted, the hajj is valid, but an error has been committed which must be compensated for by a sacrifice of one sheep. His other view is that staying the night at Muzdalifah is a sunnah, if omitted, no compensation is due but it is desirable. A number of our Shāfi'ī scholars, including al-Shāfi'ī's daughter's son and Muhammad ibn Ishāq ibn Khuzaymah, said that it is an essential obligation like attendance at Arafat, which means that the hajj is invalid without it. Five of the leading tābi'īn scholars share this view. These are 'Alqamah, al-Aswad, al-Sha'bī, al-Nakha'ī and al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, but God knows best.

It is a sunnah to stay at Muzdalifah until one prays Fajr there. This applies to all except for those who are weak. For these, the sunnah is to move on before Fajr, as we shall presently explain. The minimum amount of stay at Muzdalifah is stated by our scholars in three ways. The correct one is a short period during the second half of the night. The second view is a short period in the second half or after Fajr, but before sunrise. The third is to stay most of the night, but God knows best.

The second point is that it is a sunnah, i.e., strongly recommended, to offer the Fajr Prayer very early at this place. This early start is especially emphasised on this day, more than the rest of the year, to emulate the Prophet's practice and because there are plenty of other tasks to perform on this day. Hence, an early start helps attend to these tasks. A third sunnah is to call the adhān and the iqāmah for this prayer, as well as other prayers a traveller offers, as authentic hadiths confirm, but God knows best.

He then mounted al-Qaṣwā', up to al-Mash'ar al-Ḥarām. He faced the qiblah, supplicated, glorified God and declared His oneness. He remained there until it was very clear light but moved on before sunrise'. This confirms once more that using a means of transport in these areas is preferable to walking. In this instance, al-Mash'ar al-Ḥarām refers to Quzaḥ, a well-known mountain at Muzdalifah. This hadith is the basis of the arguments of Fiqh scholars who say that al-Mash'ar al-Ḥarām is Quzaḥ. However, the great majority of commentators, historians and Hadith scholars say that it is all of Muzdalifah. This statement makes clear that stopping at Quzah is one of the hajj rituals. There is no difference among scholars on this point, but they differ concerning the time of departure. Ibn Mas'ūd, Ibn 'Umar, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Shāfi'ī and the great majority of scholars say that pilgrims need to stay, supplicating and glorifying God until there is very clear light, as mentioned in this hadith. Mālik said that one should move before it becomes very bright, but God knows best.

He took behind him al-Faḍl ibn 'Abbās who was a white, smart young man with fine hair. When God's Messenger moved on, some women passed by him, moving fast. Al-Faḍl looked at them, and God's Messenger put his hand on al-Faḍl's face'. The description of al-Faḍl as a 'white, smart young man' means that he was one who would look attractive to women. That the Prophet put his hand on al-Faḍl's face urges Muslims to lower their gaze and not to stare hard at women, and to shield women from men. In al-Tirmidhī's version of this hadith, the Prophet is said to have twisted al-Faḍl's neck, so al-'Abbās, his father, said to the Prophet: 'You have twisted your cousin's neck'. The Prophet said: 'I saw a young man and a young woman, and I feared Satan for them'. This shows that the Prophet's action was to reduce their mutual attraction. This part of the hadith also makes clear that anyone who sees something forbidden and can remove it by hand should do so. If he only speaks about it, urging its stopping, but the addressee continues to do it and the one who is telling him off can ensure its stopping if he uses his hand, then this is what he must do. If he refrains from doing so and limits himself to verbal advice, he is at fault, but God knows best.

When the Prophet reached the middle of Muḥassir, he sped a little, then he took the middle road which leads directly to the Grand Jamrah. When he reached the Jamrah near the tree, he threw at it seven small pebbles from the middle of the valley, glorifying God with each pebble’. Muḥassir is the name of a small valley, which is called by this name because the elephant Abrahah placed at the head of his army when he came from Yemen to destroy the Ka‘bah stopped there and would not go a step further. The Prophet sped a little at this place. This is one of the recommended practices of how to proceed in this area. Our scholars said that the one who is walking should move a little faster, and those using transport should move faster if they can. This faster movement is only for a very short distance, but God knows best. The Prophet then took the middle road, which means that taking this road on the way back from Arafat is a sunnah. It is different from the route the Prophet took on his way to Arafat.<sup>1</sup> On various occasions, the Prophet preferred to take a different route on the return journey to the one he used first. The Grand Jamrah is the one at al-‘Aqabah, which used to be marked by being near the tree. This part of the hadith shows that when pilgrims proceed from Muzdalifah and arrive at Mina, the sunnah is to go straight to the Jamrah at al-‘Aqabah and not to do anything before the duty of stoning there. For the stoning on this day, a pilgrim uses seven pebbles, which should be the size of peas. If they are larger or smaller, they are acceptable, provided they are of stone. According to al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars, it is not permissible to do the stoning using kohl, arsenic, gold, silver or other materials that are not called ‘stone’. Abu Ḥanīfah says it is permissible to use anything that is part of the earth.

It is also recommended to glorify God when throwing every pebble. The pebbles must be thrown separately, one by one. To throw all seven together counts as only one pebble according to our school and the majority of scholars. The point of evidence in this case is that the Prophet 'glorified God with each pebble'. It is clear, therefore, that he threw each pebble separately. Moreover, in hadith No. 2751 which speaks about stoning at the Jamrahs, the Prophet says: 'Learn your rituals from me'. This paragraph shows that it is recommended, i.e., sunnah, to stand when stoning with Mina, Arafat and Muzdalifah to one's right and Makkah to one's left. This is the right way mentioned in authentic hadiths. Some scholars said that one should stand facing the qiblah. However one throws one's pebbles is acceptable, provided that one is throwing what is called stone, but God knows best.

The stoning is a duty, and what is required on the Day of Sacrifice, i.e., 10 Dhul-Hijjah, is to stone at the 'Aqabah Grand Jamrah only. This is an act of worship and a duty, according to the unanimous view of all Muslims. According to our school, it is a duty, not an essential obligation. If it is omitted and all the stoning days elapse, one is considered to have disobeyed and must compensate by sacrificing a sheep, but one's hajj remains valid and acceptable. However, Mālik says that omitting it totally in this way invalidates one's hajj. He adds that it must be stoned by seven pebbles. To do so with six is insufficient.

He then left, heading to the slaughter place. The Prophet sacrificed sixty-three [animals] with his own hand and gave the rest to 'Alī who slaughtered them'. This is how it occurs in all manuscripts, and how Qadi 'Iyād quotes it from all narrators except Ibn Māhān who says 'sixty-three camels'. Qadi 'Iyād adds: 'What he says is correct, but the first version is more correct'. My own view is that both are equally correct: the Prophet sacrificed sixty-three camels with his own hand. Qadi 'Iyād further adds that this part indicates that there was a specific place for slaughtering the sacrifice in Mina. However, it is perfectly appropriate to make the sacrifice at any place in Mina or the Ḥaram area. It also shows that offering more sacrifice is desirable. The Prophet's sacrifice on this occasion consisted of one hundred camels. The hadith shows that it is also desirable for the pilgrim to slaughter his sacrifice with his own hand, but it also shows that it is permissible to ask someone else to do it on his behalf. This is unanimously agreed to be permissible if the deputy is a Muslim. According to our school, it is also permissible to assign a non-Muslim to do it provided that person is a follower of an earlier Divine religion and the owner of the sacrifice formulates the intention of sacrifice at the time when he gives it to his deputy to slaughter. The hadith further shows that it is preferable to slaughter the sacrifice early, on the Day of Sacrifice, even if they are large in number, without delaying it until the next couple of days, i.e., the Tashrīq days.

The Prophet included 'Alī in what he had sacrificed'. This appears to mean that he included 'Alī in the same sacrifice. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'I think that this was not a real partnership, but he merely gave him some to slaughter them'. It appears that the Prophet slaughtered the camels he brought from Madinah, sixty-three in total, as mentioned by al-Tirmidhī, and he gave 'Alī the camels he brought from Yemen, which completed one hundred, but God knows best.

He then ordered that a piece of meat from every slaughtered animal be put in a saucepan and cooked. Both of them ate of the meat and drank of the sauce'. This confirms the desirability of eating from the sacrifice, expressing gratitude to God. Scholars said that since it is a recommended sunnah to eat of every sacrificed animal and to eat of each one of the one hundred camels was very difficult, a piece of each was put in a large saucepan. Thus, the Prophet would eat, as convenient, of the meat put together in the saucepan and taste the sauce of the entire sacrifice. Scholars are unanimous that eating of the sacrifice made for the tamattu' and qirān hajj, as well as voluntary sacrifice, is a sunnah, not a duty.

The Prophet then rode on and went to the Ka'bah [where he performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah] and prayed zuhr in Makkah'. This ṭawāf is the ifādah ṭawāf, which is an obligatory condition of the hajj. This is agreed upon by all Muslims. Its time range starts after midnight on the night preceding the Day of Sacrifice. Its best time is after one has completed the stoning at the al-'Aqabah Jamrah, slaughtered one's sacrifice and shaved one's head. Thus, the best time is around mid-morning on the Day of Sacrifice. It is not discouraged to do it at any time on the Day of Sacrifice, but delaying it beyond that day, with no reason, is discouraged, while delaying it till after the Tashrīq days is even more discouraged. However, it is not forbidden to delay it even for years, as there is no set time limit, but rather it remains valid during one's lifetime.<sup>i</sup> The condition for its validity is that it must be done after attendance at Arafat. If we take the scenario of a person who arrives in Makkah at midnight on the night preceding the Day of Sacrifice and performs this ṭawāf, then proceeds at speed to Arafat, arriving there before dawn, his ṭawāf does not count as the ṭawāf al-ifādah because it occurred before attending Arafat.

Scholars agree that neither jogging nor idṭibā' are recommended in the ṭawāf al-ifādah if the pilgrim has done so in the ṭawāf of arrival. Should a pilgrim perform the ṭawāf, intending it as the ṭawāf of arrival or farewell or a voluntary ṭawāf when that pilgrim is still due to perform the ṭawāf al-ifādah, his ṭawāf is counted for ifādah, regardless of how he intended it. There is no disagreement on this point in our school. This ruling is stated by al-Shāfi'ī and all Shāfi'ī scholars agree on it. This is similar to the case of a person who has not yet done his obligatory hajj and travels to perform the hajj intending it as voluntary, or compensatory, or in fulfilment of a pledge. His hajj will not count according to his intention but as fulfilment of his obligatory hajj, which is normally referred to as 'Islam's hajj'. However, Abu Ḥanīfah and the majority of scholars say that the ṭawāf al-ifādah is not fulfilled if the ṭawāf is done with some other intention.

The ṭawāf al-ifādah has several names, such as ziyārah (the visit), al-fard (the duty) and al-rukn (the essential obligation). Some of our scholars also call it al-ṣadr (the return). The majority of scholars disapprove of this last name, saying that it applies to the ṭawāf of farewell, but God knows best.

Jābir, the narrator, mentions that the Prophet then 'rode to Makkah and went to the Ka'bah and prayed Zuhr'. There is an omission here, which is added in between brackets, and it is only omitted because it is perfectly understood. This means that the Prophet rode to Makkah, went to the Ka'bah and performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah, then prayed Zuhr. Yet in hadith No. 2776 Ibn 'Umar mentions that 'the Prophet performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah on the Day of Sacrifice and prayed Zuhr at Mina'. These two hadiths are reconciled in the following way: the Prophet performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah before midday, then prayed Zuhr in Makkah as it fell due, then he returned to Mina where he prayed Zuhr again, leading the prayer with his Companions as they requested him to do. This means that his second prayer was a sunnah, or voluntary, for him. This is the same as mentioned in the two Ṣaḥīḥ anthologies about him leading a group of his Companions in the prayer known as 'prayer in a state of fear', and he completed the prayer to its end. He then led the other group that stood guard first, offering the same prayer. Thus, he did the prayer twice, while his Companions did it once. The hadith narrated by 'Ā'ishah and others that the Prophet delayed the visit to Makkah on the Day of Sacrifice until night-time is understood to mean that he returned to Makkah at night for a visit with his wives, not to perform the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah. This understanding is necessary so that we can reconcile the hadiths. I explained this fully in Sharḥ al-Muhadhdhab, but God knows best.

He then stopped by Zamzam where men from the ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib clan were giving people water to drink. He said to them: “Draw up the water, Banī ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib. Were it not for fear that other people would compete with and overwhelm you for your water, I would come to help you draw the water”. They handed him a bucket and he drank of it’.

The Prophet stopped by Zamzam after he finished the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah. ‘The men of the ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib clan [to which the Prophet belonged] were giving people water to drink’. This means that they drew the water from the well of Zamzam, pouring the water from the pails into basins and utensils so that people could use it. The Prophet wished to join them, but he feared that people might think that drawing water from Zamzam was a part of the hajj practices. They may then overwhelm the people of his clan and take away this service from them. He said this to emphasise the great merit of the action done by the ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib clan. The Prophet’s words also make it clear that working to give water to people earns a reward and that drinking from Zamzam is desirable.

Zamzam is a well-known well, inside the Grand Mosque, at a distance of 38 arm lengths from the Ka‘bah. It was first opened by Gabriel when Abraham left his wife Hagar and his son Ishmael at that place where the Ka‘bah would be built, as commanded by God.

In the second hadith, No. 2572 ‘the Arabs used to be driven on by Abu Sayyārah’. This used to be the case in pre-Islamic days.

When God's Messenger (peace be upon him) passed by al-Mash'ar al-Harām, the Quraysh had no doubt that he would stop there and make it his place of attendance. But he moved on and did not wait there and proceeded until he reached Arafat and stopped there. We mentioned the different views of the place referred to as al-Mash'ar al-Harām, pointing out that some say that it is Mount Quzah in the middle of Muzdalifah, while others say that it is all Muzdalifah. However, the hadith clearly indicates that it is not the whole area of Muzdalifah.

As mentioned earlier, prior to Islam the Quraysh used to stop at Muzdalifah when they performed the hajj. The rest of the Arabs went on to Arafat. The Quraysh justified its action on the grounds that since Arafat is outside the Haram area, they should not go there because, as the people of the Haram, they should not go to a lesser area for worship. They stopped at Muzdalifah, which is within the Haram area. Hence, they thought the Prophet would do the same as he belonged to the Quraysh. However, he went on to Arafat in fulfilment of God's order so that all people would perform the hajj in the same way.

  - ii. Muhammad ibn 'Alī ibn Ḥusayn was the great-great-grandson of the Prophet. Hence, Jābir, blind and in old age gave this gesture as one of endearment, fondly remembering his own days as a companion of the Prophet.
  - iii. The Arabian shirt had only two buttons at the top and did not have a collar like modern shirts.
  - iv. At the time of the Prophet's hajj, Jābir was in his mid-twenties. He became blind in his old age. His visitor, the narrator, Muhammad ibn ‘Alī, was the great grandson of Fāṭimah, the Prophet’s youngest daughter. Hence, Jābir’s fond attention to him and his detailed answer.

- v. Whatever one pays to perform an act of worship is credited to him as increased reward.
- vi. Fāṭimah did this only because her father, the Prophet (peace be upon him), told her and all pilgrims who did not bring their sacrifice with them to do it.
- vii. Most of these sunnah practices are not possible these days, particularly setting up small tents and washing one’s body, and joining the imam in the mosque because of the great number of people who perform the hajj.
- viii. Nowadays, the roads used by vehicles are clearly identified and people need to use the roads closest to them. Those who walk need to take the passages marked for pedestrians.
- ix. Nowadays, with millions of people performing the hajj every year and the terrible congestion on the roads between Mina and Makkah throughout the period of the hajj, relaxation of the rules is necessary. Pilgrims may suit themselves as to when to perform the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah. There is no harm in delaying it until one completes the stay in Mina and returns to Makkah. It should be borne in mind, however, that the complete release from consecration can only take place after this ṭawāf.

ALL OF ARAFAT IS GOOD FOR ATTENDANCE

[2573-149]. (Dar al-Salam 2805) ‘Umar ibn Ḥaṣṣ ibn Ghiyāth narrated:<sup>i</sup> my father narrated; from Ja‘far; my father narrated in that hadith of his; that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “I have slaughtered my sacrifice here, and all Mina is a place of sacrifice. You may slaughter your sacrifice at your places. I stayed here and the whole of Arafat is a place for attendance. I stopped here and the whole of Jam‘ is a place to stop at”.’

Text Explanation

The first of these two hadiths shows the Prophet’s care and kindness to his community, as well as his keenness to alert them to what is proper in matters of religion and life. He reminds them of what is permissible and what is more perfect. The places where he slaughtered his sacrifice and stayed at Arafat are the preferable and more perfect parts, but it is permissible to attend to these tasks at any part of Mina and Arafat. Muzdalifah is also called Jam’, and we mentioned its areas and limits as well as those of Mina. Arafat begins after the ‘Uranah Valley and extends to the opposite mountains beyond Ibn ‘Āmir’s orchards. This is stated by al-Shāfi‘ī and all his disciples. Al-Azraqī quoted Ibn ‘Abbās, stating that the limits of Arafat start from the mountain overlooking the bottom of the ‘Uranah Valley and extend to the Arafat mountains to Waṣīq and up to where Waṣīq meets the ‘Uranah Valley. Other statements defining its limits have been stated, but they are close to these. I discussed this in detail in Sharḥ al-Muhadhdhab and in Kitāb al-Manāsik, but God knows best.

Al-Shāfi‘ī and our scholars said that it is permissible to slaughter the sacrifice anywhere in the Ḥaram area, but the preferable place for the pilgrim is to make his sacrifice at Mina, and the best place in Mina is where God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) slaughtered his sacrifice and the area around it. The best place for a person doing the ‘umrah is to slaughter his sacrifice at al-Marwah because it is the place where he releases himself from consecration, as Mina is the place of release for pilgrims. They add that it is permissible to stay anywhere at Arafat and anywhere within Muzdalifah, as it is clear in this hadith, but God knows best.

In the first hadith, No. 2573 the Prophet says: ‘All Mina is a place of sacrifice. You may slaughter your sacrifice at your places’. This means that anywhere in Mina is good enough for slaughtering one’s sacrifice. People need not take the trouble to slaughter their sacrifice at the place where the Prophet did. They may do it where they encamp.<sup>iii</sup>

The second hadith, No. 2574 shows that it is recommended for a pilgrim to start with the ṭawāf of arrival, doing this before anything else. It is also recommended to touch the Black Stone at the beginning of his ṭawāf, jog during the first three rounds and walk the other four. We will discuss this in further detail at the appropriate place.

THE SAME RITUALS FOR ALL PILGRIMS

[2575-151]. (Dar al-Salam 2807) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>1</sup> Abu Mu'āwiyah reported; from Hishām ibn 'Urwah; from his father; from 'Ā'ishah. She said: 'The Quraysh and the people who followed its practice used to stop at Muzdalifah. They were called al-Hums. The rest of the Arabs used to attend Arafat. With the advent of Islam, God, Mighty and Exalted, commanded the Prophet to go to Arafat and attend there, and then proceed from there. This is the meaning of His words: "Surge onward from the place where all other pilgrims surge".' (2: 199)

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، أَخْبَرَنَا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ، عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ
عُرْوَةَ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا، قَالَتْ:
كَانَ قُرَيْشٌ وَمَنْ دَانَ دِيْنَهَا يَقْفُونَ بِالْمُزْدَلِفَةِ، وَكَانُوا
يُسَمُّونَ الْحُمْسَ، وَكَانَ سَائِرُ الْعَرَبِ يَقْفُونَ بِعَرَفَةَ.
فَلَمَّا جَاءَ الْإِسْلَامُ أَمَرَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ نَبِيَّهُ صَلَّى اللَّهُ
عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ يَأْتِيَ عَرَفَاتٍ، فَيَقِفَ بِهَا ثُمَّ يُفِضَ مِنْهَا.

فَذَلِكَ قَوْلُهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: «ثُمَّ افِيضُوا مِنْ حَيْثُ افَاضَ النَّاسُ».

[2576-152]. (Dar al-Salam 2808) Abu Kurayb narrated: Abu Usāmah narrated; Hishām narrated; from his father. He said: ‘The Arabs used to perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah naked, except al-Ḥums, who were the Quraysh and its descendants. They performed the ṭawāf naked unless al-Ḥums people gave them garments. Men used to give men and women gave women. Al-Ḥums did not go beyond Muzdalifah, while all other people went to Arafat’.

Hishām said: my father narrated to me; from ‘Āishah. She said: ‘It was about al-Ḥums that God, Mighty and Exalted, revealed His words: “Surge onward from the place where all other pilgrims surge”.’ (2: 199) She added: ‘All people proceeded from Arafat while al-Ḥums used to proceed from Muzdalifah and said: “We will not proceed from anywhere other than the Ḥaram area”. God then revealed His words: “Surge onward from the place where all other pilgrims surge”.’ (2: 199) They then returned to Arafat’.

مِنَ الْمُزْدَلِيقَةِ، وَكَانَ النَّاسُ كُلُّهُمْ يَبْلُغُونَ عَرَفَاتٍ. قَالَ هِشَامٌ: فَحَدَّثَنِي أَبِي عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا، قَالَتْ: الْحُمْسُ هُمُ الَّذِينَ أَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ فِيهِمْ: «ثُمَّ أَفِيضُوا مِنْ حَيْثُ أَفَاضَ النَّاسُ». قَالَتْ: كَانَ النَّاسُ يُفِيضُونَ مِنْ عَرَفَاتٍ، وَكَانَ الْحُمْسُ يُفِيضُونَ مِنَ الْمُزْدَلِيقَةِ. يَقُولُونَ: لَا يُفِيضُ إِلَّا مِنَ الْحَرَمِ، فَلَمَّا تَزَلْتُ: «أَفِيضُوا مِنْ حَيْثُ أَفَاضَ النَّاسُ» رَجَعُوا إِلَى عَرَفَاتٍ.

[2577-153]. (Dar al-Salam 2809) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and ‘Amr al-Nāqid narrated:<sup>ii</sup> both from Ibn ‘Uyaynah; ‘Amr said: Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah narrated; from ‘Amr; he heard Muhammad ibn Jubayr ibn Muṭ‘im narrating from his father, Jubayr ibn Muṭ‘im. He said: ‘I lost a camel of mine, and I went looking for it on the Day of Arafat. I saw God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) stopping with the other people at Arafat. I thought: “By God, this one belongs to al-Ḥums. What is he doing stopping here?” The Quraysh were considered to belong to al-Ḥums’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، وَعَمَرُ بْنُ النَّاقِدِ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ ابْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ. قَالَ عَمَرُ حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ، عَنْ عَمَرٍ، سَمِعَ مُحَمَّدَ بْنَ جُبَيْرِ بْنِ مُطْعِمٍ، يُحَدِّثُ عَنْ أَبِيهِ، جُبَيْرِ بْنِ مُطْعِمٍ، قَالَ: أَضَلَّتْ بَعِيرًا لِي، فَذَهَبْتُ أَطْلُبُهُ يَوْمَ عَرَفَةَ. فَرَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَاقِفًا مَعَ النَّاسِ بِعَرَفَةَ، فَقُلْتُ: وَاللَّهِ إِنَّ هَذَا

لِمَنِ الْحُمْسِ، فَمَا شَأْنُهُ هَاهُنَا؟ وَكَانَتْ قَرِيشٌ تُعَدُّ مِنَ
الْحُمْسِ.

Text Explanation

In the first hadith, No. 2575 ‘Āishah says: ‘The Quraysh and the people who followed its practice used to stop at Muzdalifah. They were called al-Ḥums’, which means ‘the pure’. Al-Ḥums refers to the Quraysh and its clans, as well as Kinānah and Jadīlat Qays. They were called by this name because they grew strict in their religion. It is also said that they were given this name because the Ka‘bah is described such and its stones are leaning towards black. We have already explained the meaning of this hadith, as we mentioned how they justified their stop at Muzdalifah and their refusal to go to Arafat.

The next hadith, No. 2576 mentions that the Arabs, other than al-Ḥums, used to perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah in the nude. This is a gross indecency that they condoned in pre-Islamic days of ignorance. It is said that reference to this is made in the Qur’anic verse that says: ‘When they commit a shameful deed, they say, “We found our fathers doing it”, and “God has enjoined it upon us”. Say: “Never does God enjoin what is indecent”.’ (7: 28) Therefore, when Abu Bakr performed the hajj in the ninth year of the Prophet’s migration, the Prophet gave orders that callers should declare the prohibition of anyone doing the ṭawāf naked.

Hadith No. 2577 mentions that Jubayr ibn Muṭ‘im saw the Prophet attending Arafat and wondered why he was doing so, considering that he belonged to al-Ḥums. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘This was the case when the Prophet performed the hajj before his migration to Madinah, when Jubayr was still an unbeliever. He embraced Islam only on the day when Makkah fell to Islam, but some reports suggest that he became a Muslim at the time of the Battle of Khaybar. On this occasion of the hajj, he wondered at the Prophet's moving forward to attend Arafat, but God knows best'.

RELEASING ONESELF FROM CONSECRATION OR STAYING IN IT

[2578-154]. (Dar al-Salam 2810-2811) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā and Ibn Bashshār narrated:<sup>1</sup> Ibn al-Muthannā said: Muhammad ibn Ja‘far narrated; Shu‘bah reported; from Qays ibn Muslim; from Ṭāriq ibn Shihāb; from Abu Mūsā. He said: ‘I joined God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) when he was encamping at al-Baṭhā’. He asked me: “Are you performing the hajj?” I said: “Yes”. He said: “How did you declare your consecration?” I [mentioned that I] said: “I respond to you in the same way as the Prophet did”. He said: “You have done well. Perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, then release yourself from consecration”. I did the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. I then went to a woman from the Qays clan, and she cleaned my head [from lice]. Later, I re-entered into consecration declaring for the hajj. I used to advise people to do the same. Then during ‘Umar’s reign a man said to him: "Abu Mūsā! or 'Abdullāh ibn Qays! Be careful with some of your fatwas. You do not know what the Amīr al-Mu'minīn [i.e., the Caliph] has subsequently introduced into the hajj". He declared: "You people, whoever I have given a fatwa to, should wait. The Amīr al-Mu'minīn is coming soon, and you should follow his example". When 'Umar came, I mentioned this to him, and he said: "If we take what God's Book [i.e., the Qur'an] says, it orders completion [of the duties], and if we follow God's Messenger's example, he did not release himself until the sacrifice was slaughtered".'

 Muthannā narrated: ‘Abd al-Rahmān (meaning Ibn Mahdī) narrated; Sufyān narrated; from Qays; from Tāriq ibn Shihāb; from Abu Mūsā. He said: ‘I joined God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) when he was encamping at al-Baṭḥā’. He asked me:
“How did you declare your consecration?” I [mentioned that I] said: “I started as the Prophet started”. He asked me: “Have you brought a sacrifice with you?” I said: “No”. He said: “Then perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, then release yourself from consecration”. I did the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. I then went to a woman from my people, and she combed my hair and washed my head. I used to advise people to do the same during the reigns of Abu Bakr and 'Umar. It was in the [hajj] season when a man said to me: "You do not know what the Amīr al-Mu'minīn [i.e., the Caliph] has subsequently introduced into the hajj?". I declared: "You people, whoever I have given a fatwa to, should wait. The Amīr al-Mu'minīn is coming soon, and you should follow his example". When he came, I asked him: "What have you introduced concerning the hajj?" He said: "If we take what God's Book [i.e., the Qur'an] says, God says: "Bring the hajj and the 'umrah to their completion" (2: 196), and if we follow our Prophet's sunnah, the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not release himself until he had slaughtered the sacrifice".'

وَحَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى، حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ (يَعْنِي ابْنَ مَهْدِيٍّ)، حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ، عَنْ قَيْسٍ، عَنْ طَارِقِ بْنِ
شِهَابٍ، عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ، قَالَ: قَدِمْتُ
عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَهُوَ مُنِخٌ
بِالْبَطْحَاءِ، فَقَالَ: «بِمَ أَهَلَّتْ؟» قَالَ: قُلْتُ أَهَلَّتُ
بِأَهْلَالِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ. قَالَ: «هَلْ سُقْتَ
مِنْ هَذِي؟» قُلْتُ لَا. قَالَ: «فَطُفُ بِالْبَيْتِ وَبِالصَّفَا
وَالْمَرْوَةِ ثُمَّ حِلَّ». فَطُفْتُ بِالْبَيْتِ وَبِالصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ،
ثُمَّ أَتَيْتُ امْرَأَةً مِنْ قَوْمِي، فَمَشَطَتْنِي وَغَسَلَتْ رَأْسِي.
فَكُنْتُ أَفْتِي النَّاسَ بِذَلِكَ فِي إِمَارَةِ أَبِي بَكْرٍ، وَإِمَارَةِ

عَمَرَ. فَأَتَانِي لِقَائِي بِالْمَوْسِمِ، إِذْ جَاءَنِي رَجُلٌ فَقَالَ: إِنَّكَ لَا تَدْرِي مَا أَخَذَتْ أَمِيرُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ فِي شَأْنِ النَّسْكِ. فَقُلْتُ: أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ مَنْ كُنَّا أَفْتَيْنَاهُ بِشَيْءٍ فَلْيَتَّيَدُ، فَهَذَا أَمِيرُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ قَادِمٌ عَلَيْكُمْ فِيهِ فَأَتَيْتُمُوهُ. فَلَمَّا قَدِمَ قُلْتُ: يَا أَمِيرَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ مَا هَذَا الَّذِي أَخَذْتِ فِي شَأْنِ النَّسْكِ؟ قَالَ: إِنَّ تَأْخِذَ بَكِتَابِ اللَّهِ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ قَالَ: «وَأَتَمُّوا الْحَجَّ وَالْعُمْرَةَ لِلَّهِ»، وَإِنْ تَأْخِذَ بِسُنَّةِ نَبِيِّنَا عَلَيْهِ الصَّلَاةُ وَالسَّلَامُ، فَإِنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَمْ يَحِلَّ حَتَّى تَحَرَ الْهَدْيُ.

[2580-156]. (Dar al-Salam 2813) Ishāq ibn Manşūr and ‘Abd ibn Humayd narrated to me: both said: Ja‘far ibn ‘Awn reported; Abu ‘Umays reported; from Qays ibn Muslim; from Ṭāriq ibn Shihāb; from Abu Mūsā. He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) had sent me to Yemen. I came over and met him in the year when he performed the hajj. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said to me: “Abu Mūsā, what did you say when you started your consecration?” I said: “I respond to You in the same way as the Prophet”. He said: “Have you brought a sacrifice?” I said: “No”. He said: “Then go and perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Şafa and al-Marwah, then release yourself from consecration”.’ He then narrated the hadith as Shu‘bah’s and Sufyān’s narrations.

 أَخْبَرَنَا جَعْفَرُ بْنُ عَوْنٍ، أَخْبَرَنَا أَبُو عُمَيْسٍ، عَنْ قَيْسِ بْنِ
 مُسْلِمٍ، عَنْ طَارِقِ بْنِ شِهَابٍ، عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى، رَضِيَ
 اللَّهُ عَنْهُ، قَالَ: كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
 بَعَثَنِي إِلَى الْيَمَنِ. قَالَ: فَوَافِقْتُهُ فِي الْعَامِ الَّذِي حَجَّ
 فِيهِ، فَقَالَ لِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «يَا
 أَبَا مُوسَى، كَيْفَ قُلْتَ حِينَ أُحْرِمْتَ؟» قَالَ: قُلْتُ لَبَيْكَ
 إِهْلَالًا كَاهِلَالِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ. فَقَالَ: «هَلْ
 سُفِّتَ هَذِيًّا؟» فَقُلْتُ لَا. قَالَ: «فَانْطَلِقْ، فَطُفْ بِالْبَيْتِ
 وَبَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ. ثُمَّ أَجِلْ». ثُمَّ سَأَلَ الْحَدِيثَ بِمِثْلِ
 حَدِيثِ شُعْبَةَ وَسُفْيَانَ.

وَحَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى، وَابْنُ بَشَّارٍ. قَالَ ابْنُ الْمُثَنَّى حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ، حَدَّثَنَا شُعْبَةُ، عَنِ الْحَكَمِ، عَنْ عُمَارَةَ بْنِ عُفَيْرٍ، عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ بْنِ أَبِي مُوسَى، عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى، أَنَّهُ كَانَ يُفْتِي بِالْمُتْعَةِ، فَقَالَ لَهُ رَجُلٌ: رُؤَيْدَكَ يَبْغُضُ فُتْيَاكَ، فَإِنَّكَ لَا تَذَرِي مَا أَخَذْتَ أَمِيرُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ فِي النَّسِكَ بَعْدُ. حَتَّى لَقِيَهُ بَعْدُ، فَسَأَلَهُ، فَقَالَ عُمَرُ: قَدْ عَلِمْتُ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدْ فَعَلَهُ وَأَصْحَابُهُ، وَلَكِنْ كَرِهْتُ أَنْ يَظْلُوا مُغْرِسِينَ بِهِنَّ فِي الْأَرَاكِ، ثُمَّ يَرُوحُونَ فِي الْحَجِّ تَقْطُرُ رُءُوسَهُمْ.

Text Explanation

This chapter focuses on the various narrations of the hadith narrated by Abu Mūsā al-Ash‘arī, the Prophet’s companion. This hadith mentions several very interesting points. The first is that an unspecified ihrām is valid. This takes the form of ‘I enter into consecration in the same way as so-and-so’. This means that if it appears that so-and-so entered into consecration to do the hajj, or the ‘umrah, or chose the qirān method, then the same method applies to the other person. If so-and-so simply mentioned consecration without specifying a method, the other person’s consecration is also unspecified. However, in this case, he need not follow the same method as so-and-so. He may choose any other form. Another point is to praise a person who does well, as the Prophet said to Abu Mūsā that he did well.

The Prophet instructed Abu Mūsā: ‘Perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Şafa and al-Marwah and release yourself from consecration’. This means that he was in the same condition as the Prophet. His duty was to change his consecration from one of the hajj to one of the 'umrah and complete its duties of ṭawāf, sa'ī and cutting his hair. When he had done so, he would be released from consecration as his 'umrah was complete. Cutting his hair is not mentioned by the Prophet because it was well-known to them, or perhaps it was included in releasing oneself.

'I then went to a woman from the Qays clan, and she cleaned my head.' This is understood to mean that this woman was one of his close relatives, such as his niece or sister or some other unmarriageable kin. He adds: 'Later I re-entered into consecration declaring for the hajj'. This means that after finishing his 'umrah, he stayed in Makkah till the Day of al-Tarwiyah, 8 Dhul-Hijjah, and re-entered into iḥrām, as clearly stated in other narrations.

It may be said that both 'Alī and Abu Mūsā attached their consecration to that of the Prophet, but the Prophet instructed 'Alī to remain in consecration and Abu Mūsā to release himself after doing the 'umrah. This is due to the fact that 'Alī brought the sacrifice with him, as had the Prophet. Hence, he had to stay in consecration like the Prophet and all those who brought their sacrifices. On the other hand, as Abu Mūsā did not bring a sacrifice, he could perform the 'umrah and release himself, as was done by others in the same situation. All this was clarified earlier.

In hadith No. 2578 a man says to Abu Mūsā: 'Be careful with your fatwa'. This was advice to wait a little until he had learnt what the Caliph advised. 'Umar explained his way of thinking, saying: 'If we take what God's Book [i.e., the Qur'an] says, it orders completion [of the duties], and if we follow God's Messenger's example, he did not release himself until the sacrifice was slaughtered'. Qadi 'Iyād said: 'The apparent meaning of 'Umar's explanation is that he disapproved of changing the iḥrām of hajj to one of 'umrah. His instructions against doing the tamattu' was of the type whereby a different method is more preferable. His disapproval of the change is one of invalidation. This is confirmed by his subsequent statement in hadith No. 2581: 'I know that the Prophet and his Companions did it, but I dislike that people should continue to be intimate with their wives among the trees, then go to their hajj with their heads dripping'. This means that he disliked the tamattu' method because it involves full release and the permissibility of sexual intercourse with spouses until the time of leaving for Arafat.

DIFFERENT VIEWS ON THE TAMATTU' METHOD

[2582-158]. (Dar al-Salam 2815) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā and Ibn Bashshār narrated: Ibn al-Muthannā said: Muhammad ibn Ja'far narrated; Shu'bah narrated; from Qatādah; he said: 'Abdullāh ibn Shaqīq said: “Uthmān used to advise against the tamattu' method [in hajj] but 'Alī used to urge doing it. 'Uthmān said some words to 'Alī, and 'Alī responded saying: “You know that we did the tamattu' with God's Messenger (peace be upon him)”. 'Uthmān said: “Yes, but we were anxious”.’

حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى، وَابْنُ بَشَّارٍ. قَالَ ابْنُ الْمُثَنَّى

وَكَانَ عَلِيٌّ يَأْمُرُ بِهَا. فَقَالَ عُثْمَانُ لِعَلِيِّ كَلِمَةً، ثُمَّ قَالَ
عَلِيٌّ: لَقَدْ عَلِمْتُ أَنَا قَدْ تَمَتَّعْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى

Text Explanation

In the first hadith, No. 2582 ‘Uthmān is said to advise against the tamattu’ method,<sup>x</sup> but ‘Alī used to urge people to do it. The word used in the hadith for tamattu' is mut'ah, which is derived from the same root, but it also has another meaning, which is 'temporary marriage'. What is clear here is that 'Uthmān advised against doing the hajj in the tamattu' method, as did 'Umar. They did not consider it forbidden but felt that it is discouraged. They discouraged it because they considered ifrād to be preferable. A ruler is commanded to look for what serves the interests of his subjects better. Both of them thought that doing the hajj in the ifrād method served their interests best, but God knows best. 'Alī then said to 'Uthmān that he was aware that they did the tamattu' hajj with God's Messenger. 'Uthmān replied: 'Yes, but we were anxious'. Perhaps he was referring to the compensatory 'umrah the Prophet and his Companions did in Year 7 before Makkah fell to Islam. Yet there was no real tamattu' in that year, but it was an 'umrah on its own.

In hadith No. 2583 when 'Alī objected to 'Uthmān urging people not to do the hajj in the tamattu' method, 'Uthmān said to him: 'Leave us alone'. 'Alī said that he could not do so, and he offered the hajj combining both the hajj and the 'umrah together. This is an act of spreading knowledge and acting on it, as well as putting a different point of view to rulers and others to establish the truth of matters. We also have in it an example of fulfilling the duty of providing sound counsel. This is the meaning of 'Alī's answer: 'I cannot leave you alone'. The fact that 'Alī declared his intention to do the hajj and 'umrah together may be cited as evidence in support of the view that the qirān method is preferable. However, those who consider the ifrād preferable will answer saying that he only did it so that people would know that it is permissible, and that they, or at least some of them, would not think that only the ifrād is permissible, and that the tamattu' and qirān are not, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2584 Abu Dharr says: 'The tamattu' method of hajj was for Muhammad's Companions in particular'. And in the next hadith, he says: 'It was a concession given to us'. In hadith No. 2586 he says: 'Both mut'ahs are not applicable except to us in particular'. He meant the mut'ah with women and the tamattu' in hajj. And in the following hadith, he says: 'This was especially for us, but not for you'. Scholars said: 'All these hadiths mean that changing the consecration declared for the hajj into one for the 'umrah was permitted only to the Prophet's Companions for the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage only. It is not permissible thereafter. Abu Dharr did not mean that the tamattu' method became invalid. All he meant was stopping the hajj and picking up the 'umrah in its place. The reason was to end the practice of the days of ignorance, when 'umrah during hajj months was prevented. We explained all this in the previous chapter, but God knows best. Abu Dharr states: 'Both mut'ahs are not applicable except to us in particular'. This means that they were made applicable to us at the time we did it, but both became forbidden for the rest of time, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2588 the narrator says: 'I asked Sa'd ibn Abi Waqqāṣ about the mut'ah? He said: "We did it, when this one was still an unbeliever, living in Makkan houses".' The person referred to as being an unbeliever at the time was Mu'āwiyah ibn Abi Sufyān. In the Arabic text of the hadith, Mu'āwiyah is described as kāfir. The word may be taken to mean one of two things. The first is stated by al-Māzarī and others, suggesting that it means 'resident'. This is a well-known usage of the word and its derivatives. The other meaning is to be 'an unbeliever'. Thus, the meaning of the hadith is that 'we used the tamattu' when Mu'āwiyah was still an unbeliever, living in Makkah and practising the religion of ignorance. This is the choice of Qadi 'Iyād and other scholars. It is indeed the correct view. Thus, the mut'ah in this instance means the 'umrah that the Prophet and his Companions did in the seventh year of the Prophet's migration. It was the compensatory 'umrah for the one they could not do the previous year. At the time, Mu'āwiyah was still an unbeliever. He embraced Islam the following year, which was the year Makkah fell to Islam. It is said that he adopted Islam after the compensatory 'umrah in the seventh year, but the first view is the correct one. When the Prophet did his other 'umrahs, Mu'āwiyah was a Muslim, living in Madinah as a companion of the Prophet. This hadith makes it clear that the tamattu' is a permissible method to adopt in the hajj.

Hadith No. 2590 quotes 'Imrān ibn Ḥuṣayn: 'Learn that God's Messenger (peace be upon him) let a group of his household do the 'umrah in the ten [days of Dhul-Hijjah], and no verse was subsequently revealed to invalidate this. Nor did God's Messenger prohibit it at any time until he departed [this life]'. And in hadith No. 2592 he says: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) combined a hajj with an 'umrah, and he never prohibited this until he died. Nor was there any Qur'anic revelation to forbid it'. Also, in hadith No. 2591 he comments: 'Let anyone think for himself whatever he may wish, meaning 'Umar'. In the other hadiths, 'Imrān ibn Ḥuṣayn confirms that the Prophet and his Companions did the tamattu' in the hajj and that he ordered his Companions to do this. All these hadiths consistently confirm that 'Imrān stressed that the tamattu' method, which means release from iḥrām after doing the 'umrah until the hajj days, is permissible, as is also the qirān method. They also make it clear that he disagreed with 'Umar when he ordered people not to do the tamattu'. We have already explained that 'Umar did not wish to prohibit the tamattu' but stressed that the ifrād method was more preferable.

In hadith No. 2592 ‘Imrān ibn Ḥuṣayn says: ‘I was being greeted until I used cauterisation when I was left alone. I stopped the use of cautery and the greeting returned’. This refers to ‘Imrān’s illness. He had a long complaint of haemorrhoids, and he tolerated his illness with exemplary patience. Angels used to greet him. When he used cautery as medication, the angels stopped greeting him. He later stopped this treatment and they resumed greeting him.

In hadith No. 2593 Muṭarrif, the narrator, says: “Imrān ibn Ḥuṣayn sent to me during his final illness. He said: “I am narrating to you some hadiths that God may benefit you by them after I am gone. If I live, keep this to yourself, and if I die you may report it if you so wish. I have been greeted. Know that the Prophet (peace be upon him) combined the hajj with an ‘umrah”.’ This took place shortly before ‘Imrān’s death, and he tells his interlocutor: ‘If I live, keep this to yourself’. What he wanted him to suppress is the fact that he was being greeted by angels. He did not wish this to be known during his own lifetime, fearing that it may lead to admiration and self-congratulation. This would not happen after his death, so he allowed Muṭarrif to report it if he so wished.

‘Imrān says to Muṭarrif that he would be narrating some hadiths ‘that God may benefit you by them’. If you implement them and teach them to others you will reap good benefit. He mentions ‘hadiths’, in the plural, which means a minimum of three, as Arabic has a dual form, which is different from the plural form used for only three or more. Yet here we have only one hadith, which concerns the combination of the hajj and the ‘umrah. The information about his being greeted by the angels is not a hadith. This means that the other hadiths ‘Imrān narrated to Muṭarrif are not mentioned in this narration.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2597 starts with the narrator Ḥāmid ibn ‘Umar al-Bakrāwī. His surname affiliates him to his grandfather’s grandfather, who was Abu Bakrah - a companion of the Prophet. Thus, his full name is Ḥāmid ibn ‘Umar ibn Ḥafṣ ibn ‘Umar ibn ‘Ubaydullāh ibn Abu Bakrah al-Thaqafī.

  - x. Mut‘ah and tamattu‘ are used interchangeably in the context of pilgrimage. Linguistically speaking, they are derived from the same root which means ‘enjoyment, relaxation’. A pilgrim who uses this method enjoys the relaxation of the restriction of consecration in between doing the ‘umrah and performing the hajj later.

THE SACRIFICE DUTY FOR TAMATTU'

[2599-174]. (Dar al-Salam 2832) ‘Abd al-Malik ibn Shu‘ayb ibn al-Layth narrated:<sup>1</sup> my father narrated; from my grandfather; ‘Uqayl ibn Khālid narrated to me; from Ibn Shihāb; from Sālim ibn ‘Abdullāh; that ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar said: ‘In the Farewell Pilgrimage, God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) took advantage of doing the ‘umrah before the hajj and he gave his sacrifice. He brought his sacrifice with him from Dhul-Hulayfah. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) started his iḥrām for the ‘umrah, then for the hajj. Other people took advantage like God’s Messenger, performing the ‘umrah before the hajj. Some people brought their sacrifice with them, and some did not. When God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) arrived in Makkah, he said to people: “Whoever of you has brought his sacrifice, nothing of the restrictions of iḥrām is permitted to him until he has done his hajj. Those who have not brought their sacrifice should perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, cut their hair and release themselves from ihrām. Later, they resume their consecration for the hajj and slaughter their sacrifice. Anyone who cannot find a sacrifice must fast three days during the hajj and seven other days when he returns to his family". God's Messenger (peace be upon him) performed the ṭawāf when he arrived in Makkah, touching the Black Stone first, then jogged for three rounds of the seven and walked in the other four. When he finished his ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, he prayed two rak'ahs at Maqām [Ibrāhīm]. He finished his prayer with salam and proceeded to al-Ṣafa and did the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah seven rounds. He did not release himself from any restriction until he finished his hajj, slaughtered his sacrifice and performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah at the Ka'bah. He was then free of all the restrictions of ihrām. Everyone who had brought their sacrifice with them did the same as God's Messenger (peace be upon him)'.

Text Explanation

The hadith mentions that the Prophet ‘took advantage’ of doing the ‘umrah before the hajj. The Arabic equivalent of ‘took advantage’ is tamatta’a, which is the verb form of tamattu’. Qadi ‘Iyād said that it is used here in its linguistic sense, which is ultimately the qirān method. What it means in practice is that the Prophet first entered into consecration declaring for the hajj on its own, then added the consecration for ‘umrah and thus he was ultimately doing the qirān method of hajj. A person who does the qirān is ‘taking advantage’ in both the linguistic and religious senses because he benefits by having the same mīqāt, consecration and action for both duties. This understanding is necessary to reconcile the relevant hadiths, as we mentioned in earlier chapters. Ibn ‘Umar, the narrator of this hadith, also reports that the Prophet did his hajj in the ifrād method, as mentioned in hadith No. 2611.

In this hadith, the narrator, ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar, says: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) started his ihrām for the ‘umrah, then for the hajj’. This is understood to refer to the talbiyah during consecration. It is not meant to say that the Prophet first declared his consecration for the ‘umrah, then declared for the hajj. To say so is to contradict earlier hadiths. We explained how these hadiths are reconciled. Hence, this one must be understood in agreement with them. This understanding is confirmed by the next sentence, which says: ‘Other people took advantage like God’s Messenger, performing the ‘umrah before the hajj’. It is well-known that many of them, or indeed the majority, started their iḥrām declaring for the hajj alone, i.e., in the ifrād method, then changed it to make it an ‘umrah, which means that it became in the tamattu’ method. Hence, the statement that ‘people also took advantage’ means they did so ultimately, but God knows best.

The Prophet said in this hadith that those of his Companions ‘who have not brought their sacrifice should perform the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, cut their hair and release themselves from iḥrām. Later, they resume their consecration for the hajj and slaughter their sacrifice. Anyone who cannot find a sacrifice must fast three days during the hajj and seven other days when he returns to his family’. The Prophet’s instructions to his Companions meant that they should do the ṭawāf, the sa‘ī and cut a part of their hair. This would signify their release from consecration. This is evidence that cutting one’s hair or shaving one’s head is one of the rituals of the hajj and ‘umrah. This is the correct view of our Shāfi‘ī School. It is subscribed to by the majority of scholars. Some, however, say that cutting one’s hair is not a ritual of hajj or ‘umrah, but merely signifies the permission to do what was restricted. This view, however, lacks firm support, it will be clarified at the appropriate place, God willing. The Prophet ordered cutting the hair in this case, not shaving one’s head, so that the pilgrim would still have hair to remove during the hajj because shaving one’s head at the time of release from consecration in the hajj is preferable to doing so for the release in the 'umrah.

The Prophet tells us that when these rituals have been completed one should 'release oneself from iḥrām'. This means that the person concerned is no longer in iḥrām, and he may do whatever was restricted during iḥrām, such as wearing perfume and ordinary clothes, having intimacy with one's wife, hunting, etc. The Prophet adds: 'Later, they resume their consecration for the hajj and slaughter their sacrifice'. This is the sacrifice for the tamattu' method, which is a duty under certain conditions. Four of these conditions are agreed upon by all scholars and three are subject to differences. The agreed ones are: 1) To start the iḥrām for the 'umrah in the hajj months; 2) To perform the hajj in the same year; 3) The pilgrim must be from a distant place, not a resident of the Grand Mosque area, which is Makkah, and within a distance that does not allow the shortening of prayers; and 4) That the pilgrim does not go back to the mīqāt to start consecration for the hajj. The three conditions on which scholars differ are: 1) To formulate the intention to do the tamattu' method; 2) That the 'umrah and the hajj should be in the same year and month; and 3) That both the hajj and the 'umrah are offered for the same person. The more correct view is that these three are not conditions for the validity of the tamattu', but God knows best.

The Prophet adds: 'Anyone who cannot afford a sacrifice must fast three days during the hajj and seven other days when he returns to his family'. 'Cannot find a sacrifice' means cannot find it there for any reason such as its unavailability, or because one cannot afford it, or because it is being sold at an exorbitant price or because its owner is unwilling to sell it. In any of these situations, the pilgrim is deemed to be 'unable to find the sacrifice'. In this case, such a pilgrim should do the fasting instead, even if he can afford a sacrifice when he returns home. The fasting is as stated in the Qur'an: three days during the hajj and seven additional days after returning home.

These three days to be fasted during the hajj must be before the Day of Sacrifice. It is permissible to fast on Arafat Day as one of them, but it is preferable that one does not fast these days until one starts consecration for the hajj after finishing the 'umrah. If one fasts these three days after finishing the 'umrah and before starting consecration for the hajj, this is acceptable according to the correct view in our school.<sup>iv</sup> If one fasts them after starting the iḥrām for the 'umrah and before finishing it, this fasting is invalid. If one does not fast these three days before the Day of Sacrifice and wants to fast them in the three Tashrīq days that follow it, al-Shāfi'ī gives two views. The better-known view in the Shāfi'ī School is that it is not permissible, but the more correct view according to evidence is that it is permissible. This is the detailed view of our Shāfi'ī School. The Mālikī School agrees with us that the three days may not be fasted before completing the 'umrah, but al-Thawrī and Abu Ḥanīfah say that it is permissible. If one does not fast these three days until the Eid and the Tashrīq days have passed, one must fast in compensation, according to our school. Abu Ḥanīfah says that fasting elapses, and one must do the sacrifice, if possible, but God knows best.

Fasting the seven days is obligatory when one returns. Different views are expressed about what constitutes 'return'. The correct view in our Shāfi'ī School is going back home to one's own family, as this authentic hadith clearly states. The other view is when one finishes the hajj and returns from Mina to Makkah. Both views are expressed by al-Shāfi'ī and Mālik, while Abu Ḥanīfah takes the second view.

A person who does not fast either the three or the seven days until returning home must fast ten days. Should the three days in this case be separated from the seven days? Some scholars say that they need not be separated. The correct view is that the same separation that occurs when the ten days are correctly fasted is necessary. This means a separation of four days plus the time of travel from Makkah to one's own home, but God knows best.

'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) performed the ṭawāf when he arrived in Makkah, touching the Black Stone first, then jogged for three rounds of the seven and walked in the other four. When he finished his ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, he prayed two rak'ahs at Maqām [Ibrāhīm]'. This confirms the ṭawāf of arrival and the desirability of jogging in the first three rounds of this ṭawāf. It also confirms that a prayer of two rak'ahs are offered after the ṭawāf, and that they are more desirable to be offered behind Maqām Ibrāhīm. We mentioned all this earlier, and it will be mentioned again at the appropriate place, God willing.

  - ii. Dar al-Salam attaches this hadith to the previous one and does not give it a separate number.
  - iii. Related by al-Bukhari, 1692.
  - iv. There is some inconsistency here because a person doing the tamattu' should start consecration for the hajj on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, 8 Dhul-Ḥijjah. It is stated here that fasting these three days should be before the Day of Sacrifice, which is 10 Dhul-Ḥijjah. There are only two days before this day. Hence, it is appropriate to start fasting these three days after finishing one's 'umrah and before iḥrām for the hajj. It is also valid to fast them in the three Tashrīq days that follow the Day of Sacrifice.

THE SAME TIME OF RELEASE FOR QIRĀN AND IFRĀD

Text Explanation

This hadith in its different versions confirms the correct view which we clearly stated in the previous chapters that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did his Farewell Pilgrimage in the qirān method. Therefore, when Hafsa refers to 'your 'umrah', she means the 'umrah added to your hajj. The hadiths further show that a pilgrim doing the qirān does not release himself from consecration after his ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and sa'i. He remains in consecration until he has completed his attendance at Arafat, stoned at the 'Aqabah Jamrah, shaved his head and completed the ṭawāf al-ifādah, just as a pilgrim doing the ifrād method.

Those who claim that the Prophet followed the ifrād method give some interpretations for this similarly reported hadith, but these are unsound. Some suggest that Hafsa said the 'umrah but meant the hajj because both are journeys for an intended purpose. Another suggestion is that she meant ihrām, and a third suggestion is that she thought that he performed the 'umrah. A further suggestion says that Hafsa's words: 'from your 'umrah' means by changing your hajj to an 'umrah as others have done. All these suggestions are unsound and lack support. The correct view is as we have already stated.

The Prophet said: 'I have fixed my hair and marked my sacrifice'. This shows that both actions are desirable, and they are sunnah according to the agreed view of scholars. Again, all this has been mentioned earlier.

RELEASE IN CASE OF INABILITY TO CONTINUE

[2606-180]. (Dar al-Salam 2838) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>i</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Nāfi'; that “Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar set out to do the ‘umrah during a time of strife. He said: “If I am prevented from reaching the House, we shall do as we did when we were with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him)”. He set out declaring consecration for the ‘umrah. He travelled until he was in the desert. He then turned to his company and said: “They are both the same. Be my witnesses that I have added the hajj along with the ‘umrah”. He travelled, and when he arrived at the Ka‘bah, he did the ṭawāf seven times, and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah seven times. He did not add to this and considered that it was sufficient for him. He gave a sacrifice’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، قَالَ قَرَأْتُ عَلَى مَالِكٍ عَنْ
تَافِعٍ، أَنَّ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، خَرَجَ فِي
الْفِتْنَةِ مُعْتَمِرًا، وَقَالَ: إِنْ صُدِّدْتُ عَنِ الْبَيْتِ صَنَعْنَا كَمَا

 عَلَيْهِ. وَرَأَى أَنَّهُ مُجْزِي عَنْهُ وَأَهْدَى.

[2607-181]. (Dar al-Salam 2839) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā narrated:<sup>ii</sup> Yaḥyā (who is al-Qaṭṭān) narrated; from ‘Ubaydullāh; Nāfi’ narrated to me; that “‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Abdullāh and Sālim ibn ‘Abdullāh talked to ‘Abdullāh when al-Ḥajjāj sought to fight Ibn al-Zubayr. They said to him: “You need not perform the hajj this year. We fear that there may be fighting between those people, and you may not be able to reach the House”. He said: “If I cannot reach it, I will do as God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) did when I was with him and when the unbelievers of the Quraysh prevented him access to the House. Be my witnesses, I am setting out for an ‘umrah”. He moved on until he reached Dhul-Ḥulayfah where he declared his iḥrām for the ‘umrah. He then said: “If I have free access, I will perform my ‘umrah, and if I am prevented, I shall do as God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) did when I was with him”. He then recited the verse: “In God’s Messenger you have a good model for everyone who looks with hope to God and the Last Day”. (33: 21) He travelled until he was in the desert. He then said: "They are both the same. If I am prevented access for the 'umrah, I will be prevented access for the hajj. Be my witnesses that I have added the hajj along with the 'umrah". He travelled, and he bought his sacrifice at Qudayd. He then performed one tawāf at the Ka'bah, and [one sa'ī] in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. He did not release himself from consecration for either until he released himself from both during the hajj, on the Day of Sacrifice'.

[2608-000]. (Dar al-Salam 2840) Ibn Numayr narrated: my father narrated; ‘Ubaydullāh narrated; from Nāfi’. He said: ‘Ibn ‘Umar wanted to perform the hajj when al-Ḥajjāj confronted Ibn al-Zubayr...’. He narrated the hadith in similar terms and said at the end of the hadith that Ibn ‘Umar used to say: ‘Whoever combines the hajj and the ‘umrah one ṭawāf will be sufficient for him, but he does not release himself from iḥrām until he can release himself from iḥrām for both [duties]’.

He then said: "The hajj and the 'umrah are both the same. Be witness (Ibn Rumh said: Be my witnesses) that I have added the hajj along with the 'umrah". He bought his sacrifice at Qudayd then travelled saying the talbiyah for both duties. When he arrived in Makkah, he performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, and [the sa'ī] in between al-Şafa and al-Marwah. He did not add anything, neither making a sacrifice, nor shaving, nor cutting his hair. He did not release himself from any restrictions of consecration until the Day of Sacrifice when he slaughtered his sacrifice and shaved his head. He considered that his first ṭawāf was sufficient for both the hajj and the 'umrah. Ibn 'Umar said: "Thus did God's Messenger (peace be upon him)".'

Text Explanation

The first hadith, No. 2606 says: “Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar set out to do the ‘umrah during a time of strife. He said: “If I am prevented from reaching the House, we shall do as we did when we were with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him)”. He set out declaring consecration for the ‘umrah. He travelled until he was in the desert. He then turned to his company and said: “They are both the same. Be my witnesses that I have added the hajj along with the ‘umrah”. He travelled, and when he arrived at the Ka‘bah, he did the ṭawāf seven times, and in between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah seven times. He did not add to this and considered that it was sufficient for him. He gave a sacrifice’. This hadith makes it clear that the qirān method is perfectly acceptable and that it is also permissible to add the hajj to one’s ‘umrah before having done its ṭawāf. This is the view of our school and the view of the great majority of scholars. This question has been discussed and explained earlier. The hadith further makes it clear that it is permissible to release oneself from iḥrām if one is prevented from continuing one’s journey.

Ibn ‘Umar said to those who were travelling with him: ‘Be my witnesses’. He said this so that anyone who wished to do like him would know what he was doing. He declared it to them, rather than limited himself to the formulation of the relevant intention, although that would have been enough for the validity of his consecration. He said: ‘Both are the same’. He meant that they have the same ruling of permissibility of release from consecration in the case of being prevented access to the Ka‘bah. The hadith shows that analogy is valid, and it serves as evidence for the validity of action, and that the Prophet's Companions used analogy. In this case, Ibn 'Umar compared the hajj to the 'umrah because the Prophet released himself from consecration for the 'umrah alone at the time of al-Ḥudaybiyah. Moreover, the hadith makes it clear that in the qirān method, one ṭawāf and one sa'ī are sufficient. This is the view of our Shāfi'ī School and the majority of scholars, but Abu Ḥanīfah and a number of scholars take a different view. This question has already been explained.

In this hadith, Ibn 'Umar says: 'If I am prevented from reaching the House, we shall do as we did when we were with God's Messenger (peace be upon him). He set out declaring consecration for the 'umrah'. The correct view is that he meant: if I am denied access to the Ka'bah, I will release myself from iḥrām as we did with the Prophet at the time of al-Ḥudaybiyah. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'It is possible that he meant he would declare for the 'umrah as the Prophet did in the year he was denied access. But he might have meant both, which is more obvious'. In fact, it is not obvious as he claimed. The correct explanation that is indicated by the apparent meaning of his words is what we said earlier, but God knows best.

Hadith No. 2607 concludes with 'until he released himself from both during the hajj, on the Day of Sacrifice'. This means that he released himself from consecration for both the hajj and the 'umrah after doing the actions required for the hajj on its own.

DOING THE HAJJ SEPARATELY OR TOGETHER WITH THE ‘UMRAH

[2611-184]. (Dar al-Salam 2843) Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb and ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Awn al-Hilālī narrated: both said: ‘Abbād ibn ‘Abbād al-Muhallabī narrated; ‘Ubaydullāh ibn ‘Umar narrated; from Nāfi‘; from Ibn ‘Umar (in Yaḥyā’s narration). He said: ‘We started our iḥrām with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring for the hajj only’.

And in Ibn ‘Awn’s narration: ‘That God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) started iḥrām declaring for the hajj only’.

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ أَبِي وَبَّ، وَعَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عَوْنٍ الْهَلَالِيُّ، قَالَا:

Bakr said: ‘I mentioned this to Ibn ‘Umar, and he said: “He said the talbiyah for the hajj on its own”. I then met Anas and told him what Ibn ‘Umar said. Anas said: “You consider us as mere children. I heard God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) say: ‘Labbayk ‘umratan wa ḥajjā’.”’ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ: «لَبَّيْكَ عُمْرَةً وَحَجًّا».

[2613-186]. (Dar al-Salam 2845) Umayyah ibn Bisṭām al-‘Ayshī narrated to me: Yazīd (meaning Ibn Zuray‘) narrated; Ḥabīb ibn al-Shahīd narrated; from Bakr ibn ‘Abdullāh; that ‘Anas narrated that he saw the Prophet (peace be upon him) combining both, i.e., the hajj and the ‘umrah. I asked Ibn ‘Umar and he said: “We declared consecration for the hajj”. I went back to Anas

Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2611 quotes Ibn ‘Umar: ‘We started our ihrām with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring for the hajj only’. Another version states ‘That God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) started ihrām declaring for the hajj only’. This is consistent with the previous hadiths narrated by Jābir, ‘Āishah, Ibn ‘Abbās and others, that the Prophet started his consecration with the intention to do the hajj only. This hadith also shows that the hadith mentioned a short while ago, in which Ibn ‘Umar mentions the qirān, is taken in a particular meaning which has been explained.

Hadith No. 2612 quotes Anas: ‘I heard God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) say: “Labbayk ‘umratan wa ḥajjā”.’ This means: ‘I respond to You doing both the ‘umrah and the hajj’. This is cited as evidence in support of the view that the Prophet did the qirān method. We stated earlier that the correct view concerning the Prophet’s hajj is that he started in the ifrād method, then added the ‘umrah to his hajj, and thus he transferred to the qirān method. We reconciled the relevant hadiths in the best way. The hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Umar in this chapter is understood to refer to how the Prophet began his iḥrām. Anas’ hadith is understood to refer to the middle and later parts of the Prophet’s hajj. It appears that he did not hear what the Prophet said at the beginning. This explanation is necessary so that Anas’ report becomes consistent with the reports of the majority, as earlier explained, but God knows best.

A PILGRIM'S DUTIES ON ARRIVING IN MAKKAH

[2614-187]. (Dar al-Salam 2846) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated: 'Abthar reported; from Ismā'īl ibn Abi Khālid; from Wabarah. He said: 'I was sitting at Ibn 'Umar's when a man came and asked: "May I do the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah before I attend Arafat?" Ibn 'Umar said: "Yes". He said: "But Ibn 'Abbās said: 'Do not perform the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah until you have attended at Arafat'." Ibn 'Umar said: "God's Messenger (peace be upon him) performed the hajj and he did the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah before going to Arafat. Should you take what God's Messenger said or what Ibn 'Abbās said, if you are saying the truth?"'

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، أَخْبَرَنَا عَبَّازٌ، عَنْ إِسْمَاعِيلَ بْنِ أَبِي خَالِدٍ، عَنْ وَبَرَةَ، قَالَ: كُنْتُ جَالِسًا عِنْدَ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، فَجَاءَهُ رَجُلٌ فَقَالَ: أَيُضِلُّ لِي أَنْ أَطُوفَ بِالْبَيْتِ قَبْلَ أَنْ آتِيَ الْمَوْقِفَ؟ فَقَالَ تَعَمْ. فَقَالَ فَإِنَّ ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ يَقُولُ: لَا تَطُفُ بِالْبَيْتِ حَتَّى تَأْتِيَ الْمَوْقِفَ. فَقَالَ ابْنُ

عُمَرَ: فَقَدْ حَجَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ،

 اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَحَقُّ أَنْ تَأْخُذَ، أَوْ يَقُولِ ابْنُ
 عَبَّاسٍ، إِنْ كُنْتَ صَادِقًا؟

[2615-188]. (Dar al-Salam 2847) Qutaybah ibn Sa'īd narrated: Jarīr narrated; from Bayān; from Wabarah. He said: 'A man asked Ibn 'Umar: "May I do the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah as I have started ihrām for the hajj?" Ibn 'Umar said: "What stops you?" He said: "I saw Ibn so-and-so disapproving of it, and we like you better than him. We saw him tempted by worldly matters". He said: "Who of us (or who of you) has not been tempted by worldly matters?" He then added: "We saw God's Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring ihrām for the hajj, then he performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. The way of God and His Messenger is the one to follow, rather than the way of so-and-so, if you are saying the truth".'

وَحَدَّثَنَا قُتَيْبَةُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ، حَدَّثَنَا جَرِيرٌ، عَنْ بَيَّانٍ، عَنْ
 وَبَرَةَ، قَالَ: سَأَلَ رَجُلٌ ابْنَ عُمَرَ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا،
 أَطُوفُ بِالْبَيْتِ وَقَدْ أَحْرَمْتُ بِالْحَجِّ؟ فَقَالَ: وَمَا يَمْنَعُكَ؟
 قَالَ: إِنِّي رَأَيْتُ ابْنَ فُلَانٍ يَكْرَهُهُ، وَأَنْتَ أَحَبُّ إِلَيْنَا مِنْهُ.
 رَأَيْنَاهُ قَدْ فَتَنَهُ الدُّنْيَا. فَقَالَ وَأَيْنَا - أَوْ أَيْكُمْ - لَمْ تَفْتِنَهُ
 الدُّنْيَا؟ ثُمَّ قَالَ: رَأَيْنَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

أَحْرَمَ بِالْحَجِّ، وَطَافَ بِالْبَيْتِ وَسَعَى بَيْنَ الصَّفَا

وَسَلَّمَ أَحَقُّ أَنْ تَتَّبِعَ مِنْ سُنَّةِ فُلَانٍ، إِنْ كُنْتَ صَادِقًا.

[2616-189]. (Dar al-Salam 2848-2849) Zuhayr ibn Harb narrated to me: Sufyān ibn ‘Uyaynah narrated; from ‘Amr ibn Dīnār. He said: ‘We asked Ibn ‘Umar about a man who arrives in Makkah for ‘umrah. He performs the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, but not the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah - may he have sex with his wife? He said: “God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) arrived and performed the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah seven rounds, prayed two rak‘ahs behind Maqām [Ibrāhīm] and did the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah seven rounds. ### Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2614 Ibn ‘Umar answers his questioner as follows: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) performed the hajj and he did the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah before going to Arafat. Should you take what God’s Messenger said or what Ibn ‘Abbās said, if you are saying the truth?’ Ibn ‘Umar’s answer confirms that a pilgrim does the ṭawāf of arrival, which is proper to do before attendance at Arafat. What Ibn ‘Umar said is agreed upon by all scholars except Ibn ‘Abbās. All of them say that the ṭawāf of arrival is a sunnah, i.e., recommended, not a duty, except some of our scholars who say that it is a duty which, if omitted, should be compensated for by sacrificing a sheep. The widely held view is that it is a sunnah, not a duty, and its omission need not be compensated for. If a pilgrim attends Arafat before doing the ṭawāf of arrival, this ṭawāf has lapsed. If such a pilgrim performs a ṭawāf after attending Arafat, it does not count for the arrival. It counts as the ṭawāf al-ifādah if he has not done that one. If he has done the ṭawāf al-ifādah already, this second ṭawāf counts as a voluntary one, not as the ṭawāf of arrival. The ‘umrah does not have a ṭawāf of arrival. The ṭawāf that occurs at the beginning of the ‘umrah is its essential obligatory one, even though a person may intend it as a ṭawāf of arrival. In this case, his intention is overruled. This is the same as someone who owes an obligatory hajj and he decides to perform a voluntary hajj, his hajj is counted as the obligatory one and his intention is overruled, but God knows best.

Ibn ‘Umar says to his interlocutor: ‘If you are saying the truth’. This means if you are sincere in your faith and you are indeed a Muslim who wants to follow God’s Messenger (peace be upon him). In this case, you must not abandon his practice in favour of what may be said by Ibn ‘Abbās or anyone else, but God knows best.

The man said: ‘We saw him tempted by worldly matters’. This is a reference to the fact that he was appointed as governor of Basrah. Any such post may present much temptation. On the other hand, Ibn ‘Umar never held a position of authority. Ibn ‘Umar’s response, ‘who of us has not been tempted by worldly matters’, shows his fairness and humility.

In hadith No. 2616 Ibn ‘Umar is asked whether a person doing the ‘umrah may have intercourse with his wife after his ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah. He answers: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) arrived and performed the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah seven rounds, prayed two rak‘ahs behind Maqām [Ibrāhīm] and did the sa‘ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah seven rounds. In God’s Messenger you have a good model to follow’. This means that it is unlawful for him to have sex with his wife because the Prophet did not release himself from iḥrām until he had completed his ṭawāf and sa‘ī. Muslims must follow the Prophet’s lead and do as he did. This ruling by Ibn ‘Umar is the view of all scholars: a person doing the ‘umrah is not released from consecration until he has completed his ṭawāf and sa‘ī and shortened his hair or shaved his head. The only exception is that Qadi 'Iyād reports that Ibn 'Abbās and Ishāq ibn Rāhawayh said that he is released from iḥrām after his ṭawāf, even though he has not done the sa'i. This is unsound and contrary to the sunnah.

STAYING IN IḤRĀM AFTER ṬAWĀF

[2617-190]. (Dar al-Salam 2850) Ḥārūn ibn Sa‘īd al-Aylī narrated; Ibn Wahb narrated; ‘Amr (who is Ibn al-Ḥārith) reported to me; from Muhammad ibn ‘Abd al-Raḥmān; that a man from Iraq said to him: ‘Ask ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr on my behalf about a man who comes declaring for the hajj - may he release himself from iḥrām when he has completed his ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah? If he tells you that he cannot, say to him that a man says he may’. I asked him [i.e., ‘Urwah] and he answered: “A person who declares his intention for the hajj may not release himself from iḥrām until he completes the hajj [duties]”. I said: “Someone was saying that”. He said: “What he said is very wrong”. The man was looking for me. He questioned me and I told him [what ‘Urwah said]. He said: “Then tell him that a man used to report that God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) did that. Besides, how come Asmā’ and al-Zubayr did it?” I went to him and mentioned to him what the man said. He asked: “Who is he?” I said I did not know. He said: “What is wrong with him that he does not come and ask me himself? I think he is from Iraq". I said I did not know.

‘Urwah said: “He certainly lies. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) performed the pilgrimage. ‘Āishah told me that the first thing he did on arrival in Makkah was that he performed wudu then did the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah. Abu Bakr then performed the hajj and the first thing he did was the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, then there was nothing else. Then ‘Umar did the same. Then ‘Uthmān performed the hajj and I saw that the first thing he did was the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, then there was nothing else. Then Mu‘āwiyah and ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar. Then I performed the hajj with my father, al-Zubayr ibn al-‘Awwām, and the first thing he did was the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, then there was nothing else. I also saw the Muhājirīn and the Anṣār do so, then there was nothing else. The last one I saw doing this was Ibn ‘Umar, and he did not subsequently change it to an ‘umrah. Ibn ‘Umar is available here: should they not ask him? Everyone of those who passed away never started with anything when they first arrived other than the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah. They did not release themselves from iḥrām after it. I saw my mother and my maternal aunt<sup>i</sup> when they arrived. They started with nothing other than the Ka‘bah where they performed the ṭawāf, then they did not release themselves from iḥrām. My mother told me that she arrived with her sister, al-Zubayr and so-and-so and such-and-such on an 'umrah alone. When they touched the Black Stone, they released themselves. Whoever said what you mentioned has lied”.'

(Dar al-Salam 2853) Hārūn ibn Sa‘īd al-Aylī and Ahmad ibn ‘Īsā narrated to me: both said: Ibn Wahb narrated; ‘Amr reported to me; from Abu al-Aswad; that ‘Abdullāh, Asmā’ bint Abu Bakr’s mawlā narrated to him that he used to hear Asmā’ say whenever she passed by al-Ḥajūn: ‘May God grant peace and blessings to His Messenger. We encamped with him here. We were then people with light luggage, few mounts and little provisions. I performed the ‘umrah with my sister, ‘Ā’ishah, al-Zubayr, so-and-so and such-and-such. ### Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2617 ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr replies to the question put to him by a person who was unknown to him, stating that the first thing the Prophet did on arriving in Makkah was to perform wudu and do the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah. This gives evidence that wudu is necessary for the validity of the ṭawāf because the Prophet did so then said: ‘Learn your rituals from me’. The Muslim community is unanimous that wudu before ṭawāf is appropriate, but scholars differ on whether or not it is a condition for the validity of the ṭawāf. Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī, Ahmad and the majority of scholars hold that it is such a condition for the validity of the ṭawāf. Abu Ḥanīfah considers it desirable, not a condition. The majority cite this hadith as their evidence and consider that when we take it in conjunction with the Prophet’s order: ‘Learn your rituals from me’, we realise that the ṭawāf is a duty because everything the Prophet did on his hajj is part of its rituals, and he commanded us to do the same.

A hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Abbās and related by al-Tirmidhī and others quotes the Prophet as saying: ‘The ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah is a prayer but God permitted speaking during it’. However, attributing this hadith to the Prophet is suspect. Hadith scholars say that it is mawqūf, with its chain of transmission stopped at Ibn ‘Abbās, meaning that it is Ibn ‘Abbās’ own statement. However, it is still taken as evidence because it is a statement by a companion of the Prophet which is widely circulated. When such a statement of a Prophet’s companion becomes widely known and nothing is said to contradict it, it becomes acceptable evidence.

In this hadith, the phrase ‘then there was nothing else’ is repeated several times. This is how it occurs in all manuscripts. Qadi ‘Iyād confirms that it occurs in this form in all copies, but he adds: ‘It is a case of misspelling. It should be “then there was no ‘umrah”. [The difference in the written form of Arabic is very little.] The person putting the question to ‘Urwah was asking about the change of iḥrām from one of the hajj to one of ‘umrah according to the scholars who agree to this. He cites the fact that the Prophet ordered his Companions to do so in the Farewell Pilgrimage. ‘Urwah informed the questioner that the Prophet did not do it himself, nor did the people after him’. What Qadi ‘Iyād says of misspelling is not right. The words are correct as they occur in the copies, both in transmission and in meaning. The words ‘nothing else’ mean the ‘umrah and anything else. Thus, the meaning of ‘Urwah’s answer is that then Abu Bakr performed the hajj and the first thing he did was the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, then there was nothing else, i.e., he did not change his intention to do the hajj, nor did he switch to some other act, neither ‘umrah nor qirān, but God knows best.

‘Urwah also said: ‘Everyone of those who passed away never started with anything when they first arrived other than the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah. They did not release themselves from iḥrām after it’. This means that a pilgrim who declares for the hajj should start with the ṭawāf of arrival on entering Makkah. He should do nothing before it, not even the prayer of greeting the mosque. The ṭawāf of arrival must be his first action. This is agreed upon in our school. He adds: ‘They did not release themselves from iḥrām after it’. It is clear that it is not permissible to release oneself from iḥrām after doing the ṭawāf of arrival, as we explained earlier.

‘Urwah also says in the same hadith: ‘My mother told me that she arrived with her sister, al-Zubayr, and so-and-so and such-and-such on an ‘umrah alone. When they touched the Black Stone, they released themselves’. The reference to the ones who ‘touched the Black Stone’ means all of them except ‘Āishah, who did not touch the Black Stone before attending Arafat during the Farewell Pilgrimage. She was prevented from doing her ṭawāf before the Day of Sacrifice because she had begun menstruating. The same applies to what Asmā’ said in hadith No. 2620: ‘I performed the ‘umrah with my sister, ‘Āishah, al-Zubayr, so-and-so and such-and-such. When we touched the House, we released ourselves from iḥrām. We then started our iḥrām for the hajj’. Again, ‘Āishah is excluded here. This is how Qadi ‘Iyāḍ expressed his understanding of the hadith. The information given here is about their hajj with the Prophet, the Farewell Pilgrimage, according to how it is mentioned at the beginning of the hadith. The people mentioned, except ‘Āishah, were in iḥrām for the ‘umrah, which is the one they adopted after changing their iḥrām for the hajj. ‘Āishah was not specifically singled out because her situation is well-known. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ mentioned that some scholars said: ‘It is possible that Asmā’ referred to ‘Āishah’s ‘umrah which she performed with her brother ‘Abd al-Raḥmān, starting from al-Tan‘īm’. He says: ‘Those who say that it is possible that she meant a different occasion, other than the Farewell Pilgrimage, are mistaken because the hadith clearly mentions that it was during the Farewell Pilgrimage’.

In hadith No. 2618 Asmā’ says: ‘We set out in iḥrām. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Whoever has brought his sacrifice stays in iḥrām, and those who have not brought a sacrifice release themselves from iḥrām”. I did not have a sacrifice and therefore I released myself, but al-Zubayr brought his sacrifice with him, and he did not release himself’. It is clear, therefore, that during the Farewell Pilgrimage, al-Zubayr did not release himself from iḥrām before the Day of Sacrifice. Therefore, he should be excepted like ‘Ā’ishah, or it may be that his iḥrām for the ‘umrah and release from it was on an occasion other than the Farewell Pilgrimage, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2617 Asmā’ says: ‘When they touched the Black Stone, they released themselves’. This is understood to mean more than its apparent meaning because the Black Stone is touched at the beginning of the ṭawāf, and release from iḥrām does not occur by merely touching it. This is unanimously agreed upon by all Muslims. What is meant here is when they touched the Black Stone, completed their ṭawāf and sa’i, and then shaved their heads or cut their hair, they released themselves from iḥrām. Her statement must be understood thus, and she merely omitted these details because they are well-known. Scholars are unanimous that no release from iḥrām occurs before the completion of the ṭawāf. According to our school and the majority of scholars, the sa’i and the shaving or cutting of the hair are essential after it. Some early scholars take the view that the sa’i is not a duty. There is nothing in this hadith to support this view because its apparent meaning is not the intended one, according to the unanimous view. It must be understood in the way we explained so that it will be consistent with other hadiths, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2618 al-Zubayr says to his wife after she had released herself from iḥrām: 'Leave me alone'. And in the following hadith, he says to her: 'Stay further away from me'. She said: 'Do you fear that I may jump on you?' He tells her this, fearing that he might inadvertently touch her with desire. To do so during iḥrām is forbidden. He therefore took precautions and told her to keep a distance from him.

- i. This is a reference to his aunt, 'Ā'ishah, and his mother, Asmā' bint Abu Bakr.
  - ii. Al-Zubayr was her husband.

RELEASE FROM IHRĀM DURING THE HAJJ

[2621-194]. (Dar al-Salam 2854) Muhammad ibn Hātim nar-rated: Rawḥ ibn ‘Ubādah narrated; Shu‘bah narrated; from Muslim al-Qurrī. He said: ‘I asked Ibn ‘Abbās about the tamattu’ in the hajj, and he approved of it. Ibn al-Zubayr used to advise against it. He [i.e., Ibn ‘Abbās] said: “Here is Ibn al-Zubayr’s mother narrating that God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) approved of it. Go to her and ask her”. We visited her and found her a large, blind woman. She said: “God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) approved of it”.’

[2622-195]. (Dar al-Salam 2855) Ibn al-Muthannā narrated: ‘Abd al-Raḥmān narrated [H]. Also, Ibn Bashshār narrated; Muhammad (meaning Ibn Ja‘far) narrated; both from Shu‘bah; with the same chain of transmission: In his narration, ‘Abd al-Raḥmān mentions the mut‘ah but he did not say mut‘at al-hajj [i.e. tamattu], while Ibn Ja‘far said: Shu‘bah said; Muslim said: ‘I am unsure whether it is the tamattu‘ in the hajj or temporary marriage’.<sup>i</sup>

[2623-196]. (Dar al-Salam 2856) ‘Ubaydullāh ibn Mu‘ādh nar-rated:<sup>ii</sup> my father narrated; Shu‘bah narrated; Muslim al-Qurrī narrated; he heard Ibn ‘Abbās say: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declared his iḥrām for the ‘umrah, but his Companions declared for the hajj. Neither the Prophet nor those of his Companions who brought their sacrifice with them released themselves from ihrām, while the rest did. Ṭalḥah ibn ‘Ubaydullāh was one who brought his sacrifice with him. He, therefore, did not release himself’.

[2624-197]. (Dar al-Salam 2857) Muhammad ibn Bashshār narrated: Muhammad (meaning Ibn Ja‘far) narrated; Shu‘bah narrated; with the same chain of transmission: the same text, except that he said: ‘Among those who did not bring their sacrifice was Ṭalḥah ibn ‘Ubaydullāh and another man. So, both released themselves from ihrām’.

Imam al-Nawawi considered these hadiths to be self-explanatory, after he had spoken at length about the tamattu' and how the Prophet and his Companions conducted their hajj. Therefore, he did not add any further comment about them.

Transmission

In the chain of transmission of these hadiths we have the narrator Muslim al-Qurrī. He belonged to Banī Qurrah, a clan belonging to the 'Abd al-Qays tribe.

PERFORMING THE 'UMRAH DURING THE HAJJ MONTHS

[2625-198]. (Dar al-Salam 2858) Muhammad ibn Ḥātim nar-rated to me:<sup>1</sup> Bahz narrated; Wuhayb narrated; 'Abdullāh ibn Ṭāwūs narrated; from his father; from Ibn 'Abbās. He said: 'They [meaning the Arabs] used to consider performing the 'umrah in the months of the hajj to be one of the most grievous of sins on earth. They switched [the month of] Ṣafar to al-Muḥarram and said: "When the backs of camels have healed, the traces have been effaced and Ṣafar has gone, the 'umrah is permissible to whoever wishes to do it". The Prophet and his Companions arrived [in Makkah] in the morning of the fourth [of Dhul-Ḥijjah], declaring their iḥrām for the hajj, but he commanded them to make it an 'umrah. They felt that to be an enormity. They said: "Messenger of God, which [type of] release?" He said: "The full release".'

وَحَدَّثَنِي مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ حَاتِمٍ، حَدَّثَنَا بِهِزٌ، حَدَّثَنَا وَهَيْبٌ، حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ طَاوُسٍ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، قَالَ: كَانُوا يَرَوْنَ أَنَّ الْعُمْرَةَ فِي أَشْهُرِ الْحَجِّ مِنْ أَفْجَرِ الْفُجُورِ فِي الْأَرْضِ، وَيَجْعَلُونَ الْمُحَرَّمَ صَفْرًا، وَيَقُولُونَ: إِذَا بَرَأَ الدَّبَرُ، وَعَقَا الْأَثَرُ، وَانْسَلَخَ صَفَرٌ، حَلَّتِ الْعُمْرَةُ لِمَنْ اعْتَمَرَ. فَقَدِمَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأَصْحَابُهُ صَبِيحَةَ رَابِعَةٍ، مُهْلِينَ بِالْحَجِّ، فَأَمَرَهُمْ أَنْ يَجْعَلُوهَا عُمْرَةً. فَتَعَاظَمَ ذَلِكَ عِنْدَهُمْ، فَقَالُوا: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، أَيُّ الْحِلِّ؟ قَالَ: «الْحِلُّ كُلُّهُ».

[2626-199]. (Dar al-Salam 2859) Naṣr ibn ‘Alī al-Jahḍamī nar-rated:<sup>ii</sup> my father narrated; Shu‘bah narrated; from Ayyūb; from Abu al-‘Āliyah al-Barrā’; that he heard Ibn ‘Abbās say: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declared his ihrām for the hajj. He arrived four days after the beginning of Dhul-Hijjah. He offered the Fajr Prayer and said after finishing his prayer: “Whoever wishes to make it an ‘umrah may do so”.’

حَدَّثَنَا تَصْرُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ الْجَهْصَمِيُّ، حَدَّثَنَا أَبِي، حَدَّثَنَا شُعْبَةُ، عَنْ أَيُّوبَ، عَنْ أَبِي الْعَالِيَةِ الْبَرَاءِ، أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا، يَقُولُ: أَهْلَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِالْحَجِّ، فَقَدِمَ لِأَرْبَعِ مَصِينٍ مِنْ ذِي الْحِجَّةِ، فَصَلَّى الصُّبْحَ وَقَالَ لَمَّا صَلَّى الصُّبْحَ: «مَنْ شَاءَ أَنْ يَجْعَلَهَا عُمْرَةً فَلْيَجْعَلَهَا عُمْرَةً».

[2627-200]. (Dar al-Salam 2860) Ibrāhīm ibn Dīnār narrated: Rawḥ narrated [H]. Also, Abu Dāwūd al-Mubārakī narrated; Abu Shihāb narrated [H]. And Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā narrated; Yaḥyā ibn Kathīr narrated; all from Shu‘bah; with the same chain of transmission. Rawḥ and Yaḥyā ibn Kathīr said the same as Naṣr said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declared his iḥrām for the hajj’.

Abu Shihāb said in his narration: ‘We set out with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) declaring our iḥrām for the hajj’.

In all their narrations: ‘He offered the Fajr Prayer in the desert’, except al-Jahḍamī who did not say this.

[2629-202]. (Dar al-Salam 2862) ‘Abd ibn Humayd narrated: ‘Abd al-Razzāq reported; Ma‘mar reported; from Ayyūb; from Abu al-‘Āliyah; from Ibn ‘Abbās. He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) prayed the Fajr Prayer at Dhū Tuwā and arrived when four nights of Dhul-Hijjah had gone. Also, 'Ubaydullāh ibn Mu'ādh narrated (his text); my father narrated; Shu'bah narrated; from al-Hakam; from Mujāhid; from Ibn 'Abbās. He said: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "This is an 'umrah which we have taken advantage of. ### Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2625 starts by mentioning some of the false practices of the Arabs before Islam: ‘They used to consider performing the ‘umrah during the hajj months to be one of the most grievous sins on earth. They switched [the month of] Şafar to al-Muḥarram’. [In the lunar calendar, there are four sacred months, when fighting is forbidden. These are the 7th, 11th, 12th and 1st months. Al-Muḥarram is the first month of the year followed by Şafar.] The hadith speaks about the switching of months which the Arabs used to do. They gave the month of al-Muḥarram the name Ṣafar, which is the next month. They would postpone al-Muḥarram making the month after Ṣafar sacred. They did so in order not to have three consecutive sacred months because that restricted them and prevented them from attacking other tribes or stopped them doing other things that are not allowed during the sacred months. God left them to go astray, and He said: 'The postponement of sacred months is only an excess of unbelief, in which the unbelievers are led astray'. (9: 36)

The hadith quotes what the unbelievers used to say: 'When the backs of camels have healed, the traces have been effaced and Ṣafar has gone, the 'umrah is permissible to whoever wishes to do it'. This refers to the sores on the backs of camels that travel to Makkah carrying pilgrims and their luggage. The long trip to Makkah and back caused prolonged rubbing of saddles on their backs which in turn caused these sores. 'The effaced traces' refers to the traces of the camels on this long trip being effaced by the passage of time.

In hadith No. 2629 we learn that the Prophet 'prayed Fajr Prayer at Dhū Ṭuwā'. This is the name of a valley close to Makkah. This hadith provides evidence in support of the view that it is desirable to enter Makkah during the day, not during the night. It is the more correct view of scholars of our Shāfi'ī School. It is the view of Ibn 'Umar, 'Aṭā', al-Nakha'ī, Ishāq ibn Rāhawayh and Ibn al-Mundhir. The second view is that entering Makkah during the night is the same as entering during the day. There is no special merit in either. This is the view of Qadi Abu al-Ṭayyib Ṭāhir ibn 'Abdullāh, al-Māwardī, Ibn al-Ṣabbāgh and al-'Abdarī of our scholars, and it is the view of Ṭāwūs and al-Thawrī. 'Ā'ishah, Sa'īd ibn Jubayr and 'Umar ibn 'Abd al-'Azīz said that it is desirable to enter Makkah at night. It is preferable to entering during the day, but God knows best.

Transmission

Abu al-‘Āliyah is mentioned in the chains of transmission of some of the hadiths in this chapter, and he is described in hadith No. 2626 and No. 2628 as ‘al-Barrā’. This description refers to the fact that he used to sharpen arrows.

In the chain of transmission of Hadith No. 2627 Abu Dāwūd al-Mubārakī is one of the narrators. His name is Sulaymān ibn Muhammad, and some say it is Sulaymān ibn Dāwūd. He was from al-Mubārak, a small town near Wāsiṭ, between Wāsiṭ and Baghdad, close to the Tigris River.

MARKING THE SACRIFICE AT THE TIME OF IHRĀM

[2632-205]. (Dar al-Salam 2865) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā and Ibn Bashshār narrated:<sup>1</sup> both from Ibn Abi ‘Adiy. Ibn al-Muthannā said: Ibn Abi ‘Adiy narrated; from Shu‘bah; from Qatādah; from Abu Ḥassān; from Ibn ‘Abbās. He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) prayed zuhr at Dhul-Ḥulayfah, then called to his she-camel and marked her on the right side of her hump, allowing the blood to spill. He hung two sandals on her, then mounted his camel. When he was marching in the desert, he declared his ihrām for the hajj’.

حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى، وَابْنُ بَشَّارٍ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ ابْنِ أَبِي عَدِيٍّ. قَالَ ابْنُ الْمُثَنَّى: حَدَّثَنَا ابْنُ أَبِي عَدِيٍّ، عَنْ شُعْبَةَ، عَنْ قَتَادَةَ، عَنْ أَبِي حَسَّانَ، عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ، قَالَ صَلَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الظُّهْرَ بِذِي الْحُلَيْفَةِ، ثُمَّ دَعَا بِنَاقَتِهِ فَأَشْعَرَهَا فِي صَفْحَةٍ سَنَامِهَا الْأَيْمَنِ، وَسَلَّتِ الدَّمَ،

وَقَلَدَهَا نَعْلَيْنِ، ثُمَّ رَكِبَ رَاحِلَتَهُ، فَلَمَّا اسْتَوَتْ بِهِ عَلَى
الْبَيْدَاءِ أَهْلٌ بِالْحَجِّ.

[2633-000]. (Dar al-Salam 2866) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā narrated: Mu‘ādh ibn Hishām narrated; my father narrated; from Qatādah; with the same chain of transmission: the same text as Shu‘bah’s narration, except that he said: ‘When the Prophet arrived at Dhul-Hulayfah’, but he did not say: ‘he prayed zuhr there’.

حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى، حَدَّثَنَا مُعَاذُ بْنُ هِشَامٍ، حَدَّثَنِي

أَتَى ذَا الْحُلَيْفَةِ، وَلَمْ يَقُلْ صَلَّى بِهَا الظُّهْرَ.

[2634-206]. (Dar al-Salam 2867) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā and Ibn Bashshār narrated: Ibn al-Muthannā said: Muhammad ibn Ja‘far narrated; he said: Shu‘bah narrated; from Qatādah; he said: I heard Abu Ḥassān al-A‘raj. He said: ‘A man from the al-Hujaym clan said to Ibn ‘Abbās: “What is this ruling that has had such an appeal to people, or that divided people - that whoever performs the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah releases himself from iḥrām?” He said: “This is your Prophet’s way, even though you may be unwilling [to accept it].’

حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ الْمُثَنَّى، وَابْنُ بَشَّارٍ. قَالَ ابْنُ الْمُثَنَّى: حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ جَعْفَرٍ، قَالَ حَدَّثَنَا شُعْبَةُ، عَنْ قَتَادَةَ، قَالَ: سَمِعْتُ أَبَا حَسَّانَ الْأَعْرَجَ قَالَ: قَالَ رَجُلٌ مِنْ بَنِي الْهَجِيمِ لِابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ: مَا هَذِهِ الْفُتْيَا الَّتِي قَدْ تَشَغَّغْتُ أَوْ تَشَغَّغْتَ بِالنَّاسِ، أَنْ مَنْ طَافَ بِالْبَيْتِ فَقَدْ حَلَّ؟ فَقَالَ: سُنَّةُ نَبِيِّكُمْ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، وَإِنْ رَغِمَتْمْ.

[2635-207]. (Dar al-Salam 2868) Ahmad ibn Sa'īd al-Dārimī narrated to me: Ahmad ibn Ishāq narrated; Hammām ibn Yahyā narrated; from Qatādah; from Abu Ḥassān. He said: 'Ibn 'Abbās was told: "This matter has been widely circulated, that whoever has performed the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah releases himself from ihrām; the ṭawāf is an 'umrah". He said: "This is your Prophet's way, even though you may be unwilling [to accept it]".'

[2636-208]. (Dar al-Salam 2869) Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm narrated:<sup>ii</sup> Muhammad ibn Bakr reported; Ibn Jurayj reported; 'Aṭā' reported to me. He said: 'Ibn 'Abbās used to say: "Whoever performs the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, whether a pilgrim or not, is released from ihrām”. I said to ‘Aṭā’: “On what basis did he say that?” He said: “On the basis of what God says: ‘In the end their place of sacrifice is near the Ancient House’.” (22: 33) I said: “But this comes after the specified one [i.e., ṭawāf al-ifādah]”. He said: “Ibn ‘Abbas used to say: ‘it applies after the specified one and before it’.” He based this on the Prophet’s instructions to them when he commanded them to release themselves from ihrām during the Farewell Pilgrimage’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ، أَخْبَرَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ بَكْرٍ،
 أَخْبَرَنَا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي عَطَاءٌ، قَالَ: كَانَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ
 يَقُولُ لَا يَطُوفُ بِالْبَيْتِ حَاجٌّ وَلَا غَيْرُ حَاجٍّ إِلَّا حَلَّ. قُلْتُ
 لِعَطَاءٍ: هَذَا أَيْنَ يَقُولُ ذَلِكَ؟ قَالَ مِنْ قَوْلِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى:
 «ثُمَّ مَجَلَّهَا إِلَى الْبَيْتِ الْعَتِيقِ». قَالَ: قُلْتُ فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ
 بَعْدَ الْمُعَرَّفِ. فَقَالَ: كَلَانَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ يَقُولُ: هُوَ يَعْدُ
 الْمُعَرَّفَ وَقَبْلَهُ. وَكَانَ يَأْخُذُ ذَلِكَ مِنْ أَمْرِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى
 اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، حِينَ أَمَرَهُمْ أَنْ يَحِلُّوا فِي حَجَّةِ
 الْوَدَاعِ.

Text Explanation

What Ibn ‘Abbās says about such a release from ihrām after the ṭawāf is his own ruling, which is at variance with the ruling of the great majority of scholars of the earliest and later generations. What all scholars other than Ibn ‘Abbās say is that a pilgrim does not release himself from ihrām after the ṭawāf of arrival. He cannot release himself until he has attended Arafat, stoned at the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, shaved his head and performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah. When he has done all these he is fully released. The first release occurs after two of these three: the stoning, shaving and ṭawāf.

Ibn ‘Abbās cited the quoted verse but, in actuality, this gives him no supporting evidence. In this verse, God says: ‘In the end their place of sacrifice is near the Ancient House’. This means that the sacrifice may not be slaughtered anywhere other than the Ḥaram area. The verse makes no reference to the release from iḥrām. Had the verse been referring to such release from consecration, it would have occurred as soon as the sacrifice reached the Ḥaram, which is before the ṭawāf of arrival.

His argument that the Prophet commanded them to release themselves during the Farewell Pilgrimage gives no supporting evidence either. The Prophet’s order was to change their iḥrām from one for the hajj to one for the ‘umrah, for that year only. As such, his order cannot serve as evidence for the release of a person who starts his iḥrām declaring for the hajj, but God knows best.

Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said that Imam al-Māzarī said: ‘Some of our teachers understood Ibn ‘Abbās’ ruling on this question as meaning that a person who misses out on the hajj releases himself from iḥrām after performing the ṭawāf and the sa‘ī. However, this is not relevant because after that he said Ibn ‘Abbās used to say: ‘whoever performs the ṭawāf at the Ka‘bah, whether a pilgrim or not, is released from iḥrām’. But, God knows best.

Text Explanation

The first two hadiths, No. 2637 and No. 2638 are understood to mean that Mu'āwiyah cut the Prophet's hair when he performed the 'umrah, which he started at al-Ji'rānah. In his Farewell Pilgrimage, the Prophet performed the hajj in the qirān method, as previously explained. It is confirmed that he shaved his head at Mina, and Abu Ṭalḥah distributed his hair to people. Therefore, we cannot say that this shortening of the Prophet's hair by Mu'āwiyah was done during the Farewell Pilgrimage. Nor may it apply to the compensatory 'umrah the Prophet and his Companions did in the seventh year of the Prophet's migration to Madinah because Mu'āwiyah was not a Muslim at the time. He embraced Islam in the eighth year when Makkah fell to Islam. This is what is well known and authentic.

The claim that this took place during the Farewell Pilgrimage, adding that the Prophet did his pilgrimage in the tamattu' method, is grossly mistaken. There are numerous hadiths already mentioned in Muslim's Ṣaḥīḥ and those related in other anthologies stating that the Prophet was asked, how come other people released themselves from iḥrām and you have not? He said: 'I have fixed my hair and marked my sacrifice. Therefore, I cannot release myself from iḥrām until I have slaughtered my sacrifice'. In another version: 'until I release myself of the iḥrām for the hajj', but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2639 the Prophet's Companions are said to repeat their talbiyah aloud. This makes it clear that repeating aloud these phrases of responding to God's call to do the pilgrimage is desirable. This is agreed upon, provided that it is not too loud so as to hurt oneself. Women say the talbiyah in such a way that a woman hears herself, but not aloud like men because a woman's voice may be attractive. Saying the talbiyah aloud is recommended according to all scholars, but those of the Zāhirī School say that it is a duty. The talbiyah is said aloud everywhere except in mosques other than the mosques of Makkah, Mina and Arafat. In other mosques, saying it aloud is subject to difference of opinion. Both views are expressed by al-Shāfi'ī and Mālik, and the more correct view is that saying it aloud is desirable as in the three mosques already mentioned. The other view is that it is said quietly so that one does not disturb other people. In the three mentioned mosques, saying it aloud is acceptable because these are places where hajj rituals are done. The hadith also shows that it is perfectly appropriate to do the 'umrah during the hajj months. It also supports al-Shāfi'ī's view that has been mentioned more than once, stating that a pilgrim doing the tamattu' method re-enters into the state of consecration, i.e., iḥrām, on the eighth of Dhul-Hijjah, the Day of al-Tarwiyah, when he proceeds to Mina.

The hadith also mentions: 'On the Day of al-Tarwiyah we declared the iḥrām for hajj as we were about to proceed to Mina'. We have already mentioned the different views regarding the time pilgrims proceed to Mina on the Day of al-Tarwiyah, whether early in the day or after midday.

Note: Imam al-Nawawī does not have anything to say about the first four hadiths in this chapter as his commentary in earlier chapters covers all that they include.

In hadith No. 2646 the Prophet speaks about Jesus' future hajj. This will be after Jesus' second coming at the end of time. The Prophet mentions that he will either do the hajj or the 'umrah or both together. He will start his iḥrām at Fajj al-Rawḥā', which is between Makkah and Madinah. Abu Bakr al-Ḥārithī said that the Prophet passed through it on his way to Badr and to Makkah on both the occasions of taking Makkah over and doing the Farewell Pilgrimage.

THE PROPHET'S 'UMRAHS AND THEIR TIMES

[2648-217]. (Dar al-Salam 2879) Haddāb ibn Khālid narrated:<sup>i</sup> Hammām narrated; Qatādah narrated; that Anas told him; that 'God's Messenger performed the 'umrah four times, all of which were during [the month of] Dhul-Qa'dah except the one alongside his hajj: one from or at the time of al-Ḥudaybiyah in Dhul-Qa'dah, an 'umrah in Dhul-Qa'dah of the following year, an 'umrah from Ji'rānah in Dhul-Qa'dah when he distributed the war gains of [the Battle of] Ḥunayn and an 'umrah combined with his hajj'.

حَدَّثَنَا هَدَّابُ بْنُ خَالِدٍ، حَدَّثَنَا هَمَّامٌ، حَدَّثَنَا قَتَادَةُ، أَنَّ

الَّتِي مَعَ حَجَّتِهِ: عُمْرَةً مِنَ الْحُدَيْبِيَّةِ أَوْ زَمَنَ الْحُدَيْبِيَّةِ
فِي ذِي الْقَعْدَةِ، وَعُمْرَةً مِنَ الْعَامِ الْمُقْبِلِ فِي ذِي

He said: ‘I asked Anas: “How many times did God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) perform the hajj?” He said: “One hajj, and he performed the ‘umrah four times”.’ He added the same text as Haddāb’s narration.

He said: ‘I asked Zayd ibn Arqam: “On how many expeditions did you go with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him)?” He said: “Seventeen”. He added: “And Zayd ibn Arqam narrated to me that God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) went on nineteen expeditions. After his migration [to Madinah], he performed only one hajj - the Farewell Pilgrimage”.’

Abu Ishāq said: ‘And another hajj [when he was] in Makkah’.

I said: “‘Abd al-Raḥmān, did the Prophet (peace be upon him) perform the ‘umrah in Rajab?” He said: “Yes”. I said to ‘Ā’ishah: “Mother, do you hear what Abu ‘Abd al-Raḥmān is saying?” She said: “What is he saying?” I said: “He says that the Prophet performed the ‘umrah in Rajab”. She said: “May God forgive Abu ‘Abd al-Raḥmān. Upon my soul! He never performed the ‘umrah in Rajab. He never performed an ‘umrah without Abu ‘Abd al-Raḥmān being in his company”. Ibn ‘Umar was listening and he said neither no nor yes. He remained silent’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا هَارُونُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، أَخْبَرَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ بَكْرٍ الْبُزْجَانِيُّ، أَخْبَرَنَا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ، قَالَ سَمِعْتُ عَطَاءً يُخْبِرُ،

قَالَ اخْبَرْنِي عُرْوَةُ بْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ، قَالَ: كُنْتُ أَنَا وَابْنُ عُمَرَ مُسْتَنْدَيْنَ إِلَى حُجْرَةِ عَائِشَةَ، وَإِنَّا لَنَسْمَعُ صُرْبَهَا بِالسَّوَالِكِ تَسْتَنُّ. قَالَ: فَقُلْتُ يَا أَبَا عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ، اعْتَمَرَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي رَجَبٍ؟ قَالَ نَعَمْ. فَقُلْتُ لِعَائِشَةَ: أَيُّ أُمَّتَاهُ، أَلَا تَسْمَعِينَ مَا يَقُولُ أَبُو عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ؟ قَالَتْ: وَمَا يَقُولُ؟ قُلْتُ: يَقُولُ اعْتَمَرَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي رَجَبٍ. فَقَالَتْ: يَغْفِرُ اللَّهُ لِأَبِي عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ. لَعَمْرِي مَا اعْتَمَرَ فِي رَجَبٍ. وَمَا اعْتَمَرَ مِنْ عُمْرَةٍ، إِلَّا وَإِنَّهُ لَمَعَهُ. قَالَ: وَابْنُ عُمَرَ يَسْمَعُ، فَمَا قَالَ لَا، وَلَا نَعَمْ. سَكَتَ.

[2652-220]. (Dar al-Salam 2883) Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm narrated:<sup>iv</sup> Jarīr reported; from Manṣūr; from Mujāhid. He said: ‘I entered the mosque with ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr. ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar was sitting there next to ‘Ā’ishah’s apartment, while people were offering the Ḍuhā Prayer in the mosque. We asked him about their prayer, and he said that it is a deviation [i.e., bid‘ah]. ‘Urwah said: “Abu ‘Abd al-Raḥmān, how many times did God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) perform the ‘umrah?” He said: “Four ‘umrahs, one of which was in Rajab”. We disliked to say he was wrong or to argue with him. We heard ‘Ā’ishah brushing her teeth in her apartment. ‘Urwah said: “Mother of the Believers, do you hear what Abu ‘Abd al-Raḥmān is saying?” She asked: “What is he saying?” He said: “He is saying that the Prophet (peace be upon him) performed the ‘umrah four times, one of which was during Rajab”. She said: “May God bestow His grace on Abu ‘Abd al-Rahmān. Every time God’s Messenger performed the ‘umrah, he was with him. He never performed the ‘umrah in Rajab”.’

عَنْ مُجَاهِدٍ، قَالَ: دَخَلْتُ أَنَا وَعُرْوَةُ بْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ
الْمَسْجِدَ، فَإِذَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ جَالِسٌ إِلَى حُجْرَةِ
عَائِشَةَ، وَالنَّاسُ يُصَلُّونَ الصُّحَى فِي الْمَسْجِدِ.
فَسَأَلْنَاهُ عَنْ صَلَاتِهِمْ، فَقَالَ بِدْعَةٍ. فَقَالَ لَهُ عُرْوَةُ: يَا
أَبَا عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ، كَمْ اعْتَمَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ؟ فَقَالَ أَرْبَعَ عُمَرَ، إِحْدَاهُنَّ فِي رَجَبٍ. فَكَرِهْنَا أَنْ
نُكَذِّبَهُ، وَتَرَدَّ عَلَيْهِ. وَسَمِعْنَا ابْنَتَيْنِ عَائِشَةَ فِي الْحُجْرَةِ.
فَقَالَ عُرْوَةُ: أَلَا تَسْمَعِينَ يَا أُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِلَى مَا يَقُولُ
أَبُو عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ؟ فَقَالَتْ: وَمَا يَقُولُ؟ قَالَ: يَقُولُ
اعْتَمَرَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرْبَعَ عُمَرَ إِحْدَاهُنَّ
فِي رَجَبٍ. فَقَالَتْ: يَرْحَمُ اللَّهُ أَبَا عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ، مَا
اعْتَمَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِلَّا وَهُوَ مَعَهُ.
وَمَا اعْتَمَرَ فِي رَجَبٍ قَطً.

Text Explanation

These hadiths speak about the number and times of the Prophet’s ‘umrahs. What is gathered from Anas’ and Ibn ‘Umar’s reports is that they agree that the Prophet did the ‘umrah four times. The first was during the month of Dhul-

Qa'dah in the sixth year of the Prophet's migration. This was at the time of al-Ḥudaybiyah, when they were prevented entry into Makkah and released themselves from iḥrām. This was, however, counted as 'umrah for them. The second was the compensatory 'umrah in Dhul-Qa'dah of the following year. The third was in the same month of the eighth year when Makkah was taken over by the Prophet. The fourth was the one combined with his hajj. Its iḥrām was in Dhul-Qa'dah and its duties were performed in Dhul-Hijjah.

Ibn 'Umar said that one 'umrah was in Rajab, but 'Ā'ishah dis-agreed and Ibn 'Umar remained silent when he heard her statement. Scholars hold that this shows that he must have forgotten or was in doubt or confused. Hence, he did not argue with 'Ā'ishah. What she said was the truth that must be upheld. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

Anas mentioned that the fourth 'umrah was the one the Prophet did with his hajj, which shows that he did the qirān. However, many of the Prophet's Companions disagree. We have already said that the Prophet performed his hajj in the ifrād method, which refutes what Anas said. As 'Ā'ishah also refuted what Ibn 'Umar said, the fact is that he did three 'umrahs. It is not known that the Prophet did any 'umrah other than what we have said... Mālik confirms in al-Muwaṭṭa' that they were three 'umrahs.

What Qadi 'Iyāḍ has said here is unsound, indeed wrong. The fact is that the Prophet performed the 'umrah four times, as clearly and categorically stated by both Ibn 'Umar and Anas. Their reports cannot be rejected without a categorical and decisive basis. His statement that the Prophet did the ifrād hajj, not the qirān, is also wrong. The fact is that he started his iḥrām in the ifrād method, then he declared iḥrām for the 'umrah which meant that he changed to the qirān method. This explanation is absolutely necessary, but God knows best. Scholars said that the Prophet did these ‘umrahs in Dhul-Qa‘dah because of the special status of this month and to do the opposite of what the unbelievers upheld. As mentioned earlier, they considered performing the ‘umrah in the hajj months to be a very grave sin. Therefore, the Prophet did it several times in these months to stress the fact that it is permissible, and to put an absolute end to what was practised in the pre-Islamic days of ignorance, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2649 Anas says that the Prophet performed only one hajj. This means that after migrating to Madinah, the Prophet performed the hajj once only, which was the Farewell Pilgrimage, in the tenth year of his migration. In hadith No. 2650 Abu Ishāq says that the Prophet did another hajj in Makkah. This means that his other hajj was performed whilst still living in Makkah, before his migration. It is also reported in Hadith anthologies other than Muslim’s that he did the hajj twice whilst in Makkah.

In the same hadith, No. 2650 Zayd ibn Arqam mentions that God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) went on nineteen expeditions. This means that he did these nineteen and I was with him, or that I know of nineteen expeditions he did. The total number of his expeditions was twenty-five, but they are also stated to be twenty-seven, and other figures are also mentioned. They are well-known in the relevant books.

In hadith No. 2651 ‘Āishah says: ‘Upon my soul, he never performed the ‘umrah in Rajab’. This serves as evidence that it is permissible for a person to say, ‘upon my soul’. Mālik disapproves of it because it gives great importance to someone other than God and because it is akin to making an oath by something other than God.

In the last hadith, No. 2652 Ibn ‘Umar answered his questioner who asked him about the prayer of those who were offering the mid-morning voluntary prayer in the mosque by saying that it is a bid‘ah, which means deviation. Qadi ‘Iyād and other scholars understand this as meaning that offering it in the mosque and meeting there to offer it is a deviation. He did not mean that the very prayer is a bid‘ah. This point was discussed in the Book of Prayer, but God knows best.

‘UMRAH DURING RAMADAN

[2653-221]. (Dar al-Salam 2884) Muhammad ibn Hātim ibn Maymūn narrated to me:<sup>1</sup> Yaḥyā ibn Sa‘īd narrated; from Ibn Jurayj; he said: ‘Aṭā’ reported to me; he said: I heard Ibn ‘Abbās narrating to us; he said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said to a woman from the Anṣār (Ibn ‘Abbās mentioned her name but I forgot it): “What stopped you from offering the hajj with us?” She said: “We have only two camels we use for irrigation. My husband and son used one for their hajj and they left us the other for our use”. He said: “Then perform the ‘umrah next Ramadan, for an ‘umrah during Ramadan is equal to a hajj”.’

وَحَدَّثَنِي مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ حَاتِمٍ بْنُ مَيْمُونٍ، حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ، قَالَ أَخْبَرَنِي عَطَاءٌ، قَالَ: سَمِعْتُ ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ يُحَدِّثُنَا، قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِمَرْأَةٍ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ، سَمَّاها ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ فَنَسِيتُ اسْمَهَا: «مَا مَنَعَكَ أَنْ تَحُجِّي مَعَنَا؟» قَالَتْ: لَمْ يَكُنْ لَنَا إِلَّا تَاضِحَانِ، فَحَجَّ أَبُو وَلَدِهَا وَابْنُهَا عَلَى تَاضِحٍ،

فَاعْتَمِرِي، فَإِنَّ عُمْرَةً فِيهِ تَعْدِلُ حَجَّةً».

[2654-222]. (Dar al-Salam 2885) Ahmad ibn ‘Abdah al-Dabbī narrated:<sup>ii</sup> Yazīd (meaning Ibn Zuray‘) narrated; Ḥabīb al-Mu‘allim narrated; from ‘Aṭā’; from Ibn ‘Abbās; that ‘The Prophet (peace be upon him) said to a woman from the Anṣār called Umm Sinān: “What prevented you from performing the hajj with us?” She said: “Abu so-and-so (her husband) has two camels we use for irrigation. He used one for him and his son to go on the hajj and left the other for our servant to use for irrigation”. The Prophet said: “An ‘umrah in Ramadan compensates for a hajj, or a hajj with me”.’

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَحْمَدُ بْنُ عَبْدِ الصَّهْبِيِّ، حَدَّثَنَا يَزِيدُ (يَعْنِي ابْنَ زُرَيْعٍ)، حَدَّثَنَا حَبِيبُ الْمُعَلِّمِ، عَنْ عَطَاءٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لِامْرَأَةٍ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ يُقَالُ لَهَا أُمُّ سِنَانٍ: «مَا مَنَعَكَ أَنْ تَكُونِي حَاجَّةً مَعَنَا؟» قَالَتْ: تَاضِحَانِ كَانَا لِأَبِي فَلَانَ - رَوْجَهَا - حَجٌّ هُوَ وَابْنُهُ عَلَى أَحَدِهِمَا، وَكَانَ الْآخَرُ يَسْقِي عَلَيْهِ غُلَامُنَا. قَالَ: «فَعُمْرَةٌ فِي رَمَضَانَ تَقْضِي حَجَّةً. أَوْ حَجَّةً مَعِي».

Text Explanation

In the first hadith, No. 2653 the Prophet says that an ‘umrah during Ramadan ‘is equal to a hajj’, and in the second he says that it ‘compensates for a hajj’. This means that an ‘umrah in Ramadan is given a reward equal to that of a hajj. It does not mean that it is equal to a hajj in everything. If a person has a duty to perform the hajj and he performs an ‘umrah during Ramadan, his ‘umrah does not fulfil the duty that is required. He must still do it, but he receives for his ‘umrah during Ramadan the reward of a hajj.

In the second hadith, No. 2654 Umm Sinān tells the Prophet that the other camel they had is ‘for our servant to use for irrigation’. This is how the hadith wording occurs in the copies in our areas, and Qadi ‘Iyāḍ mentions it in the same way as narrated by ‘Abd al-Ghāfir al-Fārisī and others. He then comments: ‘In my view, this is a misspelling, and the correct text should be: “we use to irrigate our date farm”. And this is how it occurs in al-Bukhari’s Ṣaḥīḥ’. Our view is that Muslim’s narration is correct, and the addition mentioned by Qadi ‘Iyāḍ is abridged but understood. This often occurs in speech, but God knows best.

Also, Ibn Numayr narrated; my father narrated; ‘Ubaydullāh narrated; from Nāfi‘; from Ibn ‘Umar; that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) used to leave [Madinah] through the Tree Way and enter it through al-Mu‘arras Way. [2656-000]. (Dar al-Salam<sup>ii</sup>) Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb and Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā narrated: both said:

[2658-225]. (Dar al-Salam 2888) Abu Kurayb narrated:<sup>iv</sup> Abu Usāmah narrated: from Hishām; from his father; from ‘Ā’ishah; that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) entered Makkah in the year of its takeover from Kadā’ on its higher side’.

Hishām said: ‘My father used to enter from both sides, but he more often entered from Kadā’.

Text Explanation

The first hadith, No. 2655 mentions that the Prophet changed his route when entering and leaving Madinah or Makkah. The Prophet did this as a gesture of optimism, hoping that things had improved. He did the same at the time of Eid, going to the prayer place and taking a different route on his return. Another reason is that both routes would be his witnesses, and that the people along them would have the blessing of meeting him.

The view of our Shāfi‘ī School is that it is desirable to enter Makkah through the higher path and leave it through the lower path, as this hadith indicates. There is no difference whether a path is on one’s route, as is the case of the higher path for travellers from Madinah and Syria, or is not on one’s route, as is the case for travellers from Yemen. Thus, a Yemeni traveller and others in similar situations are recommended to go round and enter Makkah through the higher path. Some of our scholars say that the Prophet entered through the higher path because it was on his route, and that it is not desirable to come to it if it is not on a traveller's route. However, this view lacks sound basis, and the correct view is the first one. Thus, it is desirable for travellers to leave their hometown through one route and return through a different route, as this hadith indicates.

Al-Mu'arras is a well-known place around six Arabian miles from Madinah. Al-Baṭḥā' is an open area close to al-Muḥaṣṣab. Kadā' is the path which is at the higher side of Makkah. It is different from Kudayy, which is on the way of people leaving Makkah to go south towards Yemen.

WHEN TO ENTER MAKKAH

[2659-226]. (Dar al-Salam 2889) Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb and ‘Ubaydullāh ibn Sa‘īd narrated to me:<sup>i</sup> both said: Yaḥyā (who is al-Qaṭṭān) narrated; from ‘Ubaydullāh; Nāfi’ reported to me; from Ibn ‘Umar; that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) stayed the night until the morning at Dhu Ṭawā, then entered Makkah’.

He added: ‘‘Abdullāh used to do that’.

In Ibn Sa‘īd’s narration: ‘Until he prayed Fajr’.

Yaḥyā said: ‘Or he said: until the morning’.

حَدَّثَنِي زُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، وَعُبَيْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ، قَالَا:
حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى (وَهُوَ الْقَطَّانُ)، عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ، أَخْبَرَنِي
تَافِعٌ، عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ بَاتَ بِذِي طَوًى حَتَّى أَصْبَحَ، ثُمَّ دَخَلَ مَكَّةَ.

قَالَ: وَكَانَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ يَفْعَلُ ذَلِكَ. وَفِي رِوَايَةِ ابْنِ سَعِيدٍ
حَتَّى صَلَّى الصُّبْحَ.

قَالَ يَحْيَى: أَوْ قَالَ حَتَّى أَصْبَحَ.

[2660-227]. (Dar al-Salam 2890) Abu al-Rabī' al-Zahrānī nar-rated:<sup>ii</sup> Hammād narrated; Ayyūb narrated; from Nāfi'; that 'Whenever Ibn 'Umar came to Makkah, he would stay the night at Dhu Ṭawā until the morning when he would take a bath and enter Makkah during the day. He used to say that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did this'.

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو الرَّبِيعِ الرَّهْرَانِيُّ، حَدَّثَنَا حَمَّادٌ، حَدَّثَنَا أَيُّوبٌ،
عَنْ نَافِعٍ، أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ كَانَ لَا يَقْدَمُ مَكَّةَ إِلَّا بَاتَ بِذِي
طَوًى حَتَّى يُصْبِحَ وَيَغْتَسِلَ، ثُمَّ يَدْخُلُ مَكَّةَ نَهَارًا. وَيَذْكُرُ
عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ فَعَلَهُ.

[2661-228]. (Dar al-Salam 2891) Muhammad ibn Ishāq al-Musayyabī narrated:<sup>iii</sup> Anas (meaning Ibn 'Iyād) narrated to me; from Mūsā ibn 'Uqbah; from Nāfi'; that 'Abdullāh narrated to him that 'When God's Messenger (peace be upon him) went to Makkah, he would stop at Dhu Ṭawā where he would stay until he had prayed the Fajr Prayer, then enter Makkah. The Prophet's prayer place was on a hard knoll. It was not at the spot where a mosque was later built, but some distance below it on a hard knoll'.

وَحَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ إِسْحَاقَ الْمُسَيَّبِيُّ، حَدَّثَنِي أَنَسٌ
(يَعْنِي ابْنَ عِيَّاضٍ)، عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ عُقْبَةَ، عَنْ نَافِعٍ، أَنَّ
عَبْدَ اللَّهِ حَدَّثَهُ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

كَانَ يَنْزِلُ بِذِي طَوًى، وَيَبِيتُ بِهِ حَتَّى يُصَلِّيَ الصُّبْحَ حِينَ
يَقْدُمُ مَكَّةَ. وَمُصَلَّى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
ذَلِكَ عَلَى أَكْمَةِ غَلِيظَةٍ، لَيْسَ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ الَّذِي بُنِيَ
ثُمَّ، وَلَكِنْ أَسْفَلَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ عَلَى أَكْمَةِ غَلِيظَةٍ.

[2662-229]. (Dar al-Salam 2892) Muhammad ibn Ishāq al-Musayyabī narrated:<sup>iv</sup> Anas (meaning Ibn ‘Iyād) narrated to me; from Mūsā ibn ‘Uqbah; from Nāfi’; that ‘Abdullāh reported to him that ‘God’s Messenger faced the two paths at the mountain between him and the long mountain, in the direction of the Ka’bah. He thus placed the mosque that was later built there to the left of the mosque, which is now to the side of the knoll. God’s Messenger’s prayer place was lower, on the black knoll, leaving ten arm lengths, or something similar. He was thus facing the mountain paths in the direction of the long mountain between him and the Ka’bah’.

Text Explanation

These hadiths give us some interesting points, such as taking a bath before entering Makkah, and this may be done at Dhū Ṭawā, if it is on one's way, and at a similar distance if one is coming from a different direction. Our scholars say that taking this bath is recommended, i.e., sunnah. If one is unable to do it, one may do the dry ablution, i.e., tayammum. Another thing to do is to stay the night at Dhū Ṭawā, which is desirable if it is on one's way. It is a well-known place close to Makkah.

It is also recommended to enter Makkah during the day. This is correct and agreed upon by the majority of our and other scholars. They maintain that it is better than entering at night. Some of our scholars and some of the earlier generations said that to enter at night or during the day are equally good, and neither is to be preferred. It is confirmed that when the Prophet performed the 'umrah which he started at al-Ji'rānah<sup>v</sup>, he entered Makkah in iḥrām at night. Scholars who maintain the first view suggest that the Prophet did the latter one to show that entering Makkah at night is permissible, but God knows best.

He said: 'God's Messenger and his Companions arrived in Makkah when the Yathrib fever had weakened them. The unbelievers said: "Some people will be arriving tomorrow, and the fever has sapped their strength and they have been weakened by it". They sat down close to al-Hijr. The Prophet ordered (his Companions) to jog for three rounds, walking in between the two corners, so that the unbelievers would see their perseverance. ### Text Explanation

The hadiths in this chapter speak of jogging in the first three rounds of ṭawāf. Jogging means walking fast with short steps, without jumping. It is desirable or a sunnah in the first three rounds of the seven in the ṭawāf. It is a sunnah in the ṭawāf for the ‘umrah and in one ṭawāf in the hajj. Scholars differ as to which ṭawāf in the hajj, with both views expressed by al-Shāfi‘ī. The more correct view is that it is acceptable in a ṭawāf that is followed by a sa‘ī. This can be only the ṭawāf of arrival or the ṭawāf al-ifādah. It cannot be imagined in the ṭawāf of farewell because this ṭawāf can only be done after the ṭawāf al-ifādah. On this basis, when a pilgrim performs the ṭawāf of arrival, he is advised to jog in the first three rounds if he intends to do the sa‘ī after it. If he has no intention of doing the sa‘ī, he should not jog in this ṭawāf, leaving jogging until he does the ṭawāf al-ifādah. The other view is that a pilgrim should jog in the ṭawāf of arrival, whether he wishes to do the sa‘ī after it or not, but God knows best.

Our scholars said that if a pilgrim falls short of doing the jogging in the first three rounds, he should not compensate for this by jogging at any time in the last four rounds because the sunnah is to walk normally in these rounds. Therefore, he should not change this. If a pilgrim cannot jog because the place is crowded, he should walk in a way that imitates jogging. If he cannot jog close to the Ka‘bah in the crowd and can do it at a distance from it, it is better to jog at a distance. The jogging is an aspect of the worship itself, while being near the Ka‘bah relates to the place of worship, not to the act of worship itself, but God knows best. Scholars agree that jogging does not apply to women when they do the ṭawāf, in the same way as it does not apply to them in the sa‘ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah. If a man does not jog where jogging is recommended, he a sunnah, and nothing is required of him according to our school. Mālikī scholars differ on this point, with some of them saying that he compensates by offering a sacrifice and others say no compensation is needed.

In hadith No. 2663 'He would jog at the bottom of the valley when he performed the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah'. Scholars are unanimous that such fast jogging is desirable at this place, and its distance is well-known, extending from the green mark hung in the open area in the mosque up to the two green marks that are in the mosque and al-'Abbās' home. [This is now marked with green lights and lines on every floor where the sa'ī is done.]

Hadith No. 2664 says: 'When God's Messenger (peace be upon him) performed the ṭawāf on arrival for the hajj or the 'umrah, he would jog the first three rounds of the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah and walk the other four. He would then pray two rak'ahs and then do the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah'. The words 'on arrival' clearly mean that jogging applies first of all in the ṭawāf of the 'umrah and the ṭawāf of arrival in the hajj. The hadith speaks of three and four rounds which clearly means that jogging is limited to only the first three rounds of the ṭawāf. The two rak'ahs after the ṭawāf are a sunnah, i.e., recommended, according to the best-known view of our school. Some say that they are a duty. The hadith says 'and then do the sa'ī', which shows that the ṭawāf and the sa'ī should be done in the right order, and that starting with ṭawāf is a condition. If a pilgrim starts with the sa'ī before the ṭawāf, his sa'ī is not valid, according to our school and the majority of scholars. Some early scholars have a different view, but it is rather unsound, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2665 the narrator says: 'I saw God's Messenger (peace be upon him) as he arrived in Makkah. When he had wiped the Black Stone at the beginning of his ṭawāf on arrival'. This shows that it is desirable to wipe the Black Stone at the beginning of the ṭawāf. This is agreed upon by all to be one of the recommended practices during the ṭawāf. Qadi Abu al-Ṭayyib, a Shāfi‘ī scholar, considers this as evidence recommending wiping both the Black Stone and its corner, while the majority of our scholars limit this sunnah to wiping the Black Stone. Wiping is done with one’s hand.

Hadith No. 2666 says: ‘God’s Messenger jogged from the Black Stone and back to it three times, and then walked four’. This makes it clear that the jogging during the ṭawāf covers the full round starting and finishing at the Black Stone. However, in hadith No. 2674 ‘The Prophet ordered (his Companions) to jog for three rounds, walking in between the two corners’. This is amended by the later hadith, numbered here 2666.<sup>viii</sup> Speaking of walking between the two corners, this hadith refers to the compensatory ‘umrah done in the seventh year, i.e., before Makkah was taken over. At the time, the Muslims were complaining of physical weakness, and they jogged to show that they were strong. They needed a little relaxation between the two corners. The unbelievers were sitting in the Hījr, which is the semi-circle area next to the Ka‘bah. From their position, they could not see what was behind the two corners, but they could see the Muslims in the rest of the ṭawāf area. When the Prophet performed the hajj in the tenth year, he jogged the complete round. Hence, we should follow his later practice.

In hadith No. 2670 Abu al-Ṭufayl says that he asked Ibn ‘Abbās: ‘What do you say about this jogging for three rounds at the Ka‘bah and walking four rounds – is it a sunnah? Your people claim that it is a sunnah’. He said: ‘They are right and they lie’, etc. This means that they told the truth in saying that the Prophet did it, but they lied when they said that it is a confirmed sunnah because the Prophet did not make it a sunnah to be done year after year. He simply ordered his Companions to do it on that occasion to demonstrate the Muslims’ strength when they were in the midst of unbelievers. This is no longer the case. This is the meaning of Ibn ‘Abbās’ argument, stating that jogging is not a confirmed sunnah for all time. This is his view, and it is contrary to the view of all scholars among the Prophet’s Companions, the tābi‘īn and the following generations. They say that jogging in the first three rounds of the first ṭawāf is a sunnah. If a person does not do it, he omits a sunnah but his ṭawāf is valid and he need give no compensation. ‘Abdullāh ibn al-Zubayr said that it is a sunnah in all seven rounds. Al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, al-Thawrī and ‘Abd al-Malik ibn al-Majishūn of the Mālikī School said that a pilgrim who does not jog needs to sacrifice a sheep in compensation. Mālik used to say the same, but later abandoned this view. The evidence in support of the majority view is that the Prophet jogged in the first three rounds of his ṭawāf during the Farewell Pilgrimage and walked in the other four. He later said: ‘Learn your rituals from me’. But God knows best.

In the same hadith, Abu al-Ṭufayl adds that he said to Ibn ‘Abbās: ‘Tell me about riding during the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah – is it a sunnah? Your people claim that it is a sunnah’. He said: ‘They are right and they lie’, etc. He meant that they told the truth when they said that the Prophet did the sa‘ī riding, but they lied when they said that it was preferable. Walking during the sa‘ī is certainly preferable. The Prophet did it on his mount because of the situation mentioned in the hadith. What Ibn ‘Abbās said in this case is unanimously agreed upon. All scholars agree that riding during the sa‘ī is permissible, but walking is preferable, except when there is a valid reason justifying riding, but God knows best.

In the same hadith, people gathered around the Prophet and ‘even women kept indoors came out’. The reference is to young adolescent women, or ones who reached the age of marriage. They are no longer sent on small errands as younger girls.

Text Explanation

These hadiths are consistent. The two Yemenī corners are the ones which house the Black Stone and the Yemenī Corner. They are described as the two Yemenī ones according to the Arab practice of giving preponderance to one of two people or things that are often jointly mentioned, such as saying the ‘two ‘Umars’ in reference to Abu Bakr and ‘Umar, or the ‘two moons’ in reference to the sun and the moon, and the ‘two black ones’ in reference to dates and water.

The Ka‘bah has four corners: the Black and the Yemeni, which are referred to together as the two Yemenī corners, while the other two are referred to as the two Shāmī [i.e. Syrian] corners. Two points of merit distinguish the Black Corner: it stands on the original foundations placed by Prophet Abraham, and it houses the Black Stone. The Yemenī Corner also shares the merit of standing on Abraham’s foundations. The two Shāmī corners share neither of these merits. Therefore, the Black Stone is given two gestures of distinction: it is wiped and kissed, while the Yemenī has one gesture, which is being wiped but not kissed. Neither of these gestures is done at the Shāmī corners, but God knows best.

All the Muslim community agree that touching the two Yemenī corners is desirable, and the great majority agree that the other two are not touched, but some scholars of the earliest generations considered it desirable. These include al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn, ‘Alī’s sons; Ibn al-Zubayr, Jābir ibn ‘Abdullāh, Anas ibn Mālik, ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr and Abu al-Sh‘thā’ Jābir ibn Zayd. Qadi Abu al-Ṭayyib Ṭāhir ibn ‘Abdullāh said: ‘The leading scholars of all regions agree that the two Shāmī corners are not touched or wiped. There was disagreement on this point by a number of the Prophet’s Companions and the tābi‘īn, but this disagreement came to an end and the unanimous view now is that these two corners are not touched, but God knows best’.

Hadith No. 2678 mentions: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) did not wipe except the [Black] Stone and the Yemenī Corner’. This hadith provides an argument in support of the view of the majority of scholars that the Black Stone is only touched and wiped, but not the corner in which it is housed. We mentioned earlier that Qadi Abu al-Ṭayyib had a different view. The next hadith, No. 2679 states: ‘I never left, in hardship or comfort, wiping these two corners, the Yemeni and the [Black] Stone, ever since I saw God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) wiping them’. This hadith shows that it is desirable to kiss one’s hand after touching the Black Stone, if one is unable to kiss it directly. This hadith is understood to refer to the situation where one is unable to kiss the Black Stone because of crowding. In this case, one kisses one’s own hand after touching it. On the other hand, if one is able to kiss the Black Stone, one kisses it but not one’s own hand. This is the view of our school, and it is shared by the majority of scholars. Al-Qāsim ibn Muhammad, a well-known scholar of the tābi‘īn generation, said that kissing is undesirable. His view is shared by Mālik, in one of the two views he expressed, but God knows best.

KISSING THE BLACK STONE DURING THE ṬAWĀF

[2682-248]. (Dar al-Salam 2912) Ḥarmalah ibn Yaḥyā narrated to me:<sup>1</sup> Ibn Wahb reported; Yūnus and ‘Amr reported to me [H]. He said: “Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb kissed the Black Stone, then said: “By God, I know that you are a [mere] stone. Had I not seen God’s Messenger kissing you, I would not have kissed you’.

Ḥārūn added in his narration: “Amr said: “The same was narrated to me by Zayd ibn Aslam, from Aslam, his father”.’

Text Explanation

These hadiths mention ‘Umar’s words to the Black Stone after he kissed it. He states that he was aware that it was a mere stone, and in one hadith he adds that it brought neither harm nor benefit. This hadith, in its different versions, mentions some useful points, including the desirability of wiping and kissing the Black Stone during the ṭawāf. It is also desirable to prostrate oneself on it by placing one’s forehead thereon. Thus, one wipes, kisses and places one’s forehead on it. This is the view of our school and the majority of scholars. Ibn al-Mundhir mentions that this view was expressed by ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, Ibn ‘Abbās, Ṭāwūs, al-Shāfi‘ī and Ahmad. Ibn al-Mundhir added: ‘And I share it. We have narrated the same from the Prophet (peace be upon him). Mālik alone differs with other scholars, saying that prostration on it is a deviation’. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ, who belongs to the Mālikī School, acknowledges Mālik’s odd view as he differs on this point with other scholars.

The Yemenī Corner is wiped without kissing. One kisses one’s own hand after touching the corner. This is our view, which is also expressed by Jābir ibn ‘Abdullāh, Abu Sa‘īd al-Khudrī and Abu Hurayrah. Abu Ḥanīfah said: ‘One does not wipe it in the ṭawāf. Mālik and Ahmad said: ‘One wipes it but does not kiss one’s hand after that’. Yet two reports, separately attributed to Mālik and Ahmad, impart the view that one also kisses the Yemenī Corner, but God knows best.

When ‘Umar says: ‘I know that you are a stone’, and ‘I know that you can bring neither harm nor benefit’, his purpose is to urge others to follow the Prophet’s practice of kissing the stone. He makes clear that he did so only because the Prophet did this and he was following the Prophet’s example. He mentioned that the Black Stone could cause neither benefit nor harm because he realised that among the pilgrims there were many who had only newly embraced Islam. Indeed, they would still have been familiar with the practice of attaching great importance to stones, thinking that they had power to bring benefit or cause harm to those who neglect to honour them. ‘Umar feared that when he was seen to kiss the Black Stone some people might be confused. Therefore, he declared that the stone could cause nothing by itself, but to do what Islam requires or recommends brings some reward by God. The stone itself is a creature of God, causing neither harm nor benefit. ‘Umar ensured that this was circulated in the pilgrimage, so that it would be reported by other pilgrims when they went back to their respective areas, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2684 the narrator says in reference to ‘Umar: ‘I saw the bald man’. This makes it clear that there is no harm in referring to a person by a title or description which he does not dislike, even though other people may dislike such a title or description.

Text Explanation

The various versions of this hadith show that it is permissible to perform the ṭawāf riding and that it is desirable to touch the Black Stone. If a person is unable to touch it with his hand, he may touch it with a stick. The Prophet used a stick with a curved end which was used to pick up things that might be dropped while riding. The hadith also shows that it is permissible to describe the Prophet's hajj as the 'Farewell Pilgrimage'. Some scholars have disliked it being so called, but this is wrong, and God knows best.

The Mālikī and Ḥanbalī Schools take this hadith as evidence that the urine and stools of animals that are permissible to eat are not impure. They argue that had it not been the case, the Prophet would not have exposed the mosque to the possibility of contamination with camel impurity because it is not possible to control this. According to our Shāfi'ī School, as well as the Ḥanafī School and others, such urine and stools are impure, and there is no evidence in these hadiths to the contrary. It is not inevitable that a camel would urinate or defecate during ṭawāf, it is only a possibility. If it happens, the mosque is cleared of the impurity. The Prophet allowed young children to enter the mosque, even though they could not control their urination. Indeed, some did urinate.

In hadith No. 2689 the Prophet is said to have performed the ṭawāf riding his she-camel 'so that people would see him and observe, and so that people would ask him'. This sets the reasoning behind his riding his camel when doing the ṭawāf. It is also said that he did so in order to show that it is permissible. In Abu Dāwūd's Sunan, it is mentioned that he was unwell when he performed this ṭawāf. Al-Bukhari refers to this as he mentions the hadith in a chapter with the heading, 'Riding in Ṭawāf When Ill'. It is possible that he did it riding for all these reasons.

Hadith No. 2692 says: 'I saw God's Messenger performing the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah, touching the Black Stone with a stick he had, then kissing the stick'. The hadith provides evidence that to touch the Black Stone is desirable, and if one is unable to reach it with one's hand because one is riding or for any other reason, one may touch it with a stick or some similar object. Then one may kiss the object with which one has touched the Black Stone. This is the view of our school.

In the last hadith, No. 2693 Umm Salamah complains to the Prophet of her illness. He tells her to do the ṭawāf riding and to do it to the side of the people doing their ṭawāf. There are two reasons for this advice by the Prophet. The first is that it is recommended that women move a little away from men when they do the ṭawāf. The second reason is that people might be hurt by her mount if she was too near. The same applies to men riding when they do the ṭawāf. Umm Salamah did her ṭawāf when the Prophet was engaged in the Fajr Prayer, so that she would be less observed, but God knows best.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2691 begins with al-Ḥakam ibn Mūsā al-Qanṭarī. Al-Samʿānī said that he belonged to Qanṭarat Bardān, which is a district in Baghdad. And the chain of transmission of hadith No. 2692 includes Maʿrūf ibn Kharrabūdh. Abu al-Walīd al-Bājī said that his father's name is pronounced Khurrahūdh, but the majority of scholars pronounce it Kharrabūdh.

THE SA'Ī IS AN ESSENTIAL OBLIGATION

[2694-259]. (Dar al-Salam 2923) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated: Abu Mu'āwiyah narrated; from Hishām ibn 'Urwah; from his father; from 'Ā'ishah. He said: 'I said to her: "I think that it would not do any harm for a man to abstain from the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah". She said: "Why is that?" I said: "Because God, the Exalted, says: 'Al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God. Whoever visits the Sacred House for the hajj or the 'umrah would do no wrong to walk to and fro between them'." (2: 158) She said: "God does not render complete the hajj or the 'umrah of anyone who does not walk between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. Had it been as you say, the verse would have said: 'would do no wrong NOT to walk between them'. Do you know what this is all about? It is because in pre-Islamic days, the Anṣār used to enter into consecration at two of their idols, erected by the coast, called Isāf and Nā'ilah. They would then come and do the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah, then shave.

With the advent of Islam, they disliked doing the sa'i there because of what they used to celebrate in pre-Islamic days. God then revealed the verse: 'Al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God. Whoever visits the Sacred House for the hajj or the 'umrah, would do no wrong to walk to and fro between them'." She said: "Then they did".'

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، حَدَّثَنَا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ، عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ عُزْرَةَ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، قَالَ: قُلْتُ لَهَا: إِنِّي لَأُظِنُّ رَجُلًا لَوْ لَمْ يَطْفُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ مَا صَرَّهُ. قَالَتْ لِمَ؟ قُلْتُ: لَأَنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ: «إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ»، إِلَى آخِرِ الْآيَةِ. فَقَالَتْ: مَا أَتَمَّ اللَّهُ حَجَّ امْرِئٍ وَلَا عُمْرَتَهُ لَمْ يَطْفُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ. وَلَوْ كَانَ كَمَا تَقُولُ لَكَانَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ أَنْ لَا يَطُوفَ بِهِمَا. وَهَلْ تَذَرِي فِيمَا كَانَ ذَاكَ؟ إِنَّمَا كَانَ ذَاكَ أَمْرَ الْأَنْصَارِ كَانُوا يَهْلُونَ فِي الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ لِصَنَمَيْنِ عَلَى شَطِئِ الْبَحْرِ يُقَالُ لَهُمَا إِسَافٌ وَنَائِلَةٌ. ثُمَّ يَجِيئُونَ فَيَطُوفُونَ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ ثُمَّ يَخْلُقُونَ. فَلَمَّا جَاءَ الْإِسْلَامُ كَرَهُوا أَنْ يَطُوفُوا بَيْنَهُمَا، لِذَلِكَ كَانُوا يَصْنَعُونَ فِي الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ. قَالَتْ: فَأَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: «إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ»، إِلَى آخِرِهَا. قَالَتْ: فَطَافُوا.

[2695-260]. (Dar al-Salam 2924) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated: Abu Usāmah narrated; Hishām ibn ‘Urwah narrated; my father reported to me. He said: ‘I said to ‘Ā’ishah: “I think I do no wrong if I do not do the sa'ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah". She said: "Why is that?" I said: "Because God, Mighty and Exalted, says: 'Al-Şafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God. Whoever visits the Sacred House for the hajj or the 'umrah, would do no wrong to walk to and fro between them'." She said: "Had it been as you say, the verse would have said: 'would do no wrong NOT to walk between them'. This verse was revealed concerning some of the Anşār. In pre-Islamic days, they would declare consecration to Manāt, and it would be unlawful to them to do the sa'ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah. When they came to perform the hajj with the Prophet, they mentioned this to him. God revealed this verse. Upon my soul, God does not make complete the hajj of anyone who does not do the sa'ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah".'

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، حَدَّثَنَا أَبُو أُسَامَةَ، حَدَّثَنَا
هَشَامُ بْنُ عُرْوَةَ، أَخْبَرَنِي أَبِي قَالَ: قُلْتُ لِعَائِشَةَ: مَا
أَرَى عَلَى جُنَاحًا أَنْ لَا أَتَطَوَّفَ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ.
قَالَتْ لِمَ؟ قُلْتُ: لِأَنَّ اللَّهَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ يَقُولُ: «إِنَّ الصَّفَا
وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ» الْآيَةَ. فَقَالَتْ: لَوْ كَانَ كَمَا
تَقُولُ لَكَانَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ أَنْ لَا يَطَوَّفَ بِهِمَا. إِنَّمَا أُنْزِلَ
هَذَا فِي أَنْاسٍ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ كَانُوا إِذَا أَهْلَوْا أَهْلُوا لِمَنَاءَ
فِي الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ، فَلَا يَجِلُّ لَهُمْ أَنْ يَطَوَّفُوا بَيْنَ الصَّفَا
وَالْمَرْوَةِ. فَلَمَّا قَدِمُوا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

لِلْحَجِّ، ذَكِّرُوا ذَلِكَ لَهُ، فَأَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى هَذِهِ الْآيَةَ.
فَلَعَمْرِي مَا أَتَمَّ اللَّهُ حَجَّ مَنْ لَمْ يَطُفُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا
وَالْمَرْوَةِ.

[2696-261]. (Dar al-Salam 2925) ‘Amr al-Nāqid and Ibn Abi ‘Umar narrated: both from Ibn ‘Uyaynah; Ibn Abi ‘Umar said: Sufyān narrated; he said: I heard al-Zuhrī narrating; from ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr. He said: ‘I said to ‘Ā’ishah, the Prophet’s wife: “I do not think that anyone who does not do the sa’ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah does any wrong, and I do not care that I may not do it”. She said: “Nephew, you are grossly mistaken. God’s Messenger did the sa’ī and so did all Muslims, and it is the right practice. In the past, those who consecrated themselves for Manāt al-Tāghiyah, which is [erected] at al-Mushallal, would not do the sa’ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. With the advent of Islam, we asked the Prophet about this. God then revealed the verse: ‘Al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God. Whoever visits the Sacred House for the hajj or the ‘umrah, would do no wrong to walk to and fro between them’. Had it been as you say, it would have said: ‘would do no wrong NOT to walk to and fro between them’.”’

Al-Zuhrī said: ‘I mentioned this to Abu Bakr ibn ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn al-Ḥārith ibn Hishām and he liked it. He said: “This is real knowledge”. I heard some scholars say that those Arabs who did not do the sa'ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah used to say that our sa'ī between these two stones is part of the practice of ignorance. Others from the Anşār said: "We have been commanded to do the ṭawāf at the Ka'bah but not between al-Şafa and al-Marwah". God then revealed: "Al-Şafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God".

Abu Bakr ibn 'Abd al-Raḥmān said: 'I think it was revealed concerning both groups'.

حَدَّثَنَا عَمْرُو النَّاقِدُ، وَابْنُ أَبِي عُمَرَ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ ابْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ. قَالَ ابْنُ أَبِي عُمَرَ حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ، قَالَ سَمِعْتُ الزُّهْرِيَّ، يُحَدِّثُ عَنْ عُرْوَةَ بْنِ الزُّبَيْرِ قَالَ: قُلْتُ لِعَائِشَةَ، زَوْجِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، مَا أَرَى عَلَى أَحَدٍ لَمْ يَطْفُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ شَيْئًا، وَمَا أَبَالِي أَنْ لَا أَطُوفَ بَيْنَهُمَا. قَالَتْ: يَسُئُ مَا قُلْتُ يَا ابْنَ أَخْتِي. طَافَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، وَطَافَ الْمُسْلِمُونَ فَكَانَتْ سُنَّةً. وَإِنَّمَا كَانَ مِنْ أَهْلِ لِمَنَاءَ الطَّاعِيَةِ الَّتِي بِالْمُشَلَّلِ لَا يَطُوفُونَ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ فَلَمَّا كَانَ الْإِسْلَامُ سَأَلْنَا النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ، فَأَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: «إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ، فَمَنْ حَجَّ الْبَيْتَ أَوْ اعْتَمَرَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يَطُوفَ بِهِمَا»، وَلَوْ كَانَتْ كَمَا تَقُولُ لَكَانَتْ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ أَنْ لَا يَطُوفَ بِهِمَا.

 إِنَّمَا كَانَ مَنْ لَا يَطُوفُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ مِنَ الْعَرَبِ
 يَقُولُونَ إِنَّ طَوَافَنَا بَيْنَ هَذَيْنِ الْحَجَرَيْنِ مِنْ أَمْرِ
 الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ. وَقَالَ آخَرُونَ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ: إِنَّمَا أَمْرُنَا
 بِالطَّوَافِ بِالْبَيْتِ، وَلَمْ نُؤْمَرْ بِهِ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ.
 فَأَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ: «إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ».

قَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ بْنُ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ: فَأَرَاهَا قَدْ تَزَلَّتْ فِي
 هَؤُلَاءِ وَهَؤُلَاءِ.

[2697-262]. (Dar al-Salam 2926) Muhammad ibn Rāfi' narrated to me: Hujayn ibn al-Muthannā narrated; Layth narrated; from 'Uqayl; from Ibn Shihāb; that he said: 'Urwah ibn al-Zubayr reported to me. He said: 'I asked 'Ā'ishah...'. He narrated the hadith in similar terms and said in it: 'They asked God's Mes-senger (peace be upon him) about this and said: "Messenger of God, we have been reluctant to do the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah". God then revealed: "Al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God. Whoever visits the Sacred House for the hajj or the 'umrah, would do no wrong to walk to and fro between them".

'Ā'ishah said: "God's Messenger (peace be upon him) has established the sa'ī between them, and it is not up to anyone to abandon the sa'ī".'

[2698-263]. (Dar al-Salam 2927) Harmalah ibn Yahyā narrated: Ibn Wahb reported; Yūnus reported to me; from Ibn Shihāb; from ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr; that ‘Āishah told him that ‘Before adopting Islam, the Anṣār and the people of the Ghassān tribe used to consecrate themselves for Manāt, and they were reluctant to do the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. This was the practice among their forefathers: that whoever consecrates for Manāt would not do the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah. When they embraced Islam, they asked God’s Messenger about it and God, Mighty and Exalted, revealed concerning it: “Al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah are among the symbols set up by God. ### Text Explanation

The established view which is agreed upon by the great majority of scholars from among the Prophet's Companions, the tābi'īn and the following generations is that the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah is an obligatory condition of the hajj, and the hajj is incomplete without it. It cannot be compensated for, if omitted, by a sacrifice or anything else. Scholars who say this include Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī, Ahmad, Ishāq and Abu Thawr. Some early scholars said that it is voluntary, while Abu Ḥanīfah said that it is a duty. Its omission is a sin and it is compensated for by a sacrifice, while the hajj remains valid. The evidence in support of the view of the majority of scholars is that the Prophet said: 'Learn your rituals from me'. What is required is one sa'ī, and it is preferable to do this after the ṭawāf of arrival. It may be delayed until after the ṭawāf al-ifādah.

In these hadiths 'Urwah says to 'Ā'ishah, his maternal aunt, that the sa'ī is not a duty because God says of it that a person 'would do no wrong to walk between them'. 'Ā'ishah rejected his argument and said that the hajj is incomplete without the sa'ī. Had his argument been correct, the verse would have said the reverse, i.e., 'would do no wrong NOT to walk between them'. Scholars said: 'This testifies to her meticulous scholarship, profound insight and thorough knowledge of Arabic vocabulary. The Qur'anic verse makes it clear that there is no harm in doing the sa'ī between them. It does not refer to whether the sa'ī is a duty or not'. 'Ā'ishah told her nephew that the verse provides no evidence indicating whether the sa'ī is a duty or not. She explains the reason for revealing it and why it is expressed in this way. It is revealed to address the situation of the Anṣār when they were reluctant to do the sa'ī after having embraced Islam. She further explained that had the verse meant what 'Urwah had thought, it would have been expressed in the negative. An action may be a duty, but a person may feel that to do it in a particular fashion is unacceptable. For example, a person may have missed Zuhṛ Prayer and its time has lapsed. He might think that it may not be offered close to sunset. If he enquires about this, he would be told: 'there is no harm if you do it now'. This answer is correct, and it does not mean negating the duty of praying Zuhṛ.

In hadith No. 2694 'Ā'ishah says to 'Urwah: 'Do you know what this is all about? It is because in pre-Islamic days, the Anṣār used to enter into consecration at two of their idols, erected by the coast, called Isāf and Nā'ilah'. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

This is how it occurs in this hadith, and it is wrong. The correct version is that mentioned in the other hadiths in this chapter, which is 'they consecrated for Manāt', or for 'Manāt al-Ṭāghiyah which is at al-Mushallal'. This is what is well-known. Manāt was an idol erected by 'Amr ibn Laḥiy at al-Mushallal, close to the sea. This is explained in this hadith in al-Muwatṭa'. The Azd and Ghassān tribes used to consecrate themselves for the hajj at this idol. Ibn al-Kalbī said that 'Manāt is a rock belonging to the Hudhayl tribe at Qudayd'. Isāf and Nā'ilah were never close to the seaside. It is said that they were a man and a woman. The man was named Isāf ibn Baqā', or Ibn 'Amr, and the woman was called Nā'ilah bint Dhi'b, or bint Sahl. It is said that they were from Jurhum and that they committed adultery inside the Ka'bah, and God turned them into two stones. They were erected near the Ka'bah. It is also said that they were placed at al-Şafa and al-Marwah so that they would remain a lesson for other people. Later, Quşay ibn Kilāb moved them, placing one of them close to the Ka'bah and the other at Zamzam. It is also said that he placed them at Zamzam and slaughtered a sacrifice before them, ordering people to worship them. When the Prophet took Makkah, he broke them into pieces.

THE SA'Ī IS NOT REPEATED

[2700-265]. (Dar al-Salam 2929) Muhammad ibn Ḥātim nar-rated: Yaḥyā ibn Sa'īd narrated; from Ibn Jurayj; Abu al-Zubayr reported to me; that he heard Jābir ibn 'Abdullāh say: 'The Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Companions did not do the sa'ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah except once'.

حَدَّثَنِي مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ حَاتِمٍ، حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ، أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرَ بْنَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ يَقُولُ: لَمْ يَطْفِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَلَا أَصْحَابُهُ بَيْنَ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ إِلَّا طَوَافًا وَاحِدًا.

[2701-000]. (Dar al-Salam 2930) 'Abd ibn Ḥumayd narrated: Muhammad ibn Bakr reported; Ibn Jurayj reported; with the same chain of transmission: the same text. He said: 'Except once, the first sa'ī'.

وَحَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ بْنُ حُمَيْدٍ، أَخْبَرَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ يَكْرِ، أَخْبَرَنَا ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ، بِهَذَا الْإِسْنَادِ: مِثْلَهُ. وَقَالَ: إِلَّا طَوَافًا وَاحِدًا طَوَافَهُ الْأَوَّلَ.

Text Explanation

This hadith provides the evidence confirming that the sa'ī between al-Şafa and al-Marwah is not repeated, either during the hajj or the 'umrah. It is enough to do it once. To repeat it is discouraged because it is a deviation, i.e., bid'ah. The hadith also gives evidence that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did his hajj in the qirān method. One ṭawāf and one sa'ī are sufficient for a pilgrim choosing the qirān method for both his hajj and 'umrah. We mentioned earlier that Abu Ḥanīfah and other scholars hold a different view on this point, but God knows best.

CONTINUED TALBIYAH UNTIL THE DAY OF SACRIFICE

[2702-266]. (Dar al-Salam 2931) Yaḥyā ibn Ayyūb, Qutaybah ibn Sa‘īd and Ibn Ḥujr narrated:<sup>1</sup> they said: Ismā‘īl narrated [H]. Also, Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated (his text); he said: Ismā‘īl ibn Ja‘far reported; from Muhammad ibn Abi Ḥarmalah; from Kurayb, Ibn ‘Abbās’ mawlā; from Usāmah ibn Zayd. He said: ‘I rode behind God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) from Arafat. When God’s Messenger reached the left passage, which is before Muzdalifah, he stopped and relieved himself. When he came back, I poured him water for his wudu. He performed a light wudu. I said: “Prayer, Messenger of God”, but he said: “The prayer will be ahead”. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) rode again until he reached Muzdalifah, where he prayed. Al-Faḍl rode behind God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) in the morning after Jam”.

Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2702 Usāmah says that he rode behind the Prophet on his she-camel as they started on their journey back from Arafat. This shows that riding is preferable when leaving Arafat and that it is permissible to take someone else on one's mount, if it is strong enough. It is also permissible to ride behind people of distinction, and this is not contrary to good manners.

When the Prophet needed to renew his wudu, Usāmah poured the water for him and he 'performed a light wudu'. This means that the Prophet performed the wudu as he normally did for prayer, but this time, he made it light, economising with water, or washing every part once only. The hadith shows that it is permissible to have someone helping when one performs wudu. Our scholars said that help with one's wudu is of three types. The first is to have someone bringing the water from a well or from home or some other place. This is permissible and one cannot say that it is contrary to what is preferable. The second is to have someone helping in washing the parts of one's body included in the wudu. This is discouraged unless the person being helped has a valid reason, such as being ill. The third is to have someone pouring the water for him. If it is for a reason, then it is appropriate. If not, then it is contrary to what is preferable. Can we call it discouraged, i.e., makrūh? Two views are expressed by our Shāfi'ī scholars, and the more correct of these two views is that it is not discouraged because we have no confirmed order against it. The Prophet had such help on occasions, as in this case with Usāmah, al-Mughīrah ibn Shu'bah during the Tabūk Expedition and al-Rubayyi' bint Mu'wwidh on another occasion. These were to show that it is permissible. In the Prophet's case, using such help is preferable because he is commanded to explain things to his community, but God knows best.

Usāmah, the narrator, said: 'I said: "Prayer, Messenger of God". He said: "The prayer is ahead of you".' This means that Usāmah reminded the Prophet of the Maghrib Prayer, thinking that the Prophet might have forgotten it as he delayed it beyond its customary time. The Prophet's answer makes it clear to him that on that particular night, the prayer should be offered at the place they had not yet reached, i.e., Muzdalifah. The hadith shows that it is recommended to remind one's superior of what he had left undone so as to do it as usual, or to excuse oneself, or to explain what is right. The superior should tell the subordinate the reason for not doing what he normally does.

The Prophet said to Usāmah: 'The prayer is ahead of you'. This means that at this particular place and on this particular night, it is a sunnah to delay Maghrib till 'Ishā time and to offer both prayers together at Muzdalifah. This is the scenario agreed upon by all Muslims. It is a sunnah, i.e., recommended, not a duty. If a pilgrim offers the two prayers on the way to Muzdalifah, or offers them separately at their respective times, his action is permissible. Some Mālikī scholars say that a person who offers Maghrib Prayer during its own time should repeat it, but this view is odd and lacking in support.

In hadith No. 2703 the narrator, al-Faḍl ibn 'Abbās says that the Prophet 'continued to say the talbiyah until he reached the Jamrah'. This hadith provides evidence that pilgrims continue to repeat the phrases of the talbiyah until they start to stone at the 'Aqabah Jamrah on the Day of Sacrifice. This is the view of al-Shāfi'ī, Sufyān al-Thawrī, Abu Ḥanīfah, Abu Thawr and the great majority of scholars from among the Prophet's Companions, the tābi'īn, the scholars of different regions and successive generations. Al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī said: 'A pilgrim continues to repeat the talbiyah until he has prayed Fajr on the Day of Arafat, then stops'. It is reported that 'Alī, Ibn 'Umar, 'Ā'ishah, Mālik and the majority of Madinah scholars consider that a pilgrim repeats the talbiyah until midday on the Day of Arafat. He does not continue to do it once he starts his Arafat attendance. Ahmad, Ishāq and some early scholars said that the talbiyah continues until the pilgrim finishes stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah. The evidence in support of the view of al-Shāfi'ī and the majority of scholars is this authentic hadith and the ones after it. The other scholars who express different views have no valid argument for contradicting these hadiths. It is imperative to follow the sunnah. In the other version, hadith No. 2704 al-Faḍl says that the Prophet 'continued to say the talbiyah until he stoned at the 'Aqabah Jamrah'. This may be taken as an argument in support of the view of Ahmad, Ishāq and others. However, the majority of scholars would answer that he meant 'until he started to stone at the Jamrah'. Thus, the two hadiths are reconciled.

In hadith No. 2705 al-Faḍl refers to 'the morning after Jam'. As explained earlier, Jam' is another name of Muzdalifah. The Prophet instructed the people to 'maintain calmness', pointing out the need to maintain good manners in the way they move on that night. The same applies in all areas of overcrowding. The Prophet 'held back his she-camel' so that it did not move fast.

The Prophet told the people to choose small pebbles for their stoning. His words mean that the pebbles should be the size of peas, but our scholars say that if one stones with larger or smaller pebbles, the stoning is adequate, but this action is discouraged. In hadith No. 2706 'the Prophet pointed with his hand like a man throwing pebbles'. This is meant for further clarification as to the size of pebbles. It is not meant to show how stoning with small pebbles is done, but some of our scholars say this, and it is mistaken.

In hadith No. 2707 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd says: 'I heard the one to whom the Surah The Cow was revealed say at this place: "I respond to You, my Lord. I respond to You".' This hadith provides evidence that it is recommended to continue to say the talbiyah after leaving Arafat. As stated earlier, this is the view of the majority of scholars. The hadith also shows that it is perfectly appropriate to say Surah The Cow, or Surah Women, etc. Some early scholars expressed disapproval, saying that one should say: 'the surah in which the cow, or women, or the repast is mentioned'. The correct view is that saying Surah The Cow, or Surah The Repast, etc. is appropriate. This is the view of the great majority of scholars from the time of the Prophet's Companions onwards. It is confirmed by authentic hadiths quoting the Prophet and his Companions, such as the hadith that says: 'Whoever recites the last two verses of Surah The Cow at night will find them sufficient'. But, God knows best.

In this hadith and the two following ones, 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd says: 'I heard the one to whom Surah The Cow was revealed...'. He specifically mentioned this surah because most of the rulings concerning the hajj rituals are outlined in it. It is as if he is saying that this is the position of the person to whom the hajj rituals were explained and from whom the religion was learnt and who explained the rulings. You better take his word. What he meant is to answer those who claimed that the talbiyah stops at the point of attendance at Arafat. This is the meaning of what Ibn Mas'ūd said in response to the one who said: 'Is this a bedouin?', but God knows best.

I said: “[I swear] by God, your attitude is amazing! How come you did not put to him the question, what did you see God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) doing?”’

Text Explanation

These hadiths make it clear that both the glorification of God and the talbiyah are desirable to repeat as one travels from Mina to Arafat on the Day of Arafat. The talbiyah is more preferable. The hadiths contradict the view of those who suggest that the talbiyah is stopped after Fajr on the Day of Arafat, but God knows best.

PROCEEDING FROM ARAFAT TO MUZDALIFAH

[2714-276]. (Dar al-Salam 2941) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>1</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Mūsā ibn ‘Uqbah; from Kurayb, Ibn ‘Abbās’ mawlā; from Usāmah ibn Zayd; that he heard him say: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) pushed on from Arafat, and when he reached the mountain passage, he stopped and relieved himself. He then performed wudu but did not do it in excess. I said to him: “Prayer”, but he said: “The prayer is ahead of you”. When he arrived in Muzdalifah, he dismounted and performed wudu, perfecting it. The prayer was announced, and he prayed Maghrib. Everyone then sat his camel at its right place. Then the ‘Ishā Prayer was announced and he prayed it. He did not pray anything between the two [obligatory prayers]’.

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، قَالَ قَرَأْتُ عَلَى مَالِكٍ، عَنْ
مُوسَى بْنِ عُقْبَةَ، عَنْ كُرَيْبٍ مَوْلَى ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، عَنْ
أَسَامَةَ بْنِ زَيْدٍ، أَنَّهُ سَمِعَهُ يَقُولُ: دَفَعَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى

اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنْ عَرَفَةَ، حَتَّى إِذَا كَانَ بِالشَّعْبِ نَزَلَ
 قَبَالَ، ثُمَّ تَوَضَّأَ وَلَمْ يُسَبِّحِ الْوُضُوءَ. فَقُلْتُ لَهُ: الصَّلَاةُ.
 قَالَ: «الصَّلَاةُ أَمَامَكَ». فَرَكِبَ، فَلَمَّا جَاءَ الْمُزْدَلِفَةَ
 نَزَلَ فَتَوَضَّأَ، فَأَسْبَغَ الْوُضُوءَ. ثُمَّ أَقِيَمَتِ الصَّلَاةُ فَصَلَّى
 الْمَغْرِبَ، ثُمَّ أَنَاخَ كُلَّ إِنْسَانٍ بَعِيرَهُ فِي مَنْزِلِهِ، ثُمَّ
 أَقِيَمَتِ الْعِشَاءُ فَصَلَّاَهَا. وَلَمْ يُصَلِّ بَيْنَهُمَا شَيْئًا.

[2715-277]. (Dar al-Salam 2942) Muhammad ibn Rumh nar-rated: al-Layth reported; from Yahyā ibn Sa'īd; from Mūsā ibn 'Uqbah, al-Zubayr's mawlā; from Kurayb, Ibn 'Abbās' mawlā; from Usāmah ibn Zayd. He said: 'After proceeding from Arafat, God's Messenger (peace be upon him) went into one of those passages to relieve himself. Then I poured him water. I said: "Are you going to pray?" He said: "The prayer place is still ahead of you".'

وَحَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ رُمْحٍ، أَخْبَرَنَا اللَّيْثُ، عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ
 سَعِيدٍ، عَنْ مُوسَى بْنِ عُقْبَةَ مَوْلَى الزُّبَيْرِ، عَنْ كَرِيبِ
 مَوْلَى ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، عَنْ أَسَامَةَ بْنِ زَيْدٍ، قَالَ: انْصَرَفَ
 رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَعْدَ الدَّفْعَةِ مِنْ
 عَرَفَاتٍ إِلَى بَعْضِ تِلْكَ الشَّعَابِ لِحَاجَتِهِ، فَصَبَبْتُ عَلَيْهِ
 مِنَ الْمَاءِ. فَقُلْتُ: أَتُصَلِّي؟ فَقَالَ: «الْمُصَلَّى أَمَامَكَ».

Ibn al-Mubāarak narrated; from Ibrāhīm ibn ‘Uqbah; from Kurayb, Ibn ‘Abbās’ mawlā. He said: ‘I heard Usāmah ibn Zayd say: “God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) proceeded on his way from Arafat. When he reached the [mountain] passage, he dismounted and relieved himself”. (Usāmah did not say that he shed the water.) He said: “he called for water and performed wudu, but it was not in excess”. I said: “Messenger of God, the prayer”. He said: “The prayer is ahead of you”. He marched on until he reached Jam’ where he prayed Maghrib and ‘Ishā’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، قَالَ حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ الْمُبَارَكِ، ح. وَحَدَّثَنَا أَبُو كُرَيْبٍ (وَاللَّفْظُ لَهُ)، حَدَّثَنَا ابْنُ الْمُبَارَكِ، عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ بْنِ عُقْبَةَ، عَنْ كُرَيْبٍ مَوْلَى ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، قَالَ: سَمِعْتُ أَسَامَةَ بْنَ زَيْدٍ يَقُولُ: أَقَاضَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنْ عَرَفَاتٍ، فَلَمَّا انْتَهَى إِلَى الشَّعْبِ نَزَلَ فَبَالَ - وَلَمْ يَقُلْ أَسَامَةُ أَرَاقَ الْمَاءِ - قَالَ: فَدَعَا بِمَاءٍ فَتَوَضَّأَ وَضُوءًا لَيْسَ بِالْبَالِغِ. قَالَ: فَقُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، الصَّلَاةُ. قَالَ: «الصَّلَاةُ أَمَامَكَ». قَالَ: ثُمَّ سَارَ حَتَّى بَلَغَ جَمْعًا، فَصَلَّى الْمَغْرِبَ وَالْعِشَاءَ.

[2717-279]. (Dar al-Salam 2944) Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm narrated: Yahyā ibn Adam reported; Zuhayr Abu Khaythamah narrated; Ibrāhīm ibn ‘Uqbah narrated; Kurayb reported to me; that he asked Usāmah ibn Zayd: ‘How did you proceed when God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) took you behind him the night after Arafat?’ He said: ‘We reached the passage where people stop for Maghrib. The Prophet sat his she-camel and relieved himself (he did not say: shed the water). He then called for water and performed a wudu that was not too full. I said: “Messenger of God, the prayer”. He said: “The prayer is ahead of you”. He rode until we reached Muzdalifah. He announced the Maghrib Prayer. The people rested their mounts where they stopped but did not untie their luggage, and he announced the later ‘Ishā Prayer. He offered the prayer, then they put down their things”. I said: “What did you do in the morning?” He said: “He took al-Faḍl ibn ‘Abbās behind him, and I went on walking in Quraysh’s passage”.’

وَحَدَّثَنَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ، أَخْبَرَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ آدَمَ، حَدَّثَنَا زُهَيْرُ أَبُو خَيْثَمَةَ، حَدَّثَنَا إِبْرَاهِيمُ بْنُ عُقْبَةَ، أَخْبَرَنِي كُرَيْبٌ أَنَّهُ سَأَلَ أَسَامَةَ بْنَ زَيْدٍ: كَيْفَ صَنَعْتُمْ حِينَ رَدِفَتْ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَشِيَّةَ عَرَفَةَ؟ فَقَالَ جِئْنَا الشَّعْبَ الَّذِي يُنِيخُ النَّاسُ فِيهِ لِلْمَغْرِبِ، فَأَنَاحَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ نَاقَتَهُ، وَبَالَ - وَمَا قَالَ أَهْرَاقَ الْمَاءِ - ثُمَّ دَعَا بِالْوُضُوءِ فَتَوَضَّأَ وَضُوءًا لَيْسَ بِالْبَالِغِ، فَقُلْتُ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، الصَّلَاةُ. فَقَالَ: «الصَّلَاةُ أَمَّا مَكَ» . فَرَكِبَ حَتَّى جِئْنَا الْمُرْدَلِفَةَ، فَأَقَامَ الْمَغْرِبَ. ثُمَّ أَنَاحَ النَّاسُ فِي مَنَازِلِهِمْ وَلَمْ يَحْلُوا، حَتَّى أَقَامَ الْعِشَاءَ الْآخِرَةَ، فَصَلَّى. ثُمَّ حَلُوا. قُلْتُ: فَكَيْفَ

[2718-280]. He then called for water and did a light wudu. I said: "Messenger of God, the prayer". He said: "The prayer is ahead of you".'

When he reached the passage, he stopped his she-camel and went to relieve himself. When he came back, I poured water for him from the container, and he performed the wudu. He then mounted, went to Muzdalifah where he combined the prayers of Maghrib and 'Ishā'.

Usāmah said: “He continued to move in that condition until he reached Jam”’.

Text Explanation

This chapter focuses on the various versions of the hadith narrated by Usāmah ibn Zayd about moving on after attendance at Arafat and offering the Maghrib and ‘Ishā Prayers together at Muzdalifah. This is unanimously agreed upon, but scholars differ as to its ruling. Our school considers it recommended. If a pilgrim offers these two prayers during the time range of Maghrib, or on the way to Muzdalifah, or each prayer during its own time range, his action is valid, but he misses out on what is better and more preferable. This has already been explained earlier.

In hadith No. 2714: ‘The prayer was announced, and he prayed Maghrib. Everyone then sat his camel at its right place. Then the ‘Ishā Prayer was announced and he prayed it. He did not pray anything between the two [obligatory prayers]’. In hadith No. 2727 and No. 2728 one iqāmah is announced for both prayers. Earlier, in the long hadith narrated by Jābir and describing the Prophet’s pilgrimage in detail, which is No. 2571 it is mentioned that the Prophet arrived in Muzdalifah where he offered Maghrib and ‘Ishā with one adhān and two iqāmahs. This report by Jābir is given preference over the other two narrations because 1) Jābir gives additional knowledge and an addition by a reliable narrator is accepted; and 2) Jābir has taken care to give a full and detailed description of the Prophet’s pilgrimage. Therefore, his narration is given greater weight. This is the correct view of our Shāfi‘ī School: it is desirable to call the adhān before the first of the two prayers and to announce the iqāmah for each of them. Thus, they are offered with one adhān and two iqāmahs.

The hadith mentioning one iqāmah should be understood to mean one iqāmah for each prayer. This is necessary to reconcile the two reports, as well as to reconcile it with Jābir's narration. We explained this in commenting on Jābir's long hadith, but God knows best.

In the same hadith, No. 2714 'When he arrived in Muzdalifah, he dismounted and performed wudu, perfecting it. The prayer was announced, and he prayed Maghrib. Everyone then sat his camel at its right place. Then the 'Ishā Prayer was announced and he prayed it. He did not pray anything between the two [obligatory prayers]'. This makes it clear that it is recommended to offer the Maghrib and 'Ishā Prayers when one arrives at Muzdalifah. It is permissible to delay them, even to shortly before the break of dawn. The hadith also makes clear that leaving a time gap between the two prayers is acceptable if they are offered during the time range of the second of the two. This is based on the fact that this hadith mentions that having prayed Maghrib, 'everyone sat his camel at its right place'. If the two prayers are combined in the time range of the first prayer, they must be offered one after the other, without a time gap. If a time gap occurs, the combination is invalid, and the second prayer must be offered in its own time range.

The hadith mentions: 'He did not pray anything between the two obligatory prayers'. This means that when two obligatory prayers are offered together, one after the other, no sunnah prayer is offered between them. According to our school, it is recommended to offer the regular sunnah prayer, but this is done after the obligatory ones have been completed, not between them. If Zuhr and 'Aṣr are combined, the regular sunnah offered before Zuhr is offered before the two, and God knows best.

In this hadith and later ones, Usāmah mentions that the Prophet dismounted and relieved himself. In most of them, he uses the word 'urinated' and in some, other narrators add that he 'did not say: shed water'. This suggests that narrations should quote the exact wording and use the words that are normally avoided because of vulgarity, particularly to remove any possible ambiguity.

In hadith No. 2717 'he announced the later 'Ishā Prayer'. This makes it clear that it is correct to use the description, 'later 'Ishā'. Al-Aṣma'ī and other linguists objected to this usage, describing it as slang. They argued that it should be "Ishā' only, and it cannot be described as 'later'. This is a mistake on the part of these linguists. It is perfectly right to use this description, as it occurs in this hadith and in many others. We explained this in its appropriate place in the Book of Prayer.

In hadith No. 2721 Usāmah describes how the Prophet moved on from Arafat to Muzdalifah, saying: 'He moved rather slowly, but when he found space, he moved somewhat faster'. Usāmah uses the word 'anaq for the first type and the word naṣṣ for the second. These are descriptions of different camel speeds. In the next hadith, the narrator Hishām mentions that the second is faster. 'Anaq is gentler. The hadith makes clear that it is recommended to drive gently when there is much traffic, but when one finds space, one is recommended to speed up so as to attend to other rituals and have more time, in case of more congestion later on, but God knows best.

Hadith No. 2725 mentions that when the Prophet combined Maghrib and 'Ishā, he prayed Maghrib in three rak'ahs and shortened 'Ishā to two rak'ahs. This hadith provides evidence that Maghrib is offered in three rak'ahs in all situations. It is never shortened. This is unanimously agreed upon by all Muslims. The hadith also makes clear that shortening 'Ishā and other four-rak'ah prayers is more preferable, but God knows best.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2719 includes: ‘from ‘Aṭā’, Sibā’s mawlā; from Usāmah ibn Zayd’. This is how it occurs in most copies, but in some it occurs as ‘Umm Sibā’s mawlā. Both are contrary to what is better known about him, which is “‘Aṭā’, the mawlā of Banī Sibā”, i.e., the mawlā of the Sibā’ clan. This is how he is mentioned in al-Bukhari’s Tārīkh, Ibn Abi Ḥātim’s al-Jarḥ wal-Ta’dīl, Khalaf al-Wāsiṭī in al-Aṭrāf, al-Ḥumaydī in al-Jam‘ Bayn al-Ṣaḥīḥayn, al-Sam‘ānī in al-Ansāb and others. His name is ‘Aṭā’ ibn Ya‘qūb, but he is also said to be ‘Aṭā’ ibn Nāfi’. Al-Bukhari, Khalf and al-Ḥumaydī give both versions of his name, while Ibn Abi Ḥātim, al-Sam‘ānī and others give one version of his name, ‘Aṭā’ ibn Ya‘qūb. All of them say that he is ‘Aṭā’ al-Kaykhārānī or al-Kawkhārānī. They all say that it is the name of a place in Yemen, but al-Sam‘ānī says that it is a village in Yemen called Kaykharān. Yaḥyā ibn Ma‘īn said ‘Aṭā’ is a reliable narrator, but God knows best.

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2729 is as follows: ‘Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated: ‘Abdullāh ibn Numayr narrated; Ismā‘īl ibn Abi Khālid narrated; from Abu Ishāq; he said: Sa‘īd ibn Jubayr said’. This is one of the hadiths questioned by al-Dāraquṭnī. He said: ‘To me, this is a mistake by Ismā‘īl. A number of scholars including Shu‘bah, al-Thawrī and Isrā‘īl differ with him, narrating the hadith from Abu Ishāq, from ‘Abdullāh ibn Mālik, from Ibn ‘Umar. Although Ismā‘īl is reliable, these narrators are more conversant with the hadiths narrated by Abu Ishāq’. This is what al-Dāraquṭnī says. However, as we explained in similar cases, it is possible that Abu Ishāq learned the hadith in both ways and narrated them both. Whatever the case may be, the text of the hadith is authentic and there can be no objection to it, but God knows best.

PRAYING FAJR EARLY AT MUZDALIFAH

[2730-292]. (Dar al-Salam 2956) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā, Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and Abu Kurayb narrated: all from Abu Mu‘āwiyah; Yaḥyā said: Abu Mu‘āwiyah reported; from al-A‘mash; from ‘Umārah; from ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Yazīd; from ‘Abdullāh. He said: ‘I never saw God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) offering a prayer other than at its right time, except twice: combining Maghrib and ‘Ishā at Jam’, and he prayed Fajr on that day before its time’.

[2731-000]. (Dar al-Salam 2957) ‘Uthmān ibn Abi Shaybah and Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm narrated: both from Jarīr; from al-A‘mash; with this chain of transmission: the same text, saying: ‘Before its time, when it was still dark’.

Text Explanation

In this hadith, ‘Abdullāh ibn Mas‘ūd says that he never saw the Prophet offering a prayer before its time, except twice. What he meant is that the Prophet offered Maghrib at the time of ‘Ishā at Jam‘, which is another name of Muzdalifah. On the same occasion, he prayed Fajr before its customary time, but after making sure that it was after the break of dawn. Although ‘Abdullāh says, ‘before its time’, he means before its customary time, not before dawn break. To offer it before dawn is unacceptable, as all Muslims agree. Therefore, the hadith must be understood as I have explained.

It is confirmed in some narrations of this hadith, related by al-Bukhari in his Ṣaḥīḥ, that Ibn Mas‘ūd prayed Fajr at dawn break in Muzdalifah, then said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) prayed Fajr at this time’. In another version: ‘When the dawn broke, he said: “God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) did not pray at this time except this prayer at this place on this day”’, but God knows best.

In all these narrations, there is evidence supporting Abu Ḥanīfah’s view that it is preferable to delay the Fajr Prayer and offer it towards the end of its time, except on this day. Our view, which is also the view of the majority of scholars, is that it is recommended to offer the Fajr Prayer at the beginning of its time range, on all days, but it is even more so on this day. We included earlier, in the Book of Prayer, a full explanation of this question, citing the relevant evidence. What is recommended on this day is to do it even earlier. Our scholars explain these reports as meaning that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to delay the Fajr Prayer a little on other days, until Bilāl came to him, but on this day, he did not wait because of the many duties that become due on this day. So, in order to have more time to attend to these duties, he was keen to pray Fajr earlier than usual, but God knows best.

Ḥanafī scholars may cite this hadith as evidence in support of their view that combining prayers during travel is not permissible. They base their argument on the fact that Ibn Mas‘ūd was one of the Prophet’s Companions who stayed with him most of the time. He tells us in this hadith that he never saw him combining prayers except on this occasion. The view of our school and the majority of scholars is that combining prayers is permissible in all legitimate travel which permits shortening four-rak‘ah prayers. We discussed this question and cited its evidence in the Book of Prayer. The answer to their argument based on this hadith is that it is understood. They consider ‘what is understood’ as invalid, while we say that it is valid, except where it is contradicted by a spoken statement. Several authentic hadiths confirm the permissibility of combining prayers when travelling. Moreover, the apparent meaning of this hadith is set aside because all Muslims agree that the Prophet combined the Zuhr and ‘Aṣr Prayers at Arafat, but God knows best.

WHO MAY LEAVE MUZDALIFAH EARLY?

[2732-293]. (Dar al-Salam 2958) ‘Abdullāh ibn Maslamah ibn Qa‘nab narrated:<sup>1</sup> Aflah (meaning Ibn Humayd); from al-Qāsim; from ‘Āishah; that she said: ‘Sawdah sought God’s Messenger’s permission to leave Muzdalifah before him and before people’s crowded movement. She was a heavy woman (al-Qāsim said: “heavy” means slow). He gave her permission. She started before him, while we stayed until the morning and proceeded when he proceeded. Had I requested God’s Messenger’s permission, like Sawdah did, and I could move on by his permission, it would have given me much pleasure’.

Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2733 mentions that Sawdah, the Prophet's wife, requested his permission to proceed from Muzdalifah during the night and he granted her request. This provides evidence that it is permissible to proceed from Muzdalifah before dawn. Al-Shāfi'ī and his disciples said that it is permissible to proceed before midnight and it is permissible to do the stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah after midnight. They cite this hadith as the basis of their view.

Scholars differ in their views concerning staying the night before the Day of Sacrifice at Muzdalifah. The correct view of the Shāfi'ī School is that it is a duty, and a pilgrim who omits to do this is required to slaughter a sacrifice in compensation, but his hajj is valid. The same view is expressed by the scholars of Kufah and scholars of Hadith. Some scholars say that it is a sunnah, which means that a pilgrim who omits it misses out on what earns reward but commits no sin and need not give any compensation in any form. This is also said by al-Shāfi'ī and some scholars. Other scholars said that a person who omits staying the night in Muzdalifah invalidates his hajj. This is reported from al-Nakha'ī and others. It is shared by two of our Shāfi'ī leading scholars. They are Abu 'Abd al-Raḥmān, who is al-Shāfi'ī's daughter's son, and Abu Bakr ibn Khuzaymah. On the other hand, it is further reported from 'Aṭā' and al-Awzā'ī that staying the night at Muzdalifah is neither an essential obligation, nor a duty, nor a sunnah, nor anything meritorious. This view is absolutely wrong.

Scholars also differ as to the length of time that it is necessary to stay at Muzdalifah. The correct view according to al-Shāfi'ī is 'some period of the second half of the night'. Another opinion of al-Shāfi'ī is that it is some period of the second half or later, up to sunrise. A third opinion of his is 'most of the night'. Three opinions are also reported from Mālik: 1) all the night; 2) most of the night; and 3) a very short while.

In hadith No. 2736 the narrator warns Asmā' bint Abu Bakr that they departed Muzdalifah too early, as they did so before the break of dawn. She said that it did not happen. They left at the time permitted. She explained this, saying that the Prophet permitted women to depart Muzdalifah early. She uses the Arabic word zu'un, which is the plural form of ḡa'īnah, which means 'woman'. Originally the word referred to the howdah in which a woman stays when she travels on camel back. The word was later used to refer to the woman herself and this has become its meaning. Now, a man's ḡa'īnah is his wife.

Hadith No. 2744 says: "Abdullāh ibn 'Umar used to send the weaker members of his family early. They would stop at al-Mash'ar al-Ḥarām in Muzdalifah during the night. They would glorify God as they pleased, then proceed'. We mentioned earlier that according to Fiqh scholars, al-Mash'ar al-Ḥarām refers particularly to Quḏāḥ, which is a mountain at Muzdalifah. However, commentators and historians say that it refers to Muzdalifah in its entirety.

The hadiths mentioning it support both views, and this hadith in particular confirms the view of Fiqh scholars. The hadith confirms that it is a sunnah to stop at al-Mash‘ar al-Ḥarām, where one should use one’s time supplicating and glorifying God.

STONING AT THE 'AQABAH JAMRAH

[2745-305]. (Dar al-Salam 2970) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and Abu Kurayb narrated:<sup>1</sup> both said: Abu Mu'āwiyah narrated; from al-A'mash; from Ibrāhīm; from 'Abd al-Rahmān ibn Yazīd. He said: “Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd did the stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah from the middle of the valley, throwing seven pebbles and glorifying God as he threw each pebble. He was told that some people threw their pebbles from above it. 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd replied: “By God, other than whom there is no deity, this is the place of the one to whom the Surah The Cow was revealed”.’

حَدَّثَنَا أَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، وَأَبُو كُرَيْبٍ قَالَا: حَدَّثَنَا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ، عَنِ الْأَعْمَشِ، عَنْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ، عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ يَزِيدَ قَالَ: رَمَى عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْعُودٍ جَمْرَةَ الْعَقَبَةِ مِنْ بَطْنِ الْوَادِي بِسَبْعِ حَصِيَّاتٍ، يُكَبِّرُ مَعَ كُلِّ حَصَاةٍ. قَالَ فَقِيلَ لَهُ: إِنَّ أَنَسًا يَرْمُونَهَا مِنْ فَوْقِهَا. فَقَالَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْعُودٍ: هَذَا وَالَّذِي لَا إِلَهَ غَيْرُهُ مَقَامُ الَّذِي أَنْزَلَتْ عَلَيْهِ سُورَةُ الْبَقَرَةِ.

[2746-306]. (Dar al-Salam 2971) Minjāb ibn al-Hārith al-Tamīmī narrated: Ibn Mushir reported; from al-A'mash. He said: 'I heard al-Hajjāj ibn Yūsuf speaking on the platform. He said: "Keep the Qur'an in the same order as it was given by Gabriel: the surah in which the cow is mentioned, the surah in which women are mentioned, the surah in which Āl 'Imrān are mentioned".'

He said: 'I met Ibrāhīm and told him what he [i.e., al-Hajjāj] said. He criticized him and said: "'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Yazīd narrated to me that 'he was with 'Abdullāh ibn Mas'ūd when he arrived at the 'Aqabah Jamrah. He went into the middle of the valley and stood facing across [the Jamrah]. He stoned it from the middle of the valley with seven pebbles, glorifying God as he threw each pebble.'" I said: "Abu 'Abd al-Raḥmān, some people are throwing their pebbles from above". He said: "By God, other than whom there is no deity, this is the place of the one to whom the Surah The Cow was revealed".'

وَحَدَّثَنَا مِنْجَابُ بْنُ الْحَارِثِ التَّمِيمِيُّ، أَخْبَرَنَا ابْنُ مُسْهَرٍ،
عَنِ الْأَعْمَشِ قَالَ: سَمِعْتُ الْحَجَّاجَ بْنَ يُونُسَ يَقُولُ
وَهُوَ يَخْطُبُ عَلَى الْمِنْبَرِ: أَلْفُوا الْقُرْآنَ كَمَا أَلَفَهُ
جَبْرِيلُ: السُّورَةُ الَّتِي يُذَكَّرُ فِيهَا الْبَقَرَةُ، وَالسُّورَةُ الَّتِي
يُذَكَّرُ فِيهَا النِّسَاءُ، وَالسُّورَةُ الَّتِي يُذَكَّرُ فِيهَا آلُ عِمْرَانَ.
قَالَ فَلَقِيتُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ فَأَخْبَرْتُهُ بِقَوْلِهِ، فَسَبَّهَ وَقَالَ:

Text Explanation

This hadith, in its different versions, highlights several points, the most important of which is that it confirms the stoning of the ‘Aqabah Jamrah on the Day of Sacrifice. This is unanimously agreed upon as a duty, and it is one of the three requirements for releasing oneself from ihrām or consecration. These are: (1) the stoning at the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, which is a duty; (2) ṭawāf al-ifāḍah along with the sa‘ī (if one has not already performed the sa‘ī) and (3) shaving one’s head – according to scholars who say that this is a ritual of the hajj, which is the correct view. If one omits the stoning at the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, allowing the Tashrīq days to elapse without performing it, one’s hajj is valid, but one is required to slaughter a sheep in sacrifice as compensation for the omission. This is the view of al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars. Some Mālikī scholars say that the sa‘ī is an essential obligation, which means that the hajj is invalid if it is omitted. Ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī mentions that some expressed the view that the stoning is merely a means to ensure that the pilgrim glorifies God. According to this view, if one glorifies God without stoning, this is enough. Something similar is also suggested to have been said by ‘Ā’ishah, but the correct and well-known view is the one we mentioned first.

Other interesting points these hadiths highlight is that the stoning is performed with seven pebbles, which is unanimously agreed upon. Likewise, it is recommended to glorify God as one throws each pebble. This is the view of our Shāfi‘ī school, the Mālikī School and all scholars. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘Scholars are unanimous that if one does not glorify God as one throws the pebbles, no harm is done’. It is also recommended to stand in the middle of the valley when throwing the pebbles, with Makkah to one’s left and Mina to one’s right, facing the ‘Aqabah and the Jamrah. This is what is correct according to the Shāfi‘ī school, and it is endorsed by the majority of scholars. Some scholars of our Shāfi‘ī School have said that it is desirable to stand facing the Jamrah with one’s back to Makkah, while other Shāfi‘ī scholars said it is desirable to face the Ka‘bah with the Jamrah to one’s right. The correct view is the one we mentioned first. The unanimous view is that whatever one’s position is when throwing the pebbles, the stoning is correct. This means one may stand facing the Jamrah or keep it to one’s right or left, or be above, below or the middle of it. As regards the other Jamrahs that need to be stoned in the following days, it is desirable to throw the pebbles from above them.

Ibn Mas‘ūd refers to the Prophet as the one ‘to whom the Surah The Cow was revealed’. We explained this a little earlier,<sup>ii</sup> but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2746 one of the narrators in the chain of transmission, al-A‘mash says: ‘I heard al-Ḥajjāj ibn Yūsuf speaking on the platform. He said: “Keep the Qur’an in the same order as it was given by Gabriel: the surah in which the cow is mentioned, the surah in which women are mentioned, the surah in which Āl ‘Imrān are mentioned”. He [i.e., al-A‘mash] said: I met Ibrāhīm and told him what he [i.e., al-Ḥajjāj] said. He criticized him’. Qadi ‘Iyād said:

If al-Ḥajjāj meant by his words, ‘in the same order as it was given by Gabriel’, the arrangement of the verses in each surah and the order in which each surah appears in the copies of the Qur’an, this is something to which all Muslims agree. They are also agreed that it is as stated by the Prophet (peace be upon him). If he means the arrangement of the surahs as they occur one after the other, some scholars of Fiqh and scholars of the Qur’an say that it was given by Gabriel to the Prophet. Other scholars disagree, saying that it is the result of efforts by the leading scholars of the first generation, not by Divine order.

The fact that al-Ḥajjāj mentions the Surah Women (which is the fourth surah in the Qur’an) before Āl ‘Imrān (which is the third surah) clearly indicates that he was referring only to the arrangement of the verses in each surah. Al-Ḥajjāj followed the arrangement in the master copies written during ‘Uthmān’s reign. He never deviated from the master copies. It is clear that he was referring to the arrangement of the verses in each surah, not to the arrangement of the surahs themselves.

Hadith No. 2748 mentions that Ibn Mas‘ūd did his stoning at the Jamrah, standing ‘with the Ka‘bah to his left and Mina to his right’. This provides evidence in support of the correct view mentioned earlier, explaining the right position to take when performing the stoning.

  - ii. The explanation was given in Volume 6. In short, Ibn Mas'ūd refers to this surah because it outlines most of the duties and rituals included in the hajj. Since the stoning action is one of the duties of the hajj, Ibn Mas'ūd confirmed that he was doing it as the Prophet had done it. This reminds us of the fact that all the actions of the hajj are learnt from the Prophet, done as he did them or as he approved of them.

‘LEARN YOUR RITUALS’

[2751-310]. (Dar al-Salam 2976) Ishāq ibn Ibrāhīm and ‘Alī ibn Khashram narrated:<sup>i</sup> both from ‘Īsā ibn Yūnus; Ibn Khashram said: ‘Īsā reported; from Ibn Jurayj; Abu al-Zubayr reported to me; that he heard Jābir say: ‘I saw the Prophet (peace be upon him) stoning while riding his she-camel on the Day of Sacrifice, and he said: “Learn your rituals. I do not know, but I may not perform the hajj after this hajj of mine”.’

حَدَّثَنَا إِسْحَاقُ بْنُ إِبْرَاهِيمَ، وَعَلِيُّ بْنُ خَشْرَمٍ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ عِيسَى بْنِ يُونُسَ. قَالَ ابْنُ خَشْرَمٍ: أَخْبَرَنَا عِيسَى، عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ، أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ جَابِرًا يَقُولُ: رَأَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَرْمِي عَلَى رَاحِلَتِهِ يَوْمَ النَّحْرِ، وَيَقُولُ: «لِتَأْخُذُوا مَنَاسِكَكُمْ، فَإِنِّي لَا أَدْرِي. لَعَلِّي لَا أَحُجُّ بَعْدَ حَجَّتِي هَذِهِ».

[2752-311]. (Dar al-Salam 2977) Salamah ibn Shabīb narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> al-Ḥasan ibn A‘yan narrated; Ma‘qil narrated; from Zayd ibn Abi Unaysah; from Yaḥyā ibn Ḥuṣayn; from his grandmother Umm al-Huṣayn. He said: ‘I heard her say: “I performed the hajj with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him), the Farewell Pilgrimage. I saw him when he stoned the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, then he left riding his she-camel. Bilāl and Usāmah were with him, one of them leading his she-camel and the other holding his robe over God’s Messenger’s head, [shading him] from the sun. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said much, and then I heard him say: ‘If a badly cut, (I thought she said) black slave assumes your leadership and leads in accordance with God’s Book, listen and obey him’.”’

يَقُودُكُمْ بِكِتَابِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى، فَاسْمَعُوا لَهُ وَأَطِيعُوا.

[2753-312]. (Dar al-Salam 2978) Ahmad ibn Hanbal narrated to me: Muhammad ibn Salamah narrated; from Abu ‘Abd al-Rahīm; from Zayd ibn Abi Unaysah; from Yahyā ibn al-Huṣayn; from Umm al-Huṣayn his grandmother. She said: ‘I performed the hajj with God’s Messenger (peace be upon him), the Farewell Pilgrimage, and I saw Usāmah and Bilāl: one of them was holding the rein of the Prophet’s she-camel and the other lifting his robe shielding him from the heat, until he completed stoning the ‘Aqabah Jamrah’.

Muslim said: Abu ‘Abd al-Raḥīm’s name is Khālīd ibn Abi Yazīd, and he is the maternal uncle of Muhammad ibn Salamah. Wakī‘ and Ḥajjāj al-A‘war narrated from him.

وَحَدَّثَنِي أَحْمَدُ بْنُ حَنْبَلٍ، حَدَّثَنَا مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ سَلَمَةَ، عَنْ أَبِي عَبْدِ الرَّحِيمِ، عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَبِي أَيُّسَةَ، عَنْ يَحْيَى بْنِ الْحُسَيْنِ، عَنْ أُمِّ الْحُسَيْنِ، جَدَّتِهِ، قَالَتْ: حَجَّجْتُ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَجَّةَ الْوَدَاعِ. فَرَأَيْتُ أَسَامَةَ وَبِلَالَ، وَأَحَدُهُمَا أَخَذَ بِخِطَامِ نَاقَةِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، وَالْآخَرُ رَافِعٌ ثَوْبَهُ يَسْتُرُهُ مِنَ الْحَرِّ، حَتَّى رَمَى جَمْرَةَ الْعَقَبَةِ.

Text Explanation

The first hadith, No. 2751 mentions that the Prophet was riding his she-camel when he did the stoning on the Day of Sacrifice and said to the people: ‘Learn your rituals’. This serves as evidence in support of al-Shāfi‘ī’s view that it is desirable for whoever reaches the ‘Aqabah Jamrah riding, on the Day of Sacrifice, that they continue to ride as they do the stoning at this Jamrah.<sup>iii</sup> If such a person does the stoning on foot, this is also perfectly appropriate. A pilgrim who reaches the Jamrah on foot should do the stoning in the same condition. This applies on the Day of Sacrifice. On the next two days, it is recommended, i.e., sunnah, to do the stoning at the three Jamrahs walking. On the third day, the last of the Tashrīq days, one does the stoning riding and then leaves Mina for Makkah. All this is the view of Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī and other scholars. Ahmad and Ishāq said that it is desirable to do the stoning on the Day of Sacrifice on foot. Ibn al-Mundhir said that Ibn ‘Umar, Ibn al-Zubayr and Sālim used to walk when they did the stoning. All scholars agree that however one does the stoning it is acceptable, provided that the pebbles are thrown in place.

The Prophet says in this hadith: ‘Learn your rituals’. He uses the imperative form; thus he means that whatever he used of words, actions and conditions are parts of the hajj and that these are the believers’ rituals. Learn them from him, practise them and teach them to other people. This hadith is a fundamental principle of the hajj, akin to his order concerning prayer: ‘Pray as you have seen me pray’.

He further tells them: ‘I may not perform the hajj after this hajj of mine’. This is meant by way of saying farewell and gives an indication that his death would take place in a short while. Therefore, he urged them to learn from him and to take every opportunity to learn what related to religion from him. This is why we refer to his hajj as the Farewell Pilgrimage, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2752 Umm al-Ḥuṣayn mentions seeing the Prophet as he was on his she-camel when doing his stoning, and that one of his Companions was shading him from the sun with his robe. The hadith clearly shows that it is permissible for a person in consecration to have shade over his head, such as a robe or something similar. This is the view of our school and the large majority of scholars, and it applies whether a person is on the ground or riding. Mālik and Ahmad say that it is not permissible, and a person who does it must atone for it. A different report from Ahmad suggests that there is no atonement or compensation for this. Scholars agree that it is permissible for a pilgrim in consecration to sit under a roof or inside a tent. They agree with us that there is no compensation to be given if one is shaded for a brief time. The same is the case if one uses one's hand to provide some shade over one's head. Scholars who hold the opposite view may cite in their support the hadith narrated by 'Abdullāh ibn 'Abbās ibn Abi Rabī'ah who said: 'I [performed the hajj] in 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb's company and I never saw him using any shade until he returned'.<sup>iv</sup> Ibn 'Umar saw a man on his camel. He was in iḥrām and using some shade from the sun. He said to him: 'Expose yourself to the One for whom you have entered into iḥrām'.

Jābir narrates from the Prophet: 'Anyone who is in iḥrām and exposes himself to the sun until it sets, his sins will be set away so that he is the same as when he was born'.<sup>v</sup> Scholars cite in support of their view the present hadith narrated by Umm al-Ḥuṣayn which is related by Muslim, saying that having such shade is not like wearing a garment. Moreover, the hadith narrated by Jābir is lacking in authenticity. Further, it does not prohibit having such shade. Nor is such a prohibition implied by what 'Umar did or what Ibn 'Umar said. Even if these included any prohibition, the hadith narrated by Umm al-Ḥuṣayn takes priority, but God knows best.

In the same hadith, Umm al-Ḥuṣayn says that she heard the Prophet say: 'If a badly cut, (I thought she said) black slave assumes your leadership and leads in accordance with God's Book, listen and obey him'. These descriptions are meant to stress that a ruler might present the least socially acceptable qualities, but if he leads his people in accordance with God's Book, the Qur'an, then he must be obeyed. Scholars said that rulers should be obeyed as long as they adhere to Islam and call on people to adhere to it, regardless of their own personal conduct and how they behave in private. If they are seen to disobey God and Islamic teachings, they should be admonished and reminded of the need to mend their ways.

It may be asked, how come we are ordered to obey a ruling slave, when a caliph must belong to the Quraysh? The answer is twofold: (1) This applies to some governors or officials who are appointed by the caliph or his deputy. It does not imply that the caliph is a slave; and (2) If a Muslim slave manages to take power by force, and he rules in accordance with the Qur'an, he should be obeyed. Rebellion against him is not permissible, but God knows best.

THE SIZE OF THE PEBBLES

[2754-313]. (Dar al-Salam 2979) Muhammad ibn Ḥātim and ‘Abd ibn Ḥumayd narrated to me:<sup>i</sup> Ibn Ḥātim said: Muhammad ibn Bakr narrated; Ibn Jurayj reported; Abu al-Zubayr reported; that he heard Jābir ibn ‘Abdullāh say: ‘I saw the Prophet (peace be upon him) stoning the Jamrah with pebbles like peas’.

Text Explanation

This hadith shows that it is desirable to use pebbles of this size. If one uses larger or smaller pebbles, it is acceptable but discouraged. We discussed this point fully in Chapter 45 in Volume 6.

Text Explanation

What is meant by stoning at the Jamrah on the Day of Sacrifice is the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, as stoning on that day is limited to this one Jamrah. This is unanimously agreed upon. On the three Tashrīq days, which follow the Day of Sacrifice, the stoning commences after the sun starts on its decline, shortly after midday. This is the view of our Shāfi‘ī School, the Mālikī and Ḥanbalī Schools and the great majority of scholars, thereby making it clear that stoning on these three days is not permissible until shortly after midday. This view is based on the present authentic hadith. Ṭāwūs and ‘Aṭā’, however, said that it is acceptable to perform the stoning before midday on these three days. In turn, Abu Ḥanīfah and Ishāq ibn Rāhawayh said that it is acceptable to do the stoning before midday on the last of the three days. Our evidence is that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did his stoning as we have mentioned, and he said: ‘Learn your rituals’.

Stoning at the Jamrahs on the Tashrīq days must be done in the right order. This means that one should start with the first Jamrah, which is close to al-Khīf Mosque, then proceed to the middle one, then go to the last, which is the ‘Aqabah Jamrah. It is also recommended that after stoning at the first Jamrah the pilgrim should stop for some time, face the qiblah, supplicate and glorify God. The same is recommended after the stoning at the middle Jamrah, but not after the third where one completes one’s stoning and then leaves immediately. This meaning is confirmed in al-Bukhari’s Ṣaḥīḥ, as narrated by Ibn ‘Umar from the Prophet (peace be upon him). All this is desirable on all these three days, but God knows best.

According to our school, it is recommended to raise one's hands when doing this supplication. The same view is shared by the majority of scholars, and it is confirmed in the hadith we referred to as narrated by Ibn 'Umar and related by al-Bukhari. Mālik has different views on this point. Scholars are unanimous that if a person does not supplicate here, he commits no offence. However, al-Thawrī, and only he, is reported to have said that such a person needs to give some food to the poor or make a sacrificial slaughter.

SEVEN PEBBLES FOR STONING

[2756-315]. (Dar al-Salam 2982) Salamah ibn Shabīb narrated to me: al-Ḥasan ibn A‘yan narrated; Ma‘qil (who is Ibn ‘Ubaydullāh al-Jazarī) narrated; from Abu al-Zubayr; from Jābir. He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “The use of stones is with an odd number, stoning at the Jamrahs is an odd number, the sa‘ī between al-Ṣafa and al-Marwah is an odd number, ṭawāf is an odd number. When any of you cleans himself, he should use an odd number”.’

وَحَدَّثَنِي سَلَمَةُ بْنُ شَيْبٍ، حَدَّثَنَا الْحَسَنُ بْنُ أَغْيَنَ،
حَدَّثَنَا مَعْقِلٌ (وَهُوَ ابْنُ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ الْجَزَرِيُّ)، عَنْ أَبِي
الرُّبَيْعِ، عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ: قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ: «الِاسْتِجْمَارُ تَوًّا، وَرَمْيُ الْجَمَارِ تَوًّا، وَالسَّعْيُ بَيْنَ
الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةِ تَوًّا، وَالطَّوَافُ تَوًّا. وَإِذَا اسْتَجْمَرَ أَحَدُكُمْ
فَلْيَسْتَجْمِرْ بِتَوٍّ».

Text Explanation

The Prophet mentions that in all these activities an odd number is required. The cleaning mentioned in the first instance and the last point in the hadith is that of cleaning oneself after urination or defecation. If this is done with a solid object, such as stones, as used to be the case during long travel in the desert [or with toilet paper as used at present], an odd number is required. The fact that the Prophet repeats the first order at the end of the hadith is not meant as repetition according to Qadi 'Iyāḍ. He says that the first instance refers to the action itself and the second to the number of stones to be used. The odd number required in the stoning at the Jamrahs, the ṭawāf and the sa'ī is seven each, while in cleaning oneself it is three, provided that they are enough to ensure complete cleanliness. If this is not achieved with three, then more is added. If the cleaning is complete with an even number, adding one more to make it an odd number is recommended. Some of our scholars say that this addition is a duty, but the better-known view is that it is desirable or recommended, but God knows best.

SHAVING ONE'S HEAD OR CUTTING ONE'S HAIR?

[2757-316]. (Dar al-Salam 2983) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā and Muhammad ibn Rumḥ narrated:<sup>1</sup> both said: al-Layth reported [H]. Also, Qutaybah narrated; Layth narrated; from Nāfi'; that 'Abdullāh said: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) shaved his head as did some of his Companions, while others cut a bit of their hair'. 'Abdullāh said that God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: 'May God bestow mercy on those who shaved', once or twice, then said: 'and those who cut their hair'.

Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2757 mentions that the Prophet shaved his head and many of his Companions followed suit, but some of them only cut a bit of their hair. The chapter includes several hadiths mentioning the Prophet's supplications three times for those who shaved and once for those who shortened their hair. This makes it clear that either action is sufficient and contingent upon personal choice, but it also makes it clear that shaving one's head is better and preferable. Scholars are unanimous that shaving is better than shortening, although shortening one's hair is sufficient. The only exception being that Ibn al-Mundhir reported that al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī used to say that shaving one's head is a duty during one's first hajj and that merely cutting one's hair on that occasion is not sufficient. If he actually expressed this view, it is still rejected on the basis of the evidence of clear texts and the unanimity of earlier scholars.

The well-known view of our school is that shaving one's head and shortening one's hair are rituals of the hajj and the 'umrah and constitute one of their essential obligations, which means that either of them is not valid without it. This is agreed upon by all scholars. An odd opinion attributed to al-Shāfi'ī suggests that shaving one's head or cutting one's hair is not a ritual, but an action indicating the permissibility of what was restricted. This is unsound, and the first view is the correct one. The minimum amount of shaved or shortened hair is three hairs according to al-Shāfi‘ī, while Abu Ḥanīfah makes it one-quarter of one’s head. Abu Yūsuf says it is half of one’s head, while Mālik and Ahmad consider that most of one’s head is required. One report attributed to Mālik requires all of one’s head. Scholars are unanimous that it is preferable to shave or shorten all of one’s hair. It is recommended that the shortening should be by a minimum of half an inch, or one third of one’s finger. If it is shortened less than this, it is acceptable because is an act of shortening. As for women, they should shorten their hair, while shaving their heads is discouraged. If a woman shaves her head, however, she meets the requirement. Plucking, burning or clipping one’s hair and any other form of removing hair is also acceptable.

It should be understood that what is mentioned in these hadiths with regard to the Prophet shaving his head while some of his Companions did the same and others shortened their hair, as well as his praying three times for the first group and once for the second, all took place during the Farewell Pilgrimage. This is well known and correct. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ quotes some as saying that it occurred at the time of al-Ḥudaybiyah, when the Prophet ordered his Companions to shave, but none of them did as they still hoped to be able to enter Makkah. A report quotes Ibn ‘Abbās saying: ‘Some people shaved their heads on the Day of al-Ḥudaybiyah, while others shortened their hair. God’s Messenger said three times, “My Lord, bestow mercy on those who have shaved”. He was asked why he repeated his prayer of mercy three times for the ones who shaved. He said: “Because they entertained no doubt”.’ Ibn ‘Abd al-Barr said that what has been learnt pertained to the occasion of al-Ḥudaybiyah. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said:

In this chapter, Muslim includes what is at variance with what they said, but these hadiths do not mention the place where it happened. However, Muslim includes the hadith narrated by Yaḥyā ibn al-Ḥuṣayn from his grandmother, stating that she heard the Prophet during the Farewell Pilgrimage praying three times for those who shaved and once for those who shortened their hair. However, this hadith is narrated by Ibn Abi Shaybah and Wakī', but Wakī' does not mention that it happened during the Farewell Pilgrimage. Speaking earlier about the stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah, Muslim includes the hadith narrated by Yaḥyā ibn al-Ḥuṣayn, from his grandmother, that she performed the hajj with the Prophet, the Farewell Pilgrimage. In her hadith, the matter is fully explained as occurring during the Farewell Pilgrimage. It is, however, possible that the Prophet said it on both occasions.

Shaving is preferable to shortening one's hair because it is a fuller act of worship and shows more readiness to express humility before God. A person who shortens his hair leaves most of it intact, and hair is part of one's better appearance. A pilgrim is commanded to abandon what adds to good appearance. Indeed, his appearance is that of one who is dusty and dishevelled, but God knows best.

Scholars agree that the preferable time for shaving one's head or shortening one's hair is after the stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah and slaughtering one's sacrifice if one has it, and before the ṭawāf al-ifādah, whether one is offering the hajj in the ifrād or qirān method. Ibn al-Jahm al-Mālikī said that a person doing the qirān does not shave until he has completed his ṭawāf al-ifādah and sa'ī. This is wrong and is refuted by texts and the unanimity of earlier scholars. A number of authentic hadiths confirm that the Prophet shaved his head before doing the ṭawāf al-ifādah. We have already explained that the Prophet ultimately did his hajj in the qirān method. If a person fixes his hair when he starts his consecration, the correct and well-known view of our school is that it is desirable for him to shave at the time when shaving becomes due, but it is not obligatory to do it then. The majority of scholars say that he is required to shave it.

Note: In our introduction to this commentary, [Vol. 1 pp. 1-55] we mentioned that Ibrāhīm ibn Sufyān, Muslim's disciple, missed listening to three parts of Muslim's Ṣaḥīḥ. The first of these three parts relate to the Book of Hajj. We mentioned the beginning and end of this part in the introduction, and it starts here. From this point, Ibrāhīm says: 'from Muslim', not 'Muslim reported' as he says in the rest of the book. He starts here, hadith No. 2759 as: al-Julūdī says: Abu Ishāq Ibrāhīm ibn Muhammad ibn Sufyān reported: from Muslim ibn al-Ḥajjāj; he said: Ibn Numayr narrated; my father narrated; 'Ubaydullāh ibn 'Umar narrated; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar; that 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "May God bestow mercy on those who have shaved [their heads]". People said: 'And those who cut their hair, Messenger of God?'" and continues the hadith to the end.

THE RECOMMENDED ORDER ON THE DAY OF SACRIFICE

[2765-324]. (Dar al-Salam 2992) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah, Ibn Numayr and Abu Kurayb narrated:

they said: Ḥafṣ ibn Ghiyāth reported; from Hishām; with this chain of transmission: a similar text.

Abu Bakr said in his narration that ‘He said to the barber: “Here”, pointing like this to the right side, and distributed his hair among those close by. He then indicated to the barber and to the left side. He shaved it and gave [the hair] to Umm Sulaym’.

In Abu Kurayb’s narration: ‘He started with the right side, giving people one or two hairs each. He then pointed to the left side and did the same. He then said: “Is Abu Ṭalḥah here?” He gave it to Abu Ṭalḥah’.

[2766-325]. (Dar al-Salam 2993) Muhammad ibn al-Muthannā narrated: ‘Abd al-A‘lā narrated; Hishām narrated; from Muhammad; from Anas ibn Mālīk; that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) stoned at the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, then went to his camels and slaughtered them. The barber was sitting. He pointed with his hand to his head, and the barber shaved his right side. He gave it to the people close to him. He then said [to the barber]: “Shave the other half”, and then said: “Where is Abu Ṭalhah?” He gave it to him’.

[2767-326]. (Dar al-Salam 2994) Ibn Abi ‘Umar narrated: Sufyān narrated; I heard Hishām ibn Ḥassān reporting; from Ibn Sīrīn; from Anas ibn Mālīk. He said: ‘When God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) had stoned at the Jamrah and slaughtered his sacrifice, he shaved. He indicated his right side to the barber who shaved it. He then called Abu Ṭalhah al-Anṣārī and gave it to him. He then pointed to his left side and said [to the barber]: “Shave”. He shaved it. He gave [the hair] to Abu Ṭalhah and said: “Distribute it to people”.’

Text Explanation

The first hadith, No. 2764 says: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) reached Mina, went to the Jamrah and stoned. He then went to his place at Mina where he slaughtered his sacrifice. He then said to the barber: “Remove”, pointing to his right side, then his left side. He then gave it to the people’. This hadith includes many interesting points, highlighting the recommended order for attending to the hajj duties that become due on the Day of Sacrifice. These are four duties: stoning at the ‘Aqabah Jamrah, slaughtering the sacrifice, shaving one’s head or shortening one’s hair, then going to Makkah for the ṭawāf al-ifādah, followed by the sa‘ī if one has not done the sa‘ī of the hajj after the ṭawāf of arrival. If the sa‘ī was done after the ṭawāf of arrival, no new sa‘ī is required. In fact, to repeat it is discouraged. In the light of this authentic hadith, it is a sunnah, i.e., recommended, that these four duties should be done in the same order we have mentioned. To do them in a different order, delaying some and advancing others, is perfectly acceptable, as indicated in the hadiths Muslim relates and we will presently discuss. These hadiths specifically state that there is no harm in changing the order of these duties.

Another interesting point is that on arriving in Mina, it is recommended that one does not attend to anything before stoning at the Jamrah. One should continue to the Jamrah riding and do the stoning there, then one may stop at Mina wherever one wishes.<sup>ii</sup> It is also recommended to do the sacrifice at Mina, but it is permissible to slaughter one's sacrifice anywhere in the Haram area. Another point is that removing one's hair is one of the rituals of the hajj, and that shaving one's head is preferable to only shortening one's hair. When attending to this duty, it is desirable to start with the right side of one's head. This is the view of our school and the majority of scholars. Abu Ḥanīfah said that one starts with the left side. The hadith also shows that the hair of a human being is free of impurity. This is the correct view of our Shāfi'ī School, and it is endorsed by the great majority of scholars. The Prophet's hair may be retained and owned as a source of blessing. Yet another point is that an imam or a chief should treat his followers and companions fairly in whatever gifts he gives them, but God knows best.

The name of the person who shaved God's Messenger's head during the Farewell Pilgrimage is given differently. The correct and well-known name is Ma'mar ibn 'Abdullāh al-'Adawī. In al-Bukhari's Ṣaḥīḥ: 'He is claimed to be Ma'mar ibn 'Abdullāh'. It is also said that his name was Khirāsh ibn Umayyah ibn Rabī'ah al-Kulabī, but God knows best.

ii. This is no longer possible for pilgrims today. No vehicles are allowed at the Jamrah areas. Moreover, because of the continuous increase in the numbers of pilgrims, the Jamrahs are now on four levels, and it is

Moreover, in Mina, people are allocated their places.

CHANGING THE ORDER OF HAJJ DUTIES

[2768-327]. (Dar al-Salam 2995) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>1</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Ibn Shihāb; from ‘Īsā ibn Ṭalḥah ibn ‘Ubaydullāh; from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Amr ibn al-‘Āṣ. He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) stopped at Mina during the Farewell Pilgrimage so that people could ask of him. One man came and said: “Messenger of God, I was unaware, and I shaved before slaughtering my sacrifice”. The Prophet said: “Do your sacrifice, there is no harm”. Another man then came and said: “Messenger of God, unwittingly I slaughtered my sacrifice before I stoned”. The Prophet said: “[Go and] stone, there is no harm done”. Whatever God’s Messenger was asked about of doing one duty before or after another, he answered: “Do it, there is no harm”.’

فَجَاءَ رَجُلٌ، فَقَالَ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ لَمْ أَشْعُرْ، فَحَلَقْتُ
قَبْلَ أَنْ أَنْحَر. فَقَالَ: «ادْبِخْ وَلَا حَرَجَ». ثُمَّ جَاءَهُ رَجُلٌ
آخَرُ فَقَالَ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ لَمْ أَشْعُرْ فَتَحَرْتُ قَبْلَ أَنْ
أُزِمِّي. فَقَالَ: «أُزِمْ وَلَا حَرَجَ». قَالَ: فَمَا سُئِلَ رَسُولُ

قَالَ: «افْعَلْ وَلَا حَرَجَ».

[2769-328]. (Dar al-Salam 2996-2997) Ḥarmalah ibn Yahyā nar-rated to me: Ibn Wahb reported; Yūnus reported to me; from Ibn Shihāb; ‘Īsā ibn Ṭalḥah al-Taymī narrated to me; that he heard ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Amr ibn al-‘Āṣ say: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) stopped while he was on his she-camel. People came, asking of him. One person might say: “Messenger of God, I was not aware that stoning came ahead of slaughtering the sacrifice, and I slaughtered my sacrifice before stoning”. God’s Messenger said: “Now do your stoning, no harm done”. Another person said: “I did not realize that slaughtering the sacrifice should be before shaving, and I shaved my head before slaughter”. The Prophet said: “Slaughter your sacrifice, no harm done”. Whatever he was asked about of matters that a person might forget or be unaware of, doing certain things before others and similar matters, God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) always gave the same answer: “Do it, there is no harm”.’

Also, Sa‘īd ibn Yaḥyā al-Umawī narrated to me; my father narrated to me; all from Ibn Jurayj; with the same chain of transmission: the same text, but Ibn Bakr’s narration is the same as ‘Isā’s except for the sentence: ‘they were referring to these three’. He did not mention that.

In Yaḥyā al-Umawī’s narration, he mentions: ‘I shaved before slaughtering my sacrifice’, or ‘I sacrificed before stoning’ and similar matters.

[2775-334]. (Dar al-Salam 3003) Muhammad ibn Hātim narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> Bahz narrated; Wuhayb narrated; ‘Abdullāh ibn Tāwūs narrated; from his father; from Ibn ‘Abbās; that ‘The Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked about the sacrifice, shaving one’s head, stoning and doing things first or later. He always answered: “There is no harm”.’

حَدَّثَنِي مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ حَاتِمٍ، حَدَّثَنَا بِهِرٌ، حَدَّثَنَا وَهَيْبٌ، حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ طَاوُسٍ، عَنِ أَبِيهِ، عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قِيلَ لَهُ فِي الذَّبْحِ وَالْحَلْقِ وَالرَّمْيِ، وَالتَّقْدِيمِ وَالتَّأْخِيرِ، فَقَالَ: «لَا حَرَجَ».

These hadiths speak of several Companions of the Prophet asking him regarding the way they went about fulfilling the required duties of hajj that fall due on the Day of Sacrifice. As mentioned earlier, there are four due acts: stoning at the 'Aqabah Jamrah, slaughtering the sacrifice, shaving one's head and the ṭawāf al-ifādah. We also mentioned that it is recommended to follow this order in discharging these duties. If a pilgrim does not follow this order, doing some before others, this is fine and such a person need not make any compensation, as is clear from these hadiths. A number of early scholars expressed the same opinion, which is the view of our school. However, al-Shāfi'ī is said to have expressed a different opinion which is not based on a very sound basis. This suggests that a person who shaves his head before stoning and doing the ṭawāf must slaughter a sheep in sacrifice. This is based on his other view, which is also unsound, saying that shaving one's head is not a ritual of the hajj. Abu Ḥanīfah and Mālik share this view. Sa'īd ibn Jubayr, al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, al-Nakha'ī and Qatadah, as well as an odd report attributed to Ibn 'Abbās, said that a person who does these duties in the wrong order, advancing some ahead of others, must give a sacrifice in compensation. All their arguments fall in the light of these hadiths. It may be suggested that these hadiths only mean that there is no sin attached in such a change of order, and that it is possible to delay specifying the compensation required. In reply, we say that the Prophet's response, 'no harm done', or 'there is no harm', makes it clear that nothing is required in reparation. Indeed, some of the questions put to the Prophet show that in some cases shaving was done before the stoning. Scholars unanimously agree that no compensation is due from one who slaughters the sacrifice before stoning. They also agree that with regard to compensation, if any, there is no difference between one who deliberately changes the order and one who unwittingly does so. The difference, according to those who prohibit the change of order, is in incurring sin or otherwise, but God knows best.

The Prophet told his questioners: 'Slaughter your sacrifice, no harm done', and 'Do your stoning, no harm done'. This means that they should do what still fell due of their duties. What was done was already accepted and no harm would be attached by doing things in a different order.

In hadith No. 2769: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) stopped while he was on his she-camel. People came, asking of him'. This shows that it is permissible to sit on one's mount, when necessary. And in No. 2768: 'Whatever God's Messenger was asked about of doing one duty before or after another', meaning of these four duties. In the same hadith: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) stopped at Mina during the Farewell Pilgrimage, so that people could ask of him'. In No. 2770: 'As the Prophet was addressing the people on the Day of Sacrifice, a man stood up....' And in No. 2774 'the Prophet was standing near the Jamrah'. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

Some scholars said that these reports are understood to refer to one occasion, and that 'addressing the people' means 'teaching them'. It is also possible that these hadiths refer to two different occasions and places. The first was when he stopped near the Jamrah while riding his camel. On this occasion no 'address' is mentioned, but simply that he stopped his camel and was asked. The other occasion was after Zuhr Prayer on the Day of Sacrifice when he stood up and addressed the people. This is one of the traditional speeches given during the hajj when the Prophet taught them what was to come of their duties and rituals.

The second explanation given by Qadi ‘Iyāḍ is the correct one.

Four speeches, or khuṭbahs, are given during the pilgrimage. The first is in Makkah on the seventh day of Dhul-Hijjah, the second at Namirah on the Day of Arafat, the third in Mina on the Day of Sacrifice and the fourth is in Mina on the second of the Tashrīq days. Each one is a single khuṭbah after Ṣuḥr Prayer, except the one at Namirah which consists of two parts and is delivered before Ṣuḥr Prayer but after midday. I explained the evidence concerning all of them, based on authentic hadiths, in Sharḥ al-Muhadhdhab, but God knows best.

THE BEST TIME FOR THE ṬAWĀF AL-IFĀDAH

[2776-335]. (Dar al-Salam 3004) Muhammad ibn Rāfi' narrated to me:<sup>1</sup> 'Abd al-Razzāq narrated; 'Ubaydullāh ibn 'Umar reported; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar; that 'God's Messenger performed the ṭawāf al-ifādah on the Day of Sacrifice, then returned and offered the zuhr Prayer at Mina'.

Nāfi' said: 'Ibn 'Umar used to perform the ṭawāf al-ifādah on the Day of Sacrifice then return and offer the zuhr Prayer at Mina. He would say that the Prophet did that'.

اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ، عَنْ تَافِعٍ، عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ، أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ
صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَفَاضَ يَوْمَ النَّحْرِ، ثُمَّ رَجَعَ
فَصَلَّى الظُّهْرَ بِمِنَى. قَالَ تَافِعٌ، فَكَانَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ يُفِيضُ
يَوْمَ النَّحْرِ، ثُمَّ يَرْجِعُ فَيُصَلِّي الظُّهْرَ بِمِنَى. وَيَذْكُرُ أَنَّ
النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَعَلَهُ.

In this hadith narrated by Ibn ‘Umar it is confirmed that the Prophet performed the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah on the Day of Sacrifice and returned to Mina where he prayed Zuḥr. Chapter 19 in this volume included hadith No. 2571 narrated by Jābir and describing the Prophet’s pilgrimage in detail. That hadith mentions that the Prophet performed the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah on the Day of Sacrifice and prayed Zuḥr in Mina. There, we explained how to reconcile these two reports, but God knows best.

The present hadith confirms the duty of the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah and that it is recommended to perform it early on the Day of Sacrifice. Scholars are unanimous that the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah is an essential obligation, i.e., rukṇ, of the hajj, and that without it, the hajj is invalid. They also agree that it is desirable to perform it on the Day of Sacrifice, after the duties of stoning, sacrifice and shaving. If it is delayed and performed during the Tashrīq days, the unanimous view is that this is appropriate and incurs no compensation. If it is delayed further and performed after the Tashrīq days, then according to our school and the majority of scholars, it is still valid and incurs no compensation. Mālik and Abu Ḥanīfah said that if it is delayed for a long time, it must be performed and it incurs the slaughter of a sheep in sacrifice, but God knows best.

STOPPING AT AL-MUḤAṢṢAB AFTER LEAVING MINA

[2777-336]. (Dar al-Salam 3005)<sup>i</sup> Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> Ishāq ibn Yūsuf al-Azraq narrated; Sufyān reported; from ‘Abd al-‘Azīz ibn Rufay’. He said: ‘I asked Anas ibn Mālīk and said: “Tell me something you remember from God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) - where did he pray zuhr on the Day of al-Tarwiyah?” He said: “At Mina”. I said: “Where did he pray ‘Aṣr on the day of departure from Mina?” He said: “At al-Abṭah”. He then said: “Do what your leaders do”.’

When he came, he stopped there".'

Abu Bakr said in Ṣāliḥ's version: 'I heard Sulaymān ibn Yasār', and in Qutaybah's version he said: 'From Abu Rāfi' who was in charge of the Prophet's luggage [and travel arrangements]'.

حَدَّثَنَا قُتَيْبَةُ بْنُ سَعِيدٍ، وَأَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ، وَزُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ ابْنِ عُيَيْنَةَ. قَالَ زُهَيْرُ: حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ بْنُ عُيَيْنَةَ، عَنْ صَالِحِ بْنِ كَيْسَانَ، عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ يَسَارٍ قَالَ: قَالَ أَبُو رَافِعٍ: لَمْ يَأْمُرَنِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ أَنْزِلَ الْأَبْطَحَ حِينَ خَرَجَ مِنْ مَنَى، وَلَكِنِّي جِئْتُ فَضَرَبْتُ فِيهِ قُبَّةً، فَجَاءَ فَتَزَلَّ.

[2784-343]. (Dar al-Salam 3013) Ḥarmalah ibn Yaḥyā narrated to me:<sup>vi</sup> Ibn Wahb reported; Yūnus reported; from Ibn Shihāb; from Abu Salamah ibn ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn ‘Awf; from Abu Hurayrah; from God’s Messenger (peace be upon him); that he said: ‘We shall be stopping tomorrow, God willing, at Banī Kinānah’s khayf, where they exchanged pledges of disbelief’.

He said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said to us as we were still in Mina: “We shall be stopping tomorrow at Banī Kinānah’s khayf, where they exchanged pledges of disbelief”.

This is a reference to the pledges of the Quraysh and Kinānah to boycott the Hāshim and al-Muṭṭalib clans so as not to have any marriage or business transactions with them unless they handed God’s Messenger over to them. He meant al-Muḥaṣṣab.

Text Explanation

Muḥaṣṣab, on the day of departure from Mina. These hadiths mention that Abu Bakr, ‘Umar, Ibn ‘Umar and various caliphs used to do the same. However, both ‘Āishah and Ibn ‘Abbās did not stop there. They said that the place was used for convenience only, not deliberately chosen. This means that the Prophet’s Companions differed on this point. The view of al-Shāfi‘ī, Mālik and the majority of scholars say that it is desirable, so as to emulate the Prophet and the rightly guided caliphs. They all agree that whoever does not do so incurs no violation of anything. It is also desirable to pray Ṣuḥr, ‘Aṣr, Maghrib and ‘Ishā there, and to stay for a part or all of the night, again to follow the Prophet’s practice. Al-Muḥaṣṣab, al-Ḥaṣbah, al-Abṭaḥ, al-Baṭḥā’ and Bani Kinānah’s khayf are all names referring to the same place. The word khayf means a place that drops down a mountain side but remains higher than the plain. Stopping there was ‘more convenient for his departure’ means that it made his leaving Makkah and its area to return to Madinah easier.

In hadith No. 2784-6 the Prophet mentions Bani Kinānah’s khayf, ‘where they exchanged pledges of disbelief’. This is where the Quraysh and the Kinānah chiefs forged an alliance and solemnly pledged to each other to impose a boycott on the Prophet and his clan, the Hāshim and al-Muṭṭalib branches of the Quraysh. They put all this in writing and hung the document inside the Ka‘bah. This famous document included several types of falsehood, severance of bonds of kinship and the rejection of faith. God sent worms that ate all that the document contained of disbelief, unkindness and falsehood, leaving only what it contained of God’s names. The Angel Gabriel informed the Prophet of all this, and the Prophet related it to his uncle Abu Ṭālib who, in turn, informed the Quraysh who checked it and found it exactly as the Prophet said. The story is well known in the Prophet’s history.

Some scholars said that the Prophet's stop at this place was an expression of thanks to God for enabling him to go public after having to preach in secret, and for the victory granted to His faith, but God knows best.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2783 is as follows: 'Qutaybah ibn Sa'īd, Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated: all from Ibn 'Uyaynah; Zuhayr said: Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah narrated; from Ṣāliḥ ibn Kaysān; from Sulaymān ibn Yasār'. After giving the text of the hadith, Muslim adds: 'Abu Bakr said in Ṣāliḥ's version: I heard Sulaymān ibn Yasār'. This is how the hadith occurs in most manuscripts. What it means is that the first narration by Qutaybah and Zuhayr says: 'From Ibn 'Uyaynah, from Ṣāliḥ, from Sulaymān', while Abu Bakr's narration mentions: 'From Ibn 'Uyaynah, from Ṣāliḥ, he said: I heard Sulaymān'. This second narration is better than the other which uses 'from'. When direct hearing is specifically mentioned, the hadith is unanimously accepted as evidence, while there is some disagreement with regard to reporting 'from', even though the narrator using it is known to be 'not misleading'. We discussed this earlier. In some manuscripts the addition is as follows: 'Abu Bakr said in Ṣāliḥ's version', while in others it is: 'Abu Bakr said in a version from Ṣāliḥ: I heard Sulaymān'. The first of these two is the correct one. Qadi 'Iyād enters it so, as reported by the majority. He also comments saying: 'it is the correct one'.

He asked for a drink, and we brought him a jug of a fruit-sweetened drink and he drank of it and gave the rest to Usāmah to drink. He said: ‘You have done fine and well. Continue to do this’. ### Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2787 says: 'Al-'Abbās ibn 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib requested God's Messenger's permission to stay in Makkah during the Mina nights, in order to attend to his duty of providing drinking water. The Prophet granted his request'. This confirms two points: the first is that staying the nights of the Tashrīq days at Mina is required. This is agreed upon, but scholars differ as to whether it is a duty or recommended, i.e., sunnah. Al-Shāfi'ī gives two views, the more correct of which is that it is a duty. This is endorsed by Mālik and Ahmad. The other view is that it is a sunnah. This is the view of Ibn 'Abbās, al-Ḥasan and Abu Ḥanīfah. Scholars who say that it is a duty require a compensation for its omission in the form of a sacrifice of one sheep. If we say that it is a sunnah, the sacrifice for its omission becomes desirable, not a duty. As to the length of time required to stay during the night, al-Shāfi'ī mentions two views, the more correct of which is ‘most of the night’, and the other is for a short period.

The other point is that it is permissible for the people in charge of providing drinking water for the pilgrims not to stay in Mina but to go to Makkah so that they can draw the water from Zamzam during the night and put it in ponds so that it is made available to whoever needs a drink. According to al-Shāfi‘ī, this is not exclusive to the ‘Abbās family and their descendants but applies to anyone who is engaged in the provision of drinking water. The same is the case if some other people start a second service of providing water. Those who work in the provision of this service do not have to stay in Mina. This is the correct view.

Some of our scholars say that this concession applies only to al-‘Abbās’ water service, while others suggest that it applies only to al-‘Abbās’ family and descendants. Others still say that it applies to the Hāshimites, whether of al-‘Abbās’ household or others. This makes up four different views of our scholars, and the first is the most correct of these, but God knows best. It should be known that al-‘Abbās’ water service belongs to al-‘Abbās’ family and their descendants. It belonged to al-‘Abbās in pre-Islamic days and the Prophet confirmed this to him. Therefore, it belongs to them for all time.

In the hadith No. 2788 Ibn ‘Abbās says: ‘The Prophet came on his she-camel, with Usāmah behind him. He asked for a drink and we brought him a jug of a fruit-sweetened drink and he drank of it and gave the rest to Usāmah to drink. He said: “You have done fine and well. Continue to do this”.’ The hadith provides evidence in support of the points I have explained. In the light of this hadith, our scholars agree that it is recommended for pilgrims and others to partake of a drink from al-‘Abbās’ service. This is a drink of water sweetened with raisins, dates, or similar fruits, giving it a sweet taste and remaining alcohol-free. If it were to be kept for several days, however, it would become alcoholic and intoxicate. In this case it would become forbidden to drink.

The Prophet said to his relatives attending to people's drinks: 'You have done fine and well'. This shows that it is recommended to praise the people serving the drinks and whoever does a favour to others, but God knows best.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2787 includes: 'Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated: Ibn Numayr and Abu Usāmah narrated; both said: 'Ubaydullāh narrated; from Nāfi''. This is how it occurs in most or all copies in our areas. In some copies of Western areas [i.e., North Africa and Andalusia] it is: 'Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated; Zuhayr and Abu Usāmah narrated'. Thus, Ibn Numayr is replaced by Zuhayr. Abu 'Alī al-Ghassānī and Qadi 'Iyād said: 'In Ibn Māhān's narration from Ibn Sufyān, from Muslim the verb is "he said", while in Abu Ahmad al-Julūdī's narration from Ibn Sufyān, from Zuhayr, it occurs: "both said". This is an error, and the correct thing is to say "Ibn Numayr: both said". This is how Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah relates it in his al-Musnad anthology'. This is what both said. Khalaf al-Wāsiṭī mentions in his book al-Aṭrāf: 'Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated, Ibn Numayr and Abu Usāmah narrated'. He does not mention Zuhayr.

Text Explanation

This hadith includes several points, such as the desirability of bringing one's sacrifice, the permissibility of deputizing the task of slaughtering it, attending to it and distributing its meat and making it a charitable donation [i.e., ṣadaqah] which includes its meat, hide and coverings. It is desirable to give the animal to be sacrificed a good covering. The butcher who slaughters the sacrifice is not to be given a portion of the meat of sacrifice. What he is given is in lieu of his work, and if this is a portion of the sacrifice, it becomes akin to selling a portion of the sacrificed animal, and this is not permissible. The hadith also shows that it is permissible to hire someone to perform the slaughter or other duties.

According to our Shāfi'ī School, it is not permissible to sell the hide of the sacrificed animal or any portion of it. These may not be used at home or anywhere else. This applies to all sacrifice, whether it is a duty or a sunnah. However, if the sacrifice is a voluntary one, i.e., not a duty or part of a duty, it is permissible for the one donating it to use its hide and other material, including making clothes out of it. The butcher may not be given any portion of the sacrifice in lieu of its slaughter. This is the view of our school, and this is endorsed by 'Aṭā', al-Nakha'ī, Mālik, Ahmad and Ishāq. Ibn al-Mundhir reports that Ibn 'Umar, Ahmad and Ishāq said that it is permissible for a person to sell the hide of his obligatory sacrifice and give its price to charity. He added that Abu Thawr said that it is permissible to sell it. Al-Nakha'ī and al-Awzā'ī said that its price may be used to buy some tools, such as a sieve, an axe, scales, etc.

Al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī said that it is permissible to give the hide to the butcher, but this is contrary to the sunnah, and God knows best.

Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

Placing a cover on the sacrificial animal is a sunnah. According to scholars it applies only to camels intended for sacrifice. This was a well-known practice by people of the early generations. Mālik, al-Shāfi'ī, Abu Thawr and Ishāq saw it. They said that it should be done after marking the animals, so that it would not be stained with blood. They said that the chosen material should be according to what the person giving the sacrifice could afford. People of the early generations used different materials for the purpose. Mālik said that if the covering was cheap, it should be cut around the hump, so that it would not fall. He added that the only one not to do this was Ibn 'Umar because he wanted the covering to remain usable. He used to choose fine, expensive material for his coverings. He did not place the covering on the sacrificial animals until he started from Mina towards Arafat. However, he is also said to have started using the coverings from Dhul-Ḥulayfah, and that he used to tie the ends of the cover on the camels' tails. If he travelled walking, he removed the coverings. On the Day of Arafat, he would place the coverings on the animals, and when he reached the slaughter place, he would remove them so that they would not be stained with blood. Mālik said that the coverings were removed at night so that they would not be torn by thorns. If the coverings were expensive, they should not be cut [at the hump], and the animals should not be covered until the pilgrim proceeded to Arafat. If they were cheap, then the covering could be cut and used from the time the pilgrim enters into iḥrām.

Cutting the covering around the hump has another advantage, which is to keep the marking visible. If the cover is not cut, the marking will be covered. Scholars said that the hadith also shows that the cover is to be given away as charity. Ibn ‘Umar used to give it away as covering for the Ka‘bah, but when the Ka‘bah was given a special covering, Ibn ‘Umar used to give the covering of his sacrificial animals as charity, but God knows best.

Text Explanation

In the hadith No. 2792 Jābir, the narrator, says: 'We sacrificed with God's Messenger in the Year of al-Hudaybiyah: a camel for seven people and a cow for seven people'. And in No. 2793 he says: 'We set out with God's Messenger declaring our iḥrām for the hajj. God's Messenger (peace be upon him) ordered us to share our sacrificial camels and cows: seven people share one camel'. Yet in No. 2795 he says: 'We shared with the Prophet during the hajj and the 'umrah: every seven people shared one badanah'. These hadiths provide evidence confirming the permissibility of sharing the sacrifice. This is subject to different views among scholars. Al-Shāfi'ī's view is that sharing the sacrifice is permissible, whether the sacrifice is a duty or recommended, and whether all the people sharing it are doing it for a religious purpose or only some doing so while the others want their share of the meat. These hadiths serve as his evidence. The same view is shared by Ahmad and the majority of scholars. Dāwūd and some Mālikī scholars say that it is permissible to share in the recommended sacrifice, but not in what is a duty. Mālik says that it is not permissible in any situation while Abu Ḥanīfah says that it is permissible if all participants are sacrificing for a religious purpose. Otherwise, it is not. Scholars are unanimous that if the sacrificed animal is a sheep, it cannot be shared.

These hadiths make it clear that a camel may be shared by seven people and the same applies to a cow. Each is deemed equivalent to seven sheep. Suppose that a pilgrim must sacrifice seven sheep, for errors other than the penalty for hunting, and he sacrifices one camel or cow, this then is sufficient for all seven.

In the hadith No. 2795 a man asks Jābir whether a badanah may be shared like a jazūr. [Both words refer to camels.] Qadi 'Iyād said: 'The questioner differentiates between the two because a badanah is marked for sacrifice at the time when the pilgrim enters into consecration, while a jazūr is bought later for the purpose. The questioner thought that the latter was more qualified for sharing. In answer, Jābir said that since a jazūr is bought for a religious purpose, it is treated in the same way as the other’.

Hadith No. 2796 says: ‘He commanded us to give a sacrifice as we had released ourselves from consecration, and that a few of us might share the same sacrifice. This was when [the Prophet] ordered them in this hadith to release themselves from their iḥrām for the hajj’. Several points of interest are included in this hadith. These include that a sacrifice is a duty that must be fulfilled by a pilgrim who performs the hajj in the tamattu’ method. Sharing a sacrificial animal to discharge a duty of sacrifice is permissible because the sacrifice is a duty for tamattu’, and this hadith clearly sanctions sharing a sacrificial animal to discharge such a duty. This is contrary to Mālik’s view, which we mentioned a short while earlier.

The hadith also provides evidence confirming the permissibility of slaughtering the sacrifice for tamattu’ after one has released oneself from consecration at the end of the ‘umrah and before re-entering consecration for the hajj. This point is subject to different views. According to our Shāfi‘ī School, the tamattu’ sacrifice becomes a duty after one has completed the ‘umrah then started the iḥrām for the hajj. Once a person doing the tamattu’ begins the iḥrām for the hajj, the sacrifice becomes an incumbent duty. Three views are expressed concerning the time of its validity. The correct view, which is agreed upon by the majority of scholars, is that it is permissible after finishing the ‘umrah and before starting the iḥrām for the hajj. The second view is that it is not valid until one has started the iḥrām for the hajj, and the third is that it is valid once the iḥrām for the ‘umrah has started, but God knows best.

Text Explanation

This hadith shows that it is desirable to slaughter a camel standing with its front left leg tied. An authentic hadith related by Abu Dāwūd in his Sunan anthology and narrated by Jābir says that the Prophet and his Companions used to slaughter camels with their front left legs tied, such that they stood on their other three legs. The chain of transmission of this hadith meets Muslim’s conditions. Al-

Shāfi'ī, Mālik, Ahmad and the majority of scholars agree that it is preferable to slaughter camels in this way, standing and with their left front legs tied. Abu Ḥanīfah and al-Thawrī said that it is equally good to slaughter camels standing or sitting. Qadi 'Iyād mentions that Ṭāwūs considered it better to sit a camel for slaughter, but this is contrary to the sunnah, but God knows best.

As for slaughtering cows and sheep, it is preferable to lie them on their left sides at the time of slaughter, with their right legs free and the other three tied.

Text Explanation

In the first hadith, No. 2801 ‘Ā’ishah says: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) sent some sacrifice from Madinah, and I would twine the bands of his sacrifice. He would not refrain from anything a person in iḥrām refrains from’. The hadith shows that it is well recommended to send sacrificial animals to the Ḥaram where they are to be sacrificed. A person who is not going to Makkah may send his sacrifice with someone else.<sup>x</sup> An animal so sent is recommended to be marked and given a band, as mentioned in hadith No. 2804. We have already mentioned the difference of opinion regarding the marking of sacrificial animals. Our view, which is shared by the majority of scholars, is that marking sacrificial camels and cows is desirable, but not sheep which are only given a band that has been twined. The hadith also shows that a person who sends such a sacrificial gift is not considered to be in a state of consecration or iḥrām. Nothing that is forbidden to a person in iḥrām is forbidden to him. This is the view of all scholars, including our Shāfi‘ī School, except for one report attributed to Ibn ‘Abbās, Ibn ‘Umar, ‘Aṭā’, Mujāhid and Sa‘īd ibn Jubayr, and also reported by al-Khaṭṭābī to be shared by scholars relying on logical reasoning, i.e., ijtihād. They say that a person who sends a sacrifice to the Ka‘bah should refrain from what a person in iḥrām refrains from. The fact is that a person does not enter into a state of consecration unless one formulates the intention to do so. In light of the authentic hadiths mentioned in this chapter, we say that the correct view is that of the majority of scholars.

In the hadith No. 2804 ‘Ā’ishah says: ‘I twined the bands of God’s Messenger’s sacrificial camels with my hands. He then drew some blood from them and tied the bands. He then sent [the camels] to the Ka‘bah, but he stayed in Madinah. Nothing that was permissible to him became forbidden’. According to this hadith, it is recommended to both mark sacrificial camels and cows and place bands on them so that they will be recognized. The hadith shows that if a person sends such sacrifice, he should mark them from his hometown. If he takes the sacrifice with him, he delays marking them until he starts consecration at the mīqāt or some other place.

In hadith No. 2806 ‘Ā’ishah says that she twined those bands using wool that they had. The Arabic word she uses for ‘wool’ is ‘ihn, which is said to be dyed in different colours. ‘Ā’ishah also says in hadith No. 2809 that the Prophet sent sheep to be sacrificed at the Ka‘bah, and that he placed bands on them. This provides evidence in support of the view shared by our school and the majority of scholars that it is recommended to place bands to mark sacrificial sheep. Mālik and Abu Ḥanīfah, however, say that sheep need not have bands, and that bands are used only on sacrificial camels and cows. This hadith clearly states that sheep are given bands.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of the hadith No. 2811 includes: “Abd al-Raḥmān reported that Ibn Ziyād wrote to ‘Ā’ishah that ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Abbās said: “Whoever sends a sacrifice everything that is forbidden to a pilgrim applies to him until the sacrifice is slaughtered”.’ He added that he sent some of his sacrifice and requested her to write to him about what he should do. This is how the chain of transmission of this hadith is given, mentioning that the person who wrote to ‘Ā’ishah was ‘Ibn Ziyād’. All scholars who discussed Muslim’s Ṣaḥīḥ, including Al-Ḥusayn ibn Muhammad al-Ghassānī, Muhammad ibn ‘Alī al-Māzarī and Qadi ‘Iyād said that the mention of Ibn Ziyād is wrong because Ibn Ziyād was still young when ‘Ā’ishah passed away. The correct person who wrote to her on this point was his father Ziyād ibn Abi Sufyān, better known as Ziyād, son of his father. He is correctly mentioned in this connection in al-Bukhari’s Ṣaḥīḥ, Mālik’s al-Muwaṭṭa’, Abu Dāwūd’s Sunan and other reliable anthologies, but God knows best.

restrictions on livestock and the health requirements that need to be observed. It may be possible for people in Saudi Arabia to do this when they travel by land. However, everyone may send money to buy the sacrifice in Makkah through the voucher system that has been in operation for many years now. One buys a voucher and assigns the organising body to do the slaughter and the distribution of the meat on one's behalf.

Text Explanation

Hadith No. 2813 says: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) saw a man leading a sacrificial she-camel. He said to him: “Ride her”. The man said: “Messenger of God, it is for sacrifice”. The Prophet said: “Ride her, Woe to you!” adding [the last part] to the second or third instance’. And in the hadith No. 2815 the Prophet says the same thing twice to the man leading the sacrifice camel. In No. 2819 the Prophet says to his questioner: ‘Ride her in a reasonable way, if you have to, until you find a mount’. This is clear evidence that it is permissible to ride camels intended for sacrifice.

There are, however, different views on this point. Al-Shāfi‘ī says that a person may ride if he needs to but should not ride it if there is no need. Moreover, riding it must be in a reasonable way, and without causing any harm. This is also the view of Ibn al-Mundhir and a number of scholars, and it is one of two views attributed to Mālik. ‘Urwah ibn al-Zubayr, Mālik in his other view, Ahmad and Ishāq said that a person may ride the camel even if there is no pressing need but must cause her no harm. The same view is expressed by scholars of the Zāhirī School. Abu Ḥanīfah said that one must not ride it except when there is absolutely no alternative. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ quotes some scholars expressing the view that one should ride such camels because of the Prophet’s order, to invalidate what the unbelievers used to do as they consecrated certain animals, letting them loose and prohibiting the riding of them. These types are mentioned in the following verse of the Qur’an: ‘It was not God who instituted [superstitions like those of] a slit-ear she-camel, or a she-camel let loose for free pasture, or idol sacrifices for twin-births in animals, or stallion-camels freed from work. It is unbelievers who attribute their own lying inventions to God. Most of them never use their reason’. (5: 103)

The evidence cited by the majority of scholars in support of their view is that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not ride the camels he took for sacrifice. Nor did he order people to ride their sacrificial camels. We cite the hadith narrated by Jābir in support of our view against that of ‘Urwah and scholars who agree with him, but God knows best.

The Prophet says to the man leading his she-camel: ‘Woe to you! Ride her’. Originally, this expression is said to someone who is in real trouble, as he is exhausted by his troubles. It is also said casually, with no intention of using it in its literal sense. Arabs used to say it by way of emphasizing their speech. This is the same as one may say to another: ‘You, motherless one!’, ‘You, fatherless one’, ‘God fight him’, ‘How brave’, ‘barren and shaved’, etc. We discussed this in the Book of Cleansing.

WHEN SACRIFICIAL ANIMALS ARE UNABLE TO WALK

[2821-377]. (Dar al-Salam 3054) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>i</sup> ‘Abd al-Wārith ibn Sa‘īd reported; from Abu al-Tayyāḥ al-Ḍubā‘ī; Mūsā ibn Salamah al-Hudhalī narrated to me. He said: ‘I travelled with Sinān ibn Salamah to offer the ‘Umrah. Sinān took with him a she-camel leading it for sacrifice, but she was exhausted along the way, and he was at a loss about what to do with her if she were no longer able to move on. He said: “When I reach the city, I shall ascertain what to do in this case”. The next morning, we were at al-Baṭḥā’, and he said: “Let us go to Ibn ‘Abbās and ask him”. He mentioned to him the case of his she-camel. Ibn ‘Abbās said: “You have come to the expert. God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) sent sixteen camels with a man and put him in charge of them. The man proceeded then came back and said: ‘Messenger of God, what do I do if any of them is exhausted and cannot move on?’ The Prophet said: ‘Slaughter her and dye her bands with her blood, then place them on the side of her hump. Neither you nor anyone of your company may eat of her meat’.”

[2822-000]. (Dar al-Salam 3055) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā, Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and ‘Alī ibn Hujr narrated: Ismā‘īl ibn ‘Ulayyah (Yaḥyā said: ‘reported’ and the other two said: ‘narrated’); from Abu al-Tayyāḥ; from Mūsā ibn Salamah; from Ibn ‘Abbās; that ‘God’s Messenger sent eighteen sacrificial camels with a man...’. He added the same as the text narrated by ‘Abd al-Wārith but did not mention the first part of the hadith.

Hadith No. 2821 speaks of a situation where some animals (camels in particular) are consecrated for sacrifice in Makkah at the Ka'bah, but along the way, they become too exhausted to complete the journey. This is what happened to Sinān ibn Salamah and he was at a loss as to what to do with the camel. He went to Ibn 'Abbās and put the case to him. Ibn 'Abbās told him that he was asking an expert. This confirms that it is permissible for a person to mention some of his own advantages, if needed. Ibn 'Abbās said this to confirm to his questioner that he had the necessary knowledge to sort the problem out. He wanted his interlocutor to pay proper attention [perhaps realizing that he was agitated and needed reassurance].

Ibn 'Abbās' answer cites the case when the Prophet sent some sacrificial camels to Makkah. The man taking them asked him: 'Messenger of God, what do I do if any of them is exhausted and cannot move on?' The Prophet said: 'Slaughter her and dye her bands with her blood, then place them on the side of her hump. Neither you nor anyone of your company may eat of her meat'. The hadith includes several important points, including the fact that if a sacrificial animal cannot continue the journey, it must be slaughtered on the way and all of its meat should be given to the poor. It is forbidden for the traveller taking it to Makkah and all his companions travelling with him to eat of this sacrifice, including those co-travellers who have had little contact with the animal's attendant. The reason for forbidding their eating of it is to prevent any situation where some people may exaggerate the weakness of an animal so as to precipitate its slaughter.

Scholars hold different views about eating the meat of a sacrificial animal if it is exhausted and slaughtered. Al-Shāfi'ī said that if it is a voluntary sacrifice, i.e., not a duty, then the owner may do whatever he wishes of selling, slaughtering, eating, giving to others, etc. He may also abandon it, and he would incur no offence if he did any of this because the animal is his own property. If the sacrificial animal is in fulfilment of a pledge commitment, it must be slaughtered. If it is kept alive and left until it dies naturally, the owner must replace it, just like he must replace something given to him for safekeeping, but he has neglected it and it is ruined. When such an animal is slaughtered, the bands which the owner had tied on the animal should be dipped in its blood and used as a mark on its hump. The slaughtered animal should be left in place so that whoever passes by will know that it is a sacrifice and may eat of it. It is not permissible for the one who sent the sacrificial animal, its driver, the one who led it or anyone who is not poor to eat of it. The sacrifice is meant for poor people and, as such, it is not permissible to anyone who is not poor or needy. Even if the travelling company or the caravan includes some poor people, they may not eat of it. Only the poor who are not in the travelling company may eat of it.

What is meant by the 'travelling company'? Our scholars give two meanings. The first is that it applies only to those who mix with the owner during the journey, such as during meals and when sharing food, but not the rest of the travelling caravan. The second view, which is more correct and is indicated by the apparent meaning of the hadith, is that it includes everyone in the caravan. This is indeed indicated by the apparent meaning of what al-Shāfi'ī said and what the majority of our scholars suggest. Moreover, the reason why the travelling company are not allowed to eat of it is to guard against any possibility of some of them trying to overly exhaust the camel and this applies to everyone in the caravan. It may be said that if the people travelling in the caravan are not allowed to eat of it and it is left on the road, it will be eaten by wild animals, which means that it is left to waste. The answer is that there is no wasting in this because it is customary for desert people and others to inspect the places where pilgrims stop, after they have departed, looking for any useful things left behind. Moreover, another travelling caravan may arrive soon after the first has gone, but God knows best.<sup>iii</sup>

In hadith No. 2821 the Prophet is said to have sent sixteen camels as sacrifice, and in the next hadith, the number is given as eighteen camels. These may have been on two different occasions. Alternatively, the hadiths may also be speaking of only one occasion. That sixteen is mentioned in the first one does not preclude that the total number was eighteen because this is a question of numbers and the smaller number does not mean that the higher number is wrong, but God knows best.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2821 includes the narrator Abu al-Tayyāḥ al-Ḍubā'ī. His name is Yazīd ibn Ḥumayd and he belonged to the Ḍabī'ah ibn Qays tribe. Al-Sam'ānī said that most of the people of this tribe settled in Basrah in south Iraq and one of the city districts is named after this tribe.

  - iii. Needless to say, much of this does not apply these days, as practically no one travels to Makkah on foot and animals are transported to Makkah for the pilgrimage season.

THE ṬAWĀF OF FAREWELL

[2824-379]. (Dar al-Salam 3057) Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated:<sup>i</sup> Sufyān narrated; from Sulaymān al-Aḥwal; from Ṭāwūs; from Ibn ʿAbbās. He said: ‘People used to depart heading in every way, then God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “No one should leave unless they make [a ṭawāf at] the House their last thing”.’

Zuhayr said: ‘Heading every way’ without using ‘in’.

سُفْيَانُ، عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ الْأَحْوَلِ، عَنْ طَاوُوسٍ، عَنِ ابْنِ
عَبَّاسٍ، قَالَ: كَانَ النَّاسُ يَنْصَرِفُونَ فِي كُلِّ وَجْهِ، فَقَالَ
رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «لَا يَنْفِرَنَّ أَحَدٌ حَتَّى
يَكُونَ آخِرُ عَهْدِهِ بِالْبَيْتِ».

قَالَ زُهَيْرُ: يَنْصَرِفُونَ كُلَّ وَجْهِ. وَلَمْ يَقُلْ «فِي».

[2825-380]. (Dar al-Salam 3058) Saʿīd ibn Manṣūr and Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated (Saʿīd’s text):<sup>ii</sup> both said: Sufyān narrated; from Ibn Ṭāwūs; from his father; from Ibn ‘Abbās. He said: ‘People were ordered to make [a ṭawāf at] the House the last thing they do, but women in menstruation are exempt’.

حَدَّثَنَا سَعِيدُ بْنُ مَنْصُورٍ، وَأَبُو بَكْرِ بْنُ أَبِي شَيْبَةَ (وَاللَّفْظُ لِسَعِيدٍ)، قَالَا: حَدَّثَنَا سُفْيَانُ، عَنْ ابْنِ طَاوُسٍ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ، قَالَ أَمَرَ النَّاسُ أَنْ يَكُونَ آخِرُ عَهْدِهِمْ بِالْبَيْتِ، إِلَّا أَنَّهُ حُفِّفَ عَنِ الْمَرْأَةِ الْحَائِضِ.

[2826-381]. (Dar al-Salam 3059) Muhammad ibn Ḥātim nar-rated: Yahyā ibn Sa‘īd narrated; from Ibn Jurayj; al-Ḥasan ibn Muslim reported to me; from Tāwūs. He said: ‘I was with Ibn ‘Abbās when Zayd ibn Thābit said: “Do you rule that a woman in menstruation may depart without making the ṭawāf at the House her last [action]?” Ibn ‘Abbās said to him: “If you disagree, ask this Anṣārī woman if God’s Messenger ordered her to do so”. Zayd ibn Thābit came back to Ibn ‘Abbās smiling and said: “You are certainly right”.’

حَدَّثَنِي مُحَمَّدُ بْنُ حَاتِمٍ، حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ سَعِيدٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ جُرَيْجٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي الْحَسَنُ بْنُ مُسْلِمٍ، عَنْ طَاوُسٍ، قَالَ: كُنْتُ مَعَ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ إِذْ قَالَ زَيْدُ بْنُ ثَابِتٍ: تُفْتِي أَنْ تَصْدُرَ الْحَائِضُ، قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ آخِرُ عَهْدِهَا بِالْبَيْتِ؟ فَقَالَ لَهُ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ: إِمَّا لَا، فَسَلْ فُلَانَةَ الْأَنْصَارِيَّةَ: هَلْ أَمَرَهَا بِذَلِكَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ؟ قَالَ:

مَا أَرَاكَ إِلَّا قَدْ صَدَّقْتَ.

[2827-382]. (Dar al-Salam 3060) Qutaybah ibn Sa'īd narrated:<sup>iii</sup> Layth narrated [H]. Also, Muhammad ibn Rumh narrated; al-Layth narrated; from Ibn Shihāb; from Abu Salamah and 'Urwah; that 'Ā'ishah said: 'Safiyyah bint Huyay started her period after she had performed the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah'. 'Ā'ishah said: 'I mentioned her period to God's Messenger (peace be upon him) and he said: "Will she be detaining us?" I said: "Messenger of God, she had performed the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah and started her period after having done it". God's Messenger said: "Let her depart".'

Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2824 the Prophet issues the order: ‘No one should leave unless they make a ṭawāf at the House their last thing’. This gives evidence in support of scholars who say that the ṭawāf of farewell is a duty and that omitting it requires compensation in the shape of slaughtering a sheep. This is the correct view of our school, and it is endorsed by the majority of scholars, including al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, al-Ḥakam, Ḥammād, al-Thawrī, Abu Ḥanīfah, Ahmad, Ishāq and Abu Thawr. On the other hand, Mālik, Dāwūd and Ibn al-Mundhir maintain that it is a sunnah, or recommended, and its omission requires no compensation. Two opinions are quoted to have been mentioned by Mujāhid which are along the same lines as the two mentioned views.

Hadith No. 2825 says: ‘People were ordered to make a ṭawāf at the House the last thing they do, but women in menstruation are exempt’. This is clear evidence that the ṭawāf of farewell is a duty for all except women in menstruation, that it is waived for such women, and they are exempt from any compensation. This is the view of al-Shāfi‘ī, Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, Ahmad and all scholars, except for what Ibn al-Mundhir reported. He mentioned that ‘Umar, Ibn ‘Umar and Zayd ibn Thābit ordered women in menstruation to stay in Makkah until they could perform the ṭawāf of farewell. The evidence in support of the majority view is this hadith and hadith No. 2827 mentioning Ṣafiyyah’s case. This hadith and the others following it, mentioning the same case, provide evidence confirming that women in menstruation are exempt from the ṭawāf of farewell. They also serve as evidence confirming that the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah is an essential obligation which must be performed. No one can be exempt from it, neither a woman in menstruation nor anyone else. If a woman starts her period before performing it, she stays in Makkah until she finishes her period and then performs it. If she returns home before doing the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah, she remains in iḥrām. We discussed this hadith concerning Ṣafiyyah early in the Book of Hajj when explaining the different ways of starting the iḥrām for the hajj.

In hadith No. 2832 the Prophet asked his wives whether Ṣafiyyah might detain them in Makkah, and they answered that ‘she visited the House on the Day of Sacrifice’, thus confirming that she did the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah on that day. This confirms the view of al-Shāfi‘ī, Abu Ḥanīfah and Iraqi scholars that it is perfectly acceptable to refer to the ṭawāf al-ifāḍah as the ‘ṭawāf of ziyārah’ or ‘the visit ṭawāf’. Mālik said that it is discouraged, i.e., makrūh, but there is no evidence to support that it is so discouraged.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2832 includes: 'From al-Awzā'ī; (he might have said) from Yaḥyā ibn Abi Kathīr'. This is how the chain of transmission is given in most copies, and Qadi 'Iyāḍ confirms that it appears so in most copies. He adds that it is dropped by al-Ṭabarī. According to Ibn al-Ḥadhdhā', what is dropped are only the words, 'he might have said'. Qadi 'Iyāḍ says: 'I think that the whole name was dropped in the books of some narrators, or that a narrator might have had some doubts and he added it on the basis of the correct version he had memorized, pointing to this by saying: "He might have said".'

PRAYING INSIDE THE KA'BAH

[2835-388]. (Dar al-Salam 3068) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā al-Tamīmī narrated:<sup>1</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar; that 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) entered the Ka'bah with Usāmah, Bilāl and 'Uthmān ibn Ṭalhah al-Ḥajabī, and he had it closed and stayed inside'. Ibn 'Umar said: 'When Bilāl came out I asked him: "What did God's Messenger do?" He said: "He had two pillars to his left and one to his right, keeping three pillars behind him. Then the Ka'bah was built on six pillars. He then prayed".'

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى التَّمِيمِيُّ، قَالَ قَرَأْتُ عَلَى مَالِكٍ، عَنْ نَافِعٍ، عَنْ ابْنِ عُمرَ، أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ دَخَلَ الْكَعْبَةَ، هُوَ وَأَسَامَةُ وَبِلَالٌ وَعُثْمَانُ بْنُ طَلْحَةَ الْحَجَبِيُّ، فَأَغْلَقَهَا عَلَيْهِ ثُمَّ مَكَثَ فِيهَا. قَالَ ابْنُ عُمرَ: فَسَأَلْتُ بِلَالًا حِينَ خَرَجَ مَا صَنَعَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ؟ قَالَ: جَعَلَ عَمُودَيْنِ عَنْ يَسَارِهِ، وَعَمُودًا عَنْ يَمِينِهِ، وَثَلَاثَةَ أَعْمِدَةٍ وَرَاءَهُ - وَكَانَ الْبَيْتُ يَوْمَئِذٍ عَلَى سِتَّةِ أَعْمِدَةٍ - ثُمَّ صَلَّى.

[2836-389]. (Dar al-Salam 3069) Abu al-Rabī' al-Zahrānī, Qutaybah ibn Sa'īd and Abu Kāmil al-Jahdarī narrated: all from Hammād ibn Zayd; Abu Kāmil said: Hammād narrated; Ayyūb narrated; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar. He said: 'On the day when Makkah was taken over, God's Messenger came over and stopped near the Ka'bah. He sent for 'Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah, and he brought the key and opened the door. Then the Prophet (peace be upon him) entered with Bilāl, Usāmah ibn Zayd and 'Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah. He ordered the door to be closed. They stayed inside for a long while. Then the door was opened'. 'Abdullāh said: 'I moved ahead of people and met God's Messenger (peace be upon him) as he came out, followed by Bilāl. I said to Bilāl: "Did God's Messenger pray inside?" He said: "Yes". I said: "Where?" He said: "In between the two pillars facing forward".' He added: 'I forgot to ask him how many [rak'ahs] he prayed'.

[2837-390]. (Dar al-Salam 3070) Ibn Abi 'Umar narrated: Sufyān narrated; from Ayyūb al-Sakhtiyānī; from Nāfi'; from Ibn 'Umar. He said: 'In the year when Makkah was taken over, God's Messenger (peace be upon him) came over riding Usāmah ibn Zayd's she-camel until he dismounted close to the Ka'bah. He then called 'Uthmān ibn Ṭalhah and said: "Bring me the key". He went to his mother, but she refused to give him [the key]. He said: "By God, you shall give it, or this sword shall go through my side". She gave it to him. He brought it to the Prophet and gave it to him. He opened the door'. He then added the same as the narration by Ḥammād ibn Zayd.

[2839-392]. (Dar al-Salam 3072) Humayd ibn Mas'adah nar-rated to me: Khālid (meaning Ibn al-Hārith) narrated; 'Abdullāh ibn 'Awn narrated; from Nāfi'; from 'Abdullāh ibn 'Umar; that he came up to the Ka'bah 'when the Prophet had entered it with Bilāl and Usāmah. 'Uthmān ibn Ṭalhah closed the door behind them. They stayed a long while before the door was opened, and the Prophet came out. I went up the step and entered the Ka'bah. I said: "Where did the Prophet pray?" They said: "Here". I forgot to ask them how many [rak'ahs] he prayed'.

Text Explanation

In this chapter, Muslim enters several hadiths with their chains of transmission going to Bilāl, mentioning that ‘the Prophet entered the Ka‘bah and prayed inside it between the two pillars’. Muslim also enters a hadith with an authentic chain of transmission quoting Usāmah that ‘the Prophet supplicated everywhere but did not pray’. All scholars agree on giving preference to Bilāl’s report because he is reliable and has extra knowledge. Hence, he must be given priority. The prayer referred to in these hadiths is the normal prayer that includes bowing and prostration. It is to such prayer that Ibn ‘Umar refers when he says: ‘I forgot to ask him how many [rak‘ahs] he prayed’. The reason why Usāmah said that he did not pray is that when they entered the Ka‘bah and closed the door, they were busy in their supplication. Usāmah saw the Prophet supplicating and he was preoccupied with his own supplication as he stood aside, with the Prophet some distance from him, while Bilāl was close to the Prophet. When the Prophet prayed, Bilāl saw him as he was standing near, while Usāmah could not see him because he was busy and at some distance from him. It was a short prayer and the door was closed, which prevented Usāmah from seeing the Prophet praying. Hence, when Usāmah was asked whether the Prophet prayed inside the Ka‘bah, his negative answer was based on what he thought, while Bilāl was more certain and he confirmed it, but God knows best.

Scholars hold different views concerning prayer inside the Ka‘bah, as to whether a person faces one of its walls or faces its closed door. Al-Shāfi‘ī, al-Thawrī, Abu Ḥanīfah, Ahmad and the majority of scholars say that obligatory and sunnah prayers are valid inside it. Mālik said that only a general sunnah prayer is valid inside it but not the five obligatory prayers, the Witr or the sunnah after ṭawāf or before Fajr. Muhammad ibn Jarīr, Asbagh of the Mālikī School and some Zāhirī scholars said that neither obligatory nor sunnah prayers are valid inside the Ka‘bah. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ mentions that Ibn ‘Abbās also shared this view. The evidence in support of the majority view of scholars is the hadith quoting Bilāl. If sunnah prayer is valid, then obligatory prayer is also valid because we are required to face the qiblah in both, in the same way when we are standing. The only difference in which way to face is when moving during travel, but God knows best.

Hadith No. 2835 mentions that ‘Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah al-Ḥajabī was with the Prophet when he entered the Ka‘bah. He is called al-Ḥajabī as he was in charge of the ḥijābah of the Ka‘bah, which means taking charge of it, opening and closing it as well as serving it. He and his relatives are called al-Ḥajabiyyūn, which is the plural form of al-Ḥajabī. His name is ‘Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah ibn Abu Ṭalḥah, while Abu Ṭalḥah’s name is ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Abd al-‘Uzzā ibn ‘Uthmān ibn ‘Abd al-Dār ibn Quṣayy of the ‘Abd al-Dār branch of the Quraysh. ‘Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah embraced Islam together with Khālīd ibn al-Walīd and ‘Amr ibn al-‘Āṣ during the peace period after the signing of al-Ḥudaybiyah’s peace agreement. He took part in the takeover of Makkah. The Prophet gave the key of the Ka‘bah to him and to Abu Shaybah ibn Ṭalḥah and said: ‘Take it, Banī Ṭalḥah. It is yours forever. None will take it from you except one who is an oppressor’. He lived in Madinah until the Prophet passed away, then moved back to Makkah and lived there until his death in year 42 AH. On the other hand, a report suggests that he was a martyr in the Battle of Ajnādīn, which took place close to Jerusalem in the early years of ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb’s reign.<sup>v</sup> An authentic hadith quotes the Prophet: ‘Every act of honour that was practised in the days of ignorance [i.e., prior to Islam] is under my foot, except the provision of drinking water to pilgrims and the service of the House’. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘According to all scholars it is not permissible for anyone to take these assignments away from them. It is a task given to them by God’s Messenger and, therefore, it continues to belong to them and their offspring forever. It may not be taken away, in full or part, from them as long as they continue in existence and are able to undertake the honour, but God knows best’.

In the same hadith, No. 2835 the Prophet entered the Ka‘bah ‘and had it closed’. He had it closed so that he would be able to concentrate better and be more focused. He did not want people to enter behind him making it very crowded, as this might lead to some injuries and there would be disturbance, but God knows best. This hadith says that the Prophet placed ‘two pillars to his left and one to his right’. This is how it is here, while in al-Bukhari, ‘two pillars to his right and one to his left’, and the same occurs in Mālik’s al-Muwaṭṭa and Abu Dāwūd’s Sunan, and all of these are narrated by Mālik. Another report in al-Bukhari says: ‘one pillar to his right and one to his left’.

In hadith No. 2836 ‘On the day when Makkah was taken over, God’s Messenger came over and stopped near the Ka‘bah’. This confirms that the event mentioned in the hadiths entered in this chapter and the Prophet’s entry and prayer inside the Ka‘bah took place when Makkah was taken over, not during the Farewell Pilgrimage. This is agreed upon.

In the hadiths entered in the two Ṣaḥīḥ anthologies, Ibn ‘Umar says that he forgot to ask Bilāl how many rak‘ahs the Prophet prayed inside the Ka‘bah. A hadith entered by Abu Dāwūd in his Sunan, with a questionable chain of transmission, quotes ‘Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Ṣafwān: ‘I said to ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb: “What did God’s Messenger do when he entered the Ka‘bah?: He said: “He prayed two rak‘ahs”.’

Transmission

Hadith No. 2839 says: ‘Ḥumayd ibn Mas‘adah narrated to me: Khālīd (meaning Ibn al-Ḥārith) narrated; ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Awn nar-rated; from Nāfi‘; from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar; that he came up to the Ka‘bah “when the Prophet had entered it with Bilāl and Usāmah. ‘Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah closed the door behind them. They stayed a long while then the door was opened, and the Prophet came out. I went up the step and entered the Ka‘bah. I said: ‘Where did the Prophet pray?’ They said: ‘Here’. I forgot to ask them how many [rak‘ahs] he prayed”.’ This suggests that Ibn ‘Umar asked Bilāl, Usāmah and ‘Uthmān together. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said that scholars of Hadith question this report. Al-Dāraquṭnī said that Ibn ‘Awn is mistaken here, and other scholars differ with him, stating that only Bilāl gave the information. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ added: ‘This is what Muslim mentions in the other versions, saying: “I asked Bilāl”. However, in hadith No. 2841: “Bilāl or ‘Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah told me that God’s Messenger prayed inside the Ka‘bah”. This is how it occurs according to most of our teachers, but in some copies, it says: “Bilāl and ‘Uthmān ibn Abi Ṭalḥah”. This supports Ibn ‘Awn’s version, but what is better known is that only Bilāl mentioned this, but God knows best’.

In hadith No. 2842 when the Prophet came out, he prayed two rak‘ahs facing the Ka‘bah. This means that he offered this prayer with his face towards the Ka‘bah and close to its door. This statement is a basis for the view of al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars that voluntary prayer offered during the day should be two rak‘ahs at a time. Abu Ḥanīfah says four rak‘ahs at a time. We discussed this point earlier in the Book of Prayer.

In the same hadith, the Prophet says: ‘This is the qiblah’. Abu Sulaymān Ḥamad ibn Muhammad al-Khaṭṭābī said: ‘This means that the question of the qiblah is finally settled that this House, the Ka‘bah, shall be faced in prayer, and it will never be changed again. You shall always face it when you pray. It is also possible that he taught them where the imam should stand, and that he should stand facing it, not its corners, even though prayer towards any part of it is valid’. The Prophet’s words admit a third meaning: this Ka‘bah is the Sacred Mosque which you have been commanded to face in prayer. It is not the entire Ḥaram, nor Makkah, nor the total mosque around the Ka‘bah. It is the Ka‘bah itself, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2844 ‘Abdullāh ibn Abi Awfā, a companion of the Prophet, is asked whether the Prophet went inside the Ka‘bah during his ‘umrah, and he answered in the negative. This is agreed upon. Scholars said that the question is about the compensatory ‘umrah which the Prophet and his Companions performed in Year 7 AH before the takeover of Makkah. They add that the reason that he did not enter was that the Ka‘bah was full of statues and images. The idolaters would not have allowed him to change all this. Therefore, when God gave him victory and Makkah came under his authority, he removed all these statues and images before going inside the Ka‘bah and praying there. But, God knows best.

REBUILDING THE KA'BAH

حَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، أَخْبَرَنَا أَبُو مُعَاوِيَةَ، عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ عُرْوَةَ، عَنْ أَبِيهِ، عَنْ عَائِشَةَ، قَالَتْ: قَالَ لِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «لَوْلَا حَدِيثُ عَهْدِ قَوْمِكَ بِالْكَفْرِ، لَتَقَصَّصْتُ الْكَعْبَةَ، وَلَجَعَلْتُهَا عَلَى أَسَاسِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ. فَإِنَّ قُرَيْشًا حِينَ بَنَتِ الْبَيْتَ اسْتَقْصَرَتْ. وَلَجَعَلْتُ لَهَا خَلْفًا».

Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah and Abu Kurayb narrated: both said: Ibn Numayr narrated; from Hishām; with the same chain of transmission: the same text.

ابْنُ ثَمِيرٍ، عَنْ هِشَامٍ، بِهَذَا الْإِسْنَادِ.

[2846-399]. (Dar al-Salam 3080) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>ii</sup> he said: I read out to Mālīk; from Ibn Shihāb; from Sālīm ibn ‘Abdullāh; that ‘Abdullāh ibn Muhammad ibn Abi Bakr al-Ṣiddīq told ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar; from ‘Ā’ishah, the Prophet’s wife, that ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Do you not realize that when your people rebuilt the Ka’bah, they made it less than Abraham’s foundations?” I said: “Messenger of God, will you not rebuild it on Abraham’s foundations?” God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Were it not that your people were recently unbelievers I would have done that”.’

‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar said: ‘Since ‘Ā’ishah heard this from God’s Messenger (peace be upon him), I think that God’s Messenger did not touch the two corners next to the [Black] Stone only because the House was not completed on Abraham’s foundations’.

مِنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، مَا أَرَى رَسُولَ

[2847-400]. (Dar al-Salam 3081) Abu al-Tāhir narrated: ‘Abdullāh ibn Wahb reported; from Makhramah [H]. I would have made its door level with the ground, and I would have incorporated part of the Hījr<sup>iii</sup> in it”.’

(Dar al-Salam 3082) Muhammad ibn Hātim narrated to me:<sup>iv</sup> Ibn Mahdī narrated to me; Salīm ibn Hayyān narrated; from Sa‘īd (meaning Ibn Mīnā’); he said: I heard ‘Abdullāh ibn al-Zubayr say: ‘My maternal aunt (meaning ‘Ā’ishah) narrated to me saying: “God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “‘Ā’ishah! When the Quraysh rebuilt it, they kept it smaller’.”’

[2849-402]. (Dar al-Salam 3083) Hannād ibn al-Sariy narrat- ed: Ibn Abi Zā'idah narrated; Ibn Abi Sulaymān reported; from 'Aṭā'. He said: 'When the Ka'bah was burnt when the Syrian army attacked [Makkah] during the reign of Yazīd ibn Mu'āwiyah and those events took place, Ibn al-Zubayr<sup>vi</sup> left the Ka'bah as it was until people came for the hajj. He wanted to encourage them (or to stir their anger) against the people of Syria. When the people [i.e., the pilgrims] left [Makkah] he addressed its people saying: "People, give me your advice concerning the Ka'bah: should I pull it down completely and rebuild it? Or should I repair the damage it has suffered?" Ibn 'Abbās said: "I have a clear idea concerning this. I think it is better to repair the damage and leave the stones as they were when people embraced Islam and when the Prophet was sent with his message". Ibn al-Zubayr said: "If the house of anyone of you had been burnt, you would not be satisfied until you had rebuilt it. How, then, about your Lord's house? I am going to consult my Lord<sup>vii</sup> for three nights and then I will make up my mind". When the three nights were over, he made up his mind to pull it down and rebuild it. However, people refrained from starting, fearing that the first one to start

[the pulling down] might suffer some heavenly punishment. Then a man went up and threw down some of its stones. When people realized that no harm happened to him, they came forward and helped until they completely pulled it down to the ground. Ibn al-Zubayr placed some pillars and put the coverings on them until the building was raised.

Ibn al-Zubayr said: "I heard 'Ā'ishah say that the Prophet said: 'Were it not that people were only recently unbelievers and as I do not have the funds to strengthen its building, I would have included in it five cubits from the Ḥijr, and I would have placed a door for people to enter it and another door to exit'. Now I have the funds and I do not fear people". He increased [the area being dug] by five cubits until he uncovered old foundations which people looked at. He rebuilt the Ka'bah on this foundation. The height of the Ka'bah was eighteen cubits. When he added to the size, he felt that the Ka'bah was too short. He therefore increased its height by ten cubits. He placed in it two doors, one for entry and one for exit.

When Ibn al-Zubayr was killed, al-Ḥajjāj wrote to 'Abd al-Malik ibn Marwān informing him of all this. He mentioned that Ibn al-Zubayr erected the building on a foundation which men of integrity from among the people of Makkah looked at. 'Abd al-Malik wrote back: "We do not accept any bad action Ibn al-Zubayr did. What he added to its height remains, but what he added to it from al-Hijr [remove and] return to its original building and block the door he opened". Al-Hajjāj demolished it and rebuilt it as it was earlier'.

ابْنُ أَبِي سُلَيْمَانَ، عَنْ عَطَاءٍ قَالَ: لَمَّا اخْتَرَقَ الْبَيْتُ
رَمَنَ يَزِيدَ بْنِ مُعَاوِيَةَ، حِينَ غَزَاهَا أَهْلُ الشَّامِ، فَكَانَ
مِنْ أَمْرِهِ مَا كَانَ، تَرَكَهُ ابْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ حَتَّى قَدِمَ النَّاسُ
الْمَوْسِمَ، يُرِيدُ أَنْ يُجَرِّثَهُمْ - أَوْ يُجَرِّبَهُمْ - عَلَى أَهْلِ
الشَّامِ. فَلَمَّا صَدَرَ النَّاسُ قَالَ: يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ، أَشِيرُوا
عَلَيَّ فِي الْكَعْبَةِ: أَنْقُضُهَا ثُمَّ أَبْنِي بِنَاءَهَا، أَوْ أَصْلِحُ مَا
وَهَى مِنْهَا؟ قَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ: فَإِنِّي قَدْ فُِرِقَ لِي رَأْيُ
فِيهَا. أَرَى أَنْ تُصْلَحَ مَا وَهَى مِنْهَا، وَتَدَعَّ بَيْتًا أَسْلَمَ
النَّاسُ عَلَيْهِ، وَأَخْجَارًا أَسْلَمَ النَّاسُ عَلَيْهَا، وَبُعِثَ عَلَيْهَا
النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ. فَقَالَ ابْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ: لَوْ كَانَ
أَحَدُكُمْ اخْتَرَقَ بَيْتَهُ مَا رَضِيَ حَتَّى يُجَدَّهُ، فَكَيْفَ بَيْتُ
رَبِّكُمْ؟ إِنِّي مُسْتَخِيرُ رَبِّي ثَلَاثًا، ثُمَّ عَازِمٌ عَلَى أَمْرِي.
فَلَمَّا مَضَى الثَّلَاثُ أَجْمَعَ رَأْيُهُ عَلَى أَنْ يَنْقُضَهَا. فَتَحَامَاهُ
النَّاسُ أَنْ يَنْزِلَ بِأَوَّلِ النَّاسِ يَصْعَدُ فِيهِ أَمْرٌ مِنَ
السَّمَاءِ. حَتَّى صَعِدَهُ رَجُلٌ، فَأَلْقَى مِنْهُ حِجَارَةً. فَلَمَّا لَمْ
يَرَهُ النَّاسُ أَصَابَهُ شَيْءٌ تَتَابَعُوا، فَتَقَضُّوهُ حَتَّى بَلَغُوا بِهِ
الْأَرْضَ. فَجَعَلَ ابْنُ الزُّبَيْرِ أَعْمِدَةً، فَسَتَرَ عَلَيْهَا السُّتُورَ
حَتَّى ارْتَفَعَ بِنَاؤُهُ.

during his reign [as Caliph]. ‘Abd al-Malik said: “I do not think that Abu Khubayb (meaning Ibn al-Zubayr) heard from ‘Ā’ishah what he claimed to have heard from her”. Al-Hārith said: “He did. I myself heard it from her”. ‘Abd al-Malik said: “What did you hear her say?” He said: “She said: ‘God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) said: “Your people fell short of rebuilding the Ka‘bah, and were it not for that they were only recently idolaters, I would have reinstated what they had left of it. If your people decide to rebuild it after I am gone, let me show you what they had left undone”.’ He showed her close to seven cubits”.’ This is ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Ubayd’s narration.

Al-Walīd ibn ‘Aṭā’ added: ‘The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: “I would also open two doors for it, making them level with the ground, one to the east and one to the west. Do you know why your people kept its door high?” She said: “I said: ‘No’.” He said: “Out of vanity, so that no one could enter except whom they approved of. If a man decided to enter, they would let him go up until he was about to enter, there they would push him, and he would fall”.

‘Abd al-Malik said to al-Hārith: “Did you yourself hear her say this?” He said: “I did”. He poked the ground with his stick for a while, then said: “I wish I had left it for him and what he undertook”.’

  - vi. 'Abdullāh ibn al-Zubayr ibn al-'Awwām opposed the appointment of Yazīd as caliph after his father Mu'āwiyah because this would have changed the caliphate system into a monarchy. So, Ibn al-Zubayr himself claimed the caliphate and his rule extended over the Arabian Peninsula and Iraq, but he had to fight several battles against the Umayyad caliphs. He lost all these battles in Iraq and Arabia, and the last one he fought was against al-Ḥajjāj ibn Yūsuf in Makkah in year 73 AH. Yazīd was Caliph in Syria during the period 61-65 AH. Ibn al-Zubayr was a young companion of the Prophet. 'Ā'ishah was his maternal aunt and his mother was Asmā' bint Abu Bakr.

- vii. 'Consult my Lord' means praying the istikhārah, which means the 'consultation prayer'. This is a special prayer of two rak'ahs followed by a supplication seeking God's guidance on the matter in hand. Then one follows through with whatever option appears to be easy and facilitated. Ibn al-Zubayr mentioned that he would offer this prayer and supplication on three successive nights so that whatever was presented to him would be the right choice, facilitated by God's help and guidance.

THE EXTENT AND THE DOOR OF THE KA'BAH

[2852-405]. (Dar al-Salam 3087) Sa'īd ibn Manṣūr narrated: Abu al-Aḥwaṣ narrated; Ash'ath ibn Abi al-Sha'thā' narrated; from al-Aswad ibn Yazīd; from 'Ā'ishah. She said: 'I asked God's Messenger (peace be upon him) about the wall [meaning the Hījr]: "is it part of the Ka'bah?" He said: "Yes". I said: "Why did they not incorporate it in the Ka'bah?" He said: "Your people were short of funds". I said: "Why is its door placed high?" He said: "Your people did this so that they would allow whomever they willed to enter and block entry to whomever they willed. Were it not that your people were recently in jāhiliyyah, I would consider incorporating the wall in the Ka'bah and make its door level with the ground".'

[2853-406]. (Dar al-Salam 3088) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated: ‘Ubaydullāh (meaning Ibn Mūsā) narrated; Shaybān narrated; from Ash‘ath ibn Abi al-Sha‘thā; from al-Aswad ibn Yazīd; from ‘Ā’ishah. She said: ‘I asked God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) about al-Hijr...’. He added the hadith with the same meaning as Abu al-Aḥwas’s narration but said in it: ‘I asked: “Why is its door so high that it can only be reached with a ladder?” and he said: “For fear that they would find it unacceptable”.’

Text Explanation

The hadiths in this chapter mention that when the Quraysh rebuilt the Ka‘bah, they fell short of putting it back as it was before. This is expressed in different ways, but what they all mean is that they did not have enough funds to ensure rebuilding it as it was. These hadiths include several basic rules. One of these is that when different interests pull in opposite directions, or when advantages and disadvantages cannot be dealt with in a way that ensures the advantage and discards the disadvantage, the more important aspect is given priority. The Prophet made clear that the demolition of the Ka‘bah and rebuilding it on the same foundations Abraham placed was an advantage. However, it was opposed by a possible greater harm, which was the effect it might have had on some of those who had only recently adopted Islam. The Arabs venerated the Ka‘bah and felt that changing it was a very serious matter. Therefore, the Prophet left it as the Quraysh rebuilt it.

Another rule is that a ruler must consider the interests of his people so that he avoids what might bring harm to them in their religion or their lives, apart from what Islam requires, such as levying zakat and enforcing legal punishments, etc. A further rule is the need to take care of the population and protect them from what might cause their alienation, provided that this does not violate any Islamic principle.

Scholars said that the Ka‘bah was built five times: It was first built by angels, then by Prophet Abraham, then the Quraysh rebuilt it before Islam. The Prophet was present when it was rebuilt by the Quraysh, and he was thirty-five years of age, although some reports put his age at the time of twenty-five. It was during this rebuilding that he fell to the ground when his lower garment fell off. The fourth time was when ‘Abdullāh ibn al-Zubayr rebuilt it, and then al-

Ḥajjāj ibn Yūsuf rebuilt it. It stands to this day as al-Ḥajjāj rebuilt it. It is said that it was rebuilt two or three times thereafter, and I explained all this in my large book, Īdāḥ al-Manāsik. Scholars also say that it must not be changed from its last shape. It is mentioned that the Abbasid Caliph Ḥārūn al-Rashīd consulted Imam Mālik ibn Anas about rebuilding the Ka‘bah on the same lines as Ibn al-Zubayr rebuilt it, to implement the hadiths mentioned in this chapter. Mālik said to him: ‘Amīr al-Mu‘minīn, I appeal to you by God that you do not make the Ka‘bah a plaything for kings, allowing everyone to demolish it and rebuild it. Its reverence will thus be lost’.

In hadith No. 2845 the Prophet says that he would have given the Ka‘bah a back door. This is explained in No. 2848 where the Prophet says that he would have placed in it an eastern and a western door. And in hadith No. 2849 Ibn al-Zubayr gave it two doors, one for entry and one for exit.

In hadith No. 2846 ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar says: ‘Since ‘Ā’ishah heard this from the Prophet...’. A more literal translation would be: ‘If ‘Ā’ishah heard this...’. Qadi ‘Iyād said:

This expression by Ibn ‘Umar is not meant to doubt her report or accuracy. She was renowned for her perfect memorization and accurate reporting. No one would doubt the accuracy of her information. It is merely a mode of expression the Arabs frequently used, stating what they know to be certain in the form of a probable. It is even used in the Qur’an, as in: ‘Say: Were I to go astray, I would but go astray to the loss of myself. But if I am on the right path, it is through what my Lord reveals to me’. (34: 50)

In hadith No. 2847 the Prophet says to ‘Ā’ishah: ‘Were it not that your people were only recently in jāhiliyyah (or he said ‘unbelievers’), I would have spent the treasure of the Ka‘bah for God’s cause’. This confirms what we said earlier that when it is not possible to ensure all the needed advantages, the more important ones are given priority. The hadith also makes it clear that it is permissible to spend the treasure of the Ka‘bah and what is pledged to it, or indeed only what is surplus to its needs, to serve God’s cause. However, a different version says: ‘I would have spent the treasure of the Ka‘bah on its building’, and building it is part of God’s cause. So, perhaps the two versions have the same meaning, but God knows best. In our Shāfi‘ī School’s view, the surplus of what is endowed to a certain mosque, or any other endowment, may not be spent to look after any other mosque or cause. It must always be retained for the place it is endowed for as it may be needed in future, but God knows best.

In the same hadith, the Prophet says: ‘I would have incorporated a part of al-Ḥijr in it’. In the next hadith, he says that he would have added six cubits from al-Ḥijr in it. Yet another hadith mentions five cubits and one close to seven cubits. The hadiths included in the next chapter mention that ‘Ā’ishah asked the Prophet whether the Ḥijr was part of the Ka‘bah and he answered in the affirmative.

Our scholars say that the distance of six cubits next to the Ka‘bah in al-Ḥijr are certainly considered part of the Ka‘bah, and there is no disagreement on this point, while there is some disagreement about what is beyond that. If a person performs the ṭawāf walking inside the Ḥijr but keeping more than six cubits between himself and the Ka‘bah, scholars of our Shāfi‘ī School give two views about the validity of that person’s ṭawāf. One of them is that it is permissible on the basis of the apparent meaning of these hadiths. This view is preferred by a number of our scholars from Khurāsān. The other view is that his walking in any part of the Ḥijr, or on its wall, renders his ṭawāf invalid. The ṭawāf is not valid unless it is done outside all the area of al-Hijr. This is the correct view stated by al-Shāfi'ī and supported by the great majority of our Iraqi scholars and most of our other scholars. Indeed, it is endorsed by the great majority of Muslim scholars, except Abu Ḥanīfah who said that a person who does so should repeat his ṭawāf as long as he is in Makkah, but if he returns home without repeating it, he should compensate for his error by sacrificing a sheep. In support of their view, the majority of scholars cite the fact that the Prophet performed his ṭawāf behind the Hijr and said: 'Learn your rituals', and Muslims thereafter did the same. Whether all or an area of al-Hijr is part of the Ka'bah, the ṭawāf must be from behind it, as the Prophet did, but God knows best.

The text of hadith No. 2849 begins as follows: 'When the Ka'bah was burnt when the Syrian army attacked [Makkah] during the reign of Yazīd ibn Mu'āwiyah and those events took place, Ibn al-Zubayr left the Ka'bah as it was until people came for the hajj. He wanted to encourage them (or to stir their anger) against the people of Syria'. The Arabic word used in the hadith, yujarri'ahum, translated as 'encourage them', is read in different forms. All of these are written in the same way, but the difference is mostly in dotting its different letters. Its other meanings are 'to test them' and gauge their feelings against those who perpetrated this crime against the Ka'bah; or 'to stir their anger' at what was done. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'It may also mean: to urge them to fight alongside him'.

In this hadith, Ibn al-Zubayr puts the matter to the people, seeking their advice. This confirms that a leader should consult wise and good people on matters of importance. Ibn 'Abbās' advice was to repair the damage so as to retain the Ka'bah as it was at the time of the Prophet's message. Ibn al-Zubayr reminds the people that in a personal concern, they would not be happy unless they had rebuilt their houses if they had been burnt down.

When the Ka‘bah was demolished ‘Ibn al-Zubayr placed some pillars and put the coverings on them until the building was raised’. The purpose of these pillars and coverings was that people would face them during the period of rebuilding. They would show the place of the Ka‘bah. The coverings continued in place until the new building was high enough to be seen by people when they prayed. They were then removed because they had served their purpose. Qadi ‘Iyād considers Ibn al-Zubayr’s action as evidence confirming Mālik’s view that what is faced in prayer is the building, not the spot. He adds: ‘It was Ibn ‘Abbās who advised ‘Abdullāh ibn al-Zubayr to do this, saying: “If you are to demolish it, do not leave the people without their qiblah”. Jābir said to him: “Pray towards its place, for the qiblah is there”.’ The view of al-Shāfi‘ī and other scholars is that it is permissible to pray towards the ground of the Ka‘bah. That is sufficient and acceptable according to them, whether some portion of it remains in place or not, but God knows best.

In the same hadith, ‘Abd al-Malik writes to al-Ḥajjāj, the leader of his army which fought Ibn al-Zubayr: ‘We do not accept any bad action done by Ibn al-Zubayr’. He meant to abuse Ibn al-Zubayr and criticize his action. In the next hadith he says to his visitor that he did not think Ibn al-Zubayr told the truth when he quoted ‘Āishah about the area of the Ka‘bah. His visitor, al-Ḥārith ibn ‘Abdullāh, confirms that he himself heard the same hadith narrated by her.

The name of this visitor is given in all copies as al-Ḥārith ibn ‘Abdullāh, and there is no difference in his name in all copies. These copies are taken from the narration by ‘Abd al-Ghaffār ibn al-Fārisī. Qadi ‘Iyād claims that the name is given in the same way by all narrators except al-Fārisī who mentions it as al-Ḥārith ibn ‘Abd al-A‘lā. He adds that it is wrong, and the correct version is al-Ḥārith ibn ‘Abdullāh.

What Qadi 'Iyāḍ says about al-Fārisī's narration is unacceptable because it is the same as other narrations. Perhaps Qadi 'Iyāḍ saw a copy of it where the name was wrongly written by the one who copied it, but not by al-Fārisī himself, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2851 'Abd al-Malik expresses his view about Ibn al-Zubayr's action in rebuilding the Ka'bah, but al-Ḥārith says to him: 'Do not say this, Amīr al-Mu'minīn. I heard the Mother of the Believers saying this'. This shows the need to support whoever is wronged, refute backbiting, and to confirm the truth of someone wrongly accused of lying. Al-Ḥārith belonged to the tābi'īn generation and his full name is al-Ḥārith ibn 'Abdullāh ibn 'Ayyāsh ibn Abi Rabī'ah.

SUBSTITUTE HAJJ

[2854-407]. (Dar al-Salam 3089) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>i</sup> he said: I read out to Mālik; from Ibn Shihāb; from Sulaymān ibn Yasār; from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Abbās; that he said: ‘Al-Faḍl ibn ‘Abbās was riding behind God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) when a woman from Khath‘am came requesting a ruling. Al-Faḍl was looking at her and she was looking at him. God’s Messenger kept turning al-Faḍl’s face the other side. The woman said: “Messenger of God, the duty of hajj which God requires His servants to perform has found my father an elderly man who cannot keep steady on his camel. May I perform the hajj on his behalf?” The Prophet said: “Yes”. This was during the Farewell Pilgrimage’.

[2855-408]. (Dar al-Salam 3090) ‘Alī ibn Khashram narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> ‘Īsā reported; from Ibn Jurayj; from Ibn Shihāb; Sulaymān ibn Yasār narrated; from Ibn ‘Abbās; from al-Faḍl; that ‘A woman from Khath‘am said: “Messenger of God, my father is an elderly man and he has to perform the hajj as it is a duty owed to God, but he cannot remain steady on his camel’s back”. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: “Then you perform the hajj on his behalf”.’

Text Explanation

This hadith, in its two versions, highlights several useful points, including the permissibility of taking someone behind oneself on one’s mount if the mount is able to carry two people. It also covers the permissibility of listening to a woman when needed, as in seeking a ruling, carrying out a transaction and other matters, and the prohibition of looking at a woman who is unrelated to one.<sup>iii</sup> Other points include removing what is wrong physically, if possible, and the permissibility to perform a substitute hajj on behalf of a person who cannot undertake the journey because of a chronic illness, old age or death. Furthermore, it is perfectly legitimate for a woman to perform such a substitute hajj on behalf of a man. The hadith also stresses the importance of dutifulness to parents, looking after their interests, such as paying their debts, serving them, supporting them financially and performing the hajj on their behalf, etc. The hadith also makes it clear that the hajj is a duty incumbent on a person who cannot do it himself but is able to do it through someone else, such as one of his children performing it on his behalf. This is the view of our school because the woman put her case to the Prophet in these terms: 'The hajj duty has found my father an elderly man who cannot keep steady on his camel'. Another point is that it is permissible to say the phrase, 'the Farewell Pilgrimage', as we have mentioned on several occasions.

Additionally, the hadith implies the permissibility of women travelling to perform the hajj without a maḥram companion [i.e., her husband or a close relative whom she cannot marry], if she feels safe to do so. This is our view and the view of the majority of scholars. It is also permissible to perform the hajj on behalf of someone who cannot do it themselves, either because of death or disability, i.e., a chronic illness, old age or the like. Mālik, al-Layth and al-Ḥasan ibn Ṣāliḥ, however, said that no one may perform the hajj on behalf of another except for a deceased person who did not do the obligatory hajj.

Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'It has been reported that al-Nakha'ī and some early scholars said that it is not valid to perform the hajj on behalf of a deceased person or anyone else, even if that deceased person included such in his will. This is also reported from Mālik. Al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars said that it is permissible to perform the hajj on behalf of a deceased person, whether it is an obligatory or pledged hajj, and whether the deceased stated this in his will or not, and it is credited to the deceased person. According to al-Shāfi‘ī and other scholars, the expenses are charged to the deceased’s estate’. Also, according to our school and the more correct of the two views, it is permissible for a sick person to request someone else to do a voluntary hajj on his behalf. Scholars, apart from al-Ḥasan ibn Ṣāliḥ, agree that it is perfectly appropriate for a woman to do the hajj on behalf of a man, but God knows best.

  - iii. There is nothing in the hadith to suggest this. Had it been prohibited to look at such a woman, the Prophet would have had to clearly tell al-Faḍl not to do so. This would have been a duty incumbent on the Prophet at that time, but he did not say anything on this. Instead, he turned al-Faḍl’s face away because al-Faḍl was a young man looking at a young woman at a time of attending to hajj duties. The Prophet explained this to al-Faḍl’s father who was the Prophet’s uncle, al-‘Abbās.

THE VALIDITY OF CHILDREN'S HAJJ

The first hadith, No. 2856 mentions that the Prophet met a group of people at al-Rawḥā’. The word rakb which stands for ‘a group’ is originally used to refer to a small number of people, not exceeding ten, riding camels. It was mentioned earlier that al-Rawḥā’ is a place about 36 Arabian miles<sup>iii</sup> from Madinah.

Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘This meeting might have been at night which would explain why they did not recognize the Prophet. Alternatively, it might have been during the day and they had not met the Prophet on any earlier occasion as they might have embraced Islam in their own town without migrating to Madinah or visiting it’.

All versions of this hadith mention: ‘A woman lifted a son of hers and said: “Messenger of God, can this one do the hajj?” He said: “Yes, and you earn a reward”.’ This gives a clear argument in support of the view of al-Shāfi‘ī, Mālik, Ahmad and the great majority of scholars that a child’s hajj is valid and a reward for it is credited to the child. [The hadith also mentions an additional reward for the guardian taking the child for hajj]. However, it does not fulfil the obligation incumbent on every Muslim adult to perform the hajj. It is rather considered as a voluntary hajj for the child. This hadith clearly confirms this. However, Abu Ḥanīfah says that a child's hajj is not valid. Ḥanafī scholars say that early Muslims did it so that a child would be trained to do the hajj and find it easy to do when the duty applied to him. This hadith refutes their argument. Qadi 'Iyād says:

There is no disagreement among scholars that taking children on pilgrimage is permissible. Only some who follow deviant views oppose it, but their view is worthless. It is rejected by the fact that the Prophet and his Companions did it and the Muslim community is unanimous that it is acceptable. Abu Ḥanīfah's disagreement focuses on whether a child's hajj is valid so as to make the rulings applicable to the hajj applicable to the child, including compensation and the sacrifice required for omitting some duties and other rulings. Abu Ḥanīfah says that nothing of this is applicable, but the child's hajj is a training exercise. The majority of scholars say that all hajj rulings are applicable to a child's hajj and it is valid as a voluntary hajj because the Prophet said so. Besides, scholars are unanimous that a child's hajj does not discharge the Islamic duty of hajj which becomes incumbent when the child attains puberty. Only a small group take the opposite view and say that a child's hajj discharges the duty, but scholars discard this view.

The Prophet says to the woman who asked him about the child's hajj: 'And you earn a reward'. This reward is for her taking care of the child, making sure that the child avoids what a person in iḥrām must avoid and does what such a person needs to do, but God knows best.

Who starts the child's consecration? The correct view according to our Shāfi'ī scholars is the one who is in charge of the child's property, which means its father, grandfather, guardian, the one appointed by a judge, a judge or the ruler. The child's mother may not start its consecration unless she is formally appointed as guardian by a judge. Some scholars say that she, or any close relative, may start the child's consecration and it is valid even if such relatives are not in charge of the child's property. All this applies if the child is too young to understand what is involved. If the child is older, its guardian gives it permission to start the iḥrām. If the child starts the iḥrām without such permission, or if the guardian starts the iḥrām on the child's behalf, it is not valid. A guardian starts the iḥrām on behalf of a young child by mentally formulating the intention of putting the child in iḥrām, but God knows best.

THE HAJJ DUTY - ONCE IN A LIFETIME

[2859-412]. (Dar al-Salam 3095) Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated to me:<sup>1</sup> Yazīd ibn Ḥārūn narrated; al-Rabī' ibn Muslim al-Qurashī reported; from Muhammad ibn Ziyād; from Abu Hurayrah. He said: 'God's Messenger (peace be upon him) addressed us and said: "God has made the hajj obligatory to you, people, so perform the hajj". A man said: "Every year, Messenger of God?" The Prophet remained silent while the man repeated his question three times. God's Messenger said: "Had I said, 'Yes', it would be a duty and you would not be able to fulfil it". He then added: "When I leave out something, let it be. People before you were ruined by asking too many questions and by their disobedience of their prophets. When I give you an order, fulfil it as best you can, and if I prohibit you something, abandon it".'

وَحَدَّثَنِي زُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، حَدَّثَنَا يَزِيدُ بْنُ هَارُونَ، أَخْبَرَنَا

هَزِيرَةً، قَالَ خَطَبْنَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ: «أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ قَدْ فَرَضَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكُمُ الْحَجَّ، فَحُجُّوا». فَقَالَ رَجُلٌ: أَكُلَّ عَامٍ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ فَسَكَتَ، حَتَّى قَالَهَا ثَلَاثًا. فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ: «لَوْ قُلْتُ نَعَمْ لَوَجَبَتْ وَلَمَّا اسْتَطَعْتُمْ». ثُمَّ قَالَ: ذَرُونِي مَا تَرَكْتُكُمْ، فَإِنَّمَا هَلَكَ مَنْ كَانَ قَبْلَكُمْ بِكَثْرَةِ سُؤَالِهِمْ، وَاخْتِلَافِهِمْ عَلَى أَنْبِيَائِهِمْ. فَإِذَا أَمَرْتُكُمْ بِشَيْءٍ فَأَتُوا مِنْهُ مَا اسْتَطَعْتُمْ، وَإِذَا نَهَيْتُكُمْ عَنْ شَيْءٍ فَدَعُوهُ.

Text Explanation

The man who asked the Prophet whether the hajj duty was to be fulfilled every year was al-Aqra' ibn Hābis, as his name is mentioned in other versions. Scholars of legal theory differ as to whether the order given in the terms the Prophet mentioned implies repetition or not. The correct view according to our scholars is that it does not. The other view, however, is that it does imply repetition. The third view is that implying more than once depends on clarification. Therefore, it cannot be said that it implies repetition or that it does not. The hadith may be cited as evidence in support of the view that a decision depends on clarification. The man asked whether it applied every year. Had the statement on its own implied repetition or not, the man would not have asked or the Prophet would have told him that there was no need for the question because its implication is clear. Others may say that the man put the question forward in order to be absolutely clear.

The Prophet said to his audience: 'When I leave something, let it be'. This is clear that the order does not imply repetition. Al-Māwardī said:

It is probable that he thought that it might imply repetition in another way. Linguistically speaking, hajj means going to a defined destination and includes repetition. Thus, the possibility of repetition might have occurred to him from the linguistic point of view, but not from the general order. What we have said about the linguistic sense is the basis relied upon by those who say that the ‘umrah is a duty. They say that from a linguistic point of view, the verse, “The hajj to this House is a duty owed to God by all people”, requires repeated travel to the House. It is unanimously agreed upon that the hajj itself is a duty only once, therefore the return to the House must be an ‘umrah because the basic religious rule is that it is visited only for the hajj or the ‘umrah.

The Prophet said to his questioner: ‘Had I said, “Yes”, it would have become a duty’. This provides evidence in support of the correct view that the Prophet could have made a ruling at his own discretion. It is not a condition that his ruling should be on the basis of revelation given to him. Yet, some scholars say that this is a condition. These scholars explain this hadith on the basis that the Prophet might have received revelation to indicate what he expressed, but God knows best.

The Prophet says to his audience: ‘When I leave out something, let it be’. This confirms that the original state of anything is that it is not obligatory and that no ruling is valid until legislation has been enacted. This is the right rule according to the leading scholars of legal theory, or uṣūl al-fiqh. It is based on the Qur’anic statement: ‘We would never inflict punishment [on anyone] until We have sent a Messenger [to give warning]’. (17: 15)

In this hadith, the Prophet clearly states: ‘When I give you an order, fulfil it as best you can’. This is a very important Islamic rule and a clear example of the Prophet’s gift to be able to express a great idea in a very short statement. It covers a countless number of rulings, such as prayer and its numerous aspects. If a person is unable to do some of its essential obligations or conditions of validity, he is required to do only the rest. A person who cannot wash some parts of his body which must be washed during wudu or ghusl, washes only what he can. A person who has water that is sufficient to do only a part of his ablutions or to remove only a part of the impurity attached to his body or clothes, does only what is possible. If the removal of some wrongs or the payment of Zakat al-Fitr for one’s dependants is required and one can only do a part of this, one does only that part. A person who can only cover some aspect of his private parts that must be covered, covers what he can, and one who can memorize only a part of the Surah al-Fātiḥah [which must be recited in prayer] recites what he has memorized. There are countless other cases to which this rule of principle applies, and they are clearly stated in books of Fiqh. What is important is to realize that this basic rule is always applicable.

This hadith is consistent with what God says: ‘Remain God-fearing as best you can’. (64: 16) However, God says: ‘Believers! Fear God as you rightly should’. (3: 102) Scholars have two views on reconciling these two orders. The first is that the one in Surah 3 is abrogated by the verse in Surah 64 and the second view, which is the correct one, is that there is no abrogation in this instance, but the second verse in Surah 64 explains the earlier one in Surah 3. They add that the ‘right way of fearing God is to do what He bids us and to refrain from what He has made forbidden. God does not command us to do anything other than what we are able to do. He says: “God does not charge a soul with more than it can bear”, (2: 286) and “God has laid no hardship on you in anything that pertains to religion”.’ (22: 78) But God knows best.

The Prophet also said: ‘If I prohibit you something, abandon it’. This applies generally, as it is expressed. If there is a valid reason to allow it, it becomes unprohibited in this case, as with eating carrion in circumstances of absolute necessity, drinking wine under compulsion, or saying that one is an unbeliever to escape great peril to one’s life.

The Muslim community is unanimous that hajj is obligatory once in one’s lifetime. This is the Islamic rule. However, it may become a duty to do it more than once if one makes a pledge, i.e., nadhr, to do so. The same applies if one needs to enter into the Ḥaram for a reason that does not occur frequently, such as paying a visit to someone or for some business. This applies only according to scholars who say that any such entry must be coupled with the iḥrām for hajj or ‘umrah. We discussed this point in the early chapters of this Book of Hajj, but God knows best.

Text Explanation

These hadiths speak of the prohibition of a woman travelling alone, with some hadiths speaking of a journey taking three days or more and some mentioning two days, while others specifying one night, or one day, or a day and night. And in hadith No. 2873: ‘A woman may not travel except with a maḥram’. In all these versions related by Muslim, and in a hadith related by Abu Dāwūd, the distance prohibiting a woman travelling alone is given as one barīd, which is equal to one half of one day travelling. Scholars say that the differences in these statements pertain to the differences of the people putting forth the questions and the variety of places. The fact that a woman’s travel of three days is prohibited does not imply a permissibility of her travelling alone the distance covered in one day and one night, or even half a day. Al-Bayhaqī said: ‘It seems that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked about a woman travelling for three days without a maḥram [i.e., a relative whom she is prohibited from marrying] and he said no. On another occasion he was asked about her travel for two days without a maḥram and he said no. And on yet a different occasion he was asked about her travel for one day and he said no. The same answer was given for half a day. Everyone who put forth the question reported what he heard. And if the same narrator gives different versions, then he must have heard these on different occasions and reported them at different times. All of these are authentic. Nothing in any of these defines the minimum travel, nor did the Prophet (peace be upon him) wish to set a minimum limit to what may be called travel'. Therefore, whatever is termed as travel, or a journey, whether taking one, two or three days or less than that, is not allowed for a woman unless she is accompanied by her husband or a close relative whom she may not marry. This is clearly indicated in the hadith narrated by Ibn 'Abbās, which is the last in this chapter, as it says: 'A woman may not travel except with a maḥram'. This applies to all that may be described as travel, but God knows best.

The Muslim community is unanimous that a woman must perform the obligatory hajj if she is able to do so because of the general Qur'anic statement: 'Pilgrimage to this House is a duty owed to God by all people who are able to undertake it', (3: 97) and the hadith in which the Prophet says: 'Islam is built on five pillars... and pilgrimage to the House'. (Related by al-Bukhari and Muslim)

The hajj is obligatory for a person 'who is able to undertake it'. This condition of ability applies to women in the same way as it applies to men, but scholars differ as to whether a maḥram companion is a condition that must be met in the case of a woman. Abu Ḥanīfah makes it a condition that must be met to make a woman's hajj obligatory. Excepted are women who live at a distance less than three stages [i.e., less than 125 kilometres] from Makkah. This is agreed upon by a number of scholars of Hadith and scholars who rely on logic, as well as al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī and al-Nakha'ī. On the other hand, 'Aṭā', Sa'īd ibn Jubayr, Ibn Sīrīn, Mālik, al-Awzā'ī and al-Shāfi'ī (in his better-known view) say that the company of a maḥram is not a condition, but her security is a condition. Our scholars say that security is achieved if she is accompanied by her husband, a maḥram or a group of reliable women. According to our scholars, the hajj is not obligatory for a woman unless one of these three is available to her. If there is only one reliable woman, she may go with her, but it is not obligatory on her to do so. This is the correct view. However, some of our scholars say that the hajj is obligatory for a woman if she can travel with a group of women or with one other woman. Furthermore, security may be sufficiently high as to ensure a woman does not need a companion. In this context, she may travel alone, with a caravan, and be safe and secure. The first interpretation is the one which is best known of the recorded views of al-Shāfi‘ī and scholars of his school.<sup>vii</sup>

Our scholars differ concerning a woman travelling to perform a voluntary hajj, or for some business or to pay a visit, etc. Some say that it is permissible for her to travel with a group of reliable women, in the same way as she may travel for her obligatory hajj. The majority of scholars, however, say that she may not undertake such journeys unless she is accompanied by her husband or a maḥram. This is the correct view in the light of the authentic hadiths on the matter.

Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said:

Scholars are in agreement that a woman may not undertake any travel, other than for the hajj or the ‘umrah, except in the company of a maḥram [or her husband]. The only exception is her migration from a non-Muslim country. Scholars agree that a Muslim woman is required to migrate to the land of Islam, even though she is not accompanied by a maḥram. The difference is that living in a non-Muslim country is forbidden if she cannot live as a Muslim and if she fears for her life or her faith.<sup>viii</sup> Delaying the hajj is different, and scholars hold different views on whether the hajj is an immediate obligation when a person is able to undertake it or if it is obligatory when convenient.

Qadi 'Iyāḍ also quotes al-Bājī who says that this applies to a young woman, while an elderly woman may travel as she pleases and she need not be accompanied by her husband or a maḥram. What al-Bājī expressed cannot be agreed with because a woman is often felt to be an easy target. Moreover, the road may bring together people who do not observe any rule of religion or morality, but God knows best.

Ḥanafī scholars cite the hadith that mentions three-day travel as a basis for their view that shortening prayers is only valid on a journey that amounts to three days. But this is erroneous. The hadiths give different narrations and versions which we explained. We also showed that 'travel' is used in reference to a journey lasting a day, half a day and even less. I refuted their argument and gave a full explanation of this confusion in the chapter I devoted to travellers' prayers in my book Sharḥ al-Muhadhdhab, but God knows best.

The Prophet makes the condition of women's travel very clear: 'unless accompanied by a maḥram'. This provides evidence in support of the view of al-Shāfi'ī and the majority of scholars that all maḥrams are equally acceptable for this purpose. A woman may travel with her blood relatives whom she cannot marry i.e., her son, brother, nephew, maternal or paternal uncle and those who are similarly related to her through breastfeeding, such as her brother or nephew through breastfeeding. Likewise, she may travel with her maḥrams through marriage, such as her husband's father or son. There is no discouragement in any of these cases. Likewise, she may be alone with any of these relatives, and they can look at her in the normal way, but none may look at her with desire. This view is shared by al-Shāfi'ī and the majority of scholars. Mālik agrees to all this but with the exception of any stepson. He disapproves of a woman travelling with her stepson because people's morality declined after the first Islamic generation and because many people do not look at their stepmothers in the same way as they look at their maḥram relatives. Mālik adds that a woman excites temptation, except for what God has placed in people's nature and how they look at their blood relations who are maḥrams. However, the general meaning of this hadith contradicts what Mālik said, but God knows best.

It should be borne in mind that one's maḥram women, with whom one is allowed to be alone or travel with, refer to 'every woman whom he may not marry at any time in life for a legitimate reason and because of her relationship'. When we say 'at any time in life', we exclude one's wife's sisters, aunts and similar relatives. And when we say 'for a legitimate reason', we exclude the mother and daughter of a woman whose marriage is consummated despite the marriage contract being invalid. Such mother and daughter are forbidden for the man to marry at any time, but they are not maḥrams. Further, when we say 'because of her relationship' we exclude the case of mulā'inah in which a woman is forbidden in marriage forever and for a legitimate reason, but she is not a maḥram.<sup>ix</sup> Her un-marriageability is part of punishment, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2863 the Prophet says: 'Do not set out on a journey to any but three mosques: this mosque of mine, the Sacred Mosque and al-Aqṣā Mosque'. This highlights the merit and special status of these three mosques because they are mosques built and tended by prophets (peace be upon them all) and because prayer in these mosques earns greater reward. If a person makes a pledge, i.e., nadhr, to go to the Sacred Mosque in Makkah, he must go and perform the hajj or the 'umrah. If he makes a pledge to go to either of the other two mosques, al-Shāfi'ī states two views. According to Shāfi'ī scholars, the more correct of these two views is that travelling to these two mosques is desirable, not obligatory. The other view, endorsed by many scholars, argues that it is a duty for such a person to fulfil his pledge.

As for other mosques, a pledge to visit them does not make such a visit a duty. Indeed, the pledge is not valid. This is our view and the view of all scholars, except Muhammad ibn Maslamah, a Mālikī scholar, who says that if a person pledges to visit the Qubā' Mosque, he must fulfil that pledge because the Prophet used to visit it every Saturday, sometimes riding and sometimes walking. Al-Layth ibn Sa'd said: 'A person making a pledge to visit a particular mosque must fulfil his pledge, whatever mosque it may be'. However, according to the view of the great majority of scholars, such a pledge is invalid and the one who makes it need not do anything, Ahmad, however, says that he must compensate for it as he compensates for an oath that he cannot fulfil.<sup>x</sup>

Scholars differ concerning travelling to places other than these three mosques, such as visiting the graves of pious people and places of distinction. Shaykh Abu Muhammad 'Abdullāh ibn Yūsuf al-Juwaynī, Imām al-Ḥaramayn's father and a Shāfi'ī scholar, said it is forbidden. However, the correct view of our scholars, which is preferred by Imām al-Ḥaramayn and other leading scholars is that it is neither forbidden nor discouraged. According to these scholars, what the hadith means is that these three mosques are the best and they are the ones to visit and travel to, but God knows best.

In hadith No. 2873 the Prophet says: 'Let no one be alone with a woman unless she is accompanied by a maḥram, and a woman may not travel except with a maḥram'. This may mean a maḥram of hers, or of either of them. This second possibility is consistent with the rules established by scholars of Fiqh. There is no difference between the presence of a maḥram of hers, such as her son, brother, mother or sister, and the presence of a maḥram of his, such as his sister, daughter or aunt. In any such company, it is perfectly permissible to sit with a woman. Moreover, the hadith also specifically refers to her husband. If he is with the woman, it is permissible to sit with her. If a man and a woman who are totally unrelated to each other are in an enclosed place, with no one else, this is forbidden according to all scholars. The same applies if there is only a young child who is two or three years of age. It is also forbidden for several men to be with one woman in an enclosed place, while a meeting of one man with several women is permissible. I explained this question in Sharḥ al-Muḥadhdhab, in the chapter on the qualities of imams, at the beginning of the Book of Hajj.

The preferred view is that to be alone with a beardless handsome youth has the same ruling as being alone with a woman, unless one is with other men of integrity. Our scholars say that any private meeting we mentioned as forbidden earns this status generally, whether in prayer or in any other situation. Excepted from all this are situations of necessity. If a man finds a woman alone along a route and she needs to reach a distant place, it is permissible for him to accompany her to her place of safety. Indeed, it becomes his duty to do so if he fears for her welfare should he leave her alone. There is no disagreement on this point. This is demonstrated in the case of ‘Ā’ishah when she was left alone and then found by Ṣafwān, who led her camel until they joined the departing army, but God knows best.

The same hadith adds that a man stood up and said: ‘Messenger of God, my wife set out to perform the hajj and I have enlisted to go on this expedition’. The Prophet said: ‘Go and do the hajj with your wife’. This makes clear that when different matters pull in different directions, the more important is given priority. The man's joining the expedition was set against accompanying his wife on her hajj. Therefore, the Prophet told him to join his wife. Someone else might be able to replace him on the expedition, while his wife needed him to be with her.

Transmission

The chain of transmission of hadith No. 2870 runs as follows: 'Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā narrated: he said: I read out to Mālik; from Sa'īd ibn Abu Sa'īd al-Maqburī; from his father; from Abu Hurayrah; from the Prophet'. This is how the hadith occurs in the copies of Muslim's Ṣaḥīḥ in our areas, with Sa'īd reporting from his father. Qadi 'Iyād said:

This is also how it occurs in the copies taken from al-Julūdī, Abu al-'Alā' and al-Kisā'ī. Muslim gives the same in the chain of transmission of hadith No. 2868: 'Layth from Sa'īd from his father'. Both al-Bukhari and Muslim also give the hadith as narrated from Ibn Abi Dhi'b, from Sa'īd, from his father. Al-Dāraquṭnī questions their reporting it from Ibn Abi Dhi'b and questions Muslim for relating it 'from al-Layth, from Sa'īd, from his father'. Al-Dāraquṭnī said: 'The correct transmission is from Sa'īd, from Abu Hurayrah, without mentioning his father'. He further adds that Mālik, Yaḥyā ibn Abi Kathīr and Suhayl said: 'from Sa'īd al-Maqburī. from Abu Hurayrah', without mentioning Sa'īd's father. The correct reporting from Muslim in this hadith is 'from Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā, from Mālik, from Sa'īd, from Abu Hurayrah' without adding Sa'īd's father. This is how Abu Mas'ūd al-Dimashqī narrates it, as do the majority of those who narrate al-Muwatta' from Mālik. Al-Dāraquṭnī adds that al-Zahrānī and al-Qarawī report it from Mālik, with Sa'īd narrating from his father.

In al-Aṭrāf, Khalaf al-Wāsiṭī mentions that Muslim relates the hadith from Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā, from Mālik, from Saʿīd, from his father, from Abu Hurayrah. The same is done by Abu Dāwūd in the Book of Hajj in his Sunan anthology. On the other hand, al-Tirmidhī narrates in the Book of Marriage: ‘from al-Ḥasan ibn ‘Alī, from Bishr ibn ‘Umar, from Mālik, from Saʿīd, from his father, from Abu Hurayrah’, adding that it is an authentic hadith. Further, Abu Dāwūd relates it in the Book of Hajj ‘from al-Qaʿnabī and al-ʿAlā’, from Mālik, from Yūsuf ibn Mūsā, from Jarīr, both from Suhayl, from Saʿīd, from Abu Hurayrah’. There is a clear difference between narrators with regard to the mention of Saʿīd’s father. It may be that he heard it from his father, from Abu Hurayrah, and then heard it directly from Abu Hurayrah. He then narrated it in one way on some occasions and in another way on other occasions. It is well known that Saʿīd listened directly to Abu Hurayrah narrating hadiths, but God knows best.

Hadith No. 2874 says: ‘Ibn Abi ‘Umar narrated: Hishām (meaning Ibn Sulaymān) al-Makhzūmī narrated; from Ibn Jurayj; with the same chain of transmission: a similar text but did not mention: “Let no one be alone with a woman unless she is accompanied by a maḥram”.’ This is the last hadith in the section that was missed by Abu Ishāq Ibrāhīm ibn Sufyān. He did not hear this section from Imam Muslim, starting from the hadiths where the Prophet prays for those who shave their heads or shorten their hair when they release themselves from consecration. From this point, Ibrāhīm ibn Sufyān says: ‘Muslim ibn al-Ḥajjāj narrated: he said: Ḥārūn ibn ‘Abdullāh narrated to me...’. This is the first hadith in the next chapter.

- vii. All this discussion of travel and how a woman may journey should be put in the context of the time and the means of transport available. Al-Nawawī wrote his commentary nearly eight centuries ago. Ever since the advent of Islam and for many generations after al-Nawawī's time, a full day's travel only covered a distance that we cover today in one or two hours, depending on road conditions. Moreover, we travel by plane, train and coach and security in all these is ensured by the sheer number and mix of passengers and staff. A person travelling alone by car is less secure and less safe. Therefore, scholars need to look at these hadiths and the modes of travel available to people before they can give their rulings.
- viii. Again, this needs to be taken in context. Nowadays, Muslims live in better security and greater safety in most European and American countries than in many Muslim countries ruled by dictators.
- ix. This is the case of mutual self-cursing in which a man accuses his wife of adultery but has no witnesses. He swears five oaths that he is telling the truth. If she also swears five oaths that his accusation is false, their marriage is permanently dissolved and they cannot reinstate their marriage at any time, but they are not maḥram to each other.
- x. Compensation for an oath is to feed ten poor people, or to give them clothes, or to fast three days if one cannot afford the first two. This is stated in verse 5: 89.

WHAT TO SAY AT THE START OF TRAVEL

[2875-425]. (Dar al-Salam 3113) Ḥārūn ibn ‘Abdullāh narrated to me:<sup>1</sup> Ḥajjāj ibn Muhammad narrated; he said: Ibn Jurayj said: Abu al-Zubayr reported to me; that ‘Alī al-Azdī reported to him; that Ibn ‘Umar taught them; that ‘When God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) mounted his camel, setting out on a journey, he would glorify God three times, then say: “Limitless in His glory is He who has made all this subservient to our use. We could not have done it by ourselves. To our Lord we shall most certainly return. (43: 13-14) Our Lord, we appeal to You to keep us in this journey of ours on the way of righteousness and piety and to enable us to do the type of action You will be pleased with. Our Lord, facilitate this journey for us and let its far destination be close. Our Lord, You are the companion in travel and the One to take care of [our] families. My Lord, I seek refuge with You from the hardship of travel, unpleasant sights and a bad return to property and family”. When he set out on his return journey, he would say the same and add: "We are returning, repenting our sins, sincere in worship and in full praise of our Lord".'

حَدَّثَنِي هَارُونُ بْنُ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ، حَدَّثَنَا حَجَّاجُ بْنُ مُحَمَّدٍ، قَالَ: قَالَ ابْنُ جُرَيْجٍ، أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو الزُّبَيْرِ، أَنَّ عَلِيًّا الْأَدْرِيَّ، أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ عَلِمَهُمْ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ إِذَا اسْتَوَى عَلَى بَعِيرِهِ، خَارِجًا إِلَى سَفَرٍ، كَبَّرَ ثَلَاثًا، ثُمَّ قَالَ: «سُبْحَانَ الَّذِي سَخَّرَ لَنَا هَذَا، وَمَا كُنَّا لَهُ مُقْرِنِينَ. وَإِنَّا إِلَى رَبِّنَا لَمُنْقَلِبُونَ. اللَّهُمَّ إِنَّا نَسْأَلُكَ فِي سَفَرِنَا هَذَا الْبِرَّ وَالتَّقْوَى، وَمِنَ الْعَمَلِ مَا تَرْضَى. اللَّهُمَّ هَوِّنْ عَلَيْنَا سَفَرَنَا هَذَا وَاطْوِ عَنَّا بُعْدَهُ. اللَّهُمَّ أَنْتَ الصَّاحِبُ فِي السَّفَرِ، وَالْخَلِيفَةُ فِي الْأَهْلِ. اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ وَعْثَاءِ السَّفَرِ، وَكَآبَةِ الْمَنْظَرِ، وَسُوءِ الْمُنْقَلَبِ فِي الْمَالِ وَالْأَهْلِ». وَإِذَا رَجَعَ قَالَهُنَّ، وَزَادَ فِيهِنَّ: «أَيُّبُونَ، تَائِبُونَ، عَابِدُونَ، لِرَبِّنَا حَامِدُونَ».

[2876-426]. (Dar al-Salam 3114) Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated to me:<sup>ii</sup> Ismā'īl ibn 'Ulayyah narrated; from 'Āṣim al-Aḥwal; from 'Abdullāh ibn Sarjis. He said: 'When God's Messenger started out on travel, he would seek refuge with God from the hardship of travel, an unpleasant return, decrease after being whole, prayer by a wronged person and an unpleasant sight of family and property'.

حَدَّثَنِي زُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، حَدَّثَنَا إِسْمَاعِيلُ بْنُ عَلِيٍّ، عَنْ عَاصِمٍ الْأَخُولِيِّ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ سَرْجِسٍ، قَالَ: كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا سَافَرَ يَتَعَوَّدُ مِنْ وَغْتَاءِ السَّفَرِ، وَكَأَبَةِ الْمُنْقَلَبِ، وَالْحَوْرِ بَعْدَ الْكُورِ، وَدَعْوَةِ الْمَظْلُومِ، وَسُوءِ الْمَنْظَرِ فِي الْأَهْلِ وَالْمَالِ.

[2877-427]. (Dar al-Salam 3115) Yaḥyā ibn Yaḥyā and Zuhayr ibn Ḥarb narrated: both from Abu Mu‘āwiyah [H]. Also, Ḥāmid ibn ‘Umar narrated to me; ‘Abd al-Wāḥid narrated; both from ‘Āṣim; with the same chain of transmission: the same text, except that in ‘Abd al-Wāḥid’s narration it occurs: ‘of property and family’, and in Muhammad ibn Khāzim’s narration, he said: ‘On his return journey, he mentioned family first’. In both narrations: ‘My Lord, I seek refuge with You from the hardship of travel’.

وَحَدَّثَنَا يَحْيَى بْنُ يَحْيَى، وَزُهَيْرُ بْنُ حَرْبٍ، جَمِيعًا عَنْ أَبِي مُعَاوِيَةَ، ح. وَحَدَّثَنِي حَامِدُ بْنُ عُمَرَ، حَدَّثَنَا عَبْدُ الْوَاحِدِ، كِلَاهُمَا عَنْ عَاصِمٍ، بِهَذَا الْإِسْنَادِ: مِثْلُهُ. غَيْرَ أَنَّ فِي حَدِيثِ عَبْدِ الْوَاحِدِ: فِي الْمَالِ وَالْأَهْلِ. وَفِي رِوَايَةِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ خَازِمٍ قَالَ: يَبْدَأُ بِالْأَهْلِ إِذَا رَجَعَ. وَفِي رَوَايَتِهِمَا جَمِيعًا: «اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ وَغْتَاءِ السَّفَرِ».

Text Explanation

The first hadith in this chapter gives the details of the supplication the Prophet used to say when he mounted his camel to start a journey. This means that it is recommended to say this supplication whenever one starts a journey. There are many supplications and glorifications that are recommended to say when travelling, and I have included all these in my book al-Adhkār. In this supplication, the Prophet seeks refuge with God from the hardship of travel, which means any difficulty that a traveller may meet on the journey. Refuge with God is also sought from ‘unpleasant sights’ which may cause a feeling of sorrow or displeasure. In hadith No. 2876 the Prophet also prays for God’s refuge from ‘decrease after being whole’. The Arabic word kawn is rendered here as ‘being whole’. This is how the word occurs in most, or perhaps all, copies in our areas, with the letter ‘n’ at the end. Indeed, it is how accurate scholars report it. Qadi ‘Iyād says the same about narrations of Muslim’s Ṣaḥīḥ by al-Fārisī and others, but Ibrāhīm al-Ḥarbī questions this and says that the correct pronunciation of the word replaces the ‘n’ at the end with ‘r’ to make the word kawr, which means ‘increase’. This makes the supplication a request of refuge from ‘decrease after an increase’.

The fact is that al-Ḥarbī is wrong. The hadith is narrated in both ways. Al-Tirmidhī mentions both narrations in his Sunan, as do a large number of Hadith scholars, and both versions are also mentioned by Abu ‘Ubayd, a large number of scholars of Arabic and those who study what is unfamiliar in hadiths. Following his relating of the hadith with kawn, al-Tirmidhī says: ‘It is also narrated as kawr, and both versions are sound. It is said that it means a return from belief to unbelief, or from obedience to disobedience. This means going back from something to what is worse’. Scholars other than al-Tirmidhī have said that in both versions it means a reversal from a sound or plentiful situation to a decrease. Imam al-Māzarī said that the version using kawr means abandoning the community after being part of it. He adds that some scholars said that it is an appeal to keep our affairs sound and ensure that they remain so. ‘Āṣim was asked about the meaning of the other version, using kawn, and he said: ‘It is taken from a description of one whose affairs were good and sound but suffered a reversal’.

The Prophet includes in his supplication seeking God’s refuge ‘against a prayer by a wronged person’. This is a supplication to protect oneself from dealing unjustly with anyone because it invites a prayer for God’s help against the perpetrator of injustice. Such a prayer goes straight to God, with no barriers stopping it. Thus, the hadith warns against causing injustice to anyone.

ON RETURNING FROM HAJJ OR OTHER JOURNEYS

[2878-428]. (Dar al-Salam 3116) Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah narrated: Abu Usāmah narrated: ‘Ubaydullāh narrated; from Nāfi’; from Ibn ‘Umar [H]. Also, ‘Ubydullāh ibn Sa‘īd narrated (his text); Yaḥyā (who is al-Qaṭṭān) narrated; from ‘Ubaydullāh; from Nāfi’; from ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar. He said: ‘When God’s Messenger (peace be upon him) returned from a military expedition, or the hajj, or the ‘umrah, he would glorify God three times whenever he went up a mountain path or high ground. Then he would say: “There is no deity other than God, the One who has no partner. To Him belongs all dominion and to Him all praise is due. He is able to do all things. We are returning, repenting our sins, sincere in worship, prostrating ourselves and in full praise of our Lord. God has fulfilled His promise, given support to His servant and alone defeated the confederates”.’

Text Explanation

These hadiths mention the supplications that the Prophet used to say as he returned from his journeys, whether they were for military purposes or religious ones, such as the hajj or 'umrah. They are the same as the ones he stated when commencing his travels, adding a praise of God for a safe return.

In hadith No. 2878 the Prophet adds: 'God has fulfilled His promise, given support to His servant and alone defeated the confederates'. This refers to God's promise to make Islam triumphant and give the ultimate victory to the believers, as well as His other promises. God never fails to fulfil His promise. The Prophet adds that God 'defeated the confederates alone', meaning that He caused their defeat without recourse to any fighting by human beings. This refers to the Arab and Jewish tribes that forged an alliance and pledged to fight the Prophet and the Muslim community until they had exterminated them all. This is known as the Encounter of the Moat. God sent against them a storm wind and other troops which the Muslims did not see. Thus, the Prophet's words, 'God has fulfilled His promise', refutes the claims of the hypocrites who said, as the Muslims were digging the moat to prevent the attackers from entering Madinah, 'God and His Messenger promised us nothing but delusions'. (33: 12)

This is the well-known view which confirms that the Prophet's mention of the confederates refers to those confederates who grouped together in an attempt to attack Madinah. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said: 'It is also said that he probably meant all groups of unbelievers in all places and situations', but God knows best.

Text Explanation

These hadiths speak of the Prophet's practice of stopping on his return journey at Dhul-Hulayfah, which is a few kilometres from Madinah. The hadiths use the word 'arrasa', which means stopping, but Abu Zayd says that it refers to a stop at any time of the night or day, while al-Khalīl and al-Aṣma'ī say that it refers to stopping late at night. Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

Stopping at al-Baṭḥā' at Dhul-Hulayfah on returning from the hajj is not part of the hajj rituals. People from Madinah used to do it seeking the blessing of following the Prophet's practice and because it is a blessed Baṭḥā'. Mālik considers it desirable to stop there and pray. Mālik recommends that one should not leave the place until one has prayed there. If one stops at a time when voluntary prayer is discouraged, one stays until it is right to pray. However, it is also said that the Prophet stopped there on his return, waiting for the morning, so that his Companions do not surprise their families by arriving during the night. Some well-known hadiths make it clear that this should not be done.

But, God knows best.

Text Explanation

This hadith sets certain rules concerning the Hāram area and the Ka'bah. At the end of the hadith Ibn Shihāb mentions that Humayd ibn 'Abd al-Raḥmān said that the Day of Sacrifice is the grand day of the hajj. This refers to the Qur'anic verse that says: 'And a proclamation from God and His Messenger is hereby made to all mankind on this grand day of the pilgrimage'. (9: 3) Abu Bakr, 'Alī, Abu Hurayrah and other Companions of the Prophet made this announcement to the people, by the Prophet's permission, on the Day of Sacrifice. It appears that the Prophet mentioned to them the Day of Sacrifice, and this made it clear that it is the grand day of the hajj because most rituals become due on this day.

Scholars differ as to which is the grand day of the hajj, with some saying that it is the day of attendance at Arafat. Mālik, al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars said that it is the Day of Sacrifice. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ mentions that al-Shāfi‘ī said that it is the day of attendance at Arafat, but this is contrary to what is well-known of the view of the Shāfi‘ī School. The phrase ‘the grand day of the pilgrimage’ in the above-quoted verse may be read as meaning ‘the day of the greater pilgrimage’. Scholars say that this makes it clear that the hajj is intended here, rather than the lesser pilgrimage, which is the ‘umrah. Scholars who define the Day of Arafat as the one intended by the reference to ‘the grand day of the pilgrimage’ cite in support of their view the hadith that says: ‘The hajj is the attendance at Arafat’, but God knows best.

The announcement the Prophet ordered to be made says: ‘No unbeliever shall be allowed at the hajj after this year’. This is in conformity with what God says: ‘Believers, know that the idolaters are certainly impure. So, let them not come near to the Sacred Mosque after this year is ended’. (9: 28) In this instance, the ‘Sacred Mosque’ refers to the entire Ḥaram area. No unbeliever will be allowed to enter the Ḥaram area at any time and for any purpose. Even if such a person comes with a message to deliver or for some very important matter, he must not be allowed in. The person who has to attend to such a message or important matter comes out to meet him. If such a person comes in stealthily, then falls ill and dies, his body is taken out of the Ḥaram area and buried elsewhere.

The announcement added: ‘And no person may perform the ṭawāf in the nude’. This put an end to the practice of the pagan Arabs in the days of ignorance, i.e., jāhiliyyah, of forcing visitors to the Ka‘bah who could not afford to buy garments in Makkah to perform the ṭawāf in the nude. Our scholars and many others take this hadith as evidence supporting the view that covering one's private areas is a condition for the validity of the ṭawāf, but God knows best.

THE MERIT OF THE DAY OF ARAFAT

[2887-436]. ### Text Explanation

In hadith No. 2888 the Prophet says: 'One 'umrah to another wipes away [the sins] committed in between them'. This makes clear the importance of the 'umrah, whereby it ensures the forgiveness of sins committed between two ‘umrahs. In the Book of Cleansing, we discussed what is meant by such sins and how to reconcile this hadith and the hadiths that mention that performing wudu erases sins, as do prayers, fasting on the day of attendance at Arafat and the tenth day of the month, al-Muḥarram. Some scholars cite this hadith in support of the view of al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars that it is desirable to repeat the ‘umrah several times during the same year. Mālik and most Mālikī scholars say that to perform the ‘umrah more than once in one year is discouraged. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said that other scholars said that one should not perform the ‘umrah more than once in the same month.

It should be clear that the whole year is a suitable time for performing the ‘umrah, which means that it is valid at all times, except for one who is already engaged in performing the hajj. Such a person cannot perform the ‘umrah until he has finished his hajj. According to our school, it is not discouraged to perform the ‘umrah on the Day of Arafat, the Tashrīq days or any other day of the year, except for the restrictions concerning a person performing the hajj. This is agreed upon by Mālik, Ahmad and the great majority of scholars. Abu Ḥanīfah said that it is discouraged on five days: the Day of Arafat, the Day of Sacrifice and the three Tashrīq days. While Abu Yūsuf said that it is discouraged on four days: the Day of Arafat and the Tashrīq days.

Scholars hold different views with regard to the status of the ‘umrah and whether it is a duty. According to al-Shāfi‘ī and the majority of scholars, it is a duty. This view is also agreed by ‘Umar, Ibn ‘Umar, Ibn ‘Abbās, Ṭāwūs, ‘Aṭā’, Ibn al-Musayyib, Sa‘īd ibn Jubayr, al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, Masrūq, Ibn Sīrīn, al-Sha‘bī, Abu Burdah ibn Abu Mūsā, ‘Abdullāh ibn Shaddād, al-Thawrī, Ahmad, Ishāq, Abu ‘Ubayd and Dāwūd. On the other hand, Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah and Abu Thawr state that the 'umrah is a sunnah, not a duty. This view is also reported to have been expressed by al-Nakha'ī.

In the same hadith, No. 2888 the Prophet says: 'And a perfect hajj earns no lesser reward other than [admittance into] Heaven'. The best known and most accurate meaning of the Arabic word mabrūr, which is translated here as 'perfect', is 'one that is free of any sin or act of disobedience of God'. It is also said that the word means 'an accepted hajj', and one of the signs of its acceptance is that when one returns home, one is a better person than when one started, and one refrains from all sin. It is further said that it means that it involves no showing off or is not followed by committing an act of disobedience to God. These last two meanings are included in those that precede them. 'Earns no lesser reward other than admittance into Heaven' means that the reward given for such pilgrimage is not limited to the forgiveness of some of the pilgrim's past sins. Rather, he will inevitably be admitted into Heaven, but God knows best.

Hadith No. 2889 quotes the Prophet: 'Whoever comes to this House and commits neither lewdness nor wicked conduct returns as pure as on the day of his birth'. It is said that lewdness refers to obscenity, but another meaning is that it refers to sexual intercourse. This word is used in the verse that says: 'It is lawful for you to be intimate with your wives during the night preceding the fast'. (2: 187) Scholars interpret 'being intimate with one's wife' as having intercourse with her. Al-Azhari says that the Arabic word rafath, which is translated as 'lewdness', incorporates all that a man wants from a woman.

'Returns as pure as on the day of his birth' means that such a pilgrim returns home free of all sin, but God knows best.

STAYING IN MAKKAH AFTER THE HAJJ

[2891-439]. (Dar al-Salam 3131) Abu al-Ṭāhir and Ḥarmalah ibn Yaḥyā narrated:<sup>1</sup> both said: Ibn Wahb reported; Yūnus ibn Yazīd reported; from Ibn Shihāb; that ‘Alī ibn Ḥusayn reported to him; that ‘Amr ibn ‘Uthmān ibn ‘Affān reported to him; from Usāmah ibn Zayd ibn Ḥārithah; that he said: ‘Messenger of God! Will you be staying in your home in Makkah?’ He said: ‘Has ‘Aqīl left us any homes or houses?’ ‘Aqīl and Ṭālib inherited Abu Ṭālib, while Ja‘far and ‘Alī inherited nothing from him as they were Muslims, while ‘Aqīl and Ṭālib were unbelievers.

حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو الطَّاهِرِ، وَحَزْمَلَةُ بْنُ يَحْيَى، قَالَا: أَخْبَرَنَا ابْنُ وَهْبٍ، أَخْبَرَنَا يُونُسُ بْنُ يَزِيدَ، عَنِ ابْنِ شِهَابٍ، أَنَّ عَلِيَّ بْنَ حُسَيْنٍ، أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّ عَمْرَو بْنَ عُثْمَانَ بْنَ عَفَّانَ أَخْبَرَهُ، عَنْ أَسَامَةَ بْنِ زَيْدٍ بْنِ حَارِثَةَ، أَنَّهُ قَالَ: يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ، أُنْزِلُ فِي دَارِكَ بِمَكَّةَ؟ فَقَالَ: «وَهَلْ تَرَكْ لَنَا عَقِيلٌ مِنْ رِبَاعٍ أَوْ دُورٍ؟» وَكَانَ عَقِيلٌ وَرِثَ أَبَا

These hadiths refer to the fact that it was ‘Aqīl and Ṭālib who inherited from their father, Abu Ṭālib, while his two other sons, Ja‘far and ‘Alī, inherited nothing from him because they were Muslims, unlike their two brothers. Qadi ‘Iyāḍ said: ‘Perhaps Usāmah mentioned that the home belonged to the Prophet because he used to live there, while in fact it belonged to Abu Ṭālib who was the Prophet’s guardian and the eldest of ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib’s sons. When ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib died, Abu Ṭālib took over all his property, according to the practice of the pre-Islamic days. On the other hand, it is possible that ‘Aqīl might have sold all these homes leaving nothing belonging to them, as did Abu Sufyān and other Makkans with the properties of those Muslims who migrated to Madinah’. Al-Dāwūdī said: “‘Aqīl sold all that belonged to the Prophet and all that belonged to ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib’s descendants who migrated to Madinah’.

The Prophet’s rhetorical question, ‘Has ‘Aqīl left us any home?’, provides evidence supporting the view of al-Shāfi‘ī and those who agree with him that Makkah was taken over peacefully and that its homes belonged to its people. In this, legal provisions that apply to other cities also apply to it, which means that its properties belonged to its people and are inherited from them. They may dispense with such properties as they please, including selling, mortgaging, gifting them or giving them as bequests. Mālik, Abu Ḥanīfah, al-Awzā'ī and others, on the other hand, say that Makkah was taken over by force and no such transaction was valid.

The hadith makes it clear that a Muslim may not inherit from an unbeliever. This is the view of all scholars, except for what is reported to have been expressed by Ishāq ibn Rāhawayh and some early scholars that a Muslim may inherit from an unbeliever. Scholars are unanimous that an unbeliever may not inherit from a Muslim. This question will be discussed fully at its appropriate place, God willing.

MAXIMUM STAY IN MAKKAH FOR THE MUHĀJIRĪN

Text Explanation

In its different versions, this hadith means that those who migrated from Makkah before it was taken over by the Muslims, to join the Prophet in Madinah, were not permitted to reside in Makkah again. Subsequently, if they arrived in Makkah to perform the hajj or the ‘umrah, or for some other reason, they were permitted to stay for three days after finishing their purpose. They could not stay there longer. Our scholars take this as evidence that a stay in any place for three days does not count as residence. During such a short stay, a person continues to be considered ‘in travel’. Therefore, if a traveller intends to stay in a town for three days, apart from his days of entry and departure, he may continue to exercise the concessions granted to travellers, including shortening four-rak‘ah prayers to two rak‘ahs only and not fasting during Ramadan, etc. He does not acquire residence status during these days.

The hadiths speak about the stay after departure from Mina or after completing one’s worship. This is all before performing the ṭawāf of farewell. This confirms the more correct view of our Shāfi‘ī scholars who say that the ṭawāf of farewell is not one of the hajj rituals but rather a separate act of worship required of anyone who is leaving Makkah. Therefore, the people of Makkah and its residents are not commanded to do it. The point of evidence in these hadiths is the fact that the Prophet said: ‘after completing his worship’. What he meant is the same as we mentioned, before the ṭawāf of farewell, because once the ṭawāf of farewell is performed, one may not stay in Makkah. If one performs the ṭawāf and stays in Makkah thereafter, then the ṭawāf no longer counts as the ṭawāf of farewell. Hence, a person is considered to have completed his worship before doing the ṭawāf of farewell, but God knows best.

Qadi 'Iyāḍ said:

This hadith serves as evidence in support of the view that anyone who migrated from Makkah before it was taken over may not reside there. This is indeed the view of the majority of scholars, even though a group of scholars said that they may reside in Makkah. All scholars agree that this view applies to those who migrated before Makkah was taken over and stayed in Madinah to support the Prophet and fight for him. As for other Muslims who did not migrate or who embraced Islam after Makkah was taken over, these may live anywhere they wish including Makkah.

Clarification

The Muhājirīn, or migrants, of the Prophet's Companions earned a special, very rich reward for their migration, undertaken for the support of the Prophet and the message of Islam. For this reason, they needed to continue to live away from Makkah and undertake any service of Islam required of them for the rest of their lives. To return to Makkah and live there would deprive them of their status as migrants. Hence, none of them returned except for performing the hajj or the 'umrah.

Since its compilation over a thousand years ago, Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim has been recognised by scholars as an authentic collection of Prophetic teachings second only to that of Imam Bukhārī (d. 256/870). The hadith collection of Imam Muslim (d. 261/875) has had innumerable commentaries written on it down to modern times. However, there is no doubt that one commentary stands out as the most authoritative, namely that of the great Damascene scholar, Imam al-Nawawī (d. 676/1277), which in Arabic is entitled al-Minhāj Sharḥ Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim ibn al-Ḥajjāj. This multidisciplinary commentary brings forth rich insights into the Arabic language, Qur'anic studies, Islamic law and jurisprudence, Islamic theology, Islamic spirituality and Islamic history.

The present translation by Dr Adil Salahi is the first time al-Nawawī's rich and authoritative commentary on Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim is being made available in English. This ground-breaking project marks a significant moment for Islam in the English language. Readers can now gain access to the timeless wisdom of the Prophet ﷺ with the explanations of the ulama summarised by one of the ummah's finest scholars.

This volume contains Book of I'tikāf and Staying in Mosque for days and Book of Hajj chapter 0 – 81.

Kube Publishing and Islamic Community Milli Gorus (ICMG) Australia are proud to present this new and complete translation of Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim together with Imam al-Nawawī's comprehensive commentary.
